Preface

This Volume contains the general laws of a permanent nature enacted by the General Assembly at the 2006 Regular Session, which are within Chapters 2006-1 through 2006-264, and brings to date the annotations included therein.

A majority of the Session Laws are made effective upon becoming law, but a few provide for stated effective dates. If the Session Law makes no provision for an effective date, the law becomes effective under G.S. 120-20 "from and after 60 days after the adjournment of the session" in which passed.

For detailed research on any subject, both within this volume and the General Statutes as a whole, see the General Index to the General Statutes.

Beginning with formal opinions issued by the North Carolina Attorney General on July 1, 1969, selected opinions which construe a specific statute are cited in the annotations to that statute. For a copy of an opinion or of its headnotes, write the Attorney General, P.O. Box 629, Raleigh, N.C. 27602.

This recompiled volume has been prepared and published under the supervision of the Department of Justice of the State of North Carolina. The members of the North Carolina Bar are requested to communicate any suggestions they may have for improving the General Statutes to the Department, or to LexisNexis, Charlottesville, Virginia.

ROY COOPER
Attorney General

The General Statutes of North Carolina 2006 Interim Supplement

Chapter 1. Civil Procedure.

SUBCHAPTER III. PARTIES.

Article 6. Parties.

Sec.

1-69.1. Unincorporated associations and partnerships; suit by or against.

SUBCHAPTER I. DEFINITIONS AND GENERAL PROVISIONS.

ARTICLE 1. *Definitions.

§ 1-1. Remedies.

CASE NOTES

Civil Actions or Special Proceedings. — Trial court erred in denying the father's motion to set aside the order entered against him that terminated his parental rights in his minor daughter; the record showed that the summons that was issued in his case was not served upon him within the time limit for service of process under the civil procedure rule then in effect and since that rule applied to civil actions or special proceedings such as a termination of parental rights case, the order was entered without the trial court having acquired personal jurisdiction over the father, and thus was void. In re A.B.D., 173 N.C. App. 77, 617 S.E.2d 707, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1925 (2005).

SUBCHAPTER II. LIMITATIONS.

ARTICLE 3. *Limitations, General Provisions.

§ 1-15. Statute runs from accrual of action.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Malpractice.

I. IN GENERAL.

Dismissal Upheld. —

Partner's breach of fiduciary duty claim was properly dismissed under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6), because the last act upon which the claim was based occurred more than six years before an attorney was sued; whether the three-year statute of limitations or the four-year statute of repose applied was immaterial as both had long since expired. Carlisle v. Keith, 169 N.C. App. 674, 614 S.E.2d 542, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 800 (2005).

N.C. App. 1, 612 S.E.2d 162, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2005).

II. MALPRACTICE.

Malpractice Claim Barred. —

Trial court properly dismissed an estate’s medical malpractice suit against the hospital defendants, the medical practice defendants, and a doctor where a first complaint that was voluntarily dismissed did not contain a G.S.

1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) certification, and the re-filed complaint was filed after the statute of limitations expired and the 120-day extension, if it had been sought, would have expired; there was no expert review prior to the commencement of the original action, which was contrary to the North Carolina legislature’s intent in enacting Rule 9(j). Estate of Barksdale v. Duke Univ. Med. Ctr., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 51, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2753 (2005).

§ 1-18. Disability of marriage.

CASE NOTES

Matter Not Moot Due to Collateral Consequences. — Although a father regained full custody of his child, since there were collateral legal consequences that could arise from a neglect adjudication, such as a determination of whether another child was neglected, the appeal from the adjudication of neglect should not have been dismissed as moot. In re A.K., 360 N.C. 449, 628 S.E.2d 753, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 44 (2006).

ARTICLE 4.

Limitations, Real Property.

§ 1-38. Seven years’ possession under color of title.

CASE NOTES

IV. Continuity of Possession.

IV. CONTINUITY OF POSSESSION.

Clear Indicators of Open, Notorious, and Exclusive Possession of Lands by Government. — Summary judgment was appropriate under G.S. 1-38(a) as marked lines, marked corners, road construction, timber cuttings, road maintenance, and activities related thereto, were clear indicators of open, notorious and exclusive possession of the lands by the government and these activities and undisputed boundary markings and monumentations existed for a minimum period of 19 plus years, or a minimum period of 14 years. United States v. Kubalak, 365 F. Supp. 2d 677, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10732 (W.D.N.C. Apr. 15, 2005).

§ 1-40. Twenty years adverse possession.

CASE NOTES

II. Possession, Generally.

II. POSSESSION, GENERALLY.

Exclusivity. — Where defendants claimed adverse possession of a cemetery lot under G.S. 1-40, plaintiffs’ motions for a directed verdict and for JNOV were properly denied; evidence that defendants had been farming the lot since the 1960’s and that there had not been a burial in the lot in nearly 60 years provided more than a scintilla of evidence that defendants had made exclusive use of the lot as farmland for the requisite period; there was no evidence that plaintiffs had used the lot. Jernigan v. Herring, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 874, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1901 (2006).

ARTICLE 5.

Limitations, Other Than Real Property.

§ 1-47. Ten years.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Equitable estoppel applied to bar a shareholder from denying the validity of certain corporate debts because the shareholder had asserted that the debts were valid in various ways, and the directors lacked knowledge of the facts at issue. Crisp v. E. Mortg. Inv. Co., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 814, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1833 (2006).

Applied in Hodge v. Harkey, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 143, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1310 (2006).

V. DEFECTIVE PRODUCTS.

Multiplicity of Claims Covered. —

G.S. 1-50(a)(6) indicated that the legislature intended to cover a multiplicity of claims that could have arisen out of a defective product; a farmer's fraud action based on the alleged failure of a manufactured silo to perform as advertised or indicated by the silo's promotional literature, was thus controlled by G.S. 1-50(a)(6), not by G.S. 1-52(9), and was time-barred. Jack H. Winslow Farms, Inc. v. Dedmon, 171 N.C. App. 754, 615 S.E.2d 41, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1359 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 64, 621 S.E.2d 625 (2005).

I. IN GENERAL.

Cited in Badgett v. Fed. Express Corp., 378 F. Supp. 2d 613, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19307 (M.D.N.C. Apr. 7, 2005).

II. CONTRACTS.

B. Actions to Which Section Applies.

Accrual When Infant's Guardian Learns of Breach by Fiduciary. — Statute of limitations began to run on an infant's claims of breach of fiduciary duty against the trustee of the infant's trust when the infant's guardian discovered the alleged improper conduct on the part of the trustee, not when the infant attained majority. Toomer v. Branch Banking & Trust Co., 171 N.C. App. 58, 614 S.E.2d 328, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

C. Actions to Which Section Not Applicable.

Government's right to bring trespass action. — Defendants' claim that the government's right to bring a trespass action was barred by the three year statute of limitations under G.S. 1-52 was without merit. The United States may bring an action in trespass within a six year period and such a provision, of course, preempted the North Carolina statute of limitations; in pursuing a viable claim, a federal agency is bound by the terms of the federal statute of limitations, which may not be lengthened or shortened by a state enactment. United States v. Kubalak, 365 F. Supp. 2d 677, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 10732 (W.D.N.C. Apr. 15, 2005).

D. Actions Held Barred.

Claims Were Time-Barred. —

Beneficiaries' claims for breach of fiduciary duty, which claims did not rise to the level of constructive fraud, against the bank that served as executor of a will and trustee of the beneficiaries' trusts were dismissed because their claims were barred by the three-year statute of limitations under G.S. 1-52(1). Toomer v. Branch Banking & Trust Co., 171 N.C. App. 58, 614 S.E.2d 328, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

Alienation of Affections. — Defendant was entitled to summary judgment on plaintiff's alienation of affections claim; as plaintiff conceded the acts complained of occurred pre-separation more than three years before she filed suit, and such a claim had to be based on pre-separation conduct, it was time-barred under G.S. 1-52(5). McCutchen v. McCutchen, 170 N.C. App. 1, 612 S.E.2d 162, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2005).

IV. LIABILITY CREATED BY STATUTES.

Action Against Corporate Director. — Summary judgment was granted in favor of a director of a corporation in an action alleging violations of G.S. 55-8-30 and N.Y. Gen. Bus. Law § 717 relating to the sale of certain illegal agreements because the causes of action were time barred. Rich Food Servs., Inc. v. Rich Plan Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27799 (E.D.N.C. Nov. 11, 2002).

Action Under Usury Statutes. — Plaintiffs' claims against a trust company and its trustee under G.S. 24-10 failed where the statute of limitations for the action began to accrue when plaintiffs closed on their property and as that was more than four years prior to the filing of the action, the statute of limitations in G.S. 1-52(2)-(3) had expired. Skinner v. Preferred Credit, 172 N.C. App. 407, 616 S.E.2d 676, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1806 (2005).

V. TRESPASS UPON REALTY.

Property owner was not entitled to 17 years of back rent from an occupier and an estate for the use of his property because there was a three-year statute of limitations under G.S. 42-4 and G.S. 1-52(2). Perkins v. Watson, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 11192 (M.D.N.C. June 3, 2005).

VII. INJURY TO PERSON OR RIGHTS OF ANOTHER.

Criminal Conversion. — Since a cause of action for criminal conversation was specifically identified in the three-year statute of limitations contained in G.S. 1-52(5), the discovery exception did not apply to criminal conversation cases; a criminal conversation case filed five years after the alleged affair ended was time barred despite the fact that the former husband may have discovered it some years after it ended. Misenheimer v. Burris, 169 N.C. App. 539, 610 S.E.2d 271, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 599 (2005).

Emotional Distress Claims. —

Store manager's claim of negligent infliction of emotional distress arising from an incident when a coworker exposed himself to her and grabbed her breast accrued within the three-year period allotted under G.S. 1-52(5), the claim was timely. McDougal-Wilson v. Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., 427 F. Supp. 2d 595, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19865 (E.D.N.C. 2006).

XI. FRAUD OR MISTAKE.

B. Applicability.

Section Not Applicable to Alleged Failure to Perform As Advertised. — G.S. 1-50(a)(6) indicated that the legislature intended to cover a multiplicity of claims that could have arisen out of a defective product; a farmer's fraud action based on the alleged failure of a manufactured silo to perform as advertised or indicated by the silo's promotional literature, was thus controlled by G.S. 1-50(a)(6), not by G.S. 1-52(9), and was time-barred. Jack H. Winslow Farms, Inc. v. Dedmon, 171 N.C. App. 754, 615 S.E.2d 41, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1359 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 64, 621 S.E.2d 625 (2005).

E. Actions Held Barred.

Alleged Fraudulent Actions of Attorney.

— Partner's fraud claim was properly dismissed as time-barred as the partner received actual notice of another partner's ownership interest in a buyer of the partnership's property more than three years before an attorney was sued for failing to reveal or for misrepresenting the other partner's interest; the partner's claim that he was not required to adhere to the discovery provisions of the statute of limitations because he sued an attorney with whom he had an attorney-client relationship was rejected. Carlisle v. Keith, 169 N.C. App. 674, 614 S.E.2d 542, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 800 (2005).

Alleged Constructive Fraud of Attorney.

— Partner's constructive fraud claim against an attorney was properly dismissed as time-barred as the partner's claim accrued when he became aware of another partner's ownership interest in the buyer of the partnership's property, which was more than five years before an attorney was added to the suit. Carlisle v. Keith, 169 N.C. App. 674, 614 S.E.2d 542, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 800 (2005).

F. Actions Not Barred.

Sale of Illegal Agreements. — Summary judgment was denied in a case against a director alleging negligent misrepresentation in connection with the sale of illegal agreements in North Carolina because there was a genuine issue of material fact as to whether the elements were met under New York law and whether the statute of limitations had expired under North Carolina law. Rich Food Servs., Inc. v. Rich Plan Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27799 (E.D.N.C. Nov. 11, 2002).

XIII. ACCRUAL OF CAUSE OF ACTION FOR PERSONAL INJURY OR PROPERTY DAMAGE.

Date of Discovery Rule. —

Partner's claim was properly dismissed as the partner knew of another partner's ownership interest in the buyer of the partnership's property more than three years before he sued an attorney for negligent misrepresentation; when the partner became aware of the other partner's ownership interest in the buyer, he experienced damage that was apparent or reasonably ought to have become apparent to him. Carlisle v. Keith, 169 N.C. App. 674, 614 S.E.2d 542, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 800 (2005).

Trial court erred in granting summary judgment to the city on the property owners' claims against the city based on a large amount of sewage being discharged on to their property during a heavy rain storm, which caused substantial property damage; the separate and distinct heavy amount of damage started the limitations period running, not the lesser problems that had occurred with sewer discharge on to their property years earlier, and the city also did not have governmental immunity. Harrison v. City of Sanford, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 672, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 698 (2006).

Summary judgment for a neighbor's tenant and a petroleum servicing company was proper as that the property owners did not discover that their land was contaminated by underground storage tanks on a neighbors' property until after the statute of repose had expired did not extend the time for filing suit. Hodge v. Harkey, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 143, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1310 (2006).

Contaminated Water. —

Summary judgment for a tenant and a petroleum servicing company was proper as the company removed underground storage tanks on the leased property in 1988, the tenant's lease ended in 1988, and the last act or omission that could give rise to a cause of action against either defendant occurred in 1988; as defendants' last acts or omissions occurred more than 10 years before the suit was filed, the claims were barred by the statute of repose. Hodge v. Harkey, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 143, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1310 (2006).

Accrual of Alienation of Affections Claim. — Summary judgment was improperly granted dismissing former wife's claim for alienation of affections filed in April 2003 on the ground that it was barred by the statute of limitations in G.S. 1-52(5) because, while the husband and the wife separated in 1998, the wife's allegations in her sworn affidavit and verified complaint, to the effect that the husband expressed his desire to return to the marriage multiple times in October 1999 and September 2000, that the couple purchased a car together in May 1999, that the couple maintained joint finances after their separation, that they participated in marriage counseling until February 2001, and that the husband told the wife during their last counseling session that he was not planning on divorcing her, presented a genuine issue of material fact as to whether there was love and affection following the wife's separation from the husband. Since a jury could determine that alienation did not occur until as late as February 2001 when the husband made the final decision to end the marriage and because the wife filed her complaint within three years of his decision, her claim for alienation of affections was not barred. McCutchen v. McCutchen, 360 N.C. 280, 624 S.E.2d 620, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 2 (2006).

XV. ASSAULT, BATTERY, AND FALSE IMPRISONMENT.

Action Held Time-Barred. — Partner's civil conspiracy claim based on breach of fiduciary duty, fraud, and negligent misrepresentation was properly dismissed as time-barred as the claim was brought more than six years after the date of a partnership transaction and eight years after a subdivision claim. Carlisle v. Keith, 169 N.C. App. 674, 614 S.E.2d 542, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 800 (2005).

42 U.S.C.S. § 1983. — Inmate's claims under 42 USCS § 1983 that a state violated his Fifth and Sixth Amendment rights by not acting lawfully in settling a charge against the inmate in 1992 were dismissed pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) because, inter alia, the claims were time-barred by the three-year statute of limitations borrowed from G.S. 1-52(2), and the complaint did not plainly state, as required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a). Williams v. North Carolina, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2004 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 28552 (E.D.N.C. Oct. 8, 2004).

§ 1-53. Two years.

CASE NOTES

- II. Contractual Obligations of Local Governmental Units.
- III. Penalty for Usury.

II. CONTRACTUAL OBLIGATIONS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENTAL UNITS.

Claims Barred. — Trial court did not err in granting partial summary judgment for the board of education on the corporation's breach of contract claim or in granting summary judgment for the board of education on the corporation's breach of warranty claim because both claims were barred by the two-year statute of limitations found in G.S. 1-53(1) where the corporation was aware of its injury at least by April 24, 2001, but it did not sue until August 26, 2003. ABL Plumbing & Heating Corp. v. Bladen County Bd. of Educ., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 57, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2728 (2005).

III. PENALTY FOR USURY.

When Statute Begins to Run. —

Where all details of borrowers' loan, including the interest rate, fees, and expenses, were disclosed before the closing in loan documents to the borrowers, who had the capacity and the opportunity to discover their claim but failed to do so, the statute of limitations for the borrowers' usury claim began to run on the date of the closing of their loan. Shepard v. Ocwen Fed. Bank, FSB, 172 N.C. App. 475, 617 S.E.2d 61, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1810 (2005).

§ 1-54. One year.

CASE NOTES

- IV. Libel and Slander.

IV. LIBEL AND SLANDER.

Doctor's counterclaim against a patient for slander per se was dismissed because none of the allegations of oral slander occurred within the limitations period; while an allegation was made that unsigned letters were mailed by the patient to the doctor's partner, the appellate court did not consider this allegation as the doctor only counterclaimed for slander per se, which included oral statements, and not for libel, which encompassed the letter as a written statement. Iadanza v. Harper, 169 N.C. App. 776, 611 S.E.2d 217, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 808 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 63, 621 S.E.2d 624 (2005).

SUBCHAPTER III. PARTIES.

ARTICLE 6.

*Parties.§ 1-69.1. Unincorporated associations and partnerships; suit by or against.

(a) Except as provided in subsection (b) of this section:

- (1) All unincorporated associations, organizations or societies, or general or limited partnerships, foreign or domestic, whether organized for profit or not, may hereafter sue or be sued under the name by which they are commonly known and called, or under which they are doing business, to the same extent as any other legal entity established by law and without naming any of the individual members composing it.
- (2) Any judgments and executions against any such association, organization or society shall bind its real and personal property in like manner as if it were incorporated.
- (3) Any unincorporated association, organization, society, or general partnership bringing a suit in the name by which it is commonly known and called must allege the specific location of the recordation required by G.S. 66-68.

(b) Unincorporated nonprofit associations are subject to Chapter 59B of the General Statutes and not this section. (1955, c. 545, s. 3; 1975, c. 393, ss. 1, 2; 2006-226, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-226, s. 5, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-226, s. 3, effective January 1, 2007, designated the previously existing provisions as subdivisions (a)(1) through (a)(3); added the introductory language of subsection (a); and added subsection (b).

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Applied in Pfizer Inc. v. Synthon Holding, B.V., 386 F. Supp. 2d 666, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24544 (M.D.N.C. Sept. 7, 2005).

Cited in Sawyers v. Farm Bureau Ins. Co. of N.C., Inc., 170 N.C. App. 17, 612 S.E.2d 184, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 893 (2005); Deer Corp. v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 159, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 968 (2006); Simpson v. Snyder's of Hanover, Inc., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 42091 (W.D.N.C. June 12, 2006).

II. DUE PROCESS CONSIDERATIONS.

A. In General.

Analysis Under This Section and Federal Due Process Clause. —

North Carolina's long-arm statute, G.S. 1-75.4(1)(d), has been interpreted as extending to the full extent permitted by the Constitution. Burleson v. Toback, 391 F. Supp. 2d 401, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 29822 (M.D.N.C. Sept. 30, 2005).

But Courts Cannot Expand Jurisdiction Beyond Due Process Limitations. —

Trial court properly dismissed machine purchaser's complaint against foreign corporation for failure to appropriately allege that North Carolina had personal jurisdiction over the corporation; while it was true that jurisdiction under the long-arm statute, G.S. 1-75.4(5)(e), existed because the foreign corporation shipped its machine to North Carolina via common carrier, due process considerations required that the foreign corporation have minimum contacts with the forum, and such minimum contacts were not shown. Charter Med., LTD v. Zigmed, Inc., 173 N.C. App. 213, 617 S.E.2d 352, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1917 (2005).

B. Determining Minimum Contacts.

Jurisdiction Held to Exist Over Former Employee. — Where a copyright holder sued its former employee, alleging that the former employee worked for the copyright holder for approximately two months in its Charlotte, North Carolina office, and stole the software code at issue from its Charlotte office, the court found that exercising personal jurisdiction over the former employee comported with due process. Innovative Multimedia Solutions v. Sulit, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 31257 (W.D.N.C. May 16, 2006).

IV. CASES IN WHICH MINIMUM CONTACTS REQUIREMENT NOT MET.

Electronic Communications Over The Internet. —

Passive, non-interactive website maintained by defendant did not indicate a manifest intent to target and focus on North Carolina when viewed in conjunction with the overall character of the website, and could not support the exercise of specific jurisdiction; the website did not accept orders, and instead simply described defendant's products and gave contact information for her in Indiana. Woods Int'l, Inc. v. McRoy, 436 F. Supp. 2d 744, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 43776 (M.D.N.C. 2006).

No Purposeful Action Directed Toward State. — Accounting firm's motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction was granted; plaintiffs' contention that the accounting firm, in preparing audit reports that it knew a Delaware corporation with offices in Ohio and Missouri would use in marketing materials distributed throughout the United States, placed its product in the stream of commerce such that personal jurisdiction was appropriate in North Carolina was without merit because the accounting firm took no action purposefully directed toward the forum state. Allison v. Lomas, 387 F. Supp. 2d 516, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26345 (M.D.N.C. Aug. 26, 2005).

Plaintiffs failed to demonstrate that the court had personal jurisdiction over an attorney and a law firm where the attorney drafted, approved, and recommended for use a Delaware corporation's offering materials and prepared a legal opinion that was distributed to investors in a mobile billboard scheme, the services were not purposefully directed toward the state of North Carolina and plaintiffs' claims could not have been said to arise out of any contact the attorney or the law firm had with North Carolina, the attorney was not licensed to conduct business in North Carolina and plaintiffs had neither asserted nor identified any contacts with the state whatsoever, and plaintiffs failed to establish that the attorney or the law firm maintained the continuous and systematic contacts required to exercise general jurisdiction in North Carolina. Allison v. Lomas, 387 F. Supp. 2d 516, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 26345 (M.D.N.C. Aug. 26, 2005).

Cease and Desist Letter Insufficient to Assert Personal Jurisdiction. — Cease and desist letter sent by defendant to plaintiff was not sufficient to support the assertion of personal jurisdiction over defendant, as defendant did not attempt to solicit business in North Carolina or enter into any agreement or business relationship in North Carolina. Woods Int'l, Inc. v. McRoy, 436 F. Supp. 2d 744, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 43776 (M.D.N.C. 2006).

Out-of-State Credit Trust and Trustee. — Long-arm jurisdiction did not exist over an out-of-state credit trust and its trustee under G.S. 1-75.4(1)(d), (5)(d), or (6)(b) as the trust did not engage in substantial activity within North Carolina, it did not receive shipped goods, documents of title, or other things of value from North Carolina, and the few mortgage notes it held that were secured by North Carolina property were insufficient to constitute a holding of tangible property in North Carolina. Skinner v. Preferred Credit, 172 N.C. App. 407, 616 S.E.2d 676, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1806 (2005).

Acts not occurring in state. —

Single $150 shipment of defendant's products was sold by one of defendant's Indiana customers to a North Carolina resident at a trade show in Kentucky did not form the basis for specific jurisdiction because the claims in plaintiff's declaratory judgment action did not "arise out of" that prior shipment of products. Woods Int'l, Inc. v. McRoy, 436 F. Supp. 2d 744, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 43776 (M.D.N.C. 2006).

When a patient sued a pharmacy for negligence, breach of implied warranties, liability under G.S. 99B-6, and to pierce the pharmacy's corporate veil and hold its president liable, the president did not have sufficient contacts with North Carolina for the trial court to exercise personal jurisdiction over him because he had not been in the state since age 18, and he signed an application for the pharmacy to do business in North Carolina in his capacity as the pharmacy's president. Rauch v. Urgent Care Pharm., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 211, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1566 (2006).

VI. LOCAL ACT OR OMISSION.

Tortious Interference With Contract. —

Third party nonresident defendant's motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction was denied in part because the court had jurisdiction over the nonresident under North Carolina's Long Arm Statute, G.S. 1-75.4 where it was alleged that her actions in the state tortiously interfered with a contract with resident insurer; however, the nonresident's motion to dismiss was granted with respect to two breach of contract claims that arose out of conduct occurring outside of North Carolina and were not part of the common nucleus the other claims involving the resident insurer. N.C. Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. McKinley Fin. Serv., Inc., 386 F. Supp. 2d 648, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 24913 (M.D.N.C. Sept. 2, 2005).

IX. CASES DECIDED UNDER PRIOR LAW.

B. Minimum Contacts.

Defendant's Sexual Activity in North Carolina Satisfied Minimum Contacts Requirement. — Trial court properly denied a girlfriend's motion to dismiss a wife's claim that the girlfriend alienated the affections of the wife's husband, because the girlfriend's acts of calling, e-mailing, and engaging in sex acts with the husband in North Carolina satisfied the longarm statute, G.S. 1-75.4(3), and due process. Fox v. Gibson, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 841, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 534 (2006).

§ 1-75.7. Personal jurisdiction — Grounds for without service of summons.

CASE NOTES

General Appearance Confers Jurisdiction Despite Absence of Service. —

Where the person who was served with a summons directed to a corporation attended the Small Claims Division proceedings and fully participated on the corporation's behalf, the corporation thereby made a general appearance and thus waived its right to challenge proper service of process; the trial court erred in reversing a judgment entered by a Small Claims Division magistrate based on invalid service. Woods v. Billy's Auto., — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 193, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2595 (2005).

Waiver of Jurisdictional Defense by General Appearance. —

Juvenile petition was filed June 11, 2004, and the summons was issued four days later, but the summons was returned by the sheriff on June 30, 2004, unserved; on July 8, 2004, the mother attended a hearing regarding the allegations her minor child was neglected and dependent. The mother was not only present in court, but also agreed to continue the matter until July 22, 2004, and there was no evidence that the mother raised any objection at that hearing regarding insufficient service of process or personal jurisdiction; thus, her actions amounted to waiver of her right to challenge the trial court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over her regardless of whether she was served with a juvenile summons in compliance with G.S. 1A-1-4. In re A.J.M., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 33, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1220 (2006).

§ 1-75.10. Proof of service of summons, defendant appearing in action.

CASE NOTES

Proof of Service Established Despite Third-Party Signature on Postal Receipt. —

Trial court erred in granting defendant's motion to dismiss plaintiff's negligence action for improper service of process because by filing a copy of the signed return receipt, along with an affidavit that comported with G.S. 1-75.10, plaintiff was entitled to a rebuttable presumption of valid service; defendant did not state or otherwise present any evidence that his mother, who signed for the civil summons and complaint, was not authorized to accept service for him. Carpenter v. Agee, 171 N.C. App. 98, 613 S.E.2d 735, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1164 (2005).

III. AGAINST PUBLIC OFFICERS, ETC.

Injurious Results Taking Effect in Another County. —

Forsyth County was a proper venue in a negligence and medical malpractice against paramedics, Rockingham County and the Rockingham County Emergency Medical Services because the alleged injuries occurred in Forsyth County when the head of the stretcher that the injured party was transported on bounced off a stair of the ambulance and hit the ground. Morris v. Rockingham County, 170 N.C. App. 417, 612 S.E.2d 660, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 997 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Motion for Removal Improperly Denied. — Where plaintiff declared in her complaint alleging assault, battery, and intentional infliction of emotional distress that she was a resident of Vance County, North Carolina, and that defendant was a resident of Granville County, North Carolina, and where all of the events alleged in the complaint occurred in Granville County, North Carolina, Wake County was not the proper venue. Hawley v. Hobgood, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 117, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2478 (2005).

§ 1-83. Change of venue.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Delay in Ruling on Motion for Change of Venue. — Where defendant sought removal of the action due to improper venue in his answer, the fact that it was plaintiff's motion to compel discovery that prodded defendant into action on the motion was immaterial; the nine month delay, standing alone, did not constitute an implied waiver by defendant, and since defendant timely filed a demand for change of venue, he was entitled to show that venue was improper. Hawley v. Hobgood, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 117, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2478 (2005).

Lis Pendens.

§ 1-116. Filing of notice of suit.

CASE NOTES

U.S. Government's Interest. —

Defendants' motion to cancel notice of lis pendens was denied as the statutory prerequisites for the filing of notices of lis pendens, under G.S. 1-116(a)(1), Fla. Stat. § 48.23, and S.C. Code Ann. § 15-11-10, were met because, inter alia, pursuant to 21 USCS § 853(c), the U.S. gained an interest in all forfeitable property owned by defendants, including any identifiable substitute property, at the moment in time that the crimes alleged in the indictment occurred, and it was no consequence that the substitute property claimed as subject to forfeiture was acquired by defendants prior to the alleged illegal activity. United States v. Woods, 436 F. Supp. 2d 753, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 44917 (E.D.N.C. 2006).

I. IN GENERAL.*Purpose of Article. —

Trial court did not err in granting summary judgment to the governor, state public safety agency, state highway patrol, and certain unidentified persons, and denying the wrecker service owner's motion for summary judgment on the wrecker service owner's declaratory judgment action seeking a determination that regulations used to remove his wrecker service business from the state's Wrecker Rotation Services List were illegal and that the regulations were preempted by federal law; the trial court had the authority to declare that the regulations were not illegal because the General Assembly granted to the state public safety agency the power to direct the state highway patrol to establish regulations for private wrecker services. *Ramey v. II. SCOPE OF ARTICLE.*Scope of Article, Generally. —

When employers and insurers objected to paying hospitals certain amounts which had been approved by the Industrial Commission, in workers' compensation claims, and the employers and insurers challenged the constitutionality of the statute under which these amounts were approved, the employers and insurers could have brought an action under the Uniform Declaratory Judgment Act, G.S. 1-253 seeking relief. *Carlinas Med. IV. WHAT MAY BE DETERMINED BY DECLARATORY JUDGMENT.*C. Actions in Which Declaratory Judgment Held Unavailable.

Interpretation of Property Settlement Agreement Incorporated Within a Consent Judgment of Divorce. — District court erred by interpreting a property settlement agreement via a declaratory judgment action brought by an ex-husband against his ex-wife because the proper remedy with regard to interpreting the agreement, which had been incorporated into a consent judgment of divorce, was a contempt proceeding and not an independent declaratory judgment action; as a result, the district court lacked subject matter jurisdiction of the matter and the order interpreting the agreement, which was in favor of the ex-husband, was vacated on appeal. Fucito v. Francis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 660, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2715 (2005).

Actions to Quiet Title. — Dismissal of a suit brought by a group of beachfront landowners against the State of North Carolina, the State of North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources, the Coastal Resources Commission, the Division of Coastal Management, and its director, was upheld on appeal because the landowners failed to allege in their complaint sufficient allegations to establish that the State of North Carolina asserted any claim of title to their land under G.S. 41-10.1 to have constituted a waiver of the state's sovereign immunity with regard to the landowners' suit to prevent the general public from interfering with their use of certain beach property, which the landowners claimed was deeded to them. *Fabrikant v. Researcher Who Was Required to Produce Documents in Criminal Case Was Aggrieved Party. — Where the trial court ordered a researcher to produce certain documents for defendant's appellate counsel, the researcher, which claimed that the documents were privileged, had grounds to appeal under G.S. 1-271 and G.S. 1-277; requiring disclosure of the allegedly privileged documents affected a substantial right, and thus the researcher was an aggrieved party. *State v. #### III. PARTIES HELD NOT ENTITLED TO APPEAL.

Guardian Ad Litem Not Served in Parental Rights Termination Case. — Trial court did not err by exercising personal jurisdiction over a mother with regard to terminating her parental rights to her son by serving the summons required by G.S. 7B-1106(a)(5) upon the attorney advocate of the child's guardian ad litem rather than the guardian ad litem, because the guardian ad litem did not object at trial to the sufficiency of service nor did the guardian ad litem argue the issue on appeal; the mother actually lacked standing to challenge service of the summons in that she was not an aggrieved party on that issue. In re J.B., 172 N.C. ##### B. Interlocutory Orders.

1. In General.

G.S. 1-277(b) does not apply to challenges to sufficiency of service of process. — Autec, Inc. v. Southlake Holdings, LLC, 171 N.C. App. 147, 613 S.E.2d 727, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1162 (2005).

Order Compelling Discovery. —

Because a physician's assertions of statutory privilege related directly to the matters to be disclosed under a trial court's interlocutory discovery order, the challenged discovery order affected a substantial right and the physician's interlocutory appeal was properly before the appellate court under G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d)(1). Armstrong v. Barnes, 171 N.C. App. 287, 614 S.E.2d 371, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1262 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 60, 621 S.E.2d 173 (2005).

Order imposing sanctions for discovery violations and ordering the production of documents was an interlocutory order that was appealable because the order imposed sanctions pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 37(b). Such an appeal tests the validity of both the discovery order and the sanctions imposed. In re Pedestrian Walkway Failure, 173 N.C. App. 254, 618 S.E.2d 796, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2022 (2005).

Because a partial summary judgment giving a wife two parcels of land, before the divorcing parties' property was equitably divided, was an interlocutory order, a husband was not required to file an appeal from the interlocutory order; no substantial right of either party was involved, and the partial summary judgment was appealable when the husband filed his appeal from the equitable distribution judgment. Davis v. Davis, 360 N.C. 518, 631 S.E.2d 114, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 593 (2006).

Trial court's denial of a motion to enforce a settlement did not resolve the underlying personal injury claim, and the order of denial was therefore interlocutory; since the trial court did not certify that there was no just reason to delay the appeal, and the denial did not affect a substantial right, there was no right to an immediate appeal since an appeal of the denial was still allowed once there was a final judgment. Milton v. Thompson, 170 N.C. App. 176, 611 S.E.2d 474, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 903 (2005).

When Interlocutory Orders Are Appealable. —

Trial court erred in holding that contractor's withdrawal of appeal from the order dismissing its claims against a manufacturer became a final judgment and the law of the case because the contractor was not required to immediately appeal the trial court's order dismissing its claims. The contractor did not waive its right to appeal after the entry of final judgment by foregoing an interlocutory appeal since the appeal was permissive rather than mandatory, under G.S. 1-277, and the dismissal order was subject to appellate review. Atl. Coast Mech., Inc. v. Arcadis, Geraghty & Miller of N.C., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 334, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 58 (2006).

Because the appeal was final as to the appealing defendants, and the trial court certified the appeal, the appellate court was required to review plaintiff's appeal on the merits. James River Equip., Inc. v. Tharpe's Excavating, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 548, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2006).

When a patient sued a pharmacy for negligence, breach of implied warranties, liability under G.S. 99B-6, and to pierce the pharmacy's corporate veil and hold its president liable, and the warranty claim and claim to pierce the corporate veil were dismissed, the patient did not show, in an interlocutory appeal of that dismissal, that she would lose a substantial right if she could not immediately appeal the dismissal. Rauch v. Urgent Care Pharm., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 211, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1566 (2006).

Dismissal of All Claims Against Less

Than All Defendants. — Because the appeal was final as to the appealing defendants, and the trial court certified the appeal, the appellate court was required to review plaintiff's appeal on the merits. James River Equip., Inc. v. Tharpe's Excavating, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 548, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2006).

2. Substantial Right.

Section Prohibits Appeal of Interlocutory Orders Unless Substantial Right Is Affected. —

Because the trial court did not rule on the merits of an employee's claim for unemployment benefits, but found that the Employment Security Commission's order did not address all of the relevant issues raised by the record, and the findings were incomplete and failed to set out the sequence of events regarding the timing and notification of the employee's discharge, the order was clearly interlocutory; hence, without evidence that the employee's substantial rights were affected, or that any criteria for an immediate appeal was required, the employee's appeal was dismissed. Reeves v. Yellow Transp., Inc., 170 N.C. App. 610, 613 S.E.2d 350, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2005), review denied, — N.C. —, 619 S.E.2d 511 (2005).

Motion For Change of Venue. — In cases where a trial court's decision deprives an appellant of a substantial right that would be lost absent immediate review, appellate court was allowed to review the appeal; motions for change of venue because the county designated was not proper affected a substantial right and were immediately appealable. Hawley v. Hobgood, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 117, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2478 (2005).

Questions affecting title to property immediately reviewable. — Possible existence of an easement, the basis upon which a trial court ordered joinder of individual unit owners in a townhome development, was a question affecting title, and thus the trial court's joinder order in a suit seeking a condemnation of a homeowners' association's common area was subject to immediate review. N.C. DOT v. Stagecoach Vill., 360 N.C. 46, 619 S.E.2d 495, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 996 (2005).

Substantial Right Held Not Affected, Precluding Immediate Appeal. —

Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in a medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where the issues of a hospital's claim that, without immediate review, it lost the right to avoid trial altogether by (1) raising the statute of limitations, (2) raising "estoppel by laches" as an affirmative defense, or (3) having the amended complaint dismissed for failure to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j), were not brought before the trial court, and no substantial right was lost by the failure to allow immediate review; the estates were also entitled to sanctions against the hospital. Estate of Spell v. Ghanem, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 725, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2717 (2005).

Appeal by corporation, president, and vice president from the denial of the motion to dismiss pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(1), (6) was interlocutory and did not affect a substantial right pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d); the appeal, therefore, was dismissed in accordance with G.S. 1A-1-54(b). Capps v. NW Sign Indus. of N.C., Inc., 171 N.C. App. 409, 614 S.E.2d 552, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1203 (2005).

Substantial Right Held Affected. — Where a trial court granted plaintiff summary judgment as to liability on a criminal conversation claim, and granted defendant summary judgment as to an alienation of affections claim, though no final judgment was entered as to the issue of damages for the criminal conversation claim, nor was certification granted under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54(b) as to the alienation of affections claim, the appeal affected a substantial right that would be lost absent immediate review, because the elements of damages were so closely related that they did not support separate awards for each tort. McCutchen v. McCutchen, 170 N.C. App. 1, 612 S.E.2d 162, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2005).

In a defamation action, the appeal of the candidate and campaign from the trial court's denial of their G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion was interlocutory, and the denial did not challenge a substantial right that was to be lost absent immediate appellate review pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a); the instant case was akin to a previous case in which an appeal from a motion for judgment on pleadings pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was dismissed, and the instant case was distinguishable from a previous case in which an appeal on a ruling on a motion for summary judgment pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56 was allowed, as a motion under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was more similar to a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion. Grant v. Miller, 170 N.C. App. 184, 611 S.E.2d 477, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 902 (2005).

Widow sufficiently established that the order below affected a substantial right and that interlocutory review was therefore appropriate under circumstances in which the trial court had ordered the widow to pay $150,000 which she had withdrawn from a decedent's bank account. Estate of Redden v. Redden, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 794, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1638 (2006).

Shareholders were entitled to an interlocutory appeal of the trial court's denial of their motion for the appointment of a receiver because they established a substantial right to the preservation of what they alleged were their corporation's assets and opportunities under G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d)(1), which right was substantially affected by the trial court's denial of the appointment of a receiver. Barnes v. Kochhar, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 474, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1574 (2006).

Res judicata. — Interlocutory appeal of the denial of defendants' motion for summary judgment in a constructive trust action was allowed; the basis of the motion for summary judgment was that res judicata barred the constructive trust action and in such a case, the failure to allow an appeal might affect a substantial right in that the possibility existed that without an immediate appeal, they would be required to twice defend against the same claim by plaintiffs. Tiber Holding Corp. v. DiLoreto, 170 N.C. App. 662, 613 S.E.2d 346, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1081 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

V. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.

A. Appellant Held Entitled to Appeal.

1. In General.

Researcher Who Was Required to Produce Documents in Criminal Case Was Aggrieved Party. — Where the trial court ordered a researcher to produce certain documents for defendant's appellate counsel, the researcher, which claimed that the documents were privileged, had grounds to appeal under G.S. 1-271 and G.S. 1-277; requiring disclosure of the allegedly privileged documents affected a substantial right, and thus the researcher was an aggrieved party. State v. Bradley, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1968 (2006).

3. Summary Judgment.

Summary Judgment Held to Affect Substantial Right. —

While an order granting summary judgment was interlocutory, it was appealable because the cause of action for criminal conversation, which was still before the trial court, was so connected with the claim for alienation of affections that only one issue of damages should be submitted to the jury, and thus, a substantial right was at stake to have the same jury hear the wife's two claims. McCutchen v. McCutchen, 360 N.C. 280, 624 S.E.2d 620, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 2 (2006).

§ 1-278. Interlocutory orders reviewed on appeal from judgment.

CASE NOTES

Preservation of Issue for Review. —

Because defendants did not specifically reference the trial court's order of substitution in the notice of appeal, and because the record contained no indication that they had objected to the entry of that order, the appellate court lacked jurisdiction to review their contentions regarding the order. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Interlocutory Appeal from Summary Judgment. — Because the investors' theory of the insurance and securities broker's liability was that the broker was vicariously liable for the agent's and subagent's actions, many of the same factual issues applied to the claims against the broker, the agent, and the subagent and inconsistent verdicts could result from separate trials; therefore, the appellate court had jurisdiction to review the appeal of the trial court's grant of summary judgment to the broker on all the investors' claims as a substantial right was affected. Estate of Redding v. Welborn, 170 N.C. App. 324, 612 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1001 (2005).

§ 1-289. Undertaking to stay execution on money judgment.

CASE NOTES

Child Support Order. — Trial court did not err when it ordered a father to pay a bond in the amount of $2,000 toward his alleged child support arrearage, because an order for child support was a money judgment for which a trial court had authority to order a bond to stay the proceeding for appeal. Clark v. Gragg, 171 N.C. App. 120, 614 S.E.2d 356, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1187 (2005).

§ 1-292. How judgment for real property stayed.

CASE NOTES

Factors to Consider in Setting Bond Amount. — Where appellants sought a bond under G.S. 1-292 for a stay pending appeal of an order requiring them to sell land to appellee, the trial court had to determine the value of the loss to the appellee of the use and occupancy of the property during the appeal; appellants' affidavit asserting that the bond should be $1 because they did not intend to use or occupy the property was, therefore, beside the point. Currituck Assocs. Residential P'ship v. Hollowell, 170 N.C. App. 399, 612 S.E.2d 386, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

Insufficient Evidence to Support Bond Amount. — Where appellants sought a bond under G.S. 1-292 for a stay pending appeal of an order requiring them to sell land to appellee, an affidavit stating that appellee would incur damages of about $1.369 million per year if delayed in developing the land did not support the trial court's $1 million bond requirement, as there was no showing the affidavit was based on the affiant's personal knowledge. Currituck Assocs. Residential P'ship v. Hollowell, 170 N.C. App. 399, 612 S.E.2d 386, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

§ 1-294. Scope of stay; security limited for fiduciaries.

CASE NOTES

Section Not Controlling over Specific Statute. —

Where the trial court terminated the mother's parental rights during the pendency of the mother's custody review order appeal, G.S. 1-294 did not deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to terminate the mother's parental rights, as such jurisdiction was granted under G.S.

7B-1101 and G.S. 7B-1103. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Order on Remand Noticing Matter Did Not Constitute Exercise of Jurisdiction. — Although two courts cannot have jurisdiction over the same order at the same time, a district court's order on remand noticing a matter did not constitute the exercise of jurisdiction under N.C. R. App. P. 28(b)(6) when an appellate court filed its opinion, but before the judgment was certified, the district court set the case for hearing and sent notice of the hearing to a party. In re T.S., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 19, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1299 (2006).

ARTICLE 27A.

Appeals And Transfers From The Clerk.

§ 1-301.3. Appeal of estate matters determined by clerk.

CASE NOTES

Notice of Appeal Constituted Only a General Objection. — Petitioner's notice of appeal to the superior court from a decision of the clerk of superior court was properly characterized as a general objection; the appeal did not relate specifically to any of the clerk's 66 findings of fact, but constituted only a broad-side attack on them. In re Estate of Whitaker, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 849, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1902 (2006).

SUBCHAPTER X. EXECUTION.

ARTICLE 30.

Betterments.

§ 1-340. Petition by claimant; execution suspended; issues found.

CASE NOTES

Betterments Statutes Do Not Create Right Against State. —

Dismissal of a suit brought by a group of beachfront landowners against the State of North Carolina, the State of North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources, the Coastal Resources Commission, the Division of Coastal Management, and its director, was upheld on appeal because the landowners failed to allege in their complaint sufficient allegations to establish that the State of North Carolina asserted any claim of title to their land under G.S. 41-10.1 to have constituted a waiver of the state's sovereign immunity with regard to the landowners' suit to prevent the general public from interfering with their use of certain beach property, which the landowners claimed was deeded to them. Existence of Alternative Remedies Did Not Preclude Action. — While, in order to recover on a judgment that certain buyers had obtained against a corporation, the buyers might have had enforcement of the judgment by proceeding on an execution under G.S. 1-352, the existence of those possible alternative remedies did not preclude the buyers from bringing an action, as they did, against the corporation's owners, and the action should not have been dismissed. Blair v. Robinson, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 217, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1394 (2006).

CASE NOTES

Disability Insurance Payments Were Not Exempt Earnings. — Where North Carolina, pursuant to G.S. 1C-1601(f), opted out of 11 U.S.C.S. § 522, any bankruptcy property exemptions were controlled by state law; thus, a North Carolina debtor could not use § 522 to exempt disability insurance policy payments from his bankruptcy estate and the payments were not exempt under G.S. 1-362 because such payments were not earnings for performance of personal services but resulted from nonperformance. In re Dillon, — Bankr. —, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1314 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. July 8, 2005).

claimed that monthly expenses exceeded the debtor's income and thus recently earned cash was necessary for the support of the debtor, the debtor failed to show that the cash was necessary for the debtor's support; the debtor, who had no dependents and regular income, had the financial capacity to support the debtor without resort to the additional cash since certain of the debtor's claimed expenses involved voluntary car payments for the debtor's siblings and contributions to a savings program, which were not expenses necessary for the support of the debtor. Trustee removal proceedings are held in an estate matter and not in a special proceeding or in a civil action, and clerks of court are not required to also make decisions regarding discovery and other issues of law arising during estate matters; instead, the clerks of superior courts hear the matters before them summarily, and are responsible for determining questions of fact rather than providing judgment in favor of one party or the other. Termination Proceedings. — Trial court erred in denying the father's motion to set aside the order entered against him that terminated his parental rights in his minor daughter; the record showed that the summons that was issued in his case was not served upon him within the time limit for service of process under the civil procedure rule then in effect and since that rule applied to civil actions or special proceedings such as a termination of parental rights case, the order was entered without the trial court having acquired personal jurisdiction over the father, and thus was void. ### Rule 1. Scope of rules.

Applicability of Rules. —

While the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure govern civil proceedings generally, they do not apply when a differing procedure is prescribed by statute; a trial court's denial of a corporation's motion to intervene in a case seeking review of an annexation ordinance was proper, since the corporation failed to comply with G.S. 160A-50 procedures by moving to intervene six months after the ordinance was adopted. Gates Four Homeowners Ass'n v. N.C. Municipality, 170 N.C. App. 688, 613 S.E.2d 55, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1088 (2005).

Trustee removal proceedings are held in an estate matter and not in a special proceeding or in a civil action, and clerks of court are not required to also make decisions regarding discovery and other issues of law arising during estate matters; instead, the clerks of superior courts hear the matters before them summarily, and are responsible for determining questions of fact rather than providing judgment in favor of one party or the other. Appeals of Annexation Ordinances. — Petitioners' motion under G.S. 1A-1-24(a) to intervene in another party's petition for review of an annexation ordinance was properly denied, because G.S. 1A-1-24(a) does not apply to appeals of annexation ordinances under G.S. 160A-50(a). *Home Builders Ass'n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. I. IN GENERAL.*Summons Must Be Served Within 30 Days (Now 60 Days). —

Trial court erred in denying the father's motion to set aside an order terminating his parental rights; since the father was not served within the time limit for serving process once a summons was issued and no extension of time was obtained, the trial court did not obtain personal jurisdiction over him in a case where the mother filed a petition to terminate the father's parental rights. In re A.B.D., 173 N.C. App. 77, 617 S.E.2d 707, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1925 (2005).

Section Not Applicable to Termination of Parental Right Proceeding Begun Within Two Years of Service. — Because the first termination of parental rights action against the mother had been dismissed, service in the instant action was proper under G.S. 1A-1-5, not G.S. 1A-1-4, as it was made less than two years after the original action began. In re P.L.P., 173 N.C. App. 1, 618 S.E.2d 241, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1921 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

Return Not Set Aside on Testimony of One Witness. —

Where defendant submitted only one witness affidavit disputing service of process, that one affidavit was insufficient to rebut the presumption that a return under G.S. 1A-1-4(j)(1)a. of valid service from a sheriff's deputy was proof of valid service. Dismissal of plaintiff's complaint under G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(4), (5), for insufficient service was improper. Saliby v. Connors, 171 N.C. App. 435, 614 S.E.2d 416, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1258 (2005).

Service on Local Union Did Not Effect Service on International Union. — In an employment discrimination action in which an employee attempted to serve process on an international union by mailing the summons and complaint to a local union's office, the international union was not properly served under Fed. R. Civ. P. 4(c)(2) and (e)(1) and N.C. R. Civ. P. 4(j)(8) because the unions were autonomous entities, the local union was not authorized to accept service of process on behalf of the international union, and the local union was not a mere agent of the international union. Hoyle v. UAW Local Union 5285, 444 F. Supp. 2d 467, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 54422 (W.D.N.C. 2006).

Cited in Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

II. PERSONAL SERVICE ON NATURAL PERSONS.*A. In General.*Waiver of Right to Challenge Jurisdiction. —

Juvenile petition was filed June 11, 2004, and the summons was issued four days later, but the summons was returned by the sheriff on June 30, 2004, unserved; on July 8, 2004, the mother attended a hearing regarding the allegations her minor child was neglected and dependent. The mother was not only present in court, but also agreed to continue the matter until July 22, 2004, and there was no evidence that the mother raised any objection at that hearing regarding insufficient service of process or personal jurisdiction; thus, her actions amounted to waiver of her right to challenge the trial court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over her regardless of whether she was served with a juvenile summons in compliance with G.S. 1A-1-4. In re A.J.M., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 33, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1220 (2006).

C. Service by Registered or Certified Mail.

Reception by Mother. — Trial court erred in granting defendant's motion to dismiss plaintiff's negligence action for improper service of process because by filing a copy of the signed return receipt, along with an affidavit that comported with G.S. 1-75.10, plaintiff was entitled to a rebuttable presumption of valid service. Defendant did not state or otherwise present any evidence that his mother, who signed for the civil summons and complaint, was not authorized to accept service for him; the G.S. 1A-1-4(j)(1)(c) requirements for service of process were met. Carpenter v. Agee, 171 N.C. App. 98, 613 S.E.2d 735, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1164 (2005).

IV. SERVICE ON CORPORATIONS.

General Appearance Waives Right to Challenge Service of Process. — Where the person who was served with a summons directed to a corporation attended the Small Claims Division proceedings and fully participated on the corporation's behalf, the corporation made a general appearance and thus waived its right to challenge proper service of process; the trial court erred in reversing a judgment entered by a Small Claims Division magistrate based on invalid service. Woods v. Billy's Auto., — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 193, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2595 (2005).

Service on Other Defendant Did Not Relate Back to Original Summons. — Since the original summons was not directed to the corporation but to a different defendant, a later summons against the corporation did not relate back to the original summons, and since there was not a properly directed summons that was merely not served, G.S. 1A-1-4(d) did not apply and the later summons was not a valid alias or pluries summons; thus, service on the corporation fell outside of the authorized time and the case was not filed within the one year period required by G.S. 1A-1-41(a)(1). Stack v. Union Reg'l Mem'l Med. Ctr., Inc., 171 N.C. App. 322, 614 S.E.2d 378, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1255 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 877 (2005).

V. SERVICE BY PUBLICATION.

Conclusory Findings of Fact As to Service By Publication. — Judgment granting a summary judgment divorce was vacated as a conclusory finding was made that a wife had been properly served and that the trial court had jurisdiction over her, without making the findings necessary to support the conclusions, despite the facts that: (1) the husband attempted to serve the complaints on the wife at two different addresses, (2) the husband's affidavit of service by publication failed to state that the husband mailed a notice of service by publication to the wife before the first publication, and (3) the husband mailed the notice of hearing to the wife at a different address than he used during the second attempt at service of the complaint; no findings were made as to the use of service by publication by the husband or his due diligence in attempting to serve the wife, or that the husband was not required to mail notice of the service by publication to the wife before the first publication. Agbemavor v. Keteku, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 337, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1074 (2006).

VII. DISCONTINUANCE AND EXTENSIONS.

Action Is Abated When No Summons Is Issued. — Preliminary injunction against defendants was vacated in plaintiff's civil action because no summons was issued within five days after the complaint was filed as required by G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 4(a); the action had abated and was deemed never to have commenced, and the trial court lacked subject matter jurisdiction and authority to issue the preliminary injunction. Conner Bros. Mach. Co. v. Rogers, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 344, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1058 (2006).

Rule 5. Service and filing of pleadings and other papers.

(a) Service of orders, subsequent pleadings, discovery papers, written motions, written notices, and other similar papers — When required. — Every order required by its terms to be served, every pleading subsequent to the original complaint unless the court otherwise orders because of numerous defendants, every paper relating to discovery required to be served upon a party unless the court otherwise orders, every written motion other than one which may be heard ex parte, and every written notice, appearance, demand, offer of judgment and similar paper shall be served upon each of the parties, but no service need be made on parties in default for failure to appear except that pleadings asserting new or additional claims for relief against them shall be served upon them in the manner provided for service of summons in Rule 4.

(a1) Service of briefs or memoranda in support or opposition of certain dispositive motions. — In actions in superior court, every brief or memorandum in support of or in opposition to a motion to dismiss, a motion for judgment on the pleadings, a motion for summary judgment, or any other motion seeking a final determination of the rights of the parties as to one or more of the claims or parties in the action shall be served upon each of the parties at least two days before the hearing on the motion. If the brief or memorandum is not served on the other parties at least two days before the hearing on the motion, the court may continue the matter for a reasonable period to allow the responding party to prepare a response, proceed with the matter without considering the untimely served brief or memorandum, or take such other action as the ends of justice require. The parties may, by consent, alter the period of time for service. For the purpose of this two-day requirement only, service shall mean personal delivery, facsimile transmission, or other means such that the party actually receives the brief within the required time.

(b) Service — How made. — A pleading setting forth a counterclaim or cross claim shall be filed with the court and a copy thereof shall be served on the party against whom it is asserted or on the party's attorney of record. With respect to all pleadings subsequent to the original complaint and other papers required or permitted to be served, service with due return may be made in the manner provided for service and return of process in Rule 4 and may be made upon either the party or, unless service upon the party personally is ordered by the court, upon the party's attorney of record. With respect to such other pleadings and papers, service upon the attorney or upon a party may also be made by delivering a copy to the party or by mailing it to the party at the party's last known address or, if no address is known, by filing it with the clerk of court. Delivery of a copy within this rule means handing it to the attorney or to the party, leaving it at the attorney's office with a partner or employee, or by sending it to the attorney's office by a confirmed telefacsimile transmittal for receipt by 5:00 P.M. Eastern Time on a regular business day, as evidenced by a telefacsimile receipt confirmation. If receipt of delivery by telefacsimile is after 5:00 P.M., service will be deemed to have been completed on the next business day. Service by mail shall be complete upon deposit of the pleading or paper enclosed in a post-paid, properly addressed wrapper in a post office or official depository under the exclusive care and custody of the United States Postal Service.

A certificate of service shall accompany every pleading and every paper required to be served on any party or nonparty to the litigation, except with respect to pleadings and papers whose service is governed by Rule 4. The certificate shall show the date and method of service or the date of acceptance of service and shall show the name and service address of each person upon whom the paper has been served. If one or more persons are served by facsimile transmission, the certificate shall also show the telefacsimile number of each person so served. Each certificate of service shall be signed in accordance with and subject to Rule 11 of these rules.

(c) Service — Numerous defendants. — In any action in which there are unusually large numbers of defendants, the court, upon motion or of its own initiative, may order that service of the pleadings of the defendants and replies thereto need not be made as between the defendants and that any crossclaim, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense contained therein shall be deemed to be denied or avoided by all other parties and that the filing of any such pleading and service thereof upon the plaintiff constitutes due notice of it to the parties. A copy of every such order shall be served upon the parties in such manner and form as the court directs.

(d) Filing. — The following papers shall be filed with the court, either before service or within five days after service:

- (1) All pleadings, as defined by Rule 7(a) of these rules, subsequent to the complaint, whether such pleadings are original or amended.
- (2) Written motions and all notices of hearing.
- (3) Any other application to the court for an order that may affect the rights of or in any way commands any individual, business entity, governmental agency, association, or partnership to act or to forego action of any kind.

- (4) Notices of appearance.
- (5) Any other paper required by rule or statute to be filed.
- (6) Any other paper so ordered by the court.
- (7) All orders issued by the court.

All other papers, regardless of whether these rules require them to be served upon a party, should not be filed with the court unless (i) the filing is agreed to by all parties, or (ii) the papers are submitted to the court in relation to a motion or other request for relief, or (iii) the filing is permitted by another rule or statute. Briefs or memoranda provided to the court may not be filed with the clerk of court unless ordered by the court. The party taking a deposition or obtaining material through discovery is responsible for its preservation and delivery to the court if needed or so ordered.

- (e)(1) Filing with the court defined. — The filing of pleadings and other papers with the court as required by these rules shall be made by filing them with the clerk of the court, except that the judge may permit the papers to be filed with him, in which event he shall note thereon the filing date and forthwith transmit them to the office of the clerk.
- (2) Filing by electronic means. — If, pursuant to G.S. 7A-34 and G.S. 7A-343, the Supreme Court and the Administrative Officer of the Courts establish uniform rules, regulations, costs, procedures and specifications for the filing of pleadings or other court papers by electronic means, filing may be made by the electronic means when, in the manner, and to the extent provided therein. (1967, c. 954, s. 1; 1971, c. 538; c. 1156, s. 2.5; 1975, c. 762, s. 1; 1983, c. 201, s. 1; 1985, c. 546; 1991, c. 168, s. 1; 2000-127, s. 1; 2001-379, s. 3; 2001-388, s. 1; 2001-487, s. 107.5(a); 2004-199, s. 5(a); 2005-138, ss. 1, 2; 2006-187, s. 2(a).)

Editor's Note. —

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-187, s. 2(a), effective August 3, 2006, in subdivision (e)(2), substituted "electronic means" for "telefacsimile transmission" in the subheading and in the subdivision, inserted "costs," following "rules, regulations," and substituted "electronic means" for "transmission." See Editor's note for applicability.

CASE NOTES

Service on Defendant At Last-Known Address After Attorney Withdrew Was Proper. — Where defendant's attorney was allowed to withdraw, plaintiffs mailed their motion for summary judgment to defendant's last known address, and defendant never argued that it was not at that address, service was proper under G. S. 1A-1, Rule 5(b). Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Termination of Parental Rights Actions. — Because the first termination of parental rights action against the mother had been dismissed, service in the instant action was proper under G.S. 1A-1-5 as it was made less than two years after the original action began. In re P.L.P., 173 N.C. App. 1, 618 S.E.2d 241, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1921 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

II. ENLARGEMENT OF TIME.

Not requested. — Trial court erred in denying the father's motion to set aside an order terminating his parental rights; since the father was not served within the time limit for serving process once a summons was issued and no extension of time was obtained, the trial court did not obtain personal jurisdiction over him in a case where the mother filed a petition to terminate the father's parental rights. In re A.B.D., 173 N.C. #### III. MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS.

Statute of Limitations Defense. — Attorney's failure to affirmatively plead a statute of limitations defense in his written motion to dismiss did not bar the trial court from considering the defense because a partner briefed and argued that his fraud, negligent misrepresentation, and civil conspiracy claims were not time-barred; further, the motion was in writing and stated with sufficient particularity the grounds for dismissal. *Carlisle v. #### III. AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES.

Failure to plead an affirmative defense ordinarily results in waiver thereof, etc. —

Defendants waived the affirmative defense of estoppel at summary judgment by failing to affirmatively assert the defense of estoppel in either their original answer or their amended answer. HSI N.C., LLC v. Diversified Fire Prot.

Amendment of Complaint. — Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in a medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where the issues of a hospital's claim that, without immediate review, it lost the right to avoid trial altogether by (1) raising the statute of limitations, (2) raising "estoppel by laches" as an affirmative defense, or (3) having the amended complaint dismissed for failure to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j), were not brought before the trial court, and no substantial right was lost by the failure to allow immediate review; the estates were also entitled to sanctions against the hospital. Estate of Spell v. Ghanem, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 725, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2717 (2005).

Assertion of Affirmative Defense on Appeal from Small Claims Court. — When a landlord successfully sued a tenant for summary ejectment in small claims court, and the tenant obtained a trial de novo in district court, the tenant did not waive its affirmative defense of estoppel by not pleading it in district court because, in small claims court, the only pleading was the complaint, and on appeal to district court, the district court judge could elect to try the case on the pleadings filed, so the tenant did not waive its affirmative defense. Don Setliff & Assocs. v. Subway Real Estate Corp., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 526, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1414 (2006).

Rule 9. Pleading special matters.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- III. Fraud, Duress, Mistake, etc.
- VII. Pleading and Practice.

I. IN GENERAL.

Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in a medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where the issues of a hospital's claim that, without immediate review, it lost the right to avoid trial altogether by (1) raising the statute of limitations, (2) raising "estoppel by laches" as an affirmative defense, or (3) having the amended complaint dismissed for failure to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j), were not brought before the trial court, and no substantial right was lost by the failure to allow immediate review; the estates were also entitled to sanctions against the hospital. Estate of Spell v. Ghanem, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 725, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2717 (2005).

Trial Court Erred in Dismissing Claim. — G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b) did not apply to an interlocutory order denying a motion to dismiss a medical malpractice case, and a trial court lacked the authority to grant relief from that denial and to dismiss the case; in any event, a decision ruling that G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) was constitutional did not affect rights acquired in an earlier holding that the rule was invalid, and the trial court erred in dismissing the malpractice on the basis of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j). Rupe v. Hucks-Follis, 170 N.C. App. 188, 611 S.E.2d 867, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 901 (2005).

— N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 211, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1566 (2006).

III. FRAUD, DURESS, MISTAKE, ETC.

Allegations establishing fraud must be stated with particularity.

Where plaintiff consumers in a proposed class action admitted that the named consumers did not have grounds for any relief against defendant law firm under the North Carolina Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (NCRICO), G.S. 75D-8(c), because they suffered no injury to their business or property, and instead argued the absent class members would be able to do so, the named consumers, who pleaded mail and wire fraud as predicate acts to show violation of NCRICO, could not provide the required facts to plead fraud as against the class members with particularity, as was required by Fed. R. Civ. P. 9(b) and G.S. 1A-1, Rule 9(b), and thus, is was appropriate to dismiss the NCRICO claim for failure to state a claim. Godfredson v. JBC Legal Group, P.C., 387 F. Supp. 2d 543, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 17878 (E.D.N.C. 2005).

VII. PLEADING AND PRACTICE.

Medical malpractice complaint, etc. —

Trial court properly dismissed an estate's medical malpractice suit against the hospital defendants, the medical practice defendants, and a doctor where a first complaint that was voluntarily dismissed did not contain a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) certification, and the re-filed complaint was filed after the statute of limitations expired and the 120-day extension, if it had been sought, would have expired; there was no expert review prior to the commencement of the original action, which was contrary to the North Carolina legislature's intent in enacting Rule 9(j). Estate of Barksdale v. Duke Univ. Med. Ctr., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 51, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2753 (2005).

Estate's claim that at the time its original complaint was filed, it was G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) under Anderson v. Assimos, 553 S.E.2d 63 (2001), was rejected because: (1) the North Carolina Supreme Court vacated the ruling in Anderson to the extent that it concluded that Rule 9(j) was unconstitutional before the estate voluntarily dismissed its complaint, (2) once the North Carolina Supreme Court's decision became controlling, the estate was required to comply with Rule 9(j), and (3) the estate had the opportunity to amend its complaint to include the Rule 9(j) certification and to have the amendment relate back to the original filing date, but it did not do so. Estate of Barksdale v. Duke Univ. Med. Ctr., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 51, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2753 (2005).

Rule 9(j) Does Not Apply to Legal Malpractice Complaints. — G.S. 1A-1-9(j) applies solely to medical malpractice actions, not to legal malpractice actions. Accordingly, in a legal malpractice suit based on an attorney's actions in a medical malpractice case, it was error to dismiss the complaint because plaintiffs had not complied with the pleading requirements of Rule 9(j). Formyduval v. Britt, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 192, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1222 (2006).

Rule 11. Signing and verification of pleadings.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Lack of Verification. —

While a petition in a child neglect proceeding was notarized, the notarization reading "sworn and subscribed to before me," the petition was neither signed nor verified by the director of a county department for social services or an authorized representative of the director; thus, the petition requesting that a juvenile be adjudicated neglected was not in compliance with the statute requiring that all petitions be verified pursuant to G.S. 7B-403, and the trial court therefore lacked subject matter jurisdiction to adjudicate the matter. In re T.R.P., 173 N.C. App. 541, 619 S.E.2d 525, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2098 (2005).

When Sanctions May Not Be Imposed. —

Sanctions against an employer were properly denied under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 11(a) in an action for breach of a non-competition contract because all certification requirements were met; the former employee did not show that the employer knew its misstatements to the trial court were incorrect, the complaint was facially plausible, and the action was not filed for an improper purpose since the employer voluntarily dismissed it when the employee stopped working for a competitor. Kohler Co. v. McIvor, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 817, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 981 (2006).

Award of Attorneys' Fees Upheld. —

Since findings of fact were superfluous in summary judgment orders, the trial court properly ordered the payment of attorney's fees as a sanction under G.S. 1A-1-11 in response to a company's motion to amend the summary judgment order to include findings of fact and conclusions of law. Phelps-Dickson Builders, L.L.C. v. Amerimann Partners, 172 N.C. App. 427, 617 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1791 (2005).

Amendment of Complaint. — Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in a medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where the issues of a hospital's claim that, without immediate review, it lost the right to avoid trial altogether by (1) raising the statute of limitations, (2) raising "estoppel by laches" as an affirmative defense, or (3) having the amended complaint dismissed for failure to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. Dissent Erred in Claiming that Issue of Waiver Ex Mero Motu Could Be Addressed. — Dissent erred in raising an issue as to the waiver of sovereign immunity under G.S. 9-32 as the claim was not raised by the parties; the dissent's claim that issue of waiver ex mero motu could be addressed because the North Carolina Board of Nursing moved to dismiss the complaint pursuant to N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) and 12(b)(2) was rejected as: (1) the Board only moved to dismiss a negligent infliction of emotional distress claim pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) and 12(b)(2), (2) the Board moved to dismiss the violation of N.C. Gen. Stat. § 9-32 claim pursuant to N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6), and (3) the parties stipulated that the trial court had both subject matter jurisdiction and personal jurisdiction. *Abbott v. N.C. ## V. PERSONAL JURISDICTION.

No Error in Denial of Motion. — Despite a distributor's claims that his manufacturer's export agent, who lived in Great Britain, had tortiously interfered with the distributor-manufacturer relationship, in that the agent hired the distributor's salesman with the intention of establishing his own distributorship, a trial court did not err in denying the distributor's motion, made pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b), to vacate its order in which it had dismissed the complaint on the ground that under the Due Process Clause, the trial court had no personal jurisdiction over the manager. Review under a Rule 60(b) motion was limited to determining whether a trial court had abused its discretion, the documents submitted with the motion would not have changed the trial court's ruling on the motion to dismiss, and the distributor had been given the opportunity to obtain and present the documents in the evidentiary hearing on the Rule 60(b) motion but had failed to do so. Deer Corp. v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 159, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 968 (2006).

Despite a distributor's claims that his manufacturer's export agent, who lived in Great Britain, had tortiously interfered with the distributor-manufacturer relationship, in that the agent hired the distributor's salesman with the intention of establishing his own distributorship, a trial court did not err in ruling that under the Due Process Clause, no personal jurisdiction existed over the manager. The personal knowledge requirement for documents and affidavits, as contained in G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56(e), applied to motions to dismiss under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2), not all parts of the distributor's affidavits and complaint were based on personal knowledge, and only those parts based on personal knowledge, which were insufficient to show personal jurisdiction, could be considered. Deer Corp. v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 159, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 968 (2006).

VIII. INSUFFICIENCY OF SERVICE.

Appeal. —

In a collection suit, the court of appeals did not reach a debtor's argument that the trial court erred in denying its motion to dismiss, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(5), on the ground the creditor did not comply with all requirements for service by publication, where the order from which the debtor sought appeal was interlocutory. Autec, Inc. v. Southlake Holdings, LLC, 171 N.C. App. 147, 613 S.E.2d 727, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1162 (2005).

Service Not Insufficient. —

Where defendant submitted only one witness affidavit disputing service of process, that one affidavit was insufficient to rebut the presumption that a return under G.S. 1A-1-4(j)(1)a. of valid service from a sheriff's deputy was proof of valid service; dismissal of plaintiff's complaint under G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(4), (5) for insufficient service was improper. Saliby v. Conners, 171 N.C. App. 435, 614 S.E.2d 416, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1258 (2005).

IX. FAILURE TO STATE CLAIM.

A. In General.

Lack of Standing. —

Where the trial court did not certify the order denying construction company's motion to dismiss an action brought by homeowners association as immediately appealable pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 54, and the construction company did not appear to be deprived of any substantial right which could not be protected by timely appeal from the ultimate disposition of the controversy on its merits, the appeal was dismissed. Pineville Forest Homeowners Ass'n v. Portrait Homes Constr. Co., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 620, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 71 (2006).

Complaint Sufficient to Withstand Motion to Dismiss. —

Superior court erroneously dismissed a claim filed by two of decedent's step-grandchildren that defendants, two of the decedent's other step-grandchildren, maliciously caused their step-grandmother to execute a will that left them only nominal bequests, as: (1) the movant step-grandchildren would not be able to obtain adequate relief through a caveat proceeding; and (2) it did not appear that the step-grandchildren could not prove a set of facts supporting their claim which would entitle them to relief. Murrow v. Henson, 172 N.C. App. 792, 616 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1809 (2005).

Unfair and Deceptive Trade Practices.

Because the buyers to a contract with the seller did not possess any contract rights due to the insufficiency of their consideration, they could not allege damages by virtue of any alleged unfair and deceptive acts of the seller relating to that alleged contract. McLamb v. T.P. Inc., 173 N.C. App. 586, 619 S.E.2d 577, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2122 (2005).

Or Where Plaintiff Is Not Entitled to Relief Requested. —

Trial court did not err in granting an employer's motion under G.S. 1A-1, Rule 12(b)(6) dismissing employee's claim of wrongful discharge in violation of public policy because she engaged in a protected activity in requesting that the employer pay for a medical evaluation of a work-related injury; employee's request that the employer pay for a doctor's visit or other medical services was merely an abstract assertion, and was not an assertion of rights under the Workers' Compensation Act, G.S. 97-1 et seq. where there was no evidence that she filed a workers' compensation claim that would have triggered the statutory and common law protection against employer retaliation in violation of public policy. Whitings v. Wolfson Casing Corp., 173 N.C. App. 218, 618 S.E.2d 750, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1916 (2005).

Standard of Review. —

Appellate court reviews de novo rulings on motions made pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(6). Toomer v. Branch Banking & Trust Co., 171 N.C. App. 58, 614 S.E.2d 328, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

Appellate court reviewed the trial court's dismissal of the taxpayers' lawsuit to determine whether the allegations of the complaint, if treated as true, were sufficient to state a claim upon which relief could be granted under some legal theory. Coley v. State, 360 N.C. 493, 631 S.E.2d 121, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 594 (2006).

Appeal of Denial of Motion to Dismiss Is Interlocutory. — Appeal by corporation, president, and vice president from the denial of the motion to dismiss pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(1), (6) was interlocutory and did not affect a substantial right pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d); the appeal, therefore, was dismissed in accordance with G.S. 1A-1-54(b). Capps v. NW Sign Indus. of N.C., Inc., 171 N.C. App. 409, 614 S.E.2d 552, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1203 (2005).

Failure to Allege Waiver of Immunity. —

Trial court properly dismissed an employee's wrongful termination complaint for failure to state a claim as the North Carolina Board of Nursing was a state agency that was entitled to a defense of sovereign immunity as the Board was enacted by G.S. 90-171.21, three members of the Board were appointed by the North Carolina Governor and the North Carolina legislature under G.S. 90-171.21(b), and its duties, as set forth in G.S. 90-171.23(b), served a public purpose; the employee failed to allege that the Board waived its sovereign immunity. Abbott v. N.C. Bd. of Nursing, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 482, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 714 (2006).

Appeal of Dismissal. —

In a defamation action, the appeal of the candidate and campaign from the trial court's denial of their G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion was interlocutory, and the denial did not challenge a substantial right that was to be lost absent immediate appellate review pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a); the instant case was akin to a previous case in which an appeal from a motion for judgment on pleadings pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was dismissed, and the instant case was distinguishable from a previous case in which an appeal on a ruling on a motion for summary judgment pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56 was allowed, as a motion under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was more similar to a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion. Grant v. Miller, 170 N.C. App. 184, 611 S.E.2d 477, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 902 (2005).

B. Conversion of Motion to Dismiss to Summary Judgment Motion.

When Motion to Dismiss Converted to Summary Judgment Motion. —

Trial court converted a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion into a motion for summary judgment because the court considered matters outside of the pleadings in the form of exhibits, depositions, affidavits and discovery responses. Bailey v. Handee Hugo's, Inc., 173 N.C. App. 723, 620 S.E.2d 312, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2302 (2005).

XI. MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON THE PLEADINGS.

As to appellate consideration of motion for judgment on pleadings, etc. —

Motion to dismiss an appeal from the granting of a motion for judgment on the pleadings under N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was granted because no substantial rights were affected; there was no showing that any defenses or arguments concerning actual malice in a First Amendment defamation claim would have been lost if the case was allowed to proceed. Boyce & Isley, PLLC v. Cooper, 169 N.C. App. 572, 611 S.E.2d 175, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 675 (2005).

Standard of review. — Appellate court reviews de novo rulings on motions made pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(c). Toomer v. Branch Banking & Trust Co., 171 N.C. App. 58, 614 S.E.2d 328, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

Rule 13. Counterclaim and crossclaim.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Counterclaims.

I. IN GENERAL.

Factors to Consider. — In analyzing whether two or more claims arose out of the same transaction or occurrence for purposes of the compulsory counterclaim rule, the Supreme Court of North Carolina adopts the following three federal caselaw factors for a court to consider: (1) whether the issues of fact and law raised by the claim and counterclaim are largely the same; (2) whether substantially the same evidence bears on both claims; and (3) whether any logical relationship exists between the two claims. Though application of the compulsory counterclaim rule is not reducible to any simple formula, a North Carolina court should inquire, at a minimum, into those three factors when deciding if a claim arises out of the transaction or occurrence that is the subject matter of the opposing party's claim. Jonesboro United Methodist Church v. Mullins-Sherman Architects, L.L.P., 359 N.C. 593, 614 S.E.2d 268, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 643 (2005).

II. COUNTERCLAIMS.

Compulsory Counterclaim Rule Applied. — Church's suit for breach of contract, breach of express and implied warranties, and negligence/malpractice against a general contractor was barred pursuant to the compulsory counterclaim rule of G.S. 1A-1-13(a), because the church's claims all arose out of the same transaction that was settled in favor of the general contractor in a prior suit in another county wherein the general contractor sued the church to enforce a settlement agreement that had been entered into between the parties with regard to the construction dispute; the church was aware of its claims against the general contractor when the prior suit was brought. Jonesboro United Methodist Church v. Mullins-Sherman Architects, L.L.P., 359 N.C. 593, 614 S.E.2d 268, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 643 (2005).

Rule 14. Third-party practice.

CASE NOTES

Third-Party Defendant Not Liable Where Original Defendant Not Liable. —

Where a personal injury action filed against the Pender County Board of Education was dismissed, the appeal of the dismissal of the Board's third-party claims against the architecture firm seeking, under G.S. 1A-1, Rule 14(a), indemnity and contribution, was moot, as the viability of the third-party claims was dependent upon the survival of the original action. Spearman v. Pender County Bd. of Educ., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 331, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 61 (2006).

Where the Pender County Board of Education filed a third-party complaint against the architectural firm seeking indemnification or contribution under G.S. 1A-1, Rule 14(a) in the injured parties' personal injury action against the Board, dismissal of the injured parties' claim against the Board prevented the Board from asserting a viable claim against the firm; as a result, dismissal of the third-party complaint was proper, and appeal from that dismissal was moot. Zizzo v. Pender County Bd. of Educ., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 328, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 64 (2006).

Same Allegations As in Original Plaintiff's Complaint. — Trial court did not err by denying the motion to dismiss the complaint against it by the Division of Forest Resources, which asserted liability under the Tort Claims Act by third-party plaintiffs because the complaints against an individual forest ranger had been dismissed, since plaintiff's allegations as to the Division of Forest Resources were identical to those made by third-party plaintiffs and the claims arose out the same transaction and occurrence that was the subject matter of plaintiff's original claim. Myers v. McGrady, 170 N.C. App. 501, 613 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1087 (2005).

Impleaded Negligence Claim Barred by Public Duty Doctrine. — Denial of the motion to dismiss and for judgment on the pleadings filed by the North Carolina Division of Forest Resources (NCDFR), a division of the North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources (NCDENR), was reversed as the public duty doctrine applied to negligence claims filed under the North Carolina Tort Claims Act, G.S. 143-291 et seq., against NCDENR for the alleged mismanagement of forest fires; as G.S. 113-51, 113-52, 113-54, and 113-55, which set forth the powers and duties of NCDENR and appointed state forest rangers, were designed to protect the citizens of North Carolina as a whole, NCDENR did not owe a specific duty to the administratrix of a decedent killed in a car accident allegedly due to a forest ranger's negligence in managing a forest fire or to the other drivers and owners of cars involved in the accident and their negligence complaints failed to state a claim. Myers v. McGrady, 360 N.C. 460, 628 S.E.2d 761, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 47 (2006).

Rule 15. Amended and supplemental pleadings.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- III. Relation Back of Amendments.

I. IN GENERAL.

Implied Consent Not Shown. — In a wrongful death action based on the medical specialist's medical malpractice, the trial court did not err in failing to instruct the jury on insulating negligence because the specialist did not plead insulating negligence and it was not evident from the record that both parties understood the issue was to be tried by implied consent as provided in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 15(b).

The evidence tended to show independent acts of negligence by two parties, the specialist and another doctor who was a former codefendant, which united to cause a single injury. Boykin v. Kim, 174 N.C. App. 278, 620 S.E.2d 707, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2396 (2005).

Amendment to Add New Party. —

Trial court properly denied an alleged accident victim's motion to add a necessary party under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 15, because an amendment to add a new party would have been futile and unduly prejudicial; further, the statute of limitations had run and would not stand against a new party, and the relation back doctrine, which extended periods for pursuing claims, did not apply to a party. Bailey v. Handee Hugo's, Inc., 173 N.C. App. 723, 620 S.E.2d 312, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2302 (2005).

Applied in Sylva Shops, Ltd. P'ship v. Hibbard, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 785, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 181 (2006).

III. RELATION BACK OF AMENDMENTS.

Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in a medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where the issues of a hospital's claim that, without immediate review, it lost the right to avoid trial altogether by (1) raising the statute of limitations, (2) raising "estoppel by laches" as an affirmative defense, or (3) having the amended complaint dismissed for failure to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j), were not brought before the trial court, and no substantial right was lost by the failure to allow immediate review; the estates were also entitled to sanctions against the hospital. Estate of Spell v. Ghanem, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 725, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2717 (2005).

ARTICLE 4.

Parties.

Rule 17. Parties plaintiff and defendant; capacity.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- III. Infants and Incompetents.

I. IN GENERAL.

Application to Termination of Parental Rights Proceedings. — Trial court erred in denying the father's motion to set aside the order entered against him that terminated his parental rights in his minor daughter; the record showed that the summons that was issued in his case was not served upon him within the time limit for service of process under the civil procedure rule then in effect and since that rule applied to civil actions or special proceedings such as a termination of parental rights case, the order was entered without the trial court having acquired personal jurisdiction over the father, and thus was void. In re A.B.D., 173 N.C. App. 77, 617 S.E.2d 707, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1925 (2005).

In an action to terminate the mother's parental rights, the trial court did not err in failing to conduct a hearing on whether to appoint a guardian ad litem for the mother because there were no circumstances of the type that, of brought to the judge's attention, would have raised a substantial question regarding the mother's competency. In re S.N.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 510, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 717 (2006).

G.S. 7B-1101 Did Not Require the Appointment of a Guardian Ad Litem for the Mother As the Parental Termination Proceedings Did Not Focus on the Mother's Incompetency. — Trial court terminated a mother's parental rights based on: (1) neglect; (2) wilfully leaving the children in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress; (3) wilfully failing to provide financial support to the children; and (4) abandonment of the children for at least six months immediately preceding the filing of the petition for termination of parental rights; the mother did not request that a guardian ad litem (GAL) be appointed. Also, the petition for termination of her parental rights did not allege the mother's incapability to parent the children, and no allegations were asserted, and no showing was made that the mother was incompetent; thus, the trial court was not required to appoint a GAL to the mother under either G.S. 7B-1401 and 35A-1101, or G.S. 1A-1-17. In re D.H., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 920, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1195 (2006).

Trent v. Place, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 529, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1683 (2006).

III. INFANTS AND INCOMPETENTS.

A Guardian Ad Litem Must Always Be Appointed for An Incapable Parent in a Termination Proceeding. —

When it was alleged that a mother's parental rights to two children should be terminated because she (1) neglected them while they were in an agency's care within the meaning of G.S. 7B-101, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1), (2) willfully left the children in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress to correct the conditions that led to their removal, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), and (3) willfully failed to pay a reasonable portion of the cost of the children's care while in an agency's custody, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(3), there was no requirement that a guardian ad litem be appointed for the parent, even though the petition made reference to the mother's drug abuse and mental illness, because there was no allegation under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) that the mother was incapable of caring for her children, she did not seek a guardian ad litem, and the trial court properly inquired into her competency, under

G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 17. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

G.S. 7B-1101.1 requires that a guardian ad litem be appointed in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 17 to represent a parent, meaning that where an allegation is made that parental rights should be terminated, a trial court is required to conduct a hearing to determine whether a guardian ad litem should be appointed to represent the parent, and an allegation under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) serves as a triggering mechanism, alerting the trial court that it should conduct a hearing to determine whether a guardian ad litem should be appointed; at the hearing, the trial court must determine whether the parents are incompetent within the meaning of G.S. 35A-1101, such that the individual would be unable to aid in their defense at the termination of parental rights proceeding, and the trial court should always keep in mind that the appointment of a guardian ad litem will divest the parent of their fundamental right to conduct his or her litigation according to their own judgment and inclination. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

Rule 19. Necessary joinder of parties.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Joinder Required Where Complete Determination Cannot Otherwise Be Had. —

In a condemnation action brought against a homeowner's association relating to common area property owned by the homeowner's association, the trial court did not err in ordering joinder of each individual record owner of a lot in the townhouse development since those individual owners had an easement of enjoyment in and to the common area at issue. N.C. DOT v. Stagecoach Vill., — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 142, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2594 (2005).

Who Are Necessary Parties. —

Corporate owners were not necessary parties to a prior suit against their corporation under G.S. 1A-1-19(a), which certain prospective buyers of a manufactured home had filed against the corporation to recover a deposit that they had paid; thus, res judicata did not bar the buyers' second action against the corporation and the owners, in which the buyers sought to pierce the corporate veil and hold the owners personally liable on the prior judgment. Blair v. Robinson, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 217, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1394 (2006).

Rule 23. Class actions.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Review of Order Denying Class Certification. —

Trial court properly denied certification of class for employees of a retailer in regard to their contract and wage claims as the proposed class was overbroad and infeasible, individual issues would have predominated over common issues, and conflicts of interest existed amongst the members of the proposed class. Harrison v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., 170 N.C. App. 545, 613 S.E.2d 322, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1082 (2005).

Rule Does Not Bar Class Actions Against State or Counties. — Fact that rule does not specifically mention the State of North Carolina or counties does not mean that all class actions against the State or its counties are barred by sovereign immunity; indeed, class action declaratory judgment suits that seek injunctive and payment relief against the State have been allowed. Thus, the rule did not mean that a county did not have to refund “school impact fees” improperly imposed upon developers and home builders. Durham Land Owners Ass’n v. County of Durham, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 200, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1187 (2006).

Cited in Jacobs v. Physicians Weight Loss Ctr. of Am., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 663, 620 S.E.2d 232, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2280 (2005).

Rule 24. Intervention.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Motion Prior to Trial and After Judgment. — Appellants’ motion to intervene in another party’s petition for review of an annexation ordinance was properly denied because, even assuming G.S. 1A-1-24(a) applied to appeals of annexation ordinances under G.S. 160A-50(a), judgment had already entered, intervention would have prejudiced the city and the other party, and appellants did not offer a legitimate reason for the delay. Home Builders Ass’n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 625, 613 S.E.2d 521, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1072 (2005).

Intervention Improper Where Filed After Settlement Was Approved. — Denial of a corporation’s motion to intervene in a case seeking review of an annexation ordinance was proper, since the corporation failed to comply with G.S. 160A-50 procedures by moving to intervene six months after the ordinance was adopted; intervention was also improper under G.S. 1A-1-24, due to the facts that the motion was filed after judgment approving a settlement was entered and that the proposed intervention would have prejudiced the original parties by destroying their settlement. Gates Four Homeowners Ass’n v. N.C. Municipality, 170 N.C. App. 688, 613 S.E.2d 55, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1088 (2005).

Permissive Intervenor. — G.S. 1A-1-24(b)(2) did not require a permissive intervenor to show a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the subject of the litigation, and therefore an order ruling that intervenors did not have standing to bring their claims seeking to establish an easement was independent of an earlier ruling permitting the intervention, and so was not a modification, change, or overruling of a prior order of another superior court judge. Koenig v. Town of Kure Beach, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 884, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1569 (2006).

Appeals of Annexation Ordinances. — Petitioners’ motion under G.S. 1A-1-24(a) to intervene in another party’s petition for review of an annexation ordinance was properly denied, because G.S. 1A-1-24(a) does not apply to appeals of annexation ordinances under G.S. 160A-50(a). Home Builders Ass’n of Fayetteville N.C., Inc. v. City of Fayetteville, 170 N.C. App. 625, 613 S.E.2d 521, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1072 (2005).

Rule 25. Substitution of parties upon death, incompetency or transfer of interest; abatement.

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Summary Judgment for Deceased Defendant Ineffective Where Motion to Substitute Personal Representative Had Never Been Ruled Upon. — After defendant doctor died, the medical malpractice action survived only against the personal representative or collector of the estate pursuant to G.S. 28A-18-1(a), and thus where the trial court never ruled upon the motion under G.S. 25(a) to substitute the executrix of the estate the trial court’s summary judgment order with respect to the doctor had no effect. Purvis v. Moses H. Cone Mem’l Hosp. Serv. Corp., — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 380, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 128 (2006).

Substitution Order Ineffective Where Personal Representative Not Yet Appointed. — Where order directing the substitution of a yet-to-be-appointed personal representative for deceased defendant did not comply with G.S. 28A-18-1 or G.S. 1A-1, Rule 25, the order could not operate retroactively to substitute him as defendant once the personal representative was appointed, and the trial court erred in granting plaintiffs' summary judgment motion because the personal representative did not receive timely notice of the motion under G.S. 1A-1, Rule 56. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Annulment Action Survived Decedent's Death. — Where an executrix had filed a case on a decedent's behalf as his guardian ad litem, seeking an annulment of the decedent's marriage while the decedent was alive, and where substantial property rights hinged on the validity of the marriage, the action did not abate on the decedent's death and the executrix was entitled to pursue it. Clark v. Foust-Graham, 171 N.C. App. 707, 615 S.E.2d 398, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1365 (2005).

ARTICLE 5.

Depositions and Discovery.

Rule 26. General provisions governing discovery.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Scope of Discovery Generally.
- IV. Trial Preparation.

I. IN GENERAL.

Order Compelling Production of Documents Held Proper. — Because, despite the fact that insurers claimed that requested documents were privileged, the insurers failed to produce the 450 documents at issue for an in camera inspection, they failed to carry their burden of establishing that those documents were privileged, and an order compelling production of those 450 documents was proper. Wachovia Bank, N.A. v. Clean River Corp., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 879, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1567 (2006).

Substantial Need Shown for Document Prepared for Trial. — Declaration prepared for use in a federal lawsuit between a bank and a vendor was protected by the work-product doctrine, but the bank was compelled to disclose it to a former bank employee who demonstrated a substantial need for the document and an inability to obtain it elsewhere; her wrongful termination action was based on the theory that she was fired because she refused to sign the allegedly inaccurate or untruthful document. Isom v. Bank of Am., N.A., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 458, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 970 (2006).

Cited in Moose v. Versailles Condo. Ass'n, 171 N.C. App. 377, 614 S.E.2d 418, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1199 (2005).

II. SCOPE OF DISCOVERY GENERALLY.

Limited Discovery After Default Judgment Entered. — Trial court did not err in limiting discovery solely to the issues of whether the seller's conduct amounted to an unfair or deceptive trade practice where the trial court had earlier entered a default against the seller. Blankenship v. Town & Country Ford, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 638, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2616 (2005).

Orders regarding matters of discovery are within the discretion of the trial court, etc.

Because a construction company was allowed to review all discoverable documents, its G.S. 1A-1-26(b)(1) motion to compel discovery was properly denied; consequently, the trial court properly granted summary judgment to the developer and its agent. Phelps-Dickson Builders, L.L.C. v. Amerimann Partners, 172 N.C. App. 427, 617 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1791 (2005).

Exclusion of Statement From Treating Physician. — Exclusion of written response from a treating physician, which was in response to a facsimile sent by defense counsel that detailed three questions regarding causation of an employee's alleged work-related injury and subsequent disability, was proper since the communication was ex parte and consisted of interrogatories to a non-party, which were not authorized by any caselaw precedent nor any rule of evidence. Mayfield v. Parker Hannifin, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 243, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2472 (2005).

Denial to Interview Child in Parental Termination Proceeding Was Not Abuse of Discretion. — Trial court did not err by denying a mother's motion to interview her son for whom a proceeding was initiated against the mother for termination of her parental rights because, as evidenced by the multiple findings of fact contained within multiple court orders, any contact the mother had with the child was disruptive to his own therapeutic progress and it was clear from the record that the trial court was concerned with the mother's behavior in attempting to learn of the child's whereabouts, particularly since the mother abducted the child from his school bus stop while he was in foster care. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

IV. TRIAL PREPARATION.

Materials prepared in the ordinary course of business are not protected under subsection (b)(3), etc.

In a medical malpractice case, it appeared that documents generated pursuant to a hospital policy "for the reporting of all unexpected events" would not be entitled to protection under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(3) because they would have been prepared in the ordinary course of business; remand was required, however, to determine whether the documents in question had been generated pursuant to that policy. Diggs v. Novant Health, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 851, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 983 (2006).

Rule 32. Use of depositions in court proceedings.

CASE NOTES

Objection Based On Dead Man's Statute Not Waived. — Pursuant to N.C. R. Civ. P. 32(d)(3)(a), administrator did not waive objection based on Dead Man's Statute by failing to make it at widow's deposition. Estate of Redden v. Redden, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 794, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1638 (2006).

Discretion of Trial Court. — Trial court did not err in allowing the employee to play the videotaped cross-examination of a doctor who was originally deposed by the railroad; it was within the trial court's discretion about whether to allow such testimony and no error occurred in that regard since the railroad had already shown the jury the direct examination of the doctor and, thus, could not well object to the employee playing the cross-examination of the doctor. Williams v. CSX Transp., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 716, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 532 (2006).

Rule 33. Interrogatories to parties.

CASE NOTES

Dismissal Proper. — Dismissal of plaintiff's suit was affirmed as it could be inferred that the trial court considered lesser sanctions given that it stated that lesser sanctions were urged by plaintiff and that, given the severity of disobedience by plaintiff's counsel, lesser sanctions were inappropriate; plaintiff's misconduct was serious as plaintiff did not answer or object to any of an insurer's discovery requests, seek a protective order, or proffer any justification for the inaction. Badillo v. Cunningham, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 909, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1226 (2006).

Rule 36. Requests for admission; effect of admission.

CASE NOTES

Discretion with Trial Court to Allow or Disallow Withdrawal of Admissions. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying corporations' motions to withdraw their deemed admissions, after the corporations failed to timely answer a service provider's requests for admissions. Excel Staffing Serv. v. HP Reidsville, 172 N.C. App. 281, 616 S.E.2d 349, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1582 (2005).

Unverified Responses to Request For Admissions Do Not Constitute Affidavit Sufficient to Defeat Motion for Summary Judgment. — Where defendant's responses to plaintiffs' request for admissions were not verified, they could not be deemed to be an affidavit; and as they were not in the category of "depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file" specified in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 56 as material that could be considered, they were insufficient to defeat plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Admission Sufficient to Support Summary Judgment. —

Trial court did not err in granting judgment to a services provider against corporations, jointly and severally, on a breach of contract claim, as the corporations admitted to the breach, and the deemed admissions showed that the subsidiary corporations were mere instrumentalities of the parent corporation. Excel Staffing Serv. v. HP Reidsville, 172 N.C. App. 281, 616 S.E.2d 349, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1582 (2005).

Award of Attorney Fees and Costs Based on Denial of Request for Admissions Improper. — Driver met her burden of proof in showing that at the time for request of admission, reasonable grounds existed to believe that she might prevail on some matters denied, and good reasons, her lack of knowledge, existed for the failure to admit other issues at that time; accordingly, the trial court erred in awarding plaintiffs' attorney fees and costs based on the driver's denial. Oakes v. Wooten, 173 N.C. App. 506, 620 S.E.2d 39, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2100 (2005).

Sanctions for Violation of Court Orders.

— Trial court order precluding plaintiff from presenting any testimony or exhibits that implied or inferred that her back injury was caused by a pedestrian walkway failure that was the basis for the suit was proper as within the discretion of the trial court pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 37, where plaintiff committed discovery violations by failing to consult with her experts before answering various requests for admissions, failing to disclose certain experts before the cut-off date set by the trial court, and failing to produce documents to substantiate her injuries. In re Pedestrian Walkway Failure, 173 N.C. App. 254, 618 S.E.2d 796, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2022 (2005).

Rule 37. Failure to make discovery; sanctions.

CASE NOTES

The trial judge has broad discretion, etc.

— Trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying an insurer's motion for sanctions against an insured for the insured's failure to complete a deposition that was being taken, based on the insured's counterclaims against the insurer, arising from an underlying dog bite case that the insurer had provided legal representation and some coverage on, as a question regarding the scope of the attorney-client privilege between the appointed attorney from the insurer for the benefit of the insured, the insured, and the insurer, was a question of first impression, and the insured was "substantially justified" in relying on the attorney-client privilege when he terminated the deposition. Nationwide Mut. Fire Ins. Co. v. Bourlon, 172 N.C. App. 595, 617 S.E.2d 40, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1789 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

Dismissal as Sanction. —

Dismissal of plaintiff's suit was affirmed as it could be inferred that the trial court considered lesser sanctions given that it stated that lesser sanctions were urged by plaintiff and that, given the severity of disobedience by plaintiff's counsel, lesser sanctions were inappropriate; plaintiff's misconduct was serious as plaintiff did not answer or object to any of an insurer's discovery requests, seek a protective order, or proffer any justification for the inaction. Badillo

v. Cunningham, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 909, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1226 (2006).

Trial court is not required to list and specifically reject each possible lesser sanction prior to determining that dismissal is appropriate for a failure to respond to discovery requests. Badillo v. Cunningham, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 909, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1226 (2006).

Dismissal Upheld. —

Trial judge did not abuse his discretion by dismissing plaintiff's personal injury suit for discovery violations because the plaintiff failed to produce a 2001 tax return critical to his assertion of damages involving lost profits and lost earning capacity, and made false representations regarding his profits from the sale of a house, which was central to the issue of damages. By failing to comply with the trial court's order to compel and then asserting his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination in a court-ordered deposition, the plaintiff opened himself up to dismissal of his civil case since, despite less severe sanctions being available, the defendants were deprived of necessary discovery. In re Pedestrian Walkway Failure, 173 N.C. App. 237, 618 S.E.2d 819, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2032 (2005).

Appealability of Sanctions Order. —

Order imposing sanctions for discovery violations and ordering the production of documents was an interlocutory order that was appealable because of the portion of the order that imposed sanctions pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 37(b). Such an appeal tests the validity of both the discovery order and the sanctions imposed. In re Pedestrian Walkway Failure, 173 N.C. App. 254, 618 S.E.2d 796, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2022 (2005).

Sanctions Improper Where Burden of Proof Met. — Driver met her burden of proof in showing that at the time for request of admission, reasonable grounds existed to believe that she might prevail on some matters denied, and good reasons, her lack of knowledge, existed for the failure to admit other issues at that time; accordingly, the trial court erred in awarding plaintiffs' attorney fees and costs based on the driver's denial. *Oakes v. ### Trials.

Rule 41. Dismissal of actions.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Voluntary Dismissal.
- III. Involuntary Dismissal.
  - A. In General.
  - B. Failure to Prosecute or to Comply with Rules or Orders.
  - C. Failure to Show Right to Relief.

I. IN GENERAL.

Authority to Determine Whether Plaintiff May Commence New Action. —

Court exercised its discretion under G.S. 1A-41(b) and specified that a new action based on the same claim maybe commenced within one year or less after the dismissal of the instant action because G.S. 1A-41(a) was a tolling provision legislatively adopted that fell into a category of substantive matters of state law to

Substantial evidence in the record supported an administrative law judge's findings and its dismissal of a day care's petition for a contested case hearing where the day care filed nothing in nearly six months following the filing of the petition, despite receiving several orders from the administrative law judge to file and serve prehearing statements and other responses to motions. Lincoln v. N.C. HHS, 172 N.C. App. 567, 616 S.E.2d 622, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1804 (2005).

Cited in In re J.A.G., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1091 (June 7, 2005).

II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL.

Voluntary Dismissal of Termination of Parental Rights Proceeding. — Fact that county department of social services had dismissed a prior petition for termination of mother's parental rights did not preclude a subsequent petition since the best interests of the children was always the primary focus, with no procedural rule barring the court's continuing jurisdiction over such a matter. In re L.O.K., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 236, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2476 (2005).

First Voluntary Dismissal Not Adjudication on Merits. —

In personal injury plaintiffs' action against an intoxicated driver who caused a traffic accident by driving a van across a highway median, and against a company that owned the van and against the occupants of a house who allegedly negligently entrusted the van to the driver, the company and the occupants were dismissed with prejudice following summary judgment in their favor; plaintiffs then entered a consent order dismissing, without prejudice, their remaining claims against the driver, thereby resolving all claims against all remaining defendants. The summary judgment order was not a final appealable order and the consent order against the driver did not render the dismissal order resulting from that summary judgment a final judgment as contemplated by G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54.(2005); the court dismissed plaintiffs appeal of that dismissal order on the reasoning that G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 41(a)(1) (2005), allowed plaintiffs to take one voluntary dismissal against the driver without finally resolving the claims against the driver, so there was no final judgment that would allow an appeal of the summary judgment in favor of the company and the occupants. Hill v. West, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 662, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 692 (2006).

Re-filed Suit Barred By Statute of Limitations. — Trial court properly dismissed an estate's medical malpractice suit against the hospital defendants, the medical practice defendants, and a doctor where a first complaint that was voluntarily dismissed did not contain a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) certification, and the re-filed complaint was filed after the statute of limitations expired and the 120-day extension, if it had been sought, would have expired; there was no expert review prior to the commencement of the original action, which was contrary to the North Carolina legislature's intent in enacting Rule 9(j). Estate of Barksdale v. Duke Univ. Med. Ctr., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 51, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2753 (2005).

Medical Malpractice Complaint Had to Comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j).

— Estate's claim that at the time its original complaint was filed, it was not required to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) under Anderson v. Assimos, 553 S.E.2d 63 (2001), was rejected because: (1) the North Carolina Supreme Court vacated the ruling in Anderson to the extent that it concluded that Rule 9(j) was unconstitutional before the estate voluntarily dismissed its complaint, (2) once the North Carolina Supreme Court's decision became controlling, the estate was required to comply with Rule 9(j), and (3) the estate had the opportunity to amend its complaint to include the Rule 9(j) certification and to have the amendment relate back to the original filing date, but it did not do so. Estate of Barksdale v. Duke Univ. Med. Ctr., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 51, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2753 (2005).

Attempt at Voluntary Dismissal Ineffective Where Second Summons Did Not Relate Back to Original Summons Directed to Other Defendant. — Since the original summons was not directed to the corporation but to a different defendant, a later summons against the corporation did not relate back to the original summons, and since there was not a properly directed summons that was merely not served, G.S. 1A-1-4(d) did not apply and the later summons was not a valid alias or pluries summons; thus, service on the corporation fell outside of the authorized time and the case was not filed within the one year period required by G.S. 1A-1-41(a)(1). Stack v. Union Reg'l Mem'l Med. Ctr., Inc., 171 N.C. App. 322, 614 S.E.2d 378, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1255 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 877 (2005).

Action against insurer was not barred by the injured party's voluntary dismissal of claims against the insurer where the claims in the first action were based in tort but the claims in the subsequent action were based in contract and unfair insurance practices arising from the failure to satisfy another state's judgment. Sawyers v. Farm Bureau Ins. Co. of N.C., Inc., 170 N.C. App. 17, 612 S.E.2d 184, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 893 (2005).

III. INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL.

A. In General.

Section 1A-1, Rule 50 has no application to trials before the judge without a jury, etc. —

In the landlord and tenant dispute where there was no jury trial, the trial court erroneously granted a directed verdict under G.S. 1A-1-50 in favor of the landlord; in such cases, involuntary dismissal under G.S. 1A-1-41(b) was the appropriate method for disposing of the case. Dean v. Hill, 171 N.C. App. 479, 615 S.E.2d 699, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1275 (2005).

Dismissal with Prejudice Upheld. —

Trial judge did not abuse his discretion in dismissing the borrowers' declaratory judgment action against a lender with prejudice, rather than without prejudice under G.S. 1A-1-41(b), because the trial judge's dismissal of the action with prejudice was not manifestly unsupported by reason. Trent v. Place, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 529, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1683 (2006).

B. Failure to Prosecute or to Comply with Rules or Orders.

When Dismissal for Failure to Prosecute Not Proper. —

Decision not to dismiss for failure to prosecute was not an abuse of discretion where the supplier was engaged in settlement discussion and document gathering, and the delay, while substantial and unusual, was not deliberate or for an improper motive or purpose, and no material prejudice was caused to defendants. James River Equip., Inc v. Tharpe's Excavating, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 548, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2006).

Dismissal for Discovery Violations. —

Trial judge did not abuse his discretion by dismissing plaintiff's personal injury suit for discovery violations because the plaintiff failed to produce a 2001 tax return critical to his assertion of damages involving lost profits and lost earning capacity, and made false representations regarding his profits from the sale of a house, which was central to the issue of damages. By failing to comply with the trial court's order to compel and then asserting his Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination in a court-ordered deposition, the plaintiff opened himself up to dismissal of his civil case since, despite less severe sanctions being available, the defendants were deprived of necessary discovery. In re Pedestrian Walkway Failure, 173 N.C. App. 237, 618 S.E.2d 819, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2032 (2005).

C. Failure to Show Right to Relief.

Different Test Applied Under Motions for Directed Verdict and Involuntary Dismissal. —

Defendants' motion to dismiss in an action tried before the judge without a jury was actually a motion to dismiss made under G.S. 1A-1-41(b), not G.S. 1A-1-50(a); the distinction was significant because, under G.S. 1A-1-41(b), the trial judge did not consider the evidence in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, as he would have when considering a G.S. 1A-1-50(a) motion for a directed verdict in a trial before a jury. Hammonds v. Lumbee River Elec. Mbrshp. Corp., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 1, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1301 (2006).

Dismissal Properly Denied. —

Because the trial court carefully laid out in sequential order the facts regarding the father's relationship with a married woman, resulting in him resigning from his job, and culminating in his separation from his wife who provided at least 50 percent of the minor child's care, including helping the child with his homework, and then found that the child's grades had suffered as a result, it provided a nexus between the substantial change in circumstances and the effect on the child's welfare to overrule the father's motion to dismiss the mother's custody modification action; moreover, when balanced against the mother's attainment of both a stable living environment and a vast improvement in health after suffering from a brain tumor, the trial court's custody modification order in favor of the mother was proper. Karger v. Wood, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 197, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2609 (2005).

Trial court did not err in denying a mother's motion to dismiss a petition by the county department of social services, seeking to have her three-month-old son adjudicated as abused, dependent, and neglected, at the close of the department's case as the motion under G.S. 1A-1-41(b) was moot as to the abuse allegation because the trial court dismissed it after the close of all evidence; further, pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-41(b), the trial court had discretion to deny such a motion until the close of all evidence. In re J.A.G., 172 N.C. App. 708, 617 S.E.2d 325, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1785 (2005).

Rule 42. Consolidation; separate trials.

CASE NOTES

III. Separate Trials.

III. SEPARATE TRIALS.

Separation Held Proper. —

Issues concerning the validity of a testator's 1995 will and the revocation of the testator's 2002 will were separate, distinct, and compari-mentalized, and a trial court's order trifurcating the issues of the trial was not improper. In re Will of McFayden, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 520, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1635 (2006).

Rule 43. Evidence.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- IV. Record of Excluded Evidence.
- V. Evidence on Motions.

I. IN GENERAL.

Applied in Deer Corp. v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 159, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 968 (2006).

IV. RECORD OF EXCLUDED EVIDENCE.

Judge Need Not be Present for Record to be Made. — Where the trial court allowed the ex-husband to introduce the excluded evidence into the record, and there was no binding authority that required a trial court to personally take an offer of proof, the trial court's failure to personally consider the ex-husband's offer of proof was not prejudicial. Rhew v.

Felton, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 859, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1560 (2006).

V. EVIDENCE ON MOTIONS.

Affidavit Not Based on Personal Knowledge Held Insufficient. — Where appellants sought a bond under G.S. 1-292 for a stay pending appeal of an order requiring them to sell land to appellee, an affidavit stating that appellee would incur damages of about $1.369 million per year if delayed in developing the land did not support the trial court's $1 million bond requirement, as there was no showing the affidavit was based on the affiant's personal knowledge. Currituck Assocs. Residential P'ship v. Hollowell, 170 N.C. App. 399, 612 S.E.2d 386, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

Rule 44. Proof of official record.

CASE NOTES

Presumption of Validity. —

Foreign judgment that the judgment creditor obtained in New York was entitled to a presumption that the judgment was entitled to full faith and credit, as the judgment creditor met its burden of showing that entitlement by filing a properly authenticated judgment; however, the general contractor timely moved for relief from the foreign judgment by raising the defense that the New York trial court that entered it did not have personal jurisdiction over the general contractor, and because the trial court did not make any findings of fact or conclusions of law regarding the motion to enforce the judgment, the conclusion that the foreign judgment was enforceable in North Carolina was not supported by competent evidence and the case had to be remanded to the trial court for further proceedings. Quantum Corporate Funding, Ltd. v. B.H. Bryan Bldg. Co., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 793, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 187 (2006).

Rule 45. Subpoena.

CASE NOTES

Mental Health Records Previously Admitted Into Evidence. — Trial court did not err by considering mental health records of a mother contained within the underlying file and previously admitted into evidence in proceedings to terminate her parental rights, because the mental health records challenged by the mother were originally admitted into evidence during a permanency planning review hearing and were not challenged by the mother at that time. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Failure to Object to Substitution Order. — Because defendants did not specifically reference the trial court's order of substitution in the notice of appeal and because the record contained no indication that they had objected to the entry of that order, the appellate court lacked jurisdiction to review their contentions regarding the order. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.

  - A. In General.
- III. Judgment Notwithstanding The Verdict And New Trial.

I. IN GENERAL.

Motions Properly Denied. —

Where defendants claimed adverse possession of a cemetery lot under G.S. 1-40, plaintiffs' motions for a directed verdict and for JNOV were properly denied; evidence that defendants had been farming the lot since the 1960's and that there had not been a burial in the lot in nearly 60 years provided more than a scintilla of evidence that defendants had made exclusive use of the lot as farmland for the requisite period; there was no evidence that plaintiffs had used the lot. Jernigan v. Herring, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 874, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1901 (2006).

City did not preserve its claims of error in the denial of its motions for a directed verdict and for a judgment notwithstanding the verdict as it failed to renew its motion for a directed verdict at the close of the evidence. City of Charlotte v. Hurlahe, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 28, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1296 (2006).

Issue Not Considered on Appeal. — Neighbors' claim in their directed verdict motion that there was insufficient evidence as to whether the property owners had an easement by prescription over the neighbors' property was not considered on appeal as the jury did not reach the issue and the neighbors failed to raise the issue in their brief on appeal. Bogges v. Spencer, 173 N.C. App. 614, 620 S.E.2d 10, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2114 (2005).

II. DIRECTED VERDICT.

A. In General.

A motion for directed verdict is appropriate only to a case tried before a jury.

In the landlord and tenant dispute where there was no jury trial, the trial court erroneously granted a directed verdict under G.S. 1A-1-50 in favor of the landlord; in such cases, involuntary dismissal under G.S. 1A-1-41(b) was the appropriate method for disposing of the case. Dean v. Hill, 171 N.C. App. 479, 615 S.E.2d 699, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1275 (2005).

Defendants' motion to dismiss in an action tried before the judge without a jury was actually a motion to dismiss made under G.S. 1A-1-41(b), not G.S. 1A-1-50(a); the distinction was significant because, under G.S. 1A-1-41(b), the trial judge did not consider the evidence in the light most favorable to the plaintiff, as he would have when considering a G.S. 1A-1-50(a) motion for a directed verdict in a trial before a jury. Hammonds v. Lumbee River Elec. Mbrshp. Corp., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 1, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1301 (2006).

When Defendant Entitled to Directed Verdict in a Negligence Action. —

Directed verdict was properly granted to a store in a customer's suit against the store to recover for injuries sustained when he fell over a stock cart parked in a store aisle, and thus, the trial court improperly set aside its earlier order granting a directed verdict and, instead, granted the customer's motion for a new trial, because the customer presented no evidence regarding who left the stock cart in the position which caused the customer to fall, when it was placed there, or how long it remained; additionally, the customer did not present evidence that the store failed to correct a dangerous condition after it received actual or constructive notice of the condition. Herring v. Food Lion, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 281, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2754 (2005).

Determination of Validity of Will. —

Caveators presented sufficient evidence to overcome the presumption that a testator destroyed his 2002 will with the intent to revoke it, and a directed verdict against the caveators was error. In re Will of McFayden, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 520, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1635 (2006).

By introducing evidence, etc. —

Any error in the denial of neighbors' motion for a directed verdict at the close of the property owners' case was waived as the neighbors presented evidence. Bogges v. Spencer, 173 N.C. App. 614, 620 S.E.2d 10, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2114 (2005).

Motion for Directed Verdict Properly Granted. —

Where an employer's independent contractor assaulted victims after breaking into their house, but the contractor did not meet the victims as a result of his relationship with the employer, and the employer received no benefit from "meeting" between the contractor and the victims, the employer owed no duty to the victims, the victims' negligent hiring claim against the employer was not proven, and the trial court properly granted the employer's motion for a directed verdict. Little v. Omega Meats I, Inc., 171 N.C. App. 583, 615 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1318 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 164, 622 S.E.2d 494 (2005).

Directed verdict in favor of a manufacturing plant, a maintenance company, and its successor on the issue of punitive damages was upheld on appeal, because plaintiff workers failed to demonstrate any willful or wanton misconduct with regard to their exposure to asbestos when they removed insulation. The trial court's reduction of the workers' compensatory damages awards was also upheld on appeal, because the workers received prior workers' compensation claim settlements and prior third-party settlement amounts and were entitled to only one recovery for their asbestos exposure.

Schenk v. HNA Holdings, Inc., 170 N.C. App. 555, 613 S.E.2d 503, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1067 (2005).

Motion for Directed Verdict Improperly Granted. —

In a medical malpractice action based on the negligence of the labor and delivery nurses and the neonatal nurse practitioners, the hospital was not entitled to a directed verdict, as the hospital did not show, as a matter of law, that the neonatal nurses were the intervening cause of the infant's injuries due to their failure to timely order a blood transfusion, as the labor and delivery nurses did not tell neonatal nurses about blood loss. Pope v. Cumberland County Hosp. Sys., 171 N.C. App. 748, 615 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1357 (2005).

Motion for Directed Verdict Properly Denied. —

Trial court properly denied employers' motion for directed verdict because the employee proffered sufficient evidence to support his causes of action for breach of contract and violation of the North Carolina Wage and Hour Act, G.S. 95-25.1 et seq. The evidence offered by the employee was that: (1) the employers' representative orally agreed to pay the employee an annual bonus as part of a contract; (2) the employers modified the employee's bonus formula without his consent; and (3) the employers failed to give the employee notice of the change in the bonus formula. Arndt v. First Union Nat'l Bank, 170 N.C. App. 518, 613 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1080 (2005).

Denial of neighbors' motion for a directed verdict at the close of all of the evidence was proper as: (1) the properties were severed from common ownership in 1943; (2) there was no evidence that the owners' predecessors had public road access to their parcel by means other than a gravel road over the neighbors' property; (3) the road over the neighbors' property had been used by all of the owners' predecessors as a means of ingress and egress; (4) the owners met their burden of showing that an easement by necessity arose upon the severance of their parcel from common ownership; and (5) the jury found that the common owners intended the owners' predecessors and their successors to have a right to use the road in the same manner and to the same extent as the owners' predecessors used it. Bogges v. Spencer, 173 N.C. App. 614, 620 S.E.2d 10, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2114 (2005).

III. JUDGMENT NOTWITHSTANDING THE VERDICT AND NEW TRIAL.

And Where Defendants Were Entitled to Judgment as a Matter of Law. —

Trial court decision denying JNOV to a city, one of its police officers, and its police department was reversed on appeal because the plaintiff, an arrestee injured in a squad car, failed to prove gross negligence and only showed simple negligence by evidence that the police officer drove 30 to 35 miles above the legal speed limit although he knew that plaintiff was not wearing a seat belt and had to brake suddenly to avoid a collision causing plaintiff to propel into the metal screen in the squad car. Clayton v. Branson, 170 N.C. App. 438, 613 S.E.2d 259, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1070 (2005).

Inadequate Award of Damages. — In breach of contract action against university, trial court erred in denying professor's motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict or for a new trial based upon a jury award of inadequate damages; the trial court's failure to instruct the jury on whether the professor was ready, willing, and able to perform the contract meant that the jury did not decide that issue, which was critical to determining whether the professor was entitled to nominal damages or substantial damages after the jury found that the university breached the agreement. Munn v. N.C. State Univ., 173 N.C. App. 144, 617 S.E.2d 335, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1931 (2005).

Denial of JNOV Upheld. —

Trial court properly denied employers' motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict because the employee proffered sufficient evidence to support his causes of action for breach of contract and violation of the North Carolina Wage and Hour Act, G.S. 95-25.1 et seq. The evidence offered by the employee was that: (1) the employers' representative orally agreed to pay the employee an annual bonus as part of a contract; (2) the employers modified the employee's bonus formula without his consent; and (3) the employers also failed to give the employee notice of the change in the bonus formula. Arndt v. First Union Nat'l Bank, 170 N.C. App. 518, 613 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1080 (2005).

Rule 51. Instructions to jury.

CASE NOTES

II. Charge to the Jury.

A. Generally.

II. CHARGE TO THE JURY.

A. Generally.

Charge to the Jury Upheld. — In an employee's causes of action against his employers for breach of contract and violation of the North Carolina Wage and Hour Act, G.S. 95-25.1 et seq., the trial court properly instructed the jury: (1) as to the existence of a contract; (2) that the employers were required to prove that the employee acquiesced to a change in his bonus formula; and (3) as to the spoliation of the evidence. Additionally, the trial court did not err by not instructing the jury as to estoppel because the trial court's instructions to the jury, when viewed in their entirety, sufficiently presented the employers' arguments to the jury. Arndt v. First Union Nat'l Bank, 170 N.C. App. 518, 613 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1080 (2005).

Rule 52. Findings by the court.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Findings and Conclusions, Generally.
- III. Findings and Conclusions on Grant or Denial of Motions, Preliminary Injunctions, etc.
- V. Review on Appeal.

I. IN GENERAL.

Applied in Banc of Am. Secs. LLC v. Evergreen Int'l Aviation, Inc., 169 N.C. App. 690, 611 S.E.2d 179, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 799 (2005); Currituck Assocs. Residential P'ship v. Hollowell, 170 N.C. App. 399, 612 S.E.2d 386, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

II. FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS, GENERALLY.

Findings Held Insufficient.

In the landlord-tenant case, the trial court did not violate G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 52(a)(1) by failing to make certain findings of fact and conclusions of law; the trial court was only required to find the ultimate facts, and, as required, the trial court made detailed findings of ultimate fact and conclusions of law support its decision. Kroger Ltd. P'ship I v. Guastello, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 841, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 967 (2006).

Compliance with Subsection (a)(1) Held Sufficient. —

In the termination of parental rights proceeding, where the mother argued that the trial court erred by failing to make findings of fact but by simply reciting the testimony of witnesses at the hearing and making findings that were contradictory, the trial court did not violate G.S. 1A-1-52(a)(1); while the trial court included findings of fact that summarized the testimony, the trial court made the necessary findings of fact, as there was nothing impermissible about describing testimony as long as the trial court ultimately made its own findings resolving any material disputes. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

III. FINDINGS AND CONCLUSIONS ON GRANT OR DENIAL OF MOTIONS, PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIONS, ETC.

When Findings and Conclusions Are Required on Motion to Dismiss. —

When a trial court in a bench trial grants a motion to dismiss under G.S. 1A-1-41(b), the judge must make detailed findings of fact and separate conclusions of law in accordance with G.S. 1A-1-52(a); the trial court's findings of fact are conclusive on appeal if they are supported by competent evidence, even if there is evidence to the contrary. Hammonds v. Lumbee River Elec. Mbrshp. Corp., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 1, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1301 (2006).

V. REVIEW ON APPEAL.

Review Even Where Defendant Failed to Request Specific Findings. —

Foreign judgment that the judgment creditor obtained in New York was entitled to a presumption that the judgment was entitled to full faith and credit, as the judgment creditor met its burden of showing that entitlement by filing a properly authenticated judgment; however, the general contractor timely moved for relief from the foreign judgment by raising the defense that the New York trial court that entered it did not have personal jurisdiction over the general contractor, and because the trial court did not make any findings of fact or conclusions of law regarding the motion to enforce the judgment, the conclusion that the foreign judgment was enforceable in North Carolina was not supported by competent evidence and the case had to be remanded to the trial court for further proceedings. Quantum Corporate Funding, Ltd. v. B.H. Bryan Bldg. Co., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 793, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 187 (2006).

Conclusory Findings Were Insufficient.

— Judgment granting a summary judgment divorce was vacated as a conclusory finding was made that a wife had been properly served and that the trial court had jurisdiction over her, without making the findings necessary to support the conclusions, despite the facts that: (1) the husband attempted to serve the complaints on the wife at two different addresses, (2) the husband's affidavit of service by publication failed to state that the husband mailed a notice of service by publication to the wife before the first publication, and (3) the husband mailed the notice of hearing to the wife at a different address than he used during the second attempt at service of the complaint; no findings were made as to the use of service by publication by the husband or his due diligence in attempting to serve the wife, or that the husband was not required to mail notice of the service by publication to the wife before the first publication. Agbemavor v. Keteku, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 337, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1074 (2006).

ARTICLE 7.

Rule 54. Judgments.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- II. Judgment on Multiple Claims or Involving Multiple Parties.

I. IN GENERAL.

Final Judgment Defined. —

Under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54(a), a judgment is either interlocutory or a final determination of the rights of the parties, and a final judgment is one which disposes of the cause as to all parties, leaving nothing to be judicially determined between them in the trial court; generally, there is no right of immediate appeal from interlocutory orders and judgments. State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

Failure to Certify. — Although a trial court's entry of summary judgment in favor of a real estate transferee failed to dispose of the cause as to all the parties, and the trial court did not certify the order under N.C. R. Civ. P. 54(b), since the interlocutory order concerned title to the real estate, it involved substantial rights adversely affected and was appealable. Watson v. Millers Creek Lumber Co., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 839, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1563 (2006).

Appeal Dismissed as Interlocutory. —

Because a trial court's order on a motion in limine was interlocutory and was not immediately appealable, the court dismissed the appeal even though the trial court had certified the issue for appeal under G.S. 1A-1-54(b); that certification could not bind the court to review a non-appealable interlocutory order. DOT v. Olinger, 172 N.C. App. 848, 616 S.E.2d 672, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1807 (2005).

Appeal by corporation, president, and vice president from the denial of the motion to dismiss pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(1), (6) was interlocutory and did not affect a substantial right pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d); the appeal, therefore, was dismissed in accordance with G.S. 1A-1-54(b). Capps v. NW Sign Indus. of N.C., Inc., 171 N.C. App. 409, 614 S.E.2d 552, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1203 (2005).

Because the trial court did not rule on the merits of an employee's claim for unemployment benefits, but found that the Employment Security Commission's order did not address all of the relevant issues raised by the record, and the findings were incomplete and failed to set out the sequence of events regarding the timing and notification of the employee's discharge, the order was clearly interlocutory; hence, without evidence that the employee's substantial rights were affected, or that any criteria for an immediate appeal was required, the employee's appeal was dismissed. Reeves v. Yellow Transp., Inc., 170 N.C. App. 610, 613 S.E.2d 350, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2005), review denied, — N.C. —, 619 S.E.2d 511 (2005).

Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where issues of hospital's claimed loss of substantial rights were not brought before the trial court, and no substantial right was lost by failure to allow immediate review; estates were also entitled to sanctions against the hospital. Estate of Spell v. Ghanem, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 725, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2717 (2005).

Where the trial court did not certify the order denying construction company's motion to dismiss an action brought by homeowners association as immediately appealable pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 54, and the construction company did not appear to be deprived of any substantial right which could not be protected by timely appeal from the ultimate disposition of the controversy on its merits, the appeal was dismissed. Pineville Forest Homeowners Ass'n v. Portrait Homes Constr. Co., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 620, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 71 (2006).

Interlocutory appeal that was not certified under G.S. 1A-1-54(b) was dismissed because the state arts school and its dean did not establish that they possessed a substantial right warranting immediate review of their interlocutory appeal. McClennahan v. N.C. Sch. of the Arts, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1175 (2006).

Interlocutory Discovery Order With Sanctions Appealable. — Order imposing sanctions for discovery violations and ordering the production of documents was an interlocutory order that was appealable because of the portion of the order that imposed sanctions pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 37(b). Such an appeal tests the validity of both the discovery order and the sanctions imposed. In re Pedestrian Walkway Failure, 173 N.C. App. 254, 618 S.E.2d 796, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2022 (2005).

Questions Affecting Title to Property Immediately Reviewable. — Possible existence of an easement, the basis upon which a trial court ordered joinder of individual unit owners in a townhome development, was a question affecting title, and thus the trial court's joinder order in a suit seeking a condemnation of a homeowners' association's common area was subject to immediate review. N.C. DOT v. Stagecoach Vill., 360 N.C. 46, 619 S.E.2d 495, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 996 (2005).

Substantial Right. —

Interlocutory appeal of the denial of defendants' motion for summary judgment in a constructive trust action was allowed; the basis of the motion for summary judgment was that res judicata barred the constructive trust action and in such a case, the failure to allow an appeal might affect a substantial right in that the possibility existed that without an immediate appeal, they would be required to twice defend against the same claim by plaintiffs. Tiber Holding Corp. v. DiLoreto, 170 N.C. App. 662, 613 S.E.2d 346, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1081 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

Because a corporation asserted that ordered documents were protected from discovery under G.S. 90-21.22A, and that assertion was not frivolous or insubstantial, the discovery order compelling production of the documents affected a substantial right and the appeal fell under an exception to the rule that there was no right to appeal from an interlocutory order. Windman v. Britthaven, Inc., 173 N.C. App. 630, 619 S.E.2d 522, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2113 (2005).

Trial court's denial of a motion to enforce a settlement did not resolve the underlying personal injury claim, and the order of denial was therefore interlocutory; since the trial court did not certify that there was no just reason to delay the appeal, and the denial did not affect a substantial right, there was no right to an immediate appeal since an appeal of the denial was still allowed once there was a final judgment. Milton v. Thompson, 170 N.C. App. 176, 611 S.E.2d 474, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 903 (2005).

Applied in Wolfe v. Villines, 169 N.C. App. 483, 610 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 690 (2005).

Cited in Autec, Inc. v. Southlake Holdings, LLC, 171 N.C. App. 147, 613 S.E.2d 727, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1162 (2005); Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, 171 N.C. App. 266, 614 S.E.2d 599, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1266 (2005); Jacobs v. Physicians Weight Loss Ctr. of Am., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 663, 620 S.E.2d 232, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2280 (2005); Mitchell v. Broadway, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 847, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 980 (2006); Barnes v. Kochhar, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 474, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1574 (2006); James River Equip., Inc. v. Mecklenburg Utils., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 557, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1898 (2006).

II. JUDGMENT ON MULTIPLE CLAIMS OR INVOLVING MULTIPLE PARTIES.

Appeal Is Permitted Where a Substantial Right Would Be Affected. —

Where a trial court granted plaintiff summary judgment as to liability on a criminal conversation claim, and granted defendant summary judgment as to an alienation of affections claim, though no final judgment was entered as to the issue of damages for the criminal conversation claim, nor was certification granted under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54(b) as to the alienation of affections claim, the appeal affected a substantial right that would be lost absent immediate review, because the elements of damages were so closely related that they did not support separate awards for each tort. McCutchen v. McCutchen, 170 N.C. App. 1, 612 S.E.2d 162, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2005).

While an order granting summary judgment was interlocutory, it was appealable because the cause of action for criminal conversation, which was still before the trial court, was so connected with the claim for alienation of affections that only one issue of damages should be submitted to the jury, and thus, a substantial right was at stake to have the same jury hear the wife's two claims. McCutchen v.

Finding of No Just Reason for Delay as Certification That Judgment Is Final and Appealable. —

When a patient sued a pharmacy for negligence, breach of implied warranties, liability under G.S. 99B-6, and to pierce the pharmacy's corporate veil and hold its president liable, and the warranty claim and claim to pierce the corporate veil were dismissed, and the trial court orally certified that there was no just reason to delay an appeal of the dismissal when there was no written order in the appellate record reflecting the trial court's oral certification, the patient's interlocutory appeal of the dismissal was reviewed for whether the patient would lose a substantial right absent an immediate appeal. Rauch v. Urgent Care Pharm., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 211, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1566 (2006).

Judgment Held Appealable. —

Dismissal of a partner's claims against an attorney under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) as the statute of limitations had passed was immediately appealable. Carlisle v. Keith, 169 N.C. App. 674, 614 S.E.2d 542, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 800 (2005).

Because the appeal was final as to the appealing defendants, and the trial court certified the appeal, the appellate court was required to review plaintiff's appeal on the merits. James River Equip., Inc. v. Tarpe's Excavating, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 548, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2006).

Judgments Held Nonappealable. —

Corporation's appeal was dismissed as interlocutory in that it concerned only one claim against one defendant in a suit involving multiple claims against multiple defendants; the trial court's off-hand comment that "the way to get rid of what (the court had) done (was) to appeal" did not meet the "no just reason for delay" certification requirements of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54(b) and was not binding on the appellate court. White v. Carver, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 718, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2744 (2005).

Corporation's interlocutory appeal was dismissed as: (1) its claim that an order subjected every action taken by the corporation since its inception to legal challenge did not identify a substantial right for purposes of the substantial right exception, (2) the identification of any substantial right would be speculative as the order required the corporation to hold an organizational meeting, in which the executor was to be appointed a director and allowed to participate and provided that the claims against the corporation were to be dismissed upon organization of the corporation, and the corporation appealed before conducting the organizational meeting, and (3) that the parties "did not like each other” did not require that the appeal be entertained under the substantial right exception. White v. Carver, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 718, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2744 (2005).

In personal injury plaintiffs’ action against an intoxicated driver who caused a traffic accident by driving a van across a highway median, and against a company that owned the van and against the occupants of a house who allegedly negligently entrusted the van to the driver, the company and the occupants were dismissed with prejudice following summary judgment in their favor; plaintiffs then entered a consent order dismissing, without prejudice, their remaining claims against the driver, thereby resolving all claims against all remaining defendants. The summary judgment order was not a final appealable order and the consent order against the driver did not render the dismissal order resulting from that summary judgment a final judgment as contemplated by G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54; the court dismissed plaintiffs’ appeal of that dismissal order on the reasoning that G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 41(a)(1), allowed plaintiffs to take one voluntary dismissal against the driver without finally resolving the claims against the driver, so there was no final judgment that would allow an appeal of the summary judgment in favor of the company and the occupants. Hill v. West, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 662, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 692 (2006).

III. ENTRY OF JUDGMENT BY DEFAULT.

A. By Clerk.

Complaint Not for “Sum Certain”, etc. —

Although a trial court did not abuse its discretion by finding that a failure to file an extension of time did not constitute a mistake since there was no explanation for a law firm’s actions, a motion to set aside a default judgment should have been granted under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b) because a judgment was void since a clerk was unable to enter a default where there was no sum certain. Basnight Constr. Co. v. Peters & White Constr. Co., 169 N.C. #### I. IN GENERAL.

Conversion of § 1A-1, Rule 12(b)(6) and 12(c) Motions to Motions for Summary Judgment. —

Trial court converted a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion into a motion for summary judgment because the court considered matters outside of the pleadings in the form of exhibits, depositions, affidavits and discovery responses. Bailey v. Handee Hugo’s, Inc., 173 N.C. App. 723, 620 S.E.2d 312, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2302 (2005).

Notice Requirement. — Where the trial court entered an order substituting estate administrator as defendant on the same day it granted summary judgment to plaintiffs, the administrator did not receive timely notice of the motion for summary judgment motion as provided for in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 56(e), and the grant of summary judgment was error. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Interlocutory Appeals. —

In a defamation action, the appeal of the candidate and campaign from the trial court's denial of their G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion was interlocutory, and the denial did not challenge a substantial right that was to be lost absent immediate appellate review pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a); the instant case was akin to a previous case in which an appeal from a motion for judgment on pleadings pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was dismissed, and the instant case was distinguishable from a previous case in which an appeal on a ruling on a motion for summary judgment pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56 was allowed, as a motion under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(c) was more similar to a G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) motion. Grant v. Miller, 170 N.C. App. 184, 611 S.E.2d 477, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 902 (2005).

In a case involving specific performance, an appellate court considered an appeal from the granting of a motion for partial summary judgment because it was not interlocutory since it disposed of all of the claims brought before the trial court. *Wolfe v. ### III. PROPRIETY OF SUMMARY JUDGMENT.

B. Particular Types of Actions, etc.

Summary Judgment on a Claim for Damages. —

No prohibition exists as to granting summary judgment on the issue of damages where there is no genuine issue of material fact as to those damages. Sylva Shops, Ltd. P'ship v. Hibbard, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 785, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 181 (2006).

Condemnation Proceedings. — In condemnation proceeding brought pursuant to city's power of eminent domain under G.S. 160A-240.1, partial summary judgment was properly granted precluding property owners from recovering for diminution in value caused by the city's construction of a median restricting access to lanes in only one direction of travel; the separation of lanes of traffic was an exercise of police power, and the means used to accomplish the legitimate objective were reasonable in light of the fact that the owners still had free ingress and egress to their property, and injury to property caused by such an exercise of police power was not compensable. City of Concord v. Stafford, 173 N.C. App. 201, 618 S.E.2d 276, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1915 (2005), cert. dismissed, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 784 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 785 (2005).

C. Cases in Which Summary Judgment Held Proper.

Where evidence against a check cashing business established that it executed contracts for usurious loans, it used its alternative business purpose of providing Internet access to consumers as a guise to cover this illegal activity, and no evidentiary basis existed upon which a reasonable fact-finder could reach a contrary conclusion, the State's claims of usury and violations of the Consumer Finance Act were established as a matter of law; moreover, the contracts which customers had with the business were cancelled pursuant to G. S. 75-15.1, requiring all funds collected by the business pursuant to such contracts to be refunded to the customers. State ex rel. Cooper v. NCCS Loans, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 371, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2588 (2005).

Breach of Contract Claim. —

Summary judgment was properly granted to buyers on their breach of contract suit against a seller because, under the plain language of the agreement entered into between the parties, which stated that the seller would "cause" enumerated repairs to be made, the seller was required to fully complete the enumerated repairs, not just pay for them; since it was undisputed that the repairs had not been performed and since the buyers had not frustrated any effort made by the seller to complete the repairs, the evidence showed that the seller was in breach despite the fact that she had deposited a sum for the repairs in escrow. Cater v. Barker, 172 N.C. App. 441, 617 S.E.2d 113, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1799 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 778 (2006).

Defense of Laches. — Summary judgment was properly granted to buyers on a seller's defense of laches alleged in the buyers' breach of contract suit because the defense was not applicable in that the trial court's entry of summary judgment awarded the buyers damages, a legal remedy, not specific performance; laches is not available in an action at law. Cater v. Barker, 172 N.C. App. 441, 617 S.E.2d 113, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1799 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 778 (2006).

Summary Judgment Properly Entered for Defendants. —

As the evidence before the trial court on a motion for summary judgment filed by a police department did not raise a genuine issue of material fact as to whether numerous current police officers were entitled to a pay increase, because the city council had not approved any pay raise for existing employees of the police department with post-secondary degrees, the trial court properly granted summary judgment in favor of the department and against the contesting officers. City of Asheville v. Bowman, 172 N.C. App. 586, 616 S.E.2d 669, 2005

N.C. App. LEXIS 1808 (2005).

No Duty Owed to Plaintiff. —

Summary judgment was properly granted to a property owner, dismissing a pedestrian's suit to recover for injuries sustained when she slipped and fell in the owner's icy parking lot, because the pedestrian's own testimony demonstrated that she knew of the hazardous condition of the parking lot, and thus, there was no issue of genuine fact that the owner owed her no duty. Grayson v. High Point Dev. L.P., — N.C. App. —, 625 S.E.2d 591, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 270 (2006).

D. Cases in Which Summary Judgment Held Improper.

Alienation of Affections. — Summary judgment was improperly granted dismissing a former wife's claim for alienation of affections filed in April 2003 on the ground that it was barred by the statute of limitations in G.S. 1-52(5) because, while the husband and the wife separated in 1998, the wife's allegations in her sworn affidavit and verified complaint, to the effect that the husband expressed his desire to return to the marriage multiple times in October 1999 and September 2000, that the couple purchased a car together in May 1999, that the couple maintained joint finances after their separation, that they participated in marriage counseling until February 2001, and that the husband told the wife during their last counseling session that he was not planning on divorcing her, presented a genuine issue of material fact as to whether there was love and affection following the wife's separation from the husband. Since a jury could determine that alienation did not occur until as late as February 2001 when the husband made the final decision to end the marriage and because the wife filed her complaint within three years of his decision, her claim for alienation of affections was not barred by § 1-52(5). McCutchen v. McCutchen, 360 N.C. 280, 624 S.E.2d 620, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 2 (2006).

Premises Liability. — Summary judgment was improperly granted to a store, dismissing a customer's suit to recover for injuries she sustained when she was struck by a buffer machine being operated in the store, because there were genuine issues of fact pertaining to whether the store properly warned the customer of the presence of the machine and whether the customer exercised care for her own safety. Freeman v. Food Lion, LLC, 173 N.C. App. 207, 617 S.E.2d 698, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1919 (2005).

Summary judgment was properly granted to two contractors, dismissing a store customer's suit to recover for injuries sustained when she was struck by a buffer machine being operated in the store by an employee of a floor cleaning company, because neither contractor owned or operated the store in which the customer's injury occurred and because the customer failed to allege that the contractors were agents of the store; thus, the contractors had no duty to the customer and could not be held liable under a theory of premises liability. Freeman v. Food Lion, LLC, 173 N.C. App. 207, 617 S.E.2d 698, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1919 (2005).

IV. BURDEN ON MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT.

Movant Must Establish Lack of a Triable Issue. —

Insurance and securities broker was properly granted summary judgment on investors' vicarious liability claims against the broker because, assuming arguendo that an agent and a sub-agent committed torts in selling investments to the investors, the investors could not show that the broker was vicariously liable for the torts as the agent and subagent were independent contractors of the broker, and the investors knew that the agent and the subagent were not acting as agents of the broker. Estate of Redding v. Welborn, 170 N.C. App. 324, 612 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1001 (2005).

Denials In Unverified Answer Insufficient To Withstand Motion For Summary Judgment. — As defendant's answer to the complaint was not verified, the denials contained in that answer were insufficient to defeat plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Unverified Responses to Request for Admissions Do Not Constitute Affidavit. — Where defendant's responses to plaintiffs' request for admissions were not verified, they could not be deemed to be an affidavit; and as they were not in the category of "depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file" specified in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 56 as material that could be considered, they were insufficient to defeat plaintiffs' motion for summary judgment. Dixon v. Hill, 174 N.C. App. 252, 620 S.E.2d 715, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2393 (2005).

Defendant's Response Held Inadequate. —

Affiliated corporations' general denial as to the amount owed to a services provider contained in their answer, coupled with their general denial in their affidavit that they owed the provider anything, was insufficient to raise a genuine issue of material fact as to the amount of the debt; the trial court, therefore, did not err in granting partial summary judgment in favor of the services provider on its breach of contract claim and awarding damages. Excel Staffing Serv. v. HP Reidsville, 172 N.C. App. 281, 616 S.E.2d 349, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1582 (2005).

V. FUNCTION OF TRIAL COURT.

Granting of a Continuance. — Review of the record failed to reveal an abuse of discretion on the part of the trial court in denying defendants' motion for continuance. HSI N.C., LLC v. Diversified Fire Prot. of Wilmington, Inc., 169 N.C. App. 767, 611 S.E.2d 224, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 805 (2005).

VI. EVIDENCE ON MOTION.

A. In General.

Affidavits Must Be Served Prior to Hearing. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by excluding an affidavit that was submitted less than two business days before the hearing on the summary judgment motion. HSI N.C., LLC v. Diversified Fire Prot. of Wilmington, Inc., 169 N.C. App. 767, 611 S.E.2d 224, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 805 (2005).

Not All Parts of Distributer's Affidavits and Complaint Were Based on Personal Knowledge. — Despite a distributor's claims that his manufacturer's export agent, who lived in Great Britain, had tortiously interfered with the distributor-manufacturer relationship, in that the agent hired the distributor's salesman with the intention of establishing his own distributorship, a trial court did not err in ruling that under the Due Process Clause, no personal jurisdiction existed over the manager. The personal knowledge requirement for documents and affidavits, as contained in G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56(e), applied to motions to dismiss under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2), not all parts of the distributor's affidavits and complaint were based on personal knowledge, and only those parts based on personal knowledge, which were insufficient to show personal jurisdiction, could be considered. Deer Corp. v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 159, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 968 (2006).

Affidavit Statements Based on Hearsay Would Not be Admissible. — Trial court erred in granting summary judgment to an employer because the statements in the affidavits made by three affiants to establish an employee's on-call pay rate, and in the exhibits submitted in support of their affidavits, were hearsay under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 801(c) and were inadmissible under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56(e) to prove the employee's on-call pay rate. Further, none of the affidavits addressed the foundational requirements for the admission of evidence through a business record, and thus did not present personal knowledge setting forth facts admissible in evidence under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 803(6). Gilreath v. N.C. HHS, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 293, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1077 (2006).

Striking of Affidavits and Deposition. —

Testimony contained in four affidavits and a deposition submitted by the decedent's son regarding the intent of the decedent to disinherit one of the other beneficiaries in a will was properly stricken under G.S. 1A-1 because the declarations in the affidavits were incompetent to establish the decedent's intent and were inadmissible for that purpose. Hammer v. Hammer, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 878, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1906 (2006).

Rule 57. Declaratory judgments.

CASE NOTES

Declaratory Judgment Held Proper. — Trial court properly entered declaratory judgment in favor of a corporation and found that the sale of pre-paid phone cards with game pieces was not an illegal lottery where the inclusion of game pieces was merely a marketing system, the phone card was sufficiently compatible with the price being charged and had sufficient value and utility to support the conclusion that it, and not the associated game of chance, was the object being purchased, and consumers could receive free game pieces via written request without purchasing the phone card. Am. Treasures, Inc. v. State, 173 N.C. App. 170, 617 S.E.2d 346, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1928 (2005).

Rule 58. Entry of judgment.

CASE NOTES

Announcement in Open Court Is Not Entry of Judgment. —

Trial court erred in granting a husband's motion to dismiss a wife's motion for equitable distribution, pursuant to G.S. 50-20, in a divorce action where the wife filed the motion on the day before the judgment was signed by the judge and filed, at which point the judgment became final pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-58; therefore, G.S. 50-11(e) did not destroy the wife's right to seek equitable distribution as the motion was filed before an absolute divorce was granted. Santana v. Santana, 171 N.C. App. 432, 614 S.E.2d 438, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1204 (2005).

Applied in In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

Rule 59. New trials; amendment of judgments.

CASE NOTES

- I. In General.
- III. Altering or Amending Judgments.

I. IN GENERAL.

Discretion of Trial Judge. —

Trial court did not err in denying the airport operators' post-trial motions claiming that they had newly-discovered evidence that the adjoining property owners, who had brought a private nuisance claim against the airport operators, bought additional property adjoining their property and the airport following the jury trial in the private nuisance case; the fact that the adjoining property owners purchased additional property could not be the basis for a new trial because the purchase did not occur until after the trial was completed and, thus, the trial court's denial of the post-trial motions was not an abuse of discretion. Broadbent v. Allison, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 758, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 524 (2006).

Refusal to Award New Trial Upheld. —

Trial judge's discretionary order made pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 59 for or against a new trial may be reversed only when an abuse of discretion is clearly shown; a trial court's exclusion of the testimony of four witnesses as to the value of property in a condemnation proceeding was proper, and so the trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying the landowners' motion for a new trial. City of Charlotte v. Ertel, 170 N.C. App. 346, 612 S.E.2d 438, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1009 (2005).

In determining whether a school board properly determined not to renew a teacher's contract under G.S. 115C-325(m)(2), the trial court had looked at all of the evidence and determined that there was substantial evidence to support the board's determination, even without inaccurate information contained in a memorandum; in doing so, it had properly applied the whole record test to the evidence presented to the board, and this justified its later denial of the teacher's motion for reconsideration. Davis v. Macon County Bd. of Educ., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 590, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1644 (2006).

Motion for new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence is addressed to trial court's sound discretion, etc. —

Because a mother raised only evidence that did not exist when a custody trial occurred, there was no abuse of discretion in a denial of her motion for a new trial under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 59(a)(4). Faulkenberry v. Faulkenberry, 169 N.C. App. 428, 610 S.E.2d 237, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 688 (2005).

And Court May Not Order New Trial While Appeal Is Pending. —

Where, in support of its petition for certiorari, a bond company sought to include documents, which included a federal indictment and a county district attorney's dismissal of state charges against defendant, that were never presented to the trial court until after it entered its bond forfeiture order, and the bonding company did not make a motion pursuant to either G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 59 or 60 to bring the material to the trial court's attention, but rather sought to bring the material to light for the first time while this case was already pending on appeal, the court found that it was further evidence of the bond company's lack of diligence and denied its petition for writ of certiorari. State v. Gonzalez-Fernandez, 170 N.C. App. 45, 612 S.E.2d 148, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 900 (2005).

Motion for New Trial Improperly Granted. — Directed verdict was properly granted to a store in a customer's suit against the store to recover for injuries sustained when he fell over a stock cart parked in a store aisle, and thus, the trial court improperly set aside its earlier order granting a directed verdict and, instead, granted the customer's motion for a new trial, because the customer presented no evidence regarding who left the stock cart in the position which caused the customer to fall, when it was placed there, or how long it remained; additionally, the customer did not present evidence that the store failed to correct a dangerous condition after it received actual or constructive notice of the condition. Herring v. Food Lion, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 281, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2754 (2005).

Child Custody Matters. —

Because a mother raised only evidence that did not exist when a custody trial occurred, there was no abuse of discretion in a denial of her motion for a new trial under G.S. 1A-1, N.C.

R. Civ. P. 59(a)(4). Faulkenberry v. Faulkenberry, 169 N.C. App. 428, 610 S.E.2d 237, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 688 (2005).

Private Nuisance. — Trial court did not err in denying the airport operators' post-trial motion based on the claim that the adjoining property owners did not admit sufficient evidence to prove their claim that operation of the airport was a private nuisance; the adjoining property owners admitted sufficient evidence that the airport had a substantial and unreasonable impact on the adjoining property owners' enjoyment of their property. Broadbent v. Allison, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 758, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 524 (2006).

Applied in Trent v. Place, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 529, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1683 (2006).

Cited in Rhew v. Felton, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 859, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1560 (2006).

III. ALTERING OR AMENDING JUDGMENTS.

Plaintiff Entitled to New Trial on Issue of Damages. — In breach of contract action against university, professor was entitled to a new trial on the issue of damages only where the trial court erred in denying his motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict or for a new trial based upon a jury award of inadequate damages; the trial court's failure to instruct the jury on whether the professor was ready, willing, and able to perform the contract meant that the jury did not decide that issue, which was critical to determining whether the professor was entitled to nominal damages or substantial damages after the jury found that the university breached the agreement. Munn v. N.C. State Univ., 173 N.C. App. 144, 617 S.E.2d 335, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1931 (2005).

JNOV Granted on Appeal Mooted New Trial Motion. — Trial court decision denying JNOV to a city, one of its police officers, and its police department was reversed on appeal, because the plaintiff, an arrestee injured in a squad car, failed to prove gross negligence and only showed simple negligence by evidence that the police officer drove 30 to 35 miles above the legal speed limit although he knew that plaintiff was not wearing a seat belt and had to brake suddenly to avoid a collision causing plaintiff to propel into the metal screen in the squad car. City also did not waive governmental immunity by its voluntary settlement with plaintiff since the city had a liability policy and none of the conditions of waiver, as provided by G.S. 160A-485(a), were met. Clayton v. Branson, 170 N.C. App. 438, 613 S.E.2d 259, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1070 (2005).

  - F. Void Judgments.

I. IN GENERAL.

Denial of Relief Proper. — In determining whether a school board properly determined not to renew a teacher's contract under G.S. 115C-325(m)(2), the trial court had looked at all of the evidence and determined that there was substantial evidence to support the board's determination, even without inaccurate information contained in a memorandum; in doing so, it had properly applied the whole record test to the evidence presented to the board, and this justified its later denial of the teacher's motion for reconsideration. Davis v. Macon County Bd. of Educ., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 590, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1644 (2006).

G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b) did not apply to an interlocutory order denying a motion to dismiss a medical malpractice case, and a trial court lacked the authority to grant relief from that denial and to dismiss the case; in any event, a decision ruling that G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j) was constitutional did not affect rights acquired in an earlier holding that the rule was invalid, and the trial court erred in dismissing the malpractice on the basis of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j). Rupe v. Hucks-Follis, 170 N.C. App. 188, 611 S.E.2d 867, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 901 (2005).

Burden of Proof. — Trial court did not err in denying the airport operators' post-trial motions claiming that they had newly-discovered evidence that the adjoining property owners, who had brought a private nuisance claim against the airport operators, bought additional property adjoining their property and the airport following the jury trial in the private nuisance case; the fact that the adjoining property owners purchased additional property could not be the basis for a new trial because the purchase did not occur until after the trial was completed and, thus, the trial court's denial of the post-trial motions was not an abuse of discretion. Broadbent v. Allison, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 758, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 524 (2006).

Appeal Dismissed Due to Trial Court's Inclination to Grant N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(3)

Motion. — Appeal was dismissed and the case was remanded to the trial court for the entry of a final order on defendant's N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b)(3) motion because the trial court entered an inclination to rule in favor of defendant and grant the Rule 60(b) motion. Hall v. Cohen, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 469, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 977 (2006).

III. RELIEF UNDER SUBSECTION (B).

A. In General.

Power to Set Aside Judgment or Order Entered by Another Judge. —

Judge who heard the borrowers' motion to amend, or for alternative relief after the dismissal with prejudice of their complaint, erred in denying the borrowers' motion for relief because the judge's denial of the motion on the grounds that he believed it was more properly in front of the judge who ruled on the motion to dismiss the complaint was a failure to exercise the discretion conferred on him by law; thus, the borrowers did not have the proper hearing on their G.S. 1A-1-60(b) motion to which they were entitled. Trent v. Place, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 529, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1683 (2006).

B. Mistake, Inadvertence, Surprise and Excusable Neglect.

1. In General.

No Clerical Mistake. — Since a trial court's amendment of an earlier order gave legal custody to the Department of Social Services and physical custody to the relatives, where the earlier order gave legal custody to the relatives prior to filing of the petition to terminate the mother's parental rights, any error could not be said to be clerical. In re D.D.J., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 808, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 933 (2006).

2. Relief Held Proper.

No Error in Denial of Motion. — Despite a distributor's claims that his manufacturer's export agent, who lived in Great Britain, had tortiously interfered with the distributor-manufacturer relationship, in that the agent hired the distributor's salesman with the intention of establishing his own distributorship, a trial court did not err in denying the distributor's motion, made pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b), to vacate its order in which it had dismissed the complaint on the ground that under the Due Process Clause, the trial court had no personal jurisdiction over the manager. Review under a Rule 60(b) motion was limited to determining whether a trial court had abused its discretion, the documents submitted with the motion would not have changed the trial court's ruling on the motion to dismiss, and the distributor had been given the opportunity to obtain and present the documents in the evidentiary hearing on the Rule 60(b) motion but had failed to do so. Deer Corp. v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 159, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 968 (2006).

3. Relief Held Improper.

Failure to Consult an Attorney. — Denial of a landlord's motion to set aside a default judgment against him pursuant to N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b) was upheld on appeal, because the landlord's failure to consult an attorney or any alleged lack of legal knowledge did not constitute excusable neglect under N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b). Scoggins v. Jacobs, 169 N.C. App. 411, 610 S.E.2d 428, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 684 (2005).

Subdivision (b)(6) of this rule is not a catch-all rule, etc.

Trial court erred in treating father's motion to amend a written order to comply with the trial court's oral custody decree as a motion for relief made under G.S. 1A-1, Rule 60(b)(6), and granting it; rather than seeking relief from the effect of the custody order, the father sought to amend the effect of that order to reduce the mother's weeknight visitation privilege. Black v. Black, 174 N.C. App. 361, 620 S.E.2d 924, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2395 (2005).

C. Newly Discovered Evidence.

Failure to Produce Evidence Earlier Must Not Be Due to Lack of Diligence. —

Where, in support of its petition for certiorari, a bond company sought to include documents, amounting to evidence of a federal indictment and county district attorney's dismissal of state charges against defendant, that were never presented to the trial court until after it entered its bond forfeiture order, and the bonding company did not make a motion pursuant to either G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 59 or 60 to bring the material to the trial court's attention, but rather sought to bring the material to light for the first time while this case was already pending on appeal, the court found that it was further evidence of the bond company's lack of diligence and denied its petition for writ of certiorari. State v. Gonzalez-Fernandez, 170 N.C. App. 45, 612 S.E.2d 148, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 900 (2005).

F. Void Judgments.

A judgment is not void, etc.

Where the person who was served with a summons directed to a corporation attended the Small Claims Division proceedings and fully participated on the corporation's behalf, the corporation made a general appearance and thus waived its right to challenge proper service of process; the trial court erred in reversing judgment entered by a Small Claims Division magistrate based on invalid service. Woods v. Billy's Auto., — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 193, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2595 (2005).

Judgment Was Void Where Trial Court Lacked Personal Jurisdiction Over The Father. —

Trial court erred in denying the father's motion to set aside an order terminating his parental rights; since the father was not served within the time limit for serving process once a summons was issued and no extension of time was obtained, the trial court did not obtain personal jurisdiction over him in a case where the mother filed a petition to terminate the father's parental rights. In re A.B.D., 173 N.C. App. 77, 617 S.E.2d 707, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1925 (2005).

Improper Entry of Default By Clerk. —

Although a trial court did not abuse its discretion by finding that a failure to file an extension of time did not constitute a mistake since there was no explanation for a law firm's actions, a motion to set aside a default judgment should have been granted under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 60(b) because a judgment was void since a clerk was unable to enter a default where there was no sum certain. Basnight Constr. Co. v. Peters & White Constr. Co., 169 N.C. App. 619, 610 S.E.2d 469, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 605 (2005).

Rule 63. Disability of a judge.

CASE NOTES

Successor Judge Authorized to Reconsider Original Judge's Order. — Notwithstanding the original judge's absence from the bench due to retirement, the successor judge erred in denying the motion to reconsider an original expungement order for lack of jurisdiction because he was statutorily authorized to address the motion to reconsider the order for expungement and, in accordance with the dictates of G.S. 15A-146(a), to amend the earlier order. In re Expungement for Kearney, 174 N.C. App. 213, 620 S.E.2d 276, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2294 (2005).

Rule 65. Injunctions.

CASE NOTES

V. Form and Scope of Injunction or Restraining Order.

V. FORM AND SCOPE OF INJUNCTION OR RESTRAINING ORDER.

Permanent Injunction Held Proper. — Trial court properly entered a permanent injunction prohibiting the State from interfering with corporation's sale of pre-paid phone cards with game pieces where the inclusion of game pieces was merely a marketing system, the phone card was sufficiently compatible with the price being charged and had sufficient value and utility to support the conclusion that it, and not the associated game of chance, was the object being purchased, and consumers could receive free game pieces via written request without purchasing the phone card. Am. Treasures, Inc. v. State, 173 N.C. App. 170, 617 S.E.2d 346, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1928 (2005).

Offer for Division of Marital Estate Was Insufficient. — Where a wife's offer in a divorce case related only to the distribution of the marital residence, but failed to address the division of the entire marital estate, thus allowing the remaining separate and marital assets to be subjected to further litigation, the offer was insufficient to create a binding final judgment and thus failed to meet the requirements of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 68. Lauterbach v. Weiner, 174 N.C. App. 201, 620 S.E.2d 317, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2297 (2005).

— Dismissal of assignee's motion to subject real estate to execution sale was reversed as the assignee's judgment lien attached to a husband's undivided interest in property formerly held as a tenancy by the entirety upon the date of his divorce, when the property was converted by law to a tenancy in common, and when he conveyed his interest to his former wife, she took title subject to the judgment lien; a consent order providing for a future transfer of the property was not a conveyance as it provided for a future transfer of the property, did not provide a legal description or state the location of the property, and was not filed with the register of deeds. *Martin v. § 1B-4. Release or covenant not to sue.

CASE NOTES

Judgment Against One Tort-Feasor Reduced by Amount of Settlement with Another. —

In a wrongful death action based on the medical specialist’s malpractice, the trial court did not err in requiring the specialist to pay all pre-judgment interest and costs because the medical specialist failed to make any objection on the record as to the imposition of costs and pre-judgment interest or the apportionment thereof as required by G.S. 1A-1, Rule 10(b)(1), and the trial court properly determined costs and interest before entitling the specialist to set-off for the settlement amount involving the other treating doctor, a former codefendant. *Boykin v. ## Chapter 1C.

Enforcement of Judgments.

ARTICLE 16.

Exempt Property.

§ 1C-1601. What property exempt; waiver; exceptions.

CASE NOTES

Legislative Intent. —

North Carolina General Assembly's purpose in enacting G.S. 1C-1601(a)(9) was to protect a debtor's right to receive retirement benefits and not to limit the exemption to a specific class of retirement plans or trusts. Rather than give a blanket exemption to all "retirement" plans, the General Assembly limited the exemption to any retirement tool that was treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under the Internal Revenue Code. In re Grubbs, 325 B.R. 151, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1101 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2005).

Construction with 11 U.S.C.S. § 522(f). — Implication in G.S. 1C-1601(c) that exemptions can be waived by conveyance of the property must not be applied in preference to the avoidance power of 11 U.S.C.S. § 522(f). In re Bowes, — Bankr. —, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1089 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. Feb. 11, 2005).

Involuntary Absence Did Not Constitute Abandonment of Residence. — Claimed homestead exemption was allowed, pursuant to G.S. 1C-1601(a)(1), over a trustee's objection because the debtor was forced to vacate and did not voluntarily abandon her damaged home as a result of hurricanes and she paid property taxes, stored personalty there, lived in temporary housing, and intended to use the home as a residence as soon as repairs were practicable. In re Foster, 348 B.R. 58, 2006 Bankr. LEXIS 1833 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 2006).

Applicability to Tax-Sheltered Annuities. — Given the close similarity between the tax treatment of tax-sheltered annuities and individual retirement plans and the common purpose of both types of plans, the United States Bankruptcy Court for the Middle District of North Carolina, Greensboro Division, is convinced that the Supreme Court of North Carolina Court would conclude that 26 U.S.C.S. § 403(b) tax-sheltered annuities are "treated in the same manner as" individual retirement plans and therefore would construe G.S. 1C-1601(a)(9) as encompassing such tax-sheltered annuities as property that may be exempted under that statute. Accordingly, the debtor was allowed to claim an exemption in this type of retirement plan. In re Garner, — Bankr. —, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1118 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. Apr. 29, 2005).

Applicability to Alimony. — Since G.S. 1C-1601(e)(9) did not apply to claims for alimony, the trial court properly denied the ex-husband's motion to exempt his retirement account. Rhew v. Felton, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 859, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1560 (2006).

Trial Court's Findings As to Value of Stock Unsupported by Evidence. — In a G.S. 1C-1603(e) proceeding on an objection to a debtor's claimed exemption, a trial court failed to make sufficient findings as to how or by what methodology it concluded that the value of the debtor's stock in a development company was zero; there was no evidence supporting the trial court's finding that, purely as a result of pending litigation, the company had no value, and no authority permitted the trial court to base its allowance of a party's claim of exemption on the court's assessment of the equities between the parties rather than on the actual value of the property. Susi v. Aubin, 173 N.C. App. 608, 620 S.E.2d 682, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2093 (2005).

What Property Exempt in Bankruptcy.

— Where North Carolina, pursuant to G.S. 1C-1601(f), opted out of 11 U.S.C.S. § 522, any bankruptcy property exemptions were controlled by state law; thus, a North Carolina debtor could not use § 522 to exempt disability insurance policy payments from his bankruptcy estate and the payments were not exempt under G.S. 1-362 because such payments were not earnings for performance of personal services but resulted from nonperformance. In re Dillon, — Bankr. —, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1314 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. July 8, 2005).

Debtor's Intent in Determining Homestead Exemption. — Debtor's intent must be the focus in determining whether an involuntary absence constitutes abandonment for the purposes of G.S. 1C-1601(a)(1); a narrow interpretation of the statute would be contrary to the North Carolina Supreme Court's prior decisions regarding state law exemptions and a liberal construction is consistent with the Court's efforts to embrace all persons fairly within the exemptions statutes. In re Foster, 348 B.R. 58, 2006 Bankr. LEXIS 1833 (Bankr. E.D.N.C. 2006).

Conveyance of Part of Homestead Did Not Bar Lien Avoidance Action. — Debtors' conveyance of part of their homestead to their daughter, post-petition, did not impair their homestead exemption, bar them from seeking relief under 11 U.S.C.S. § 522(f), or bar them from claiming the conveyed property as exempt pursuant to G.S. 1C-1601(c). They did not have to have an interest in the property when they filed their motion to avoid creditor's judicial lien against the property, and the implication in G.S. 1C-1601(c) that exemptions could be waived by conveyance of the property could not be applied in preference to the avoidance power of 11 U.S.C.S. § 522(f). In re Bowes, — Bankr. —, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1089 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. Feb. 11, 2005).

I.R.C. § 403(b) Annuity Exempt. — Annuity created pursuant to I.R.C. § 403(b) is exempt under North Carolina law because a § 403(b) annuity, at least within the meaning of the exemption statute, is treated in the same manner as an individual retirement plan under the Internal Revenue Code. Exemption statute governing retirement plans, G.S. 1C-1601(a)(9), was applicable to debtor's annuity. In re Grubbs, 325 B.R. 151, 2005 Bankr. LEXIS 1101 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. 2005).

Cited in In re Young, — Bankr. —, 2001 Bankr. LEXIS 2184 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. July 12, 2001); In re Rice, — Bankr. —, 2006 Bankr. LEXIS 1511 (Bankr. M.D.N.C. June 21, 2006).

§ 1C-1603. Procedure for setting aside exempt property.

CASE NOTES

Findings As to Value of Stock Unsupported by Evidence. — In a G.S. 1C-1603(e) proceeding on an objection to a debtor's claimed exemption, a trial court failed to make sufficient findings as to how or by what methodology it concluded that the value of the debtor's stock in a development company was zero; there was no evidence supporting the trial court's finding that, purely as a result of pending litigation, the company had no value, and no authority permitted the trial court to base its allowance of a party's claim of exemption on the court's assessment of the equities between the parties rather than on the actual value of the property. ### Uniform Enforcement of Foreign Judgments Act.

§ 1C-1703. Filing and status of foreign judgments.

CASE NOTES

Enforcement of Foreign Judgments. — Foreign judgment that the judgment creditor obtained in New York was entitled to a presumption that the judgment was entitled to full faith and credit, as the judgment creditor met its burden of showing that entitlement by filing a properly authenticated judgment; however, the general contractor timely moved for relief from the foreign judgment by raising the defense that the New York trial court that entered it did not have personal jurisdiction over the general contractor, and because the trial court did not make any findings of fact or conclusions of law regarding the motion to enforce the judgment, the conclusion that the foreign judgment was enforceable in North Carolina was not supported by competent evidence and the case had to be remanded to the trial court for further proceedings. #### Grounds for Attacking Foreign Judgment. —

Once a creditor establishes, under G.S. 1C-1705(b), that a foreign judgment is entitled to full faith and credit, the judgment may only be attacked on the grounds of fraud, public policy, or lack of jurisdiction; no authority permitted a district court to base its allowance of a party's claim of exemption on the court's assessment of the equities between the parties rather than on the actual value of the property. *Susi v. Consent to Personal Jurisdiction. — Foreign judgment that the judgment creditor obtained in New York was entitled to a presumption that the judgment was entitled to full faith and credit, as the judgment creditor met its burden of showing that entitlement by filing a properly authenticated judgment; however, the general contractor timely moved for relief from the foreign judgment by raising the defense that the New York trial court that entered it did not have personal jurisdiction over the general contractor, and because the trial court did not make any findings of fact or conclusions of law regarding the motion to enforce the judgment, the conclusion that the foreign judgment was enforceable in North Carolina was not supported by competent evidence and the case had to be remanded to the trial court for further proceedings. Quantum Corporate Funding, Ltd. v. B.H. Bryan Bldg. Co., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 793, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 187 (2006).

Chapter 1D.

Punitive Damages.

§ 1D-5. Definitions.

CASE NOTES

“Willful or Wanton Conduct”, etc. —

Directed verdict in favor of a manufacturing plant, a maintenance company, and its successor on the issue of punitive damages was upheld on appeal, because plaintiff workers failed to demonstrate any willful or wanton misconduct with regard to their exposure to asbestos when they removed insulation. The trial court’s reduction of the workers’ compensatory damages awards was also upheld on appeal, because the workers received prior workers’ compensation claim settlements and prior third-party settlement amounts and were entitled to only one recovery for their asbestos exposure. Schenk v. HNA Holdings, Inc., 170 N.C. App. 555, 613 S.E.2d 503, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1067 (2005).

§ 1D-15. Standards for recovery of punitive damages.

CASE NOTES

Applicability of Section. —

On interlocutory appeal, prisoner’s Eighth Amendment Bivens claim for alleged inadequate medical care did not extend to defendants, who were individual employees of a privately operated prison, because the actions of the employees were not fairly attributable to the federal government and because the prisoner had adequate remedies under state law, G. S. 1D-15, for his alleged injuries. Holly v. Scott, 434 F.3d 287, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 685 (4th Cir. 2006).

Evidence Insufficient. —

Directed verdict in favor of a manufacturing plant, a maintenance company, and its successor on the issue of punitive damages was upheld on appeal, because plaintiff workers failed to demonstrate any willful or wanton misconduct with regard to their exposure to asbestos when they removed insulation. The trial court’s reduction of the workers’ compensatory damages awards was also upheld on appeal, because the workers received prior workers’ compensation claim settlements and prior third-party settlement amounts and were entitled to only one recovery for their asbestos exposure. Schenk v. HNA Holdings, Inc., 170 N.C. App. 555, 613 S.E.2d 503, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1067 (2005).

Where plaintiff’s complaint did not allege any facts that would have tended to show fraud, malice, or willful or wanton conduct in relation to the alleged breach of fiduciary duty, the omission strongly suggested that plaintiff’s claim for punitive damages was without basis and had been asserted solely to confer jurisdiction on the court. Southstar Funding, L.L.C. v. Warren, Perry & Anthony, P.L.L.C., 445 F. Supp. 2d 583, 2006 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 61500 (E.D.N.C. 2006).

Discovery of Financial Information Where Prima Facie Showing Is Made. — Franchisees’ motion to compel was granted in part, to the extent that they sought to compel three corporate officers to respond to an interrogatory by providing personal financial information about themselves, as: (1) the information was relevant because the franchisees had made a prima facie showing of their entitlement to punitive damages under G.S. 1D-15; (2) the officers were not required to produce documents under Fed. R. Civ. P. 33(d), in response to the franchisees’ interrogatory; and (3) the production of the requested information, concerning the officers’ financial assets, liabilities, and monthly income as of December 31, 2001, did not rise to the level of burden contemplated by Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(b)(2). Rich Food Servs. v. Rich Plan Corp., — F. Supp. 2d —, 2002 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 27791 (E.D.N.C. June 17, 2002).

§ 1D-50. Judicial review of award.

CASE NOTES

Remand for Compliance with this Section. — Action was remanded because the trial court's order granting the former employer's motion for judgment notwithstanding verdict contained no reasons as to why the trial court set aside the jury's verdict on the former employee's punitive damages claim. Scarborough v. Dillard's, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 800, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1652 (2006).

Negligence cases were not listed among the types of actions in which costs had to be awarded to a prevailing party pursuant to either G.S. 6-18 or G.S. 6-19; therefore, the trial court's costs ruling was governed by G.S. 6-20, and costs could be allowed or not, in the discretion of the court. Smith v. Cregan, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 206, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1568 (2006).

CASE NOTES

Not Applicable to Negligence Actions. — Negligence cases were not listed among the types of actions in which costs had to be awarded to a prevailing party pursuant to either G.S. 6-18 or G.S. 6-19; therefore, the trial court's costs ruling was governed by G.S. 6-20, and costs could be allowed or not, in the discretion of the court. Smith v. Cregan, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 206, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1568 (2006).

§ 6-19.1. Attorney’s fees to parties appealing or defending against agency decision.

CASE NOTES

Administrative Hearings. —

G.S. 6-19.1 authorizes a superior court to award fees to the employee of a county Department of Social Services who has prevailed under the State Personnel Act, G.S. 126-1 et seq.; therefore, a trial court was authorized to award fees for representation of a plaintiff during the administrative proceedings contesting her termination while on medical leave, which was adjudged without cause and wrongful. Early v. County of Durham Dep’t of Soc. Servs., 172 N.C. App. 344, 616 S.E.2d 553, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1788 (2005).

Plaintiffs Not Entitled to Attorneys’ Fees. — Plaintiffs were not entitled to attorneys’ fees under G.S. 6-19.1 and 42 U.S.C.S. § 1988, or the private attorney general doctrine as in the absence of express statutory authority, attorneys’ fees were not allowable as part of the court costs in civil actions; Bailey v. State, 500 S.E.2d 54 (1998), was distinguishable as: (1) there was no common fund resulting from the litigation; (2) Bailey involved a class action in which the attorneys’ fees borne by the class representatives were shared or equally distributed to the class from the recovery; and (3) plaintiffs sought to shift the burden of attorney fees to the State, instead of to a resulting fund. Stephenson v. Bartlett, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 442, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 870 (2006).

§ 6-20. Costs allowed or not, in discretion of court.

Editor’s Note. — Session Laws 2006-248, ss. 12.1 through 12.5, provide: “12.1. A House of Representatives Task Force on the Recovery of Costs in Civil Cases is established to review and recommend a resolution to the conflict in North Carolina law regarding the recovery of costs in a civil case. Specifically, the Task Force on the Recovery of Costs in Civil Cases shall study the conflict that exists between G.S. 6-20 and G.S. 7A-305, and the appellate cases interpreting those statutes, and recommend revisions to one or both statutes to resolve that conflict.

“12.2. The Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint to serve on the Task Force six members of the House of Representatives and three public members: one member of the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers, one member of the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys, and one member of the North Carolina Bar Association. The Speaker shall appoint a chair from the Task Force membership. The Task Force shall meet upon the call of its chair. A quorum of the Committee shall be a majority of its members.

“12.3. Members of the Task Force shall receive per diem, subsistence, and travel allowances in accordance with G.S. 120-3.1, 138-5, or 138-6, as appropriate. Upon the prior approval of the Legislative Services Commission, the Legislative Services Officer shall assign professional and clerical staff to the Task Force to aid in its work. The Task Force may contract for professional, clerical, or consultant services as provided by G.S. 120-32.02. The Task Force may meet at various locations around the State to promote greater public participation in its deliberations. Subject to the approval of the Legislative Services Commission, the Task Force may meet in the Legislative Building or the Legislative Office Building. The Task Force, while in the discharge of its official duties, may exercise all the powers provided under the provisions of G.S. 120-19 and G.S. 120-19.1 through G.S. 120-19.4, including the power to request all officers, agents, agencies, and departments of the State to provide any information, data, or documents within their possession, ascertainable from their records, or otherwise available to them and the power to subpoena witnesses.

“12.4. The Task Force shall report the results of its review and its recommended resolution to the conflict to the Speaker of the House of Representatives by December 31, 2006.

“12.5. From funds appropriated to the General Assembly, the Legislative Services Commission shall allocate funds for the purpose of conducting the study provided for in this Part.”

CASE NOTES

Award of Costs Discretionary, Not Mandatory. —

Negligence cases were not listed among the types of actions in which costs had to be awarded to a prevailing party pursuant to either G.S. 6-18 or G.S. 6-19; therefore, the trial court's costs ruling was governed by G.S. 6-20, and costs could be allowed or not, in the discretion of the court. Smith v. Cregan, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 206, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1568 (2006).

Discretion Not Reviewable. —

Appellate court did not review a trial court's decision to award costs as that award was made in the trial court's discretion. Castle McCulloch, Inc. v. Freedman, 169 N.C. App. 497, 610 S.E.2d 416, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 604 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 57, 620 S.E.2d 674 (2005).

Taxing Costs in Personal Injury Cases. —

Trial court erred in awarding numerous costs not authorized for medical reports, deposition costs, filing fees, travel costs, trial exhibits, color copies, and photocopies; there was statutory authority, however, for the following awards: mediation fees pursuant to G.S. 7A-305(d)(7); expert witness fees pursuant to G.S. 7A-305(d)(1); and service of process fees pursuant to G.S. 7A-305(d)(6). Oakes v. Wooten, 173 N.C. App. 506, 620 S.E.2d 39, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2100 (2005).

Deposition Expenses. —

In a negligence case, deposition costs were recoverable as trial expenses under G.S. 6-20 because they were established by case law prior to the enactment of G.S. 7A-320 in 1983. Morgan v. Steiner, 173 N.C. App. 577, 619 S.E.2d 516, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2105 (2005).

Denial of Costs for Expert Witnesses. —

Since the trial court's costs ruling was governed by G.S. 6-20, and thus could be allowed at the discretion of the court, and the doctors had not alleged, and there appeared to the appellate court to be no abuse of discretion in the denial of their request to be reimbursed for the expert witness fees where the verdict was in their favor, the judgment was affirmed. Smith v. Cregan, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 206, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1568 (2006).

Applied in Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

§ 6-21.2. Attorneys' fees in notes, etc., in addition to interest.

CASE NOTES

Fees in Amount Less than 15 Percent of Damages Award Proper. — Trial court did not err in granting attorney fees in an amount less than 15 percent of the damages award under a stock sales contract; attorney testimony, affidavits, and billing statements supported the attorney fees award. Bombardier Capital, Inc. v. Lake Hickory Watercraft, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 192, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1570 (2006).

§ 6-21.5. Attorney's fees in nonjusticiable cases.

In any civil action, special proceeding, or estate or trust proceeding, the court, upon motion of the prevailing party, may award a reasonable attorney's fee to the prevailing party if the court finds that there was a complete absence of a justiciable issue of either law or fact raised by the losing party in any pleading. The filing of a general denial or the granting of any preliminary motion, such as a motion for judgment on the pleadings pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 12, a motion to dismiss pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 12(b)(6), a motion for a directed verdict pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 50, or a motion for summary judgment pursuant to G.S. 1A-1, Rule 56, is not in itself a sufficient reason for the court to award attorney's fees, but may be evidence to support the court's decision to make such an award. A party who advances a claim or defense supported by a good faith argument for an extension, modification, or reversal of law may not be required under this section to pay attorney's fees. The court shall make findings of fact and conclusions of law to support its award of attorney's fees under this section. (1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1039, s. 1; 2006-259, s. 13(l).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-259, s. 13(s), provides: "This section becomes effective October 1, 2006, and applies to (i) all trusts created before, on, or after that date; (ii) all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced on or after that date; and (iii) all judicial proceedings concerning trusts commenced before that date unless the court finds that application of a particular provision of this act would substantially interfere with the effective conduct of the judicial proceedings or prejudice the rights of the parties, in which case the law as it existed on September 30, 2006, shall apply."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-259, s. 13(l), effective October 1, 2006, substituted "civil action, special proceeding, or estate or trust proceeding," for "civil action or special proceeding" in the first sentence. For applicability provisions, see Editor's note.

CASE NOTES

Justiciable Issue Found. —

Denial of attorney fees to a former employee after the employer voluntarily dismissed its action for breach of a non-competition agreement against him with prejudice was not an abuse of discretion; the employee did not establish the lack of any justiciable issues of law and fact in the action. Kohler Co. v. McIvor, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 817, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 981 (2006).

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- IV. Interlocutory Orders.
  - A. Generally.
  - B. Particular Orders.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Substantial evidence in the record supported an administrative law judge's findings and its dismissal of a day care's petition for a contested case hearing where the day care filed nothing in nearly six months following the filing of the petition, despite receiving several orders from the administrative law judge to file and serve prehearing statements and other responses to motions. Lincoln v. N.C. HHS, 172 N.C. App. 567, 616 S.E.2d 622, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1804 (2005).

Steps on Appeal. — While convictions that result in a judgment of death are automatically appealable to the Supreme Court of North Carolina, all other convictions are properly appealed to the Court of Appeals pursuant to G.S. 7A-27 and N.C. R. App. P. 4(d), and while neither party filed a motion to bypass the Court of Appeals as to defendant's non-capital conviction for burglary, when he appealed his conviction for murder and his death sentence, the Supreme Court of North Carolina, on its own initiative, and consistently with N.C. R. App. P. 2, considered defendant's assignments of error that concerned his burglary conviction under G.S. 14-51 because the issue also related to one of his arguments regarding an aggravating circumstance. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Applied in State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005); State v. Augustine, 359 N.C. 709, 616 S.E.2d 515, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 836 (2005).

Cited in State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005); State v. Allen, 359 N.C. 425, 615 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 695 (2005); State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005); *State v. ## IV. INTERLOCUTORY ORDERS.

A. Generally.

Separation of Property in Divorce Cases. — Because a partial summary judgment giving a wife two parcels of land, before the divorcing parties' property was equitably divided, was an interlocutory order, a husband was not required to file an appeal from the interlocutory order; no substantial right of either party was involved, and the partial summary judgment was appealable when the husband filed his appeal from the equitable distribution judgment. Davis v. Davis, 360 N.C. 518, 631 S.E.2d 114, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 593 (2006).

Appeal Is Permitted Where a Substantial Right Would Be Affected. — Where a trial court granted plaintiff summary judgment as to liability on a criminal conversation claim, and granted defendant summary judgment as to an alienation of affections claim, though no final judgment was entered as to the issue of damages for the criminal conversation claim, nor was certification granted under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 54(b) as to the alienation of affections claim, the appeal affected a substantial right that would be lost absent immediate review, because the elements of damages were so closely related that they did not support separate awards for each tort. McCutchen v. McCutchen, 170 N.C. App. 1, 612 S.E.2d 162, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 904 (2005).

Because a physician's assertions of statutory privilege related directly to the matters to be disclosed under a trial court's interlocutory discovery order, the challenged discovery order affected a substantial right and the physician's interlocutory appeal was properly before the appellate court under G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d)(1). Armstrong v. Barnes, 171 N.C. App. 287, 614 S.E.2d 371, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1262 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 60, 621 S.E.2d 173 (2005).

North Carolina Court of Appeals accepted the appeal brought by third-party defendants, the North Carolina Division of Forest Resources and North Carolina Department of Environment and Natural Resources, in a wrongful death suit, asserting negligence on the third-party defendants with regard to a forest fire obscuring the vision of travelers on a highway, which led to a multiple vehicle accident, killing a passenger, because the trial court's denial of the third-party defendants' motions to dismiss raised the issues of sovereign immunity and the public duty doctrine, which affected a substantial right sufficient to warrant immediate appellate review. Myers v. McGrady, 170 N.C. App. 501, 613 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1087 (2005).

Dismissal of Interlocutory Appeals. —

Because the trial court did not rule on the merits of an employee's claim for unemployment benefits, but found that the Employment Security Commission's order did not address all of the relevant issues raised by the record, and the findings were incomplete and failed to set out the sequence of events regarding the timing and notification of the employee's discharge, the order was clearly interlocutory; hence, without evidence that the employee's substantial rights were affected, or that any criteria for an immediate appeal was required, the employee's appeal was dismissed. Reeves v. Yellow Transp., Inc., 170 N.C. App. 610, 613 S.E.2d 350, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2005), review denied, — N.C. —, 619 S.E.2d 511 (2005).

B. Particular Orders.

Order Denying Motion for Change of Venue. —

In cases where a trial court's decision deprives an appellant of a substantial right which would be lost absent immediate review, an appellate court was allowed to review the appeal; motions for change of venue because the county designated was not proper affected a substantial right and were immediately appealable. Hawley v. Hobgood, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 117, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2478 (2005).

Denial of Motion to Dismiss. —

Appeal by corporation, president, and vice president from the denial of the motion to dismiss pursuant to G.S. 1A-1-12(b)(1), (6) was interlocutory and did not affect a substantial right pursuant to G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d); the appeal, therefore, was dismissed in accordance with G.S. 1A-1-54(b). Capps v. NW Sign Indus. of N.C., Inc., 171 N.C. App. 409, 614 S.E.2d 552, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1203 (2005).

Order allowing estates to amend their complaint in a medical malpractice suit was not immediately appealable where the issues of a hospital's claim that, without immediately review, it lost the right to avoid trial altogether by (1) raising the statute of limitations, (2) raising "estoppel by laches" as an affirmative defense, or (3) having the amended complaint dismissed for failure to comply with G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 9(j), were not brought before the trial court, and no substantial right was lost by the failure to allow immediate review; the estates were also entitled to sanctions against the hospital. Estate of Spell v. Ghanem, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 725, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2717 (2005).

Possibility of Inconsistent Verdicts. —

When a patient sued a pharmacy for negligence, breach of implied warranties, liability under G.S. 99B-6, and to pierce the pharmacy's corporate veil and hold its president liable, and the warranty claim and claim to pierce the corporate veil were dismissed, the patient did not show, in an interlocutory appeal of that dismissal, that she would lose a substantial right if she could not immediately appeal the dismissal. Rauch v. Urgent Care Pharm., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 211, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1566 (2006).

Order Granting Summary Judgment. —

While an order granting summary judgment was interlocutory, it was appealable because the cause of action for criminal conversation, which was still before the trial court, was so connected with the claim for alienation of affections that only one issue of damages should be submitted to the jury, and thus, a substantial right was at stake to have the same jury hear the wife's two claims. McCutchen v. McCutchen, 360 N.C. 280, 624 S.E.2d 620, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 2 (2006).

Denial of a motion for summary judgment based on the defense of res judicata, etc.

Interlocutory appeal of the denial of defendants' motion for summary judgment in a constructive trust action was allowed; the basis of the motion for summary judgment was that res judicata barred the constructive trust action and in such a case, the failure to allow an appeal might affect a substantial right in that the possibility existed that without an immediate appeal, they would be required to twice defend against the same claim by plaintiffs. Tiber Holding Corp. v. DiLoreto, 170 N.C. App. 662, 613 S.E.2d 346, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1081 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 263 (2005).

Interlocutory Appeal From Denial of Appointment of Receiver. — Shareholders were entitled to an interlocutory appeal of the trial court's denial of their motion for the appointment of a receiver because they established a substantial right to the preservation of what they alleged were their corporation's assets and opportunities under G.S. 1-277(a) and G.S. 7A-27(d)(1), which right was substantially affected by the trial court's denial of the appointment of a receiver. Barnes v. Kochhar, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 474, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1574 (2006).

Trial court's denial of a motion to enforce a settlement did not resolve the underlying personal injury claim, and the order of denial was therefore interlocu- tory; since the trial court did not certify that there was no just reason to delay the appeal, and the denial did not affect a substantial right, there was no right to an immediate appeal since an appeal of the denial was still allowed once there was a final judgment. Milton v. Thompson, 170 N.C. App. 176, 611 S.E.2d 474, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 903 (2005).

§ 7A-29. Appeals of right from certain administrative agencies.

(a) From any final order or decision of the North Carolina Utilities Commission not governed by subsection (b) of this section, the Department of Health and Human Services under G.S. 131E-188(b), the North Carolina Industrial Commission, the North Carolina State Bar under G.S. 84-28, the Property Tax Commission under G.S. 105-290 and G.S. 105-342, the Commissioner of Insurance under G.S. 58-2-80, the State Board of Elections under G.S. 163-127.6, or the Secretary of Environment and Natural Resources under G.S. 104E-6.2 or G.S. 130A-293, appeal as of right lies directly to the Court of Appeals.

(b) From any final order or decision of the Utilities Commission in a general rate case, appeal as of right lies directly to the Supreme Court. (1967, c. 108, s. 1; 1971, c. 703, s. 5; 1975, c. 582, s. 12; 1979, c. 584, s. 1; 1981, c. 704, s. 28; 1983, c. 526, s. 1; c. 761, s. 188; 1983 (Reg. ### Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-155, s. 6, provides: "The North Carolina Supreme Court is respectfully requested to adopt rules necessary to implement the provisions as to appeal in G.S. 163-127.6."

Session Laws 2006-155, s. 7, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-155, s. 1.1, effective January 1, 2007, and applicable to actions filed on or after that date, inserted "the State Board of Elections under G.S. 163-127.6" near the end of subsection (a).

III. DISSENT.

Dissent Allows Appeal as a Matter of Right. —

Supreme Court of North Carolina found that it could hear an appeal from a decision of the Court of Appeals of North Carolina that a defendant be resentenced because G.S. 7A-30(2) provided the state with an appeal of right as there was a dissent in the Court of Appeals. State v. Norris, 360 N.C. 507, 630 S.E.2d 915, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 592 (2006).

CASE NOTES

Improvvidently Allowed. — Discretionary review, pursuant to G.S. 7A-31, of three protective orders was improvvidently allowed; under N.C. R. App. P. 15(b), a husband's petition for review of those orders was not timely filed. Davis v. Davis, 360 N.C. 518, 631 S.E.2d 114, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 593 (2006).

Constitutional Questions. —

While G.S. 15A-1422(f) normally barred collateral review of a resentencing decision, the statute could not interfere with the court's power under N.C. Const. art. IV, § 12, cl. 1 to issue a decision where the lower appellate court's decision was of constitutional magnitude and widespread effect; since the lower appellate court's decision applied to hold unconstitutional provisions of a widely used statute that was used to aggravate sentences for crimes, discretionary review was granted. State v. Allen, 359 N.C. 425, 615 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 695 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Summary Judgment Proper Upon Reaching Settlement Agreement. — Where the parties to a real estate commission dispute reached a settlement agreement at mediation, but the brokerage did not sign the written settlement agreement, and never moved the trial court to enforce the settlement agreement, the trial court did not err in granting summary judgment dismissing the case rather than entering an order enforcing the agreement. Cohen

Schatz Assocs. v. Perry, 169 N.C. App. 834, 611 S.E.2d 229, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 807 (2005).

Costs of Mediation Recoverable. — In a medical malpractice case, trial court erred in denying motion seeking to recover mediation costs because mediation was ordered in all civil actions, and the cost was recoverable under G.S. 7A-305(d)(7). Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

§ 7A-38.6. Report on community mediation centers.

(a) All community mediation centers currently receiving State funds shall report annually to the Mediation Network of North Carolina on the program's funding and activities, including:

- (1) Types of dispute settlement services provided;

- (2) Clients receiving each type of dispute settlement service;
- (3) Number and type of referrals received, cases actually mediated (identified by docket number), cases resolved in mediation, and total clients served in the cases mediated;
- (4) Total program funding and funding sources;
- (5) Itemization of the use of funds, including operating expenses and personnel;
- (6) Itemization of the use of State funds appropriated to the center;
- (7) Level of volunteer activity; and
- (8) Identification of future service demands and budget requirements.

The Mediation Network of North Carolina shall compile and summarize the information provided pursuant to this subsection and shall provide the information to the Chairs of the House of Representatives and Senate Appropriations Committees and the Chairs of the House of Representatives and Senate Appropriations Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety by February 1 of each year.

The Mediation Network of North Carolina shall also submit a copy of its report to the Administrative Office of the Courts. The receipt and review of this report by the Administrative Office of the Courts shall satisfy any program monitoring, evaluation, and contracting requirements imposed on the Administrative Office of the Courts by G.S. 143-6.2 and any rules adopted under that section.

(b) A community mediation center requesting State funds for the first time shall provide the General Assembly with the information enumerated in subsection (a) of this section, or projections where historical data are not available, as well as a detailed statement justifying the need for State funding.

(c) Each community mediation center receiving State funds for the first time shall document in the information provided pursuant to this section that, after the second year of receiving State funds, at least ten percent (10%) of total funding comes from non-State sources.

(d) Each community mediation center receiving State funds for the third, fourth, or fifth year shall document that at least twenty percent (20%) of total funding comes from non-State sources.

(e) Each community mediation center receiving State funds for six or more years shall document that at least fifty percent (50%) of total funding comes from non-State sources.

(f) Each community mediation center currently receiving State funds that has achieved a funding level from non-State sources greater than that provided for that center by subsection (c), (d), or (e) of this section shall make a good faith effort to maintain that level of funding.

(g) The percentage that State funds comprise of the total funding of each community mediation center shall be determined at the conclusion of each fiscal year with the information provided pursuant to this section and is intended as a funding ratio and not a matching funds requirement. Community mediation centers may include the market value of donated office space, utilities, and professional legal and accounting services in determining total funding.

(h) A community mediation center having difficulty meeting the funding ratio provided for that center by subsection (c), (d), or (e) of this section may request a waiver or special consideration through the Mediation Network of North Carolina for consideration by the Senate and House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety.

(i) (Effective until July 1, 2007) The provisions of G.S. 143-31.4 do not apply to community mediation centers receiving State funds.

(i) (Effective July 1, 2007) The provisions of G.S. 143C-4-5 do not apply to community mediation centers receiving State funds.

(j) Each community mediation center receiving State funds shall function as, or as part of, a nonprofit organization or local government entity. A community mediation center functioning as a nonprofit organization shall have a governing board of directors that consists of a significant number of citizens from the surrounding community. State funds may not be used for indirect costs associated with contracts between the community mediation center and another entity for the provision of management-related services. (2001-424, s. 22.2; 2003-284, s. 13.15(c); 2006-66, s. 14.12; 2006-203, s. 10.)

Subsection (i) is set out twice. — The first version of subsection (i) set out above is effective until July 1, 2007. The second version of subsection (i) set out above is effective July 1, 2007.

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 1.2, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2006'."

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 28.6 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-203, s. 126, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-66, s. 14.12, effective July 1, 2006, added the third paragraph of subsection (a).

Session Laws 2006-203, s. 10, effective July 1, 2007, and applicable to the budget for the 2007-2009 biennium and each subsequent biennium thereafter, substituted "G.S. 143C-4-5" for "G.S. 143-31.4" in subsection (i).

§ 7A-39. Cancellation of court sessions and closing court offices; extension of statutes of limitations in catastrophic conditions.

(a) Cancellation of Court Sessions, Closing Court Offices. — In response to adverse weather or other emergency situations, any session of any court of the General Court of Justice may be cancelled, postponed, or altered by judicial officials, and court offices may be closed by judicial branch hiring authorities, pursuant to uniform statewide guidelines prescribed by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts.

(b) Authority of Chief Justice. — When the Chief Justice of the North Carolina Supreme Court determines and declares that catastrophic conditions exist or have existed in one or more counties of the State, the Chief Justice may by order entered pursuant to this subsection extend, to a date certain no fewer than 10 days after the effective date of the order, the time or period of limitation within which pleadings, motions, notices, and other documents and papers may be timely filed and other acts may be timely done in civil actions, criminal actions, estates, and special proceedings in each county named in the order.

(1) Catastrophic conditions defined. — As used in this subsection, "catastrophic conditions" means any set of circumstances that make it impossible or extremely hazardous for judicial officials, employees, parties, witnesses, or other persons with business before the courts to reach a courthouse, or that create a significant risk of physical harm to persons in a courthouse, or that would otherwise convince a reasonable person to avoid travelling to or being in the courthouse.

(2) Entry of order. — The Chief Justice may enter an order under this subsection at any time after catastrophic conditions have ceased to exist. The order shall be in writing and shall become effective for each affected county upon the date set forth in the order, and if no date is set forth in the order, then upon the date the order is signed by the Chief Justice.

(c) In Chambers Jurisdiction Not Affected. — Nothing in this section prohibits a judge or other judicial officer from exercising, during adverse weather or other emergency situations, any in chambers or ex parte jurisdiction conferred by law upon that judge or judicial officer, as provided by law. The effectiveness of any such exercise shall not be affected by a determination by the Chief Justice that catastrophic conditions existed at the time it was exercised. (2000-166, s. 1; 2006-187, s. 6.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 6, effective August 3, 2006, in the section heading, substituted “Cancellation” for “Adverse weather cancellation”; in subsection (a), deleted “comparable” preceding “emergency situations”; in subsection (b), substituted “Justice” for “Justice to Extend Statutes of Limitations” in the subheading, and added “or period of limitation”; in subdivision (b)(1), deleted “including conditions that may result from hurricane, tornado, flood, snowstorm, ice storm, other severe natural disaster, fire, or riot” from the end; and in subdivision (b)(2), substituted “the date set forth in the order, and if no date is set forth in the order, then upon the date the order is signed by the Chief Justice” for “being filed in the office of the clerk of superior court of that county.”

Prosecutorial District 29, subsections (l) through (p) of this section become effective January 1, 2007, but the district attorneys for Prosecutorial Districts 29A and 29B shall be elected in the 2006 general election." Preclearance was received from the U.S. Department of Justice by letter dated January 5, 2006.

CASE NOTES

Discharge. — Since an investigatorial assistant's public statements criticizing the district attorney's discretionary decisions and the disruption of his office's working relationship with law enforcement agencies were sufficient reasons, standing alone, to terminate the investigatorial assistant's at will employment, the district attorney's decision to terminate him rested within his lawful and discretionary scope of authority; because the investigatorial assistant's termination was not injurious to the public or against the public good, there was no evidence to establish a genuine issue of material fact to support a claim for wrongful discharge against the district attorney. *Hines v. ARTICLE 12.

Clerk of Superior Court.

(a) The clerk of superior court is a full-time employee of the State and shall receive an annual salary, payable in equal monthly installments, based on the population of the county as determined in subsection (a1) of this section, according to the following schedule:

Population	Annual Salary
Less than 100,000	$77,112
100,000 to 149,999	86,532
150,000 to 249,999	95,954
250,000 and above	105,378.

The salary schedule in this subsection is intended to represent the following approximate percentage of the salary of a chief district court judge:

Population	Annual Salary
Less than 100,000	73%
100,000 to 149,999	82%
250,000 and above	100%.

When a county changes from one population group to another, the salary of the clerk shall be changed, on July 1 of the fiscal year for which the change is reported, to the salary appropriate for the new population group, except that the salary of an incumbent clerk shall not be decreased by any change in population group during his continuance in office.

(a1) For purposes of subsection (a) of this section, the population of a county for any fiscal year shall be the population for the beginning of that fiscal year as reported by the Office of State Budget and Management to the Administrative Office of the Courts prior to the beginning of that fiscal year.

(b) The clerk shall receive no fees or commission by virtue of his office. The salary set forth in this section is the clerk's sole official compensation, but if, on June 30, 1975, the salary of a particular clerk, by reason of previous but no longer authorized merit increments, is higher than that set forth in the table, that higher salary shall not be reduced during his continuance in office.

(c) In lieu of merit and other increment raises paid to regular State employees, a clerk of superior court shall receive as longevity pay an amount equal to four and eight-tenths percent (4.8%) of the clerk's annual salary payable monthly after five years of service, nine and six-tenths percent (9.6%) after 10 years of service, fourteen and four-tenths percent (14.4%) after 15 years of service, and nineteen and two-tenths percent (19.2%) after 20 years of service. Service shall mean service in the elective position of clerk of superior court, as an assistant clerk of court and as a supervisor of clerks of superior court with the Administrative Office of the Courts and shall not include service as a deputy or acting clerk. Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 22.5, effective July 1, 2006, updated the Annual Salaries in the first paragraph of subsection (a).

(a) The numbers and salaries of assistant clerks, deputy clerks, and other employees in the office of each clerk of superior court shall be determined by the Administrative Officer of the Courts after consultation with the clerk concerned. All personnel in the clerk's office are employees of the State. The clerk appoints the assistants, deputies, and other employees in the clerk's office to serve at his or her pleasure. Assistant and deputy clerks shall take the oath of office prescribed for clerks of superior court, conformed to the office of assistant or deputy clerk, as the case may be. Except as provided by subsection (c2) of this section, the job classifications and related salaries of each employee within the office of each superior court clerk shall be subject to the approval of the Administrative Officer of the Courts after consultation with each clerk concerned and shall be subject to the availability of funds appropriated for that purpose by the General Assembly.

(b) An assistant clerk is authorized to perform all the duties and functions of the office of clerk of superior court, and any act of an assistant clerk is entitled to the same faith and credit as that of the clerk. A deputy clerk is authorized to certify the existence and correctness of any record in the clerk's office, to take the proofs and examinations of the witnesses touching the execution of a will as required by G.S. 31-17, and to perform any other ministerial act which the clerk may be authorized and empowered to do, in his own name and without reciting the name of his principal. The clerk is responsible for the acts of his assistants and deputies. With the consent of the clerk of superior court of each county and the consent of the presiding judge in any proceeding, an assistant or deputy clerk is authorized to perform all the duties and functions of the office of the clerk of superior court in another county in any proceeding in the district or superior court that has been transferred to that county from the county in which the assistant or deputy clerk is employed.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), the Administrative Officer of the Courts shall establish an incremental salary plan for assistant clerks and for deputy clerks based on a series of salary steps corresponding to the steps contained in the Salary Plan for State Employees adopted by the Office of State Personnel, subject to a minimum and a maximum annual salary as set forth below. On and after July 1, 1985, each assistant clerk and each deputy clerk shall be eligible for an annual step increase in his salary plan based on satisfactory job performance as determined by each clerk. Notwithstanding the foregoing, if an assistant or deputy clerk's years of service in the office of superior court clerk would warrant an annual salary greater than the salary first established under this section, that assistant or deputy clerk shall be eligible on and after July 1, 1984, for an annual step increase in his salary plan. Furthermore, on and after July 1, 1985, that assistant or deputy clerk shall be eligible for an increase of two steps in his salary plan, and shall remain eligible for a two-step increase each year as recommended by each clerk until that assistant or deputy clerk's annual salary corresponds to his number of years of service. Any person covered by this subsection who would not receive a step increase in fiscal year 1995-96 because that person is at the top of the salary range as it existed for fiscal year 1994-95 shall receive a salary increase to the maximum annual salary provided by subsection (c1) of this section.

(c1) A full-time assistant clerk or a full-time deputy clerk, and up to one full-time deputy clerk serving as head bookkeeper per county, shall be paid an annual salary subject to the following minimum and maximum rates:

Assistant Clerks and Head Bookkeeper	Annual Salary
Minimum	$29,925
Maximum	51,251
Deputy Clerks	Annual Salary
Minimum	$25,758
Maximum	39,862.

(c2) The clerk of superior court may appoint assistant clerks, deputy clerks, and a head bookkeeper and set their salaries above the minimum rate established for the positions by subsection (c1) of this section if, in the clerk's discretion, (i) the needs of the clerk's office would be best served by an appointment above the minimum rate, (ii) the appointee's skills and experience support the higher rate, and (iii) the Administrative Office of the Courts certifies that there are sufficient funds available.

(d) Full-time assistant clerks, licensed to practice law in North Carolina, who are employed in the office of superior court clerk on and after July 1, 1984, and full-time assistant clerks possessing a masters degree in business administration, public administration, accounting, or other similar discipline from an accredited college or university who are employed in the office of superior court clerk on and after July 1, 1997, are authorized an annual salary of not less than three-fourths of the maximum annual salary established for assistant clerks; the clerk of superior court, with the approval of the Administrative Office of the Courts, may establish a higher annual salary but that salary shall not be higher than the maximum annual salary established for assistant clerks. Full-time assistant clerks, holding a law degree from an accredited law school, who are employed in the office of superior court clerk on and after July 1, 1984, are authorized an annual salary of not less than two-thirds of the maximum annual salary established for assistant clerks; the clerk of superior court, with the approval of the Administrative Office of the Courts, may establish a higher annual salary, but the entry-level salary may not be more than three-fourths of the maximum annual salary established for assistant clerks, and in no event may be higher than the maximum annual salary established for assistant clerks. Except as provided by subsection (c2) of this section, the entry-level annual salary for all other assistant and deputy clerks employed on and after July 1, 1984, shall be at the minimum rates as herein established.

(e) A clerk of superior court may apply to the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts to enter into contracts with local governments for the provision by the State of services of assistant clerks, deputy clerks, and other employees in the office of each clerk of superior court pursuant to G.S. 153A-212.1 or G.S. 160A-289.1.

(f) The Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts may provide assistance requested pursuant to subsection (e) of this section only upon a showing by the senior resident superior court judge, supported by facts, that the overwhelming public interest warrants the use of additional resources for the speedy disposition of cases involving drug offenses, domestic violence, or other offenses involving a threat to public safety.

(g) The terms of any contract entered into with local governments pursuant to subsection (e) of this section shall be fixed by the Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts in each case. Nothing in this section shall be construed to obligate the General Assembly to make any appropriation to implement the provisions of this section or to obligate the Administrative Office of the Courts to provide the administrative costs of establishing or maintaining the positions or services provided for under this section. Further, nothing in this section shall be construed to obligate the Administrative Office of the Courts to maintain positions or services initially provided for under this section. Trial Court's Removal of Trustee Proper. — Where beneficiaries' filings only requested an order removing the trustee of trusts, the trial court did not err by exercising jurisdiction or entering orders regarding the trustee's removal after the clerk recused himself from the case; the trial court provided the parties with due process, and its conclusions removing the trustee were supported by its findings of fact. In re Estate of Newton, 173 N.C. App. 530, 619 S.E.2d 571, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2120 (2005).

Subsection (a) is set out twice. — The first version of subsection (a) set out above is effective until January 15, 2007, or the date upon which approval is received under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later. The second version of subsection (a) set out above is effective January 15, 2007, or the date upon which approval is received under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later.

Additional judgeship — Union County. — Section 14.4(a) of Session Laws 2006-66 substituted “4” for “3” as the number of district court judges in District Court District 20B (Union County) in subsection (a) of this section. Section 14.4(a), however, fails to take into account the earlier amendment by Session Laws 2006-276, s. 14.2(f1), as added by Session Laws 2005-345, s. 27(a), which divided District Court District 20B (Union County) into District Court Districts 20B, with one district court judge, and 20C, with two district court judges. At the time Session Laws 2006-66 was enacted, District Court District 20B had only one district court judge, not three, and Union County had two district court districts, not one. The amendment by s. 14.4(a) as it applies to Union County cannot be effectively codified. The Revisor of Statutes has directed that subsection (a) be set out in the form above and that the amendment by s. 14.4 as it applies to Union County be described in this editor’s note.

Preclearance Under § 5 of the Voting Rights Act. — For information on receipt of preclearance, please refer to the North Carolina Register (website at <http://www.oah.state.nc.us/rules/register>) or the Administrative Office of the Courts (website at <http://www.nccourts.org>) as described in Chapter 120, Article 6A, G.S. 120-30.9A et seq.

Session Laws 2005-276, s. 14.2(q), provides, in part: "With respect to the division of District Court District 20, subsections (f) through (k) of this section become effective December 1, 2005, or the date upon which subsection (f) of this section is approved under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later. With respect to the division of District Court District 29, subsections (f) through (k) of this section become effective December 1, 2005." Preclearance was received from the U.S. Department of Justice by letter dated January 5, 2006.

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 14.4(c), provides: "This section becomes effective January 15, 2007, as to any district court district not subject to section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965. As to any district court district subject to section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, it becomes effective January 15, 2007, or the date upon which the additional judge added for that district by subsection (a) of this section is approved under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later."

Session Laws 2006-96, s. 5, provides in part: "Section 1 of this act, which added subsection (b2), becomes effective October 1, 2006, or the date upon which Section 1 of this act is approved under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later."

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-66, s. 1.2, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2006'."

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 14.4(b), provides: "The Governor shall appoint the additional district court judges for Districts 3B, 6A, 10, 11, 14, 15B, 17A, 18, 19B, 19C, 20B, 25, 26, 27A, 27B, 28, and 30 authorized by this act, and those judges' successors shall be elected in the 2008 election for four-year terms commencing on January 1, 2009."

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 28.3, provides: "Except for statutory changes or other provisions that clearly indicate an intention to have effects beyond the 2006 2007 fiscal year, the textual provisions of this act apply only to funds appropriated for, and activities occurring during, the 2006 2007 fiscal year."

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 28.6 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 93(b) and (c), provide: "(b) This section becomes effective December 1, 2005, or the date upon which Section 14.2(f) of S.L. 2005-276 is approved under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later.

"(c) If House Bill 198, 2005 Regular Session, becomes law, this section is repealed." House Bill 198 did not become law.

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 14.4(a), effective January 15, 2007, rewrote subsection (a). For contingency, see Editor's note. For Districts 20B and 20C, see Editor's note.

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 14.4(a), as amended by Session Laws 2006-221, s. 14(a), effective January 15, 2007, substituted "7" for "6" under "Judges" in Districts 27A and 28.

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 14.5, as amended by Session Laws 2006-187, s. 7(a), effective July 1, 2006, adjusted the number of magistrates in subsection (c).

Session Laws 2006-96, s. 1, effective October 1, 2006, or the date upon which Section 1 of the act is approved under Section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later, added subsection (b2).

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 93(a), effective December 1, 2005, or the date upon which Section 14.2(f) of S.L. 2005-276 is approved under section 5 of the Voting Rights Act of 1965, whichever is later, in subdivision (b)(3), substituted "District 20C" for "District 20B", and "District 20B" for "District 20C"; and in subdivision (b)(4), substituted "District 20B" for "District 20C". S.L. 2005-276, s. 14.2(f) became effective January 5, 2006.

ARTICLE 16.

Magistrates.

§ 7A-171. Numbers; appointment and terms; vacancies.

(a) The General Assembly shall establish a minimum quota of magistrates for each county. In no county shall the minimum quota be less than one. The number of magistrates in a county, above the minimum quota set by the General Assembly, is determined by the Administrative Office of the Courts after consultation with the chief district court judge for the district in which the county is located.

(a1) The initial term of appointment for a magistrate is two years and subsequent terms shall be for a period of four years. The term of office begins on the first day of January of the odd-numbered year after appointment. The service of an individual as a magistrate filling a vacancy as provided in subsection (d) of this section does not constitute an initial term. For purposes of this section, any term of office for a magistrate who has served a two-year term is for four years even if the two-year term of appointment was before the effective date of this section, the term is after a break in service, or the term is for appointment in a different county from the county where the two-year term of office was served.

(b) Not earlier than the Tuesday after the first Monday nor later than the third Monday in December of each even-numbered year, the clerk of the superior court shall submit to the senior regular resident superior court judge of the district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1(a) in which the clerk's county is located the names of two (or more, if requested by the judge) nominees for each magisterial office for the county for which the term of office of the magistrate holding that position shall expire on December 31 of that year. Not later than the fourth Monday in December, the senior regular resident superior court judge shall, from the nominations submitted by the clerk of the superior court, appoint magistrates to fill the positions for each county of the judge's district or set of districts.

(c) If an additional magisterial office for a county is approved to commence on January 1 of an odd-numbered year, the new position shall be filled as provided in subsection (b) of this section. If the additional position takes effect at any other time, it is to be filled as provided in subsection (d) of this section.

(d) Within 30 days after a vacancy in the office of magistrate occurs the clerk of superior court shall submit to the senior regular resident superior court judge the names of two (or more, if so requested by the judge) nominees for the office vacated. Within 15 days after receipt of the nominations the senior regular resident superior court judge shall appoint from the nominations received a magistrate who shall take office immediately and shall serve until December 31 of the even-numbered year, and thereafter the position shall be filled as provided in subsection (b) of this section. (1965, c. 310, s. 1; 1967, c. 691, s. 15; 1971, s. 84, s. 1; 1973, c. 503, s. 2; 1977, c. 945, ss. 3, 4; 1987 (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, s. 17; 2004-128, s. 19; 2006-187, s. 7(c).)

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-187, s. 7(c), effective July 1, 2006, in subsection (a), deleted "and a maximum" preceding "quota of magistrates" in the first sentence, and substituted "above the minimum quota" for "within the quota" in the second sentence.

§ 7A-171.1. Duty hours, salary, and travel expenses within county.

(a) The Administrative Officer of the Courts, after consultation with the chief district judge and pursuant to the following provisions, shall set an annual salary for each magistrate.

- (1) A full-time magistrate shall be paid the annual salary indicated in the table set out in this subdivision. A full-time magistrate is a magistrate who is assigned to work an average of not less than 40 hours a week during the term of office. The Administrative Officer of the Courts shall designate whether a magistrate is full-time. Initial appointment shall be at the entry rate. A magistrate's salary shall increase to the next step every two years on the anniversary of the date the magistrate was originally appointed for increases to Steps 1 through 3, and every four years on the anniversary of the date the magistrate was originally appointed for increases to Steps 4 through 6.

Table of Salaries of Full-Time Magistrates

Step Level	Annual Salary
Entry Rate	$30,320
Step 1	33,101
Step 2	36,126
Step 3	39,429
Step 4	43,046
Step 5	47,122
Step 6	51,692.

- (2) A part-time magistrate is a magistrate who is assigned to work an average of less than 40 hours of work a week during the term, except that no magistrate shall be assigned an average of less than 10 hours of work a week during the term. A part-time magistrate is included, in accordance with G.S. 7A-170, under the provisions of G.S. 135-1(10) and G.S. 135-40.2(a). The Administrative Officer of the Courts designates whether a magistrate is a part-time magistrate. A part-time magistrate shall receive an annual salary based on the following formula: The average number of hours a week that a part-time magistrate is assigned work during the term shall be multiplied by the annual salary payable to a full-time magistrate who has the same number of years of service prior to the beginning of that term as does the part-time magistrate and the product of that multiplication shall be divided by the number 40. The quotient shall be the annual salary payable to that part-time magistrate.

- (3) Notwithstanding any other provision of this subsection, a magistrate who is licensed to practice law in North Carolina or any other state shall receive the annual salary provided in the Table in subdivision (1) of this subsection for Step 4.

(a1) Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, the following salary provisions apply to individuals who were serving as magistrates on June 30, 1994:

- (1) The salaries of magistrates who on June 30, 1994, were paid at a salary level of less than five years of service under the table in effect that date shall be as follows:

Less than 1 year of service	$24,450
1 or more but less than 3 years of service	25,572
3 or more but less than 5 years of service	27,831.

Upon completion of five years of service, those magistrates shall receive the salary set as the Entry Rate in the table in subsection (a).

- (2) The salaries of magistrates who on June 30, 1994, were paid at a salary level of five or more years of service shall be based on the rates set out in subsection (a) as follows:

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 28.6 is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 22.7(a) and (b), effective July 1, 2006, updated the “Table of Salaries of Full-Time Magistrates” in subdivision (a)(1); and updated the salaries in subdivision (a1)(1).

(a) Within six months of taking the oath of office as a magistrate for the first time, a magistrate is required to attend and satisfactorily complete a course of basic training of at least 40 hours in the civil and criminal duties of a magistrate. The Administrative Office of the Courts is authorized to contract with the School of Government at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill or with any other qualified educational organization to conduct this training, and to reimburse magistrates for travel and subsistence expenses incurred in taking such training.

Courses shall be provided in Asheville for the magistrates from the western region of the State. (1975, c. 956, s. 11; 1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1116, s. 87; 2006-264, s. 29(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-264, s. 29(a), effective August 27, 2006, substituted “School of Government at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill” for “Institute of Government” in subsection (a).

Trial Court Erred Where Defendant Entitled to Arraignment in Superior Court.

— By immediately proceeding to trial without defendant's consent on an appeal de novo from a district court, a superior court violated G.S. 15A-943(b), which defendant adequately invoked; as the superior court was not the court of original jurisdiction, the prosecutor never submitted a bill of indictment for defendant nor was defendant indicted, so there was no 21-day period from which defendant needed to file a written request for an arraignment. A trial de novo in the superior court was a new trial from the beginning to the end, disregarding completely the plea below, and, therefore, since defendant's plea from the district court was completely disregarded, defendant was entitled to an arraignment in superior court. *State v. A House of Representatives Task Force on the Recovery of Costs in Civil Cases is established to review and recommend a resolution to the conflict in North Carolina law regarding the recovery of costs in a civil case. Specifically, the Task Force on the Recovery of Costs in Civil Cases shall study the conflict that exists between G.S. 6-20 and G.S. 7A-305, and the appellate cases interpreting those statutes, and recommend revisions to one or both statutes to resolve that conflict.

"12.2. The Speaker of the House of Representatives shall appoint to serve on the Task Force six members of the House of Representatives and three public members: one member of the North Carolina Academy of Trial Lawyers, one member of the North Carolina Association of Defense Attorneys, and one member of the North Carolina Bar Association. The Speaker shall appoint a chair from the Task Force membership. The Task Force shall meet upon the call of its chair. A quorum of the Committee shall be a majority of its members.

"12.3. Members of the Task Force shall receive per diem, subsistence, and travel allowances in accordance with G.S. 120-3.1, 138-5, or 138-6, as appropriate. Upon the prior approval of the Legislative Services Commission, the Legislative Services Officer shall assign professional and clerical staff to the Task Force to aid in its work. The Task Force may contract for professional, clerical, or consultant services as provided by G.S. 120-32.02. The Task Force may meet at various locations around the State to promote greater public participation in its deliberations. Subject to the approval of the Legislative Services Commission, the Task Force may meet in the Legislative Building or the Legislative Office Building. The Task Force, while in the discharge of its official duties, may exercise all the powers provided under the provisions of G.S. 120-19 and G.S. 120-19.1 through G.S. 120-19.4, including the power to request all officers, agents, agencies, and departments of the State to provide any information, data, or documents within their possession, ascertainable from their records, or otherwise available to them and the power to subpoena witnesses.

"12.4. The Task Force shall report the results of its review and its recommended resolution to the conflict to the Speaker of the House of Representatives by December 31, 2006.

"12.5. From funds appropriated to the General Assembly, the Legislative Services Commission shall allocate funds for the purpose of conducting the study provided for in this Part."

CASE NOTES

Authority to Tax Costs Under G.S. 6-20.

— Since the trial court's costs ruling was governed by G.S. 6-20, and thus could be allowed at the discretion of the court, and the doctors had not alleged, and there appeared to the appellate court to be no abuse of discretion in the denial of their request to be reimbursed for the expert witness fees where the verdict was in their favor, the judgment was affirmed. Smith v. Cregan, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 206, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1568 (2006).

Expenses Not Enumerated or Otherwise Provided by Law. —

In a negligence case, a trial court improperly awarded the cost of trial exhibits because they were not either set forth in G.S. 7A-305 or recoverable under common law; moreover, the cost of obtaining medical records was not recoverable for the same reason. Morgan v. Steiner, 173 N.C. App. 577, 619 S.E.2d 516, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2105 (2005).

Deposition Expenses. —

In a medical malpractice case, although deposition costs were recoverable under G.S. 7A-305, defendants did not argue in their brief that the trial court abused its discretion in refusing to award this item as costs, nor was there evidence of an abuse of discretion. Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

Expert Witness Fees. —

In a negligence case, the expert witness fees of two witnesses were taxable under G.S. 7A-314, but fees associated with a third witness testifying on the same issue were not recoverable; in addition, the cost of reviewing records and consulting was not recoverable. Morgan v. Steiner, 173 N.C. App. 577, 619 S.E.2d 516, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2105 (2005).

In a medical malpractice case, a trial court did not err by refusing to award expert witness fees because none of the witnesses were under subpoena. Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

Fees of Court-Appointed Mediator Are Assessable Costs. —

In a negligence case, a trial court improperly awarded the cost of lunch provided during a mediated settlement conference because, although the mediator's fees was covered under G.S. 7A-305, the lunch associated therewith was not. Morgan v. Steiner, 173 N.C. App. 577, 619 S.E.2d 516, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2105 (2005).

Mediation Costs. — In a medical malpractice case, trial court erred in denying motion seeking to recover mediation costs because mediation was ordered in all civil actions, and the cost was recoverable under G. S. 7A-305(d)(7). Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

Costs in Personal Injury Action. — Trial court erred in awarding numerous costs not authorized for medical reports, deposition costs, filing fees, travel costs, trial exhibits, color copies, and photocopies; there was statutory authority, however, for the following awards: mediation fees pursuant to G.S. 7A-305(d)(7); expert witness fees pursuant to G.S. 7A-305(d)(1); and service of process fees pursuant to G.S. 7A-305(d)(6). Oakes v. Wooten, 173 N.C. App. 506, 620 S.E.2d 39, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2100 (2005).

Costs of Exhibits Not Recoverable. — Costs associated with trial exhibits were not recoverable under G.S. 7A-305(d), and the refusal to award such costs in a medical malpractice action did not constitute error. Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

A grand juror shall receive twenty dollars ($20.00) per day. A juror required to remain overnight at the site of the trial shall be furnished adequate accommodations and subsistence. ## § 7A-314. Uniform fees for witnesses; experts; limit on number.

(a) A witness under subpoena, bound over, or recognized, other than a salaried State, county, or municipal law-enforcement officer, or an out-of-state witness in a criminal case, whether to testify before the court, Judicial Standards Commission, jury of view, magistrate, clerk, referee, commissioner, appraiser, or arbitrator shall be entitled to receive five dollars ($5.00) per day, or fraction thereof, during his attendance, which, except as to witnesses before the Judicial Standards Commission, must be certified to the clerk of superior court.

(b) A witness entitled to the fee set forth in subsection (a) of this section, and a law-enforcement officer who qualifies as a witness, shall be entitled to receive reimbursement for travel expenses as follows:

- (2) A witness whose residence is outside the county of appearance and more than 75 miles from the place of appearance shall be entitled to receive mileage reimbursement at the rate currently authorized State employees for one round-trip from his place of residence to the place of appearance. A witness required to appear more than one day shall be entitled to receive reimbursement for actual expenses incurred for lodging and meals not to exceed the maximum currently authorized for State employees, in lieu of daily mileage.

(c) A witness who resides in a state other than North Carolina and who appears for the purpose of testifying in a criminal action and proves his attendance may be compensated at the rate allowed to State officers and employees by subdivisions (1) and (2) of G.S. 138-6(a) for one round-trip from his place of residence to the place of appearance, and five dollars ($5.00) for each day that he is required to travel and attend as a witness, upon order of the court based upon a finding that the person was a necessary witness. If such a witness is required to appear more than one day, he is also entitled to reimbursement for actual expenses incurred for lodging and meals, not to exceed the maximum currently authorized for State employees.

(d) An expert witness, other than a salaried State, county, or municipal law-enforcement officer, shall receive such compensation and allowances as the court, or the Judicial Standards Commission, in its discretion, may authorize. The appointment and payment shall be made in accordance with G.S. 7A-343(9c). Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 5(a), effective August 3, 2006, rewrote subsection (f).

CASE NOTES

Award of Expert Witness Fees Was Proper. — Trial court did not err in awarding expert witness fees to two doctors where both expert witnesses were subpoenaed to testify and provided testimony on the injured person's condition, and where the trial court found that the testimony of both expert witnesses was clear, strong, and convincing and reasonably necessary in the case. Oakes v. Wooten, 173 N.C. App. 506, 620 S.E.2d 39, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2100 (2005).

Experts Must Be Subpoenaed. —

In a medical malpractice case, a trial court did not err by refusing to award expert witness fees because none of the witnesses were under subpoena. Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

Trial Court's Discretion Supersedes Even the Issuance of Subpoenas. —

Since the trial court's costs ruling was governed by G.S. 6-20, and thus could be allowed at the discretion of the court, and the doctors had not alleged, and there appeared to the appellate court to be no abuse of discretion in the denial of their request to be reimbursed for the expert witness fees where the verdict was in their favor, the judgment was affirmed. *Smith v. ### CASE NOTES

Deposition fees. — In a negligence case, deposition costs were recoverable as trial expenses under G.S. 6-20 because they were established by case law prior to the enactment of

The procedure for discipline of any judge or justice of the General Court of Justice shall be in accordance with this Article. Nothing in this Article shall affect the impeachment of judges under the North Carolina Constitution, Article IV, Sections 4 and 17. (2006-187, s. 11.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 13, made this section effective January 1, 2007.

§ 7A-374.2. Definitions.

Unless the context clearly requires otherwise, the definitions in this section shall apply throughout this Article:

- (1) "Censure" means a finding by the Supreme Court, based upon a written recommendation by the Commission, that a judge has willfully engaged in misconduct prejudicial to the administration of justice that brings the judicial office into disrepute, but which does not warrant the suspension of the judge from the judge's judicial duties or the removal of the judge from judicial office. A censure may require that the judge follow a corrective course of action. Unless otherwise ordered by the Supreme Court, the judge shall personally appear in the Supreme Court to receive a censure.
- (2) "Commission" means the North Carolina Judicial Standards Commission.
- (3) "Incapacity" means any physical, mental, or emotional condition that seriously interferes with the ability of a judge to perform the duties of judicial office.
- (4) "Investigation" means the gathering of information with respect to alleged misconduct or disability.
- (5) "Judge" means any justice or judge of the General Court of Justice of North Carolina, including any retired justice or judge who is recalled for service as an emergency judge of any division of the General Court of Justice.
- (6) "Letter of caution" means a written action of the Commission that cautions a judge not to engage in certain conduct that violates the Code of Judicial Conduct as adopted by the Supreme Court.

- (7) "Public reprimand" means a written action of the Commission issued upon a finding by the Commission that a judge has violated the Code of Judicial Conduct and has engaged in conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice, but that misconduct is minor and does not warrant a recommendation by the Commission that the judge be disciplined by the Supreme Court. A public reprimand may require that the judge follow a corrective course of action.
- (8) "Remove" or "removal" means a finding by the Supreme Court, based upon a written recommendation by the Commission, that a judge should be relieved of all duties of the judge's office and disqualified from holding further judicial office.
- (9) "Suspend" or "suspension" means a finding by the Supreme Court, based upon a written recommendation by the Commission, that a judge should be relieved of the duties of the judge's office for a period of time, and upon conditions, including those regarding treatment and compensation, as may be specified by the Supreme Court. (2006-187, §. 11.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 13, made this section effective January 1, 2007.

§ 7A-375. Judicial Standards Commission.

(a) The Judicial Standards Commission shall consist of the following residents of North Carolina: one Court of Appeals judge, two superior court judges, and two district court judges, each appointed by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court; four members of the State Bar who have actively practiced in the courts of the State for at least 10 years, elected by the State Bar Council; and four citizens who are not judges, active or retired, nor members of the State Bar, two appointed by the Governor, and two appointed by the General Assembly in accordance with G.S. 120-121, one upon recommendation of the President Pro Tempore of the Senate and one upon recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives. The Court of Appeals judge shall act as chair of the Commission.

(b) The Court of Appeals judge shall serve at the pleasure of the Chief Justice. Terms of other Commission members shall be for six years. No member who has served a full six-year term is eligible for reappointment. If a member ceases to have the qualifications required for the member's appointment, that person ceases to be a member. Vacancies of members, other than those appointed by the General Assembly, are filled in the same manner as the original appointment, for the remainder of the term. Vacancies of members appointed by the General Assembly are filled as provided under G.S. 120-122. Members who are not judges are entitled to per diem and all members are entitled to reimbursement for travel and subsistence expenses at the rate applicable to members of State boards and commissions generally, for each day engaged in official business.

(c) If a member of the Commission who is a judge becomes disabled, or becomes a respondent before the Commission, the Chief Justice shall appoint an alternate member to serve during the period of disability or disqualification. The alternate member shall be from the same division of the General Court of Justice as the judge whose place the alternate member takes. If a member of the Commission who is not a judge becomes disabled, the Governor, if he appointed the disabled member, shall appoint, or the State Bar Council, if it elected the disabled member, shall elect, an alternate member to serve during the period of disability. If a member of the Commission who is not a judge and who was appointed by the General Assembly becomes disabled, an alternate member shall be appointed to serve during the period of disability in the same manner as if there were a vacancy to be filled under G.S. 120-122. In a particular case, if a member becomes disqualified, or is successfully challenged for cause, the member's seat for that case shall be filled by an alternate member selected as provided in this subsection.

(d) A member may serve after expiration of the member's term only to participate until the conclusion of a disciplinary proceeding begun before expiration of the member's term. Such participation shall not prevent the successor from taking office, but the successor may not participate in the proceeding for which the predecessor's term was extended. This subsection shall apply also to any judicial member whose membership on the Commission is automatically terminated by retirement or resignation from judicial office, or expiration of the term of judicial office.

(e) Members of the Commission and its employees are immune from civil suit for all conduct undertaken in the course of their official duties.

(f) The chair of the Commission may employ, if funds are appropriated for that purpose, an executive director, Commission counsel, investigator, and any support staff as may be necessary to assist the Commission in carrying out its duties. With the approval of the Chief Justice, for specific cases, the chair also may employ special counsel or call upon the Attorney General to furnish counsel. In addition, with the approval of the Chief Justice, for specific cases, the chair or executive director also may call upon the Director of the State Bureau of Investigation to furnish an investigator who shall serve under the supervision of the executive director. While performing duties for the Commission, the executive director, counsel, and investigator have authority throughout the State to serve subpoenas or other process issued by the Commission in the same manner and with the same effect as an officer authorized to serve process of the General Court of Justice.

(g) The Commission may adopt, and may amend from time to time, its own rules of procedure for the performance of the duties and responsibilities prescribed by this Article, subject to the approval of the Supreme Court. (1971, c. 590, s. 1; 1973, c. 50; 1975, c. 956, s. 13; 1997-72, s. 1; 2006-187, s. 11.)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-187, s. 12, as amended by Session Laws 2006-259, s. 44(b), provides: "In order to provide for an orderly transition in membership to the Judicial Standards Commission to the six-year terms specified in G.S. 7A-375(b), as amended by Section 11 of this act, and notwithstanding G.S. 7A-375(b), as amended by Section 11 of this act, the following provisions apply:

"(1) The initial terms of the new district court judge, of one new member of the North Carolina Bar, and of one citizen upon recommendation of the Speaker of the House of Representatives, appointed to the Commission effective January 1, 2007, shall be two-year terms.

"(2) The initial terms of all other new members appointed to the Commission effective January 1, 2007, shall be five-year terms."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 11, effective January 1, 2007, rewrote the section.

§ 7A-376. Grounds for discipline by Commission; censure, suspension, or removal by the Supreme Court.

(a) The Commission, upon a determination that any judge has engaged in conduct that violates the North Carolina Code of Judicial Conduct as adopted by the Supreme Court but that is not of such a nature as would warrant a recommendation of censure, suspension, or removal, may issue to the judge a private letter of caution or may issue to the judge a public reprimand.

(b) Upon recommendation of the Commission, the Supreme Court may censure, suspend, or remove any judge for willful misconduct in office, willful and persistent failure to perform the judge's duties, habitual intemperance, conviction of a crime involving moral turpitude, or conduct prejudicial to the administration of justice that brings the judicial office into disrepute. A judge who is suspended for any of the foregoing reasons shall receive no compensation during the period of that suspension. A judge who is removed for any of the foregoing reasons shall receive no retirement compensation and is disqualified from holding further judicial office.

(c) Upon recommendation of the Commission, the Supreme Court may suspend, for a period of time the Supreme Court deems necessary, any judge for temporary physical or mental incapacity interfering with the performance of the judge's duties, and may remove any judge for physical or mental incapacity interfering with the performance of the judge's duties which is, or is likely to become, permanent. A judge who is suspended for temporary incapacity shall continue to receive compensation during the period of the suspension. A judge removed for mental or physical incapacity is entitled to retirement compensation if the judge has accumulated the years of creditable service required for incapacity or disability retirement under any provision of State law, but he shall not sit as an emergency justice or judge. (1971, c. 590, s. 1; 1979, c. 486, s. 2; 2006-187, s. 11.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 11, effective January 1, 2007, substituted "Grounds for discipline by Commission; censure, suspension, or removal by the Supreme Court" for "Grounds for censure or removal" in the section heading; and rewrote the section.

III. Appointment of Experts.

III. APPOINTMENT OF EXPERTS.

Same — Mental Health Care Provider. — Where a mother in a proceeding to terminate her parental rights failed to demonstrate how the diagnosis and records of a new mental health care provider would materially assist her in her trial preparation and she was unable to demonstrate how she was deprived of a fair trial without the requested expert assistance, the trial court did not abuse its discretion in denying the mother’s request for expenses related to expert witness fees. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Denial of Motion for Expert Witness in Termination Proceeding Upheld. — Trial court in a termination of parental rights hearing did not err by denying a father’s motion for funds to employ an expert witness to examine the child, review his medical records, and assist in preparation for the hearing as there was not a reasonable likelihood that an expert would have materially assisted the parents in the preparation of their defense, or that without such help it was probable that they would not have received a fair trial. In re D.R., 172 N.C. App. 300, 616 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1578 (2005).

Denial of Funds for Telephone Deposition In Termination Case Was Proper. — Trial court did not err by denying a father’s motion for funds for a telephone deposition in a termination proceeding since the father did not include in his motion his reasons for deposing the foster parents, the information he sought, or that there was a reasonable likelihood that it would have materially assisted in the preparation of the parents’ defense. #### Notice and Opportunity to Be Heard Required. —

Imposition of attorney's fees was erroneous where the trial court did not give defendant an opportunity to be heard regarding the appointed attorney's total hours or the total amount of the fees imposed. State v. Jacobs, 172 N.C. App. 220, 616 S.E.2d 306, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1586 (2005).

Though the record showed that a defendant was given notice of the trial court's intention to impose attorney fees upon him for the cost of his court-appointed counsel in a criminal proceeding, because the defendant was never given an opportunity to be heard regarding the attorney's total hours or the total amount of the fees imposed, the trial court's order imposing attorney fees against the defendant was vacated and the matter was remanded to the trial court for the state to apply for a judgment in accordance with G.S. 7A-455. *State v. ### ARTICLE 61.

Sentencing Services Program.

CASE NOTES

Intermediate Sentence. — Court rejected defendant's claim of ineffective assistance of counsel due to his counsel's alleged request that the court impose consecutive sentences on defendant, because the record indicated that defense counsel did not, in fact, request consecutive sentences, but rather asked that defendant's four convictions for Class F felonies be consolidated into a single mitigated sentence, to be followed by one consolidated "intermediate sentence" pursuant to G.S. 7A-771 (3a) which would include anger management treatment, but no active jail time. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

§ 7A-775. Sentencing services board.

(a) Each sentencing services program shall establish a sentencing services board to provide direction and assistance to the sentencing services program in the implementation and evaluation of the plan. Sentencing services boards may be organized as nonprofit corporations under Chapter 55A of the General Statutes. The sentencing services board shall consist of not less than 12 members, and shall include, insofar as possible, judges, district attorneys, attorneys, social workers, law-enforcement officers, probation officers, and other interested persons. The sentencing services board shall meet on a regular basis, and its duties include, but are not limited to, the following:

- (1) Preparation and submission of the sentencing services program plan to the senior resident superior court judge and the Director annually, as provided in G.S. 7A-772(a);
- (1a) Development of an annual budget for the program;
- (2) Hiring, firing, and evaluation of program personnel;
- (3) Selection of board members;
- (4) (Effective until July 1, 2007) Arranging for an annual audit, in accordance with G.S. 143-6.1 [G.S. 143-6.2];
- (4) (Effective July 1, 2007) Arranging for an annual financial audit.
- (5) Development of procedures for contracting for services.

(b) If the board serves as an advisory board to a sentencing services program located in a local or State agency, the board's duties do not include budgeting and personnel decisions. (1983, c. 909, s. 1; 1991, c. 566, ss. 2, 6; 1999-306, s. 1; 2006-203, s. 11; 2006-264, s. 1(a).)

Subdivision (a)(4) is set out twice. — The first version of subdivision (a)(4) set out above is effective until July 1, 2007. The second version of subdivision (a)(4) set out above is effective July 1, 2007.

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-203, s. 126, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions.”

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 1(a), which amended subdivision (a)(4) by substituting “143-6.2” for “143-6.1” was repealed by Session Laws 2006-264, s. 1(c), which provided that the section was repealed if House Bill 914, 2005 Regular Session [2006-203] becomes law.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-203, s. 11, effective July 1, 2007, and applicable to the budget for the 2007-2009 biennium and each subsequent biennium thereafter, substituted “financial audit.” for “audit, in accordance with G.S. 143-6.1,” in subdivision (a)(4).

(d) Organization and Functioning; Bylaws. — The bylaws may provide for the organization and functioning of the Conference, including the powers and duties of its officers and committees. The bylaws shall state the number of members required to constitute a quorum at any meeting of the Conference or the Executive Committee. The bylaws shall set out the procedure for amending the bylaws.

§ 7B-100. Purpose.

CASE NOTES

Legislative Intent. — When, in a dependency proceeding, a trial court's order transferring a child's custody from a department of social services to foster parents was entered eight months late, this resulted in protracted custody proceedings that left the legal relationship between parent and child unresolved and left the child in legal limbo, thwarting the legislature's wish that children be placed in safe, permanent homes within a reasonable amount of time, as stated in G.S. 7B-100(5). In re L.L., 172 N.C. App. 689, 616 S.E.2d 392,
2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1798 (2005).

Goal of G.S. 7B-100(5) is to place children in safe, permanent houses within a reasonable time, and allowing parents to delay termination proceedings by appealing custody review orders would have thwarted G.S.

7B-100(5); G.S. 7B-1003 did not deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to terminate the mother's parental rights during the pendency of the custody review order appeal as G.S. 7B-1003 applied only to dependency proceedings, not to termination proceedings. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C.

(2005).

§ 7B-101. Definitions.

CASE NOTES

“Dependent.” — Trial court erred in adjudicating a mother's three-month-old son as dependent, pursuant to G.S. 7B-101(9), as the trial court's finding of fact that the mother was not willing to investigate the needs of her son in a safe environment, after the infant suffered a severe head trauma while in the father's sole care, was not supported by clear and convincing evidence; as the mother did not neglect her son, nor was he deemed abused, he was not dependent because he had a parent capable of providing care and supervision. In re J.A.G., 172 N.C. App. 708, 617 S.E.2d 325, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1785 (2005).

Children were dependent where the parents were neither able to care for them nor did they suggest appropriate alternate replacements; the father's proposed replacement was insufficient because there was no evidence that his aunt was willing or able to care for the children. In re D.J.D., 171 N.C. App. 230, 615 S.E.2d 26, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1268 (2005).

"Dependent juvenile." — Trial court's finding of fact that the child's mother had not appropriately cared for him was not supported by clear and convincing evidence; similarly, the finding of fact that the mother was not willing to investigate the needs of the child in a safe environment was not supported by clear and convincing evidence. Further, the child was not neglected as to his mother; therefore, pursuant to G.S. 7B-101(9), the child was not dependent as to his mother because she was capable of providing care for and supervision of the child. In re J.A.G., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1091 (June 7, 2005).

Applicability To Termination Proceedings. — Although G.S. 7B-101(9), G.S. 7B-111(a)(6) concerned dependency, those provisions are applicable to termination of parental rights proceedings where neglect is pursued. In re L.W., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 626, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 55 (2006).

Findings of Fact Required. — Trial court erred in concluding that a child was dependent because the trial court made no findings of fact concerning the mother's ability to provide care or supervision for the child or that the mother lacked an alternative child care arrangement to support the court's conclusion that the child was dependent. In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

Evidence Held Sufficient to Show Neglect. —

Where the evidence showed that a child resided in the same home where four other children had been neglected, this fact was sufficient to support a finding that the child was being neglected under G.S. 7B-101(15); although the father was in jail, the mother was accused of the previous neglect. In re P.M., 169 N.C. App. 423, 610 S.E.2d 403, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 678 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in terminating a mother's parental rights based on neglect where: (1) the mother failed to maintain stable housing and was unemployed, (2) the mother failed to comply with a child support order, (3) the mother had left the child with others, including an incident initiating the child's removal from her custody, (4) the mother failed to provide proper medication for the child, (5) the mother had attempted suicide, had not cooperated with social workers, did not follow through with mental health counseling, and did not complete parenting classes, and (6) the mother only sporadically visited and contacted the child for over five years. In re E.T.S.,

When it was alleged that a mother's parental rights to two children should be terminated because she (1) neglected them while they were in an agency's care within the meaning of G.S. 7B-101, under G.S. 7B-111(a)(1), (2) willfully left the children in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress to correct the conditions that led to their removal, under G.S. 7B-111(a)(2), and (3) willfully failed to pay a reasonable portion of the cost of the children's care while in an agency's custody, under G.S. 7B-111(a)(3), and the petition was sustained on all three grounds, when the mother objected to findings as to only one ground on appeal, the other findings were binding, under N.C. R. App. P. 10, and, as only one ground had to be found to terminate parental rights, it was unnecessary to consider the mother's appellate argument as to the ground she challenged. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

Social services department presented clear, cogent, and convincing evidence from which the trial court could find and conclude that child was at risk of some physical, mental, or emotional impairment where the mother kept the child at her cousin's home in a filthy room with clothes and dirty diapers strewn about, she would leave the home for several days at a time and, upon her return, she would sleep for long periods of time with the child in the bed and would not awaken when the child cried, the mother came home drunk or under the influence of drugs on one occasion and attempted to remove the child from the home in the middle of the night, and the mother was unable to complete a substance abuse treatment program because of frequent altercations with other residents. In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

In a termination of parental rights hearing, clear, cogent and convincing evidence showed a mother's children were neglected, as defined in G.S. 7B-101(15), for purposes of termination, as the mother did not (1) complete classes in parenting, budgeting, and homemaking, (2) obtain mental health counseling, (3) have a phone, or (4) keep a clean home, all as required by her case plan, and she offered no specific plan for the children's care while she worked, if they were returned to her, and her residential instability was shown. In re J.W., 173 N.C. App. 450, 619 S.E.2d 534, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2109 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 780 (2006).

Admittedly, there was not testimonial evidence that a mother failed to provide consistent financial support to the minor child. However, when compared to the overwhelming, substantive evidence supporting findings of fact four and five, that the mother physically harmed the minor child by hitting her with a belt and failed to consistently attend assigned mental health sessions as she only attended five of 10 sessions, and finding of fact six, that the mother failed to regularly visit the minor child, the substantive evidence supported the trial court's conclusion that the minor child was neglected pursuant to G.S. 7B-101(15). In re A.J.M., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 33, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1220 (2006).

Trial court's order concluding that a mother's children were neglected and ordering the continued legal custody of the children with a state agency was affirmed because the trial court's findings supported its conclusion of law that the children were neglected juveniles under G.S. 7B-101(15); the findings included instances of drug abuse and domestic violence by the mother and the father of one of her children. In re T.S., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 19, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1299 (2006).

Evidence Insufficient to Show Neglect.

While the findings of fact and conclusions of law showed, by clear and convincing evidence pursuant to G.S. 7B-805, that a father neglected his three-month-old infant under G.S. 7B-101(15), based on an incident where the infant suffered a severe head injury while in his father's sole care, which could not have been attributed to rolling off the couch as the father contended happened when he went to get a bottle for the infant, the proof was insufficient to show that the mother had neglected the infant; she was not at home when the incident occurred and there were no other incidents involving the infant. In re J.A.G., 172 N.C. App. 708, 617 S.E.2d 325, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1785 (2005).

Trial court erred in finding that the mother neglected the child, because: (1) the trial court's finding of fact that the mother had failed to appropriately care for the child was not supported by clear and convincing evidence; (2) the trial court's findings of fact indicated that the mother was not at the home when the child suffered his injuries; (3) the child was developing appropriately and had never missed any doctor's appointments; (4) there were no allegations, evidence, or findings of fact related to any of the other bases for a finding of neglect as defined in G.S. 7B-101(15); and (5) there was no evidence presented indicating that the mother knew or reasonably should have known that the father would harm the child. In re J.A.G., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1091 (June 7, 2005).

"Reasonable Effort." — "Reasonable effort" has been defined to mean the diligent and timely implementation of a plan of action; in the context of G.S. 15A-1344(f) that would mean those actions a reasonable person would pursue in seeking to notify defendant of his probation violation and conduct a hearing on the matter. State v. Burns, 171 N.C. App. 759, 615 S.E.2d 347, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1273 (2005).

Allegations of G.S. 7B-602 Parental Condition Triggers Required Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem. — Department of social services "alleged" that the mother's dependency and mental illness were the cause of her child's problems so, even without allegations of specific facts, it was error under G.S. 7B-602 for the lower court not to appoint a guardian ad litem for her before it adjudicated whether her child was dependent and neglected under G.S. 7B-101(9), (15). In re C.B., 171 N.C. App. 341, 614 S.E.2d 579, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1205 (2005).

Dependency Finding Reversed. — Decision that a child was dependent under G.S. 7B-101(9) was reversed because a trial court failed to conduct the two-part analysis; the court did not consider the availability of alternative child care arrangements where the evidence showed that a relative was willing to take the child in question. In re P.M., 169 N.C. App. 423, 610 S.E.2d 403, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 678 (2005).

Change of Custody Improper. — Given that the department of social services was prohibited under G.S. 7B-903(a)(2)(c) from returning physical custody of a child, to the parent from whom the child had been taken, without a hearing in which a court found that the child would receive proper care in a safe home, as defined in G.S. 7B-101(19), a trial court erred in changing custody of a child from a father to the mother because the court was required to find, but did not find, that the child would receive from the mother the necessary proper care and supervision in a safe home, particularly in light of prior evidence that domestic violence had occurred in the home. In re H.S.F., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 416, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 866 (2006).

Return of Child to Parents Did Not Make the Issue of Neglect Moot. — Although a father regained full custody of his child, since there were collateral legal consequences that could arise from a neglect adjudication, such as a determination of whether another child was neglected, the appeal from the adjudication of neglect should not have been dismissed as moot. In re A.K., 360 N.C. 449, 628 S.E.2d 753, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 44 (2006).

CASE NOTES

Jurisdiction over Neglect and Dependency Proceedings. —

Trial court had authority pursuant to G.S. 7B-200(a)(6) to issue an ex parte order directing a mother to cease interference with a department's juvenile investigation concerning her children; however, where no request for nonsecure custody was presented and no petition alleging that the children were neglected was filed, the trial court lacked jurisdiction to award custody of the children to their father. In re K.C.G., 171 N.C. App. 488, 615 S.E.2d 76, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Trial court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to enter orders finding the mother's four minor children to be abused and neglected after the county social services department of the neighboring county, due to a conflict the county social services department had, conducted an investigation and found that allegations of abuse and neglect by the mother's church and the caretaker of the children were unfounded; once an official finding that no abuse and neglect had occurred, the trial court lost the authority to declare that it had occurred and to determine that the four minor children should be removed from the custody of the caretaker. In re S.D.A., 170 N.C. App. 354, 612 S.E.2d 362, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1012 (2005).

District court, in adjudicating a child neglected, was not limited to considering only those circumstances occurring within its district. To hold otherwise would allow abusive and neglectful parents to avoid court intervention by simply moving from county to county. In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

Failure of the director of a county department of social services to sign and verify before a notary, pursuant to G.S. 7B-403(a), a petition for a finding that a minor child was a neglected juvenile rendered the petition fatally deficient and inoperative to invoke the subject matter jurisdiction of the trial court; because there was no evidence in the record suggesting later filings sufficient to invoke subject matter jurisdiction as to the lower court's subsequent order from a review hearing, the trial court erred in proceeding on the matter due to lack of subject matter jurisdiction. In re T.R.P., 173 N.C. App. 541, 619 S.E.2d 525, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2098 (2005).

Trial court had jurisdiction over a child's mother and father where both parents were properly served with the summons and the petition alleged that the child was neglected. In re M.B., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1960 (Sept. 19, 2006).

§ 7B-201. Retention and termination of jurisdiction.

CASE NOTES

Jurisdiction over Neglect and Dependency Proceedings. —

Failure of the director of a county department of social services to sign and verify before a notary, pursuant to G.S. 7B-403(a), a petition for a finding that a minor child was a neglected juvenile rendered the petition fatally deficient and inoperative to invoke the subject matter jurisdiction of the trial court; because there was no evidence in the record suggesting later filings sufficient to invoke subject matter jurisdiction as to the lower court's subsequent order from a review hearing, the trial court erred in proceeding on the matter due to lack of subject matter jurisdiction. In re T.R.P., 173 N.C. App. 541, 619 S.E.2d 525, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2098 (2005).

Effect of Voluntary Dismissal of First Termination Petition. — Fact that county department of social services had dismissed a prior petition for termination of a mother's parental rights did not preclude a subsequent petition since the best interests of the children was always the primary focus, with no procedural rule barring the court's continuing jurisdiction over such a matter. In re L.O.K., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 236, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2476 (2005).

Jurisdiction Until 18 or Emancipated. — Although a trial court in a custody dispute ended the custody of a county department of social services, the court did not err in retaining jurisdiction to conduct period review hearings, despite a father's claim that the court, under G.S. 7B-906(d), the court was relieved of the duty to conduct such reviews after custody was awarded to the father; in deciding a custody case under G.S. 7A-657, the almost-identical predecessor to G.S. § 7B-906, the state's supreme court had already ruled that the relevant statutory language meant only that a trial court had a right to terminate its jurisdiction, but a trial court was not required to do so. Further, in the context of the Juvenile Code, North Carolina, G.S. 7B-201 provided that once a court obtained jurisdiction over a juvenile, that jurisdiction continued until terminated by a court order or until the juvenile reached the age of 18 years or was otherwise emancipated, and the parties' child was not yet 18 or emancipated. ## § 7B-202. Permanency mediation.

(a) The Administrative Office of the Courts shall establish a Permanency Mediation Program to provide statewide and uniform services to resolve issues in cases under this Subchapter in which a juvenile is alleged or has been adjudicated to be abused, neglected, or dependent, or in which a petition or motion to terminate a parent's rights has been filed. Participants in the mediation shall include the parties and their attorneys, including the guardian ad litem and attorney advocate for the child; provided, the court may allow mediation to proceed without the participation of a parent whose identity is unknown, a party who was served and has not made an appearance, or a parent, guardian, or custodian who has not been served despite a diligent attempt to serve the person. Upon a finding of good cause, the court may allow mediation to proceed without the participation of a parent who is unable to participate due to incarceration, illness, or some other cause. Others may participate by agreement of the parties, their attorneys, and the mediator, or by order of the court.

(b) The Administrative Office of the Courts shall establish in phases a statewide Permanency Mediation Program consisting of local district programs to be established in all judicial districts of the State. The Director of the Administrative Office of the Courts is authorized to approve contractual agreements for such services as executed by order of the Chief District Court Judge of a district court district, such contracts to be exempt from competitive bidding procedures under Chapter 143 of the General Statutes. The Administrative Office of the Courts shall promulgate policies and regulations necessary and appropriate for the administration of the program. Any funds appropriated by the General Assembly for the establishment and maintenance of permanency mediation programs under this Article shall be administered by the Administrative Office of the Courts.

(c) Mediation proceedings shall be held in private and shall be confidential. Except as provided otherwise in this section, all verbal or written communications from participants in the mediation to the mediator or between or among the participants in the presence of the mediator are absolutely privileged and inadmissible in court.

(d) Neither the mediator nor any party or other person involved in mediation sessions under this section shall be competent to testify to communications made during or in furtherance of such mediation sessions; provided, there is no confidentiality or privilege as to communications made in furtherance of a crime or fraud. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed as permitting an individual to obtain immunity from prosecution for criminal conduct or as excusing an individual from the reporting requirements of Article 3 of Chapter 7B of the General Statutes or G.S. 108A-102.

(e) Any agreement reached by the parties as a result of the mediation, whether referred to as a “placement agreement,” “case plan,” or some similar name, shall be reduced to writing, signed by each party, and submitted to the court as soon as practicable. Unless the court finds good reason not to, the court shall incorporate the agreement in a court order, and the agreement shall become enforceable as a court order. If some or all of the issues referred to mediation are not resolved by mediation, the mediator shall report that fact to the court. (2006-187, s. 4(a).)

Editor’s Note. — Session Laws 2006-187, s. 13, made this section effective July 1, 2006.

Session Laws 2006-187, s. 4(b), provides: “The Administrative Office of the Courts may use funds available during the 2006-2007 fiscal year to implement the provisions of this section.”

Screening of Abuse and Neglect Complaints.

§ 7B-301. Duty to report abuse, neglect, dependency, or death due to maltreatment.

§ 7B-302. Assessment by director; access to confidential information; notification of person making the report.

(a) When a report of abuse, neglect, or dependency is received, the director of the department of social services shall make a prompt and thorough assessment, using either a family assessment response or an investigative assessment response, in order to ascertain the facts of the case, the extent of the abuse or neglect, and the risk of harm to the juvenile, in order to determine whether protective services should be provided or the complaint filed as a petition. When the report alleges abuse, the director shall immediately, but no later than 24 hours after receipt of the report, initiate the assessment. When the report alleges neglect or dependency, the director shall initiate the assessment within 72 hours following receipt of the report. When the report alleges abandonment, the director shall immediately initiate an assessment, take appropriate steps to assume temporary custody of the juvenile, and take appropriate steps to secure an order for nonsecure custody of the juvenile. The assessment and evaluation shall include a visit to the place where the juvenile resides, except when the report alleges abuse or neglect in a child care facility as defined in Article 7 of Chapter 110 of the General Statutes. When a report alleges abuse or neglect in a child care facility as defined in Article 7 of Chapter 110 of the General Statutes, a visit to the place where the juvenile resides is not required. When the report alleges abandonment, the assessment shall include a request from the director to law enforcement officials to investigate through the North Carolina Center for Missing Persons and other national and State resources whether the juvenile is a missing child. All information received by the department of social services, including the identity of the reporter, shall be held in strictest confidence by the department. However, the department of social services shall disclose confidential information to any federal, State, or local governmental entity or its agent needing confidential information to protect a juvenile from abuse and neglect. Any confidential information disclosed to any federal, State, or local governmental entity, or its agent, under this subsection shall remain confidential with the other governmental entity, or its agent, and shall only be redisclosed by the governmental entity or its agent for purposes directly connected with carrying out the governmental entity's or agent's mandated responsibilities.

(b) When a report of a juvenile's death as a result of suspected maltreatment or a report of suspected abuse, neglect, or dependency of a juvenile in a noninstitutional setting is received, the director of the department of social services shall immediately ascertain if other juveniles live in the home, and, if so, initiate an assessment in order to determine whether they require protective services or whether immediate removal of the juveniles from the home is necessary for their protection. When a report of a juvenile's death as a result of maltreatment or a report of suspected abuse, neglect, or dependency of a juvenile in an institutional setting such as a residential child care facility or residential educational facility is received, the director of the department of social services shall immediately ascertain if other juveniles remain in the facility subject to the alleged perpetrator's care or supervision, and, if so, assess the circumstances of those juveniles in order to determine whether they require protective services or whether immediate removal of those juveniles from the facility is necessary for their protection.

(c) If the assessment indicates that abuse, neglect, or dependency has occurred, the director shall decide whether immediate removal of the juvenile or any other juveniles in the home is necessary for their protection. If immediate removal does not seem necessary, the director shall immediately provide or arrange for protective services. If the parent, guardian, custodian, or caretaker refuses to accept the protective services provided or arranged by the director, the director shall sign a complaint seeking to invoke the jurisdiction of the court for the protection of the juvenile or juveniles.

(d) If immediate removal seems necessary for the protection of the juvenile or other juveniles in the home, the director shall sign a complaint that alleges the applicable facts to invoke the jurisdiction of the court. Where the assessment shows that it is warranted, a protective services worker may assume temporary custody of the juvenile for the juvenile's protection pursuant to Article 5 of this Chapter.

(e) In performing any duties related to the assessment of the report or the provision or arrangement for protective services, the director may consult with any public or private agencies or individuals, including the available State or local law enforcement officers who shall assist in the assessment and evaluation of the seriousness of any report of abuse, neglect, or dependency when requested by the director. The director or the director's representative may make a written demand for any information or reports, whether or not confidential, that may in the director's opinion be relevant to the assessment or provision of protective services. Upon the director's or the director's representative's request and unless protected by the attorney-client privilege, any public or private agency or individual shall provide access to and copies of this confidential information and these records to the extent permitted by federal law and regulations. If a custodian of criminal investigative information or records believes that release of the information will jeopardize the right of the State to prosecute a defendant or the right of a defendant to receive a fair trial or will undermine an ongoing or future investigation, it may seek an order from a court of competent jurisdiction to prevent disclosure of the information. In such an action, the custodian of the records shall have the burden of showing by a preponderance of the evidence that disclosure of the information in question will jeopardize the right of the State to prosecute a defendant or the right of a defendant to receive a fair trial or will undermine an ongoing or future investigation. Actions brought pursuant to this paragraph shall be set down for immediate hearing, and subsequent proceedings in the actions shall be accorded priority by the trial and appellate courts.

(f) Within five working days after receipt of the report of abuse, neglect, or dependency, the director shall give written notice to the person making the report, unless requested by that person not to give notice, as to whether the report was accepted for assessment and whether the report was referred to the appropriate State or local law enforcement agency.

(g) Within five working days after completion of the protective services assessment, the director shall give subsequent written notice to the person making the report, unless requested by that person not to give notice, as to whether there is a finding of abuse, neglect, or dependency, whether the county department of social services is taking action to protect the juvenile, and what action it is taking, including whether or not a petition was filed. The person making the report shall be informed of procedures necessary to request a review by the prosecutor of the director's decision not to file a petition. A request for review by the prosecutor shall be made within five working days of receipt of the second notification. The second notification shall include notice that, if the person making the report is not satisfied with the director's decision, the person may request review of the decision by the prosecutor within five working days of receipt. The person making the report may waive the person's right to this notification, and no notification is required if the person making the report does not identify himself to the director.

(h) The director or the director's representative may not enter a private residence for assessment purposes without at least one of the following:

- (1) The reasonable belief that a juvenile is in imminent danger of death or serious physical injury.
- (2) The permission of the parent or person responsible for the juvenile's care.
- (3) The accompaniment of a law enforcement officer who has legal authority to enter the residence.
- (4) An order from a court of competent jurisdiction. (1979, c. 815, s. 1; 1985, c. 205; 1991, c. 593, s. 1; 1991 (Reg. 8, 2006, added the last two sentences in subsection (a).

CASE NOTES

Jurisdiction. — Trial court had authority pursuant to G.S. 7B-200(a)(6) to issue an ex parte order directing a mother to cease interference with a department's juvenile investigation concerning her children; however, where no request for nonsecure custody was presented and no petition alleging that the children were neglected was filed, the trial court lacked jurisdiction to award custody of the children to their father. Investigation Not Revealing Abuse or Neglect. — Trial court lacked subject matter jurisdiction to enter orders finding the mother's four minor children to be abused and neglected after the county social services department of the neighboring county, due to a conflict the county social services department had, conducted an investigation and found that allegations of abuse and neglect by the mother's church and the caretaker of the children were unfounded; once an official finding that no abuse and neglect had occurred, the trial court lost the authority to declare that it had occurred and to determine that the four minor children should be removed from the custody of the caretaker. Privilege Not Available in Child Abuse Cases. —

Under G.S. 7B-310, a trial court in a child neglect case did not err in admitting certain evidence in violation of a mother's psychologist-patient privilege; that privilege did not operate to bar relevant evidence in an action that concerned the abuse or neglect of a child. In re K.D., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 150, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1393 (2006).

Jurisdiction. —

Juvenile petition was filed June 11, 2004, and the summons was issued four days later, but the summons was returned by the sheriff on June 30, 2004, unserved; on July 8, 2004, the mother attended a hearing regarding the allegations her minor child was neglected and dependent. The mother was not only present in court, but also agreed to continue the matter until July 22, 2004, and there was no evidence that the mother raised any objection at that hearing regarding insufficient service of process or personal jurisdiction; thus, her actions amounted to waiver of her right to challenge the trial court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over her regardless of whether she was served with a juvenile summons in compliance with G.S. 1A-1-4. In re A.J.M., — N.C. Placement With Relatives. — When, in a dependency proceeding, a trial court placed a child's custody with the child's foster parents without finding it was contrary to the child's best interests to place her with willing relatives, pursuant to G.S. 7B-903(a)(2)c, this was error because, inter alia, G.S. 7B-505 required the trial court, in entering a nonsecure custody order, to first consider the child's placement with a relative; G.S. 7B-506(h) continued this requirement at each hearing to determine the need for the child's continued custody outside of her home, so the general assembly intended to apply this requirement to reviews of custody placements. In re L.L., 172 N.C. App. 689, 616 S.E.2d 392, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1798 (2005).

§ 7B-507. Reasonable efforts.

CASE NOTES

Applicability. —

Award of guardianship did not cease social services department's duty to continue reunification efforts with the mother because the dispositional order did not make a guardianship the permanent plan. Therefore, the trial court was not required to make findings pursuant to G.S. 7B-507(b). In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

Evidence Sufficient to Terminate Reunification Efforts. —

In a case involving G.S. 7B-507(a) and G.S. 7B-907(c), the trial court did not err in granting guardianship of the mother's three older children to the maternal aunt because the best interests of the children were paramount, and the trial court had no assurances the mother had made sufficient progress for the children to be returned to the mother's care. In re T.K., — N.C. App. —, 613 S.E.2d 739, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1191 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 163, 622 S.E.2d 494 (2005).

Concurrent Permanent Placement Plan of Reunification and Adoption Held Proper. — Concurrent permanent placement plan of reunification and adoption as allowed by G.S. 7B-507(d) did not conflict with the requirement of G.S. 7B-907(a) to obtain permanent placement within a reasonable period of time; concurrent plans leading to adoption of children by their foster parents and reunification with their mother were proper. In re J.J.L., 170 N.C. App. 368, 612 S.E.2d 404, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1010 (2005).

ARTICLE 6.

§ 7B-600. Appointment of guardian.

CASE NOTES

Appointment of Guardian Was Proper.

— Guardian was properly appointed for child where the dispositional order demonstrated that the trial court found guardianship to be in the child's best interest following the presentation at the adjudicatory hearing of all the evidence concerning the mother's failure to properly care for the child, and after the review of the social service department's and guardian ad litem's reports. Additionally, the mother did not appear at the dispositional hearing, providing the court with additional grounds to appoint a guardian. In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

Amended G.S. 7B-906(b) and G.S. 7B-600(b) applied to a review conducted in October 2002 because the amended statutes applied to reviews that were commenced after October 1, 2000. In re J.D.C., 174 N.C. App. 157, 620 S.E.2d 49, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2250 (2005).

Applicability. — Trial court's denial of a mother's request to regain legal and physical custody of her minor child, who was in the legal custody of the county department of social services and under the guardianship of the child's grandparents, was reversed and remanded because while the court held multiple proceedings pursuant to G.S. 7B-906, there was never a finding made that guardianship was the permanent plan under G.S. 7B-907; therefore, G.S. 7B-600(b) was inapplicable, and the trial court erred by imposing the burden of proof upon the mother. In re J.D.C., 174 N.C. App. 157, 620 S.E.2d 49, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2250 (2005).

§ 7B-601. Appointment and duties of guardian ad litem.

CASE NOTES

Trial court erred in failing to appoint a guardian ad litem (GAL) for the child from the beginning of a termination proceeding; a GAL and an attorney advocate performed distinct and separate roles, so the appointment of the attorney advocate as the GAL after three and a half days of testimony was insufficient, even though the advocate had been involved in the case from an earlier time. In re R.A.H., 171 N.C. App. 427, 614 S.E.2d 382, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1256 (2005).

§ 7B-602. Parent's right to counsel; guardian ad litem.

CASE NOTES

Section G.S. 7B-602(b) Analysis Compared to G.S. 7B-1101 Analysis for Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem. — Court saw no reason why the analysis of the issues arising under G.S. 7B-1101 were not applicable to the same issues arising under G.S. 7B-602(b) with respect to whether to appoint a guardian ad litem; the G.S. 7B-1101 analysis centered on the intertwining of the parent's condition and the child's neglect. In re C.B., 171 N.C. App. 341, 614 S.E.2d 579, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1205 (2005).

Failure to Appoint Guardian Ad Litem. — Trial court erroneously failed to appoint a guardian ad litem for the mother as required by G.S. 7B-602 where the mother had mental health issues, a depressive disorder and borderline personality disorder, which resulted in the daughter's dependency. In re L.M.C., 170 N.C. App. 676, 613 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1089 (2005).

G.S. 7B-602 required that a guardian ad litem (GAL) be appointed if the juvenile was alleged to be "dependent" and the parent was incapable as a result of mental illness of providing the proper care and supervision of the juvenile; G.S. 7B-602 was not limited to termination cases, and the trial court's failure to sua sponte appoint a GAL for the mother in a dependency case was error where the trial court was on notice of the mother's alleged mental conditions, and made references to and questioned the mother's mental condition in several orders. In re D.D.Y., 171 N.C. App. 347,

Since it was unclear the extent to which a father's mental health issues were inextricably linked to the issues of domestic violence, substance abuse, and anger management that supported the finding of continued neglect of the children, the trial court erred in failing to hold a hearing as to the father's need for a guardian ad litem. In re K.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 478, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 710 (2006).

Mother Was Not Entitled to Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem During Termination of Parental Rights Action. — Mother was not entitled to the appointment of a guardian ad litem in an action to terminate her parental rights; the mother's sparse references to her need to counseling and drug treatment did not rise to the level of being so intertwined with the neglect of her children and to be virtually inseparable and while the Department of Social Services recommended counseling, there was no significant evidence in the record to suggest that the mother's parental rights were terminated due to any mental illness or substance abuse. In re As.L.G., 173 N.C. App. 551, 619 S.E.2d 561, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2116 (2005).

Allegations of Parental Condition Triggers Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem. — Department of social services "alleged" that the mother's dependency and mental illness were the cause of her child's problems so, even without allegations of specific facts, it was error under G.S. 7B-602 for the lower court not to appoint a guardian ad litem for her before it adjudicated whether her child was dependent and neglected under G.S. 7B-101(9), (15). In re C.B., 171 N.C. App. 341, 614 S.E.2d 579, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1205 (2005).

ARTICLE 7.

Discovery.

§ 7B-700. Regulation of discovery; protective orders.

CASE NOTES

Denial to Interview Child Was Not Abuse of Discretion. — Trial court did not err by denying a mother's motion to interview her son for whom a proceeding was initiated against the mother for termination of her parental rights because, as evidenced by the multiple findings of fact contained within multiple court orders, any contact the mother had with the child was disruptive to his own therapeutic progress and it was clear from the record that the trial court was concerned with the mother's behavior in attempting to learn of the child's whereabouts, particularly since the mother abducted the child from his school bus stop while he was in foster care. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

§ 7B-803. Continuances.

CASE NOTES

Denial of Continuance Proper. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying a mother's third motion to continue in the proceeding commenced to terminate her parental rights to her son because, though she was incarcerated prior to the hearing, such incarceration was the result of her own actions in abducting the child and the preceding continuance was allowed expressly for the purpose of allowing the mother to gather the documents that she asserted she needed to obtain. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

§ 7B-805. Quantum of proof in adjudicatory hearing.

CASE NOTES

Clear and Convincing Evidence Required. —

While the findings of fact and conclusions of law showed, by clear and convincing evidence pursuant to G.S. 7B-805, that a father neglected his three-month-old infant under G.S.

7B-101(15), based on an incident where the infant suffered a severe head injury while in his father's sole care, which could not have been attributed to rolling off the couch as the father contended happened when he went to get a bottle for the infant, the proof was insufficient to show that the mother had neglected the infant; she was not at home when the incident occurred and there were no other incidents involving the infant. In re J.A.G., 172 N.C. App. 708, 617 S.E.2d 325, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1785 (2005).

Disagreement among expert physicians as to whether a six-month-old child's broken clavicle, compression fracture of the spine, and hemorrhaged eyes were caused by accidents or by non-accidental trauma, as well as a trial court's findings that the child's regular pediatrician saw no reason for concern about child abuse and that there was no evidence that her parents had problems affecting their parenting ability, supported the trial court's conclusion of law that clear and convincing evidence was not presented to show that the child was abused or neglected under G.S. 7B-805. In re A.R.H., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 925, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1183 (2006).

Social services department presented clear, cogent, and convincing evidence from which the trial court could find and conclude that child was at risk of some physical, mental, or emotional impairment where the mother kept the child at her cousin's home in a filthy room with clothes and dirty diapers strewn about, she would leave the home for several days at a time and, upon her return, she would sleep for long periods of time with the child in the bed and would not awaken when the child cried, the mother came home drunk or under the influence of drugs on one occasion and attempted to remove the child from the home in the middle of the night, and the mother was unable to complete a substance abuse treatment program because of frequent altercations with other residents. In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

Finding that areas of the brain effected by infarctions would not regenerate was supported by clear and convincing evidence. — In a case alleging abuse, neglect, and dependency, a medical expert explained that with an infarction, part of the brain tissue begins to swell, will become damaged, and will either scar down or just go away; the damaged portion of the brain typically will not regenerate. Thus, based on the expert's testimony, the trial court's finding of fact that the areas effected by the infarctions will not regenerate was supported by clear and convincing evidence. In re J.A.G., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1091 (June 7, 2005).

Evidence of neglect was not supported by clear and convincing evidence. — In a case alleging abuse, neglect, and dependency, the finding that the mother had neglected in the past to appropriately care for the child was not supported by clear and convincing evidence, because: (1) although the mother testified that she neither placed any devices on the sofa to prevent the child from falling off nor placed any pillows in front of the sofa in the event that the child did roll off, the child was unable to roll over, and was not otherwise mobile, during the prior instances when the parents placed him on the sofa; (2) it was not unusual for parents to place an immobile infant on a sofa, couch, or bed; and (3) the child had never missed any doctor's appointments, was developing appropriately, and had no prior injuries. In re J.A.G., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1091 (June 7, 2005).

Finding that mother was not willing to investigate the needs of the child in a safe environment was not supported by clear and convincing evidence in a case alleging abuse, neglect, and dependency; in one week, the mother provided the county department of social services with at least four names of individuals who could potentially care for the child, if necessary. In re J.A.G., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1091 (June 7, 2005).

§ 7B-807. Adjudication.

CASE NOTES

Adjudication Supported by Evidence. —

In a case where there was an adjudication of dependency, neglect, and abuse, any error in the admission of the child's hearsay statements was harmless because the other evidence alone supported a finding of dependency and neglect. The evidence at trial clearly showed (1) the mother violated a safety plan by leaving the child alone with men who were alleged to be sexually abusing her; (2) an examining doctor found extensive eroding dental caries going into the gums and a one-inch linear scar on the child's lower leg that was opined to be inflicted by the mother with either a shoe, a stick with thorns, or the metal part of a belt; (3) the mother called the child a "whore" and a "bitch" and further stated that the child was no longer her daughter and that she was on her own and no longer had a mother; and (4) expert testimony that the child displayed symptoms of anxiety, anger, disassociation, and post-traumatic stress disorder. #### § 7B-903. Dispositional alternatives for abused, neglected, or dependent juvenile.

CASE NOTES

Placement With Relatives. — When, in a dependency proceeding, a trial court placed a child's custody with the child's foster parents without finding it was contrary to the child's best interests to place her with willing relatives, pursuant to G.S. 7B-903(a)(2)c, this was error as: (1) this statutory requirement applied to the review hearing at which the trial court entered its custody order because G.S. 7B-906, which governed the hearing, incorporated dispositional alternatives in G.S. 7B-903, which gave priority to placing a child with a suitable relative; (2) 42 U.S.C.S. § 671(a)(19) required that, as a condition for receiving federal foster care funds, a state had to have a foster care plan that gave preference to placement with a relative; (3) G.S. 7B-505 required the trial court, in entering a nonsecure custody order, to first consider the child's placement with a relative, and G.S. 7B-506(h) continued this requirement at each hearing to determine the need for the child's continued custody outside of her home, so the general assembly intended to apply this requirement to reviews of custody placements; and (4) exempting review hearings from the requirement to first consider placement with relatives risked undermining the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children (ICPC), G.S. 7B-3800, as home studies of out-of-state relatives required by the ICPC were often not completed until a review hearing was held. In re L.L., 172 N.C. App. 689, 616 S.E.2d 392, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1798 (2005).

Dispositional Alternatives. — While a trial court had the authority under G.S. 7B-906 to issue a dispositional order in a child custody case, and while that court had had the authority under G.S. 7B-906(g) to place custody of the child with someone other than a parent, the court erred in giving physical custody to the mother but ordering the child's "physical placement" to be with her maternal grandfather. G.S. 7B-903(a) specified the dispositional alternatives that were available in a custody matter, a "physical placement" with someone who did not have custody was not a permissible alternative under G.S. 7B-903(a), and G.S. 7B-906(g) contemplated that the person with whom the child was to live was a person who had custody of the child. In re H.S.F., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 416, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 866 (2006).

Finding of Proper Care and Supervision. — Before returning a child to the custody of a parent from whose custody the child is originally taken, a trial court must find that the child will receive from that parent the proper care and supervision in a safe home. In re H.S.F., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 416, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 866 (2006).

Change of Custody Improper. — Given that the department of social services was prohibited under G.S. 7B-903(a)(2)(c) from returning physical custody of a child, to the parent from whom the child had been taken, without a hearing in which a court found that the child would receive proper care in a safe home, as defined in G.S. 7B-101(19), a trial court erred in changing custody of a child from a father to the mother because the court was required to find, but did not find, that the child would receive from the mother the necessary proper care and supervision in a safe home, particularly in light of prior evidence that domestic violence had occurred in the home. In re H.S.F., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 416, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 866 (2006).

Insufficient Findings. — While a court had the power under G.S. 7B-903 to enter an order transferring the custody of a minor child from her father to her mother, there was no evidence in the record in a proceeding on the parties' cross-motions for contempt that supported the finding that transferring custody to the mother was in the child's best interests. It had been found in an earlier proceeding that the mother was abusing prescription drugs, that her husband had been physically abusing her, and that loaded weapons were kept in their home, yet in the contempt proceeding, the trial court made no findings addressing a prior adjudication in which it had been determined that the child was neglected, and no findings were made as to whether efforts to mend the mother's relationship with her husband had been resolved. ## § 7B-904. Authority over parents of juvenile adjudicated as abused, neglected, or dependent.

Authority of the Court. —

Pursuant to G.S. 7B-904(d1)(3), a trial court did not exceed its authority in ordering the mother to comply with its directive that the father not have any contact with the son, as the infant had suffered a severe head trauma while in the father's sole care, which could not have been attributed to the infant's having rolled off the couch, as the father claimed. In re J.A.G., 172 N.C. App. 708, 617 S.E.2d 325, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1785 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Late Filing of Adjudication and Disposition Orders Not Grounds for Reversal Where No Prejudice. —

Mother did not establish that a trial court's late entry of an order under G.S. 7B-905(a) in a neglect and dependency proceeding prejudiced the mother, as the delay did not preclude the reunification of the children and the mother. court erred in ordering visitation between mother and her child at the discretion of the guardian with whom the court vested the physical custody of the child because the court, at a review hearing, was to consider and make relevant findings of fact regarding an appropriate visitation plan under G.S. 7B-906(c)(6). ## § 7B-906. Review of custody order.

CASE NOTES

Applicability. — Amended G.S. 7B-906(b) and G.S. 7B-600(b) applied to a review conducted in October 2002 because the amended statutes applied to reviews that were commenced after October 1, 2000. In re J.D.C., 174 N.C. App. 157, 620 S.E.2d 49, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2250 (2005).

Lack of Timeliness. — Where the review hearing of the neglect disposition was not held within the time period provided in G.S. 7B-906(a) and where the permanency planning orders were late under G.S. 7B-907(c), the mother was not entitled to relief, as the mother made no attempt to demonstrate the prejudice required for reversal. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Mother was not prejudiced by a trial court's delay in entering its order in a child neglect and pendency proceeding because neither the pendency of the trial court's order, nor an appeal, deprived the mother of reunification with her children; if the mother had complied with the trial court's order, she could have requested a review hearing and sought custody of her children. In re T.S., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 19, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1299 (2006).

Disposition on Review of Custody Order. —

When, in a dependency proceeding, a trial court placed a child's custody with the child's foster parents without finding it was contrary to the child's best interests to place her with willing relatives, pursuant to G.S. 7B-903(a)(2)c, this was error because, inter alia, this statutory requirement applied to the review hearing at which the trial court entered its custody order because G.S. 7B-906, which governed the hearing, incorporated dispositional alternatives in G.S. 7B-903, which gave priority to placing a child with a suitable relative. In re L.L., 172 N.C. App. 689, 616 S.E.2d 392, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1798 (2005).

Written Custody Review Order. —

When, in a dependency proceeding, a trial court's order transferring custody of a child from a department of social services to foster parents but requiring the department to continue to work towards reunification of the child with her parents was not entered until nine months after the hearing, contrary to the requirement of G.S. 7B-906(d) that an order be entered within 30 days of a hearing, (1) the department of social services and the child's parents, who sought to appeal the order, were prejudiced, because they could not perfect their appeal; (2) the child was prejudiced, because, while her permanency plan was reunification with her parents, nothing required her foster parents to cooperate with that plan, and, in fact, they sought termination of her parents' parental rights, causing confusion as to what the child's plan actually was; and (3) the permanency planning process was prejudiced, for the aforementioned reasons. In re L.L., 172 N.C. App. 689, 616 S.E.2d 392, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1798 (2005).

Burden on Parents and Department. —

Trial court's denial of a mother's request to regain legal and physical custody of her minor child, who was in the legal custody of the county department of social services and under the guardianship of the child's grandparents, was reversed and remanded because while the court held multiple proceedings pursuant to G.S. 7B-906, there was never a finding made that guardianship was the permanent plan under G.S. 7B-907; therefore, G.S. 7B-600(b) was inapplicable, and the trial court erred by imposing the burden of proof upon the mother. In re J.D.C., 174 N.C. App. 157, 620 S.E.2d 49, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2250 (2005).

Periodic Review by Judge. —

Trial court's custody review order did not comply with G.S. 7B-906(c)(3) and (4) because it did not address the goals of a child's foster care placement or the role her foster parents were to play in her future planning, because the foster parents were foster parents, as they were providing foster care, as defined by G.S. 131D-10.2(9). In re L.L., 172 N.C. App. 689, 616 S.E.2d 392, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1798 (2005).

Failure to Make Relevant Findings of Fact Regarding Appropriate Visitation Plan Held Error. — Trial court erred in ordering visitation between mother and her child at the discretion of the guardian with whom the court vested the physical custody of the child because the court, at a review hearing, was to consider and make relevant findings of fact regarding an appropriate visitation plan under G.S. 7B-906(c)(6). In re E.C., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 647, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2494 (2005).

Contemplation of Custody With Whom Child Resides. — While a trial court had the authority under G.S. 7B-906 to issue a dispositional order in a child custody case, and while that court had had the authority under G.S. 7B-906(g) to place custody of the child with someone other than a parent, the court erred in giving physical custody to the mother but ordering the child's "physical placement" to be with her maternal grandfather. G.S. 703(a) specified the dispositional alternatives that were available in a custody matter, a "physical placement" with someone who did not have custody was not a permissible alternative under G.S. 703(a), and G.S. 7B-906(g) contemplated that the person with whom the child was to live was a person who had custody of the child. In re H.S.F., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 416, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 866 (2006).

Although a trial court in a custody dispute ended the custody of a county department of social services, the court did not err in retaining jurisdiction to conduct period review hearings, despite a father's claim that the court, under G.S. 7B-906(d), the court was relieved of the duty to conduct such reviews after custody was awarded to the father; in deciding a custody case under G.S. 7A-657, the almost-identical predecessor to G.S. 7B-906, the state's supreme court had already ruled that the relevant statutory language meant only that a trial court had a right to terminate its jurisdiction, but a trial court was not required to do so. Further, in the context of the Juvenile Code, North Carolina, G.S. 7B-201 provided that once a court obtained jurisdiction over a juvenile, that jurisdiction continued until terminated by a court order or until the juvenile reached the age of 18 years or was otherwise emancipated, and the parties' child was not yet 18 or emancipated. In re H.S.F., — N.C. ## § 7B-907. Permanency planning hearing.

CASE NOTES

Findings of Fact. —

In a case involving G.S. 7B-507(a) and G.S. 7B-907(c), the trial court did not err in granting guardianship of the mother's three older children to the maternal aunt because the best interests of the children were paramount, and the trial court had no assurances the mother had made sufficient progress for the children to be returned to the mother's care. In re T.K., — N.C. App. —, 613 S.E.2d 739, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1191 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 163, 622 S.E.2d 494 (2005).

Burden of proof. — Trial court's denial of a mother's request to regain legal and physical custody of her minor child, who was in the legal custody of the county department of social services and under the guardianship of the child's grandparents, was reversed and remanded because while the court held multiple proceedings pursuant to G.S. 7B-906, there was never a finding made that guardianship was the permanent plan under G.S. 7B-907; therefore, G.S. 7B-600(b) was inapplicable, and the trial court erred by imposing the burden of proof upon the mother. In re J.D.C., 174 N.C. App. 157, 620 S.E.2d 49, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2250 (2005).

Failure to timely file termination petition did not prejudice the mother. — Although the Department of Social Services' failure to file its termination petition with 60 days violated G.S. 7B-907(e), the mother was not prejudiced; the mother failed to attend the termination hearing and did not assert that she would have attended hearing if the petition had been timely filed. In re As.L.G., 173 N.C. App. 551, 619 S.E.2d 561, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2116 (2005).

Award of Custody to Great-grandmother. — Termination of aunt's parental rights and award of permanent custody to the child's maternal great-grandmother was supported by substantial, competent evidence and affirmed, even though they had a pending G.S. ch. 50 custody action, where evidence at the G.S. 7B-907 hearing indicated that the child's aunt, who had been awarded temporary custody, failed to: (1) comply with court orders, including drug testing; (2) make reasonable and timely progress towards permanency, including providing suitable living conditions; (3) prove that it was possible for the child to return to her home within six months; and (4) prove it was in the child's best interests to live with her. In re C.E.L., 171 N.C. App. 468, 615 S.E.2d 427, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1361 (2005).

Continuing Duty to Consider Child's Best Interest Made Res Judicata Inapplicable. — Order that deferred to a G.S. ch. 50

custody action but required agency to develop a permanency plan and the child's aunt to take specific steps to comply with it was not a final order; since the trial court also had a continuing G.S. 7B-907 duty to consider evidence regarding the child's best interests, res judicata did not bar it from terminating the aunt's parental rights. In re C.E.L., 171 N.C. App. 468, 615 S.E.2d 427, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1361 (2005).

Time Limitations. — Mother was not entitled to relief from the parental rights termination where the termination petitions were filed more than three months after the limitations period under G.S. 7B-907(e), which was directory rather than mandatory, had run; the mother failed to show that she was prejudiced by the period of delay, as the mother did not take advantage of visitation and did not have contact with the petitioning agency, and the mother, pursuant to G.S. 7B-1001, could have appealed from either the review hearing ceasing efforts to reunify the family or from the permanency planning order that changed the permanency plan to termination of parental rights. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Where the review hearing of the neglect disposition was not held within the time period provided in G.S. 7B-906(a) and where the permanency planning orders were late under G.S. 7B-907(c), the mother was not entitled to relief, as the mother made no attempt to demonstrate the prejudice required for reversal. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Appeals. —

Allowing the mother to stay the termination proceedings pending an appeal of a custody review order would have precluded compliance with the termination timeline mandated under G.S. 7B-907, G.S. 7B-1109, and G.S. 7B-1110, and this would have been improper. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Concurrent Permanent Placement Plan of Reunification and Adoption Held Proper. —

Concurrent permanent placement plan of reunification and adoption as allowed by G.S. 7B-507(d) did not conflict with the requirement of G.S. 7B-907(a) to obtain permanent placement within a reasonable period of time; concurrent plans leading to adoption of children by their foster parents and reunification with their mother were proper. In re J.J.L., 170 N.C. App. 368, 612 S.E.2d 404, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1010 (2005).

§ 7B-1001. Right to appeal.

CASE NOTES

Immediate Direct Appeal. —

Mother was not entitled to relief from the parental rights termination where the termination petitions were filed more than three months after the limitations period under G.S. 7B-907(e), which was directory rather than mandatory, had run; the mother failed to show that she was prejudiced by the period of delay, as the mother did not take advantage of visitation and did not have contact with the petitioning agency, and the mother, pursuant to G.S. 7B-1001, could have appealed from either the review hearing ceasing efforts to reunify the family or from the permanency planning order that changed the permanency plan to termination of parental rights. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Time For Appeal. —

Any challenge to the neglect adjudication was not properly before the appellate court because the mother did not appeal within 10 days pursuant to G.S. 7B-1001. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Father's appeal of a trial court's order that a county agency pursue the adoption of the father's child and terminate the father's parental rights was dismissed because the order on appeal was not a final order for purposes of appeal as none of the provisions of G.S. 7B-1001 applied. In re A.R.G., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 146, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1335 (2006).

Initial permanency planning order is not a final order under G.S. 7B-1001, and is not subject to an appeal. In re B.N.H., 170 N.C. App. 157, 611 S.E.2d 888, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 885 (2005).

Initial permanency planning order directing adoption for a mother's minor son was not a final order under G.S. 7B-1001 and, therefore, her appeal of that order was dismissed; the initial permanency planning order directing adoption did not change the mother's custodial rights or interest in the proceeding and was not immediately appealable. In re B.N.H., 170 N.C. App. 157, 611 S.E.2d 888, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 885 (2005).

Permanency planning order which continued a child's custody with the department and stated that the permanent plan would be adoption did not change the status quo since custody was given to the department by a previous order, thus the order appealed from did not alter the child's disposition; this was not an order from which the mother was allowed to appeal. In re C.L.S., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 61, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2750 (2005).

Change in Permanency Plan Order Was Dispositional and Hence, Appealable. —

Because the permanency planning order changed the permanent plan from reunification of the children with the father to that of adoption, it was a final order from which appeal could be taken. In re K.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 478, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 710 (2006).

§ 7B-1003. Disposition pending appeal.

CASE NOTES

This section did not deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to terminate the mother's parental rights during the pendency of the custody review order appeal; G.S. 7B-1003 applied only to dependency proceedings, not to termination proceedings, and allowing parents to delay termination proceedings by appealing custody review orders would have thwarted G.S. 7B-100(5), which sought to place children in safe, permanent houses within a reasonable amount of time. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Lack of Timeliness. — Mother was not prejudiced by a trial court's delay in entering its order in a child neglect and pendency proceeding because neither the pendency of the trial court's order, nor an appeal, deprived the mother of reunification with her children; if the mother had complied with the trial court's order, she could have requested a review hearing and sought custody of her children. In re T.S., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 19, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1299 (2006).

ARTICLE 11.

Termination of Parental Rights.

§ 7B-1100. Legislative intent; construction of Article.

CASE NOTES

Guardian Ad Litem Requirement. — Although the mother's parental rights were not terminated for dependency under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6), the trial court erred in failing to appoint the mother a guardian ad litem under former G.S. 7B-1101; the guardian ad litem requirement was triggered because the mother's mental health issues, involving, in part, bipolar disorder, were central to the termination. In re L.W., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 626, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 55 (2006).

§ 7B-1101. Jurisdiction.

CASE NOTES

Guardian Ad Litem Requirement. —

Trial court did not err by not appointing a guardian ad litem for the mother for a termination of parental rights hearing as it was not alleged, pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6), that the mother was incapable of properly caring for her children; additionally, whether the trial court should have appointed a guardian ad litem for the mother in a prior dependency proceeding was not an issue before the court on the appeal of the termination of the mother's parental rights. In re O.C., 171 N.C. App. 457, 615 S.E.2d 391, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1272 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 587 (2005).

Trial court erred when it failed to appoint a guardian ad litem for mother pursuant to prior language of G.S. 7B-1101 after reviewing her psychological evaluation, but still considered her mental illness, even though it never mentioned G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) as a factor in terminating her parental rights. Accordingly, the mother was entitled to a new termination hearing and the appointment of a guardian ad litem. In re T.W., 173 N.C. App. 153, 617 S.E.2d 702, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1922 (2005).

Section G.S. 7B-602(b) Analysis Compared to G.S. 7B-1101 Analysis for Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem. — Court saw no reason why the analysis of the issues arising under G.S. 7B-1101 were not applicable to the same issues arising under G.S. 7B-602(b) with respect to whether to appoint a guardian ad litem; the G.S. 7B-1101 analysis centered on the intertwining of the parent's condition and the child's neglect. In re C.B., 171 N.C. App. 341, 614 S.E.2d 579, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1205 (2005).

While the termination of a mother's parental rights was based on G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1), (7), the original petition alleged grounds for termination pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6), and the trial court considered the mother's substance abuse and mental illness in making that determination; therefore, G.S. 7B-1101 required appointment of a guardian ad litem for the mother, and the failure of the trial court to do so was error. In re K.R.S., 170 N.C. App. 643, 613 S.E.2d 318, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1092 (2005).

Mother Was Not Entitled to Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem. — Mother was not entitled to the appointment of a guardian ad litem in an action to terminate her parental rights; the mother's sparse references to her need to counseling and drug treatment did not rise to the level of being so intertwined with the neglect of her children and to be virtually inseparable and while the Department of Social Services recommended counseling, there was no significant evidence in the record to suggest that the mother's parental rights were terminated due to any mental illness or substance abuse. In re As.L.G., 173 N.C. App. 551, 619 S.E.2d 561, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2116 (2005).

In termination of parental rights action, the trial court was not required to appoint a guardian ad litem for the mother under G.S. 7B-1101, because the termination did not allege dependency. In re J.S.L., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 387, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 883 (2006).

Trial court terminated a mother's parental rights based on: (1) neglect; (2) wilfully leaving the children in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress; (3) wilfully failing to provide financial support to the children; and (4) abandonment of the children for at least six months immediately preceding the filing of the petition for termination of parental rights; the mother did not request that a guardian ad litem (GAL) be appointed. Also, the petition for termination of her parental rights did not allege the mother's incapability to parent the children, and no allegations were asserted, and no showing was made that the mother was incompetent; thus, the trial court was not required to appoint a GAL to the mother under either G.S. 7B-1101 and 35A-1101, or G.S. 1A-1-17. In re D.H., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 920, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1195 (2006).

Failure to Appoint Guardian Ad Litem Is Not Reversible Error. —

In an action to terminate the mother's parental rights, the trial court's failure to appoint the mother a guardian ad litem did not amount to reversible error. There were no circumstances of the type that, of brought to the judge's attention, would have raised a substantial question regarding the mother's competency. In re S.N.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 510, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 717 (2006).

Court Had Jurisdiction. — There is no authority that compels dismissal of an action solely because petitioner fails to include the G.S. 7B-1104(7) statement of fact in a termination petition. In re J.D.S., 170 N.C. App. 244, 612 S.E.2d 350, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1013 (2005), cert. denied, — U.S. —, 360 N.C. 64, 623 S.E.2d 584 (2005).

Jurisdiction During Pendency of Custody Review Order Appeal. — Where the trial court terminated the mother's parental rights during the pendency of the mother's custody review order appeal, G.S. 1-294 did not deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to terminate the mother's parental rights, as such jurisdiction was granted under G.S. 7B-1101 and G.S. 7B-1103. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Jurisdiction Absent Where Petition Was

Insufficient. — Where a termination of rights petition did not address guardianship issues raised by the noncustodial parent respondent, where no custody order was attached, and where the trial court merely announced that it had decided the claimed guardianship was void, without further explanation, it was impossible to review the trial court's decision and the appeals court was forced to hold that the trial court had lacked subject matter jurisdiction due to the facial defects of the petition. In re Z.T.B., 170 N.C. App. 564, 613 S.E.2d 298, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1093 (2005).

Because the petition for termination of parental rights was not accompanied by a copy of the custody order then in effect, the petition failed to confer subject matter jurisdiction on the trial court; that omission need not have been fatal if the Vance County Department of Social Services (DSS) had simply amended the petition by attaching the proper custody order or otherwise ensured the custody order was made a part of the record before the trial court. Thus, it was the failure by the DSS either to attach the custody order to the petition or to remedy that omission that ultimately deprived the trial court of subject matter jurisdiction. Jurisdiction Absent Where the Department of Social Services Did Not Have Custody at the Time the Petition Was Filed. — Since the trial court lacked jurisdiction as the children were not in the custody of the Department of Social Services at the time the petition to terminate the mother's parental rights was filed and the children were not residing in North Carolina pursuant to G.S. 7B-1101, the trial court's order terminating the mother's parental rights was vacated. ## § 7B-1101.1. Parent's right to counsel; guardian ad litem.

CASE NOTES

Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem. — G.S. 7B-1101.1 requires that a guardian ad litem be appointed in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 17 to represent a parent, meaning that where an allegation is made that parental rights should be terminated, a trial court is required to conduct a hearing to determine whether a guardian ad litem should be appointed to represent the parent, and an allegation under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) serves as a triggering mechanism, alerting the trial court that it should conduct a hearing to determine whether a guardian ad litem should be appointed; at the hearing, the trial court must determine whether the parents are incompetent within the meaning of G.S. 35A-1101, such that the individual would be unable to aid in their defense at the termination of parental rights proceeding, and the trial court should always keep in mind that the appointment of a guardian ad litem will divest the parent of their fundamental right to conduct his or her litigation according to their own judgment and inclination. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

Appointment of Guardian Ad Litem Not Required. — When it was alleged that a mother's parental rights to two children should be terminated because she (1) neglected them while they were in an agency's care within the meaning of G.S. 7B-101, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1), (2) willfully left the children in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress to correct the conditions that led to their removal, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), and (3) willfully failed to pay a reasonable portion of the cost of the children's care while in an agency's custody, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(3), there was no requirement that a guardian ad litem be appointed for the parent, even though the petition made reference to the mother's drug abuse and mental illness, because there was no allegation under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) that the mother was incapable of caring for her children, she did not seek a guardian ad litem, and the trial court properly inquired into her competency, under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 17. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

§ 7B-1103. Who may file a petition or motion.

CASE NOTES

Agency's Lack of Standing Based on No Longer Having Custody of a Child. —

Since it was undisputed that the Department of Social Services (DSS) did not have custody of the children on the date upon which the petition was filed and the children were living in South Carolina at the time, at the time of the filing of the DSS petition, DSS lacked standing to petition for termination of parental rights. In re D.D.J., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 808, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 933 (2006).

Guardian ad litem had standing to petition for the termination of a mother's parental rights under G.S. 7B-1103(a)(5), and the trial court had jurisdiction over the termination proceedings, where the child had continuously lived with the guardian ad litem for over two years when the petition for termination was filed. In re E.T.S., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2724 (2005).

Jurisdiction to Terminate Parental Rights During Pendency of Custody Review Order Appeal. — Where the trial court terminated the mother's parental rights during the pendency of the mother's custody review order appeal, G.S. 1-294 did not deprive the trial court of jurisdiction to terminate the mother's parental rights, as such jurisdiction was granted under G.S. 7B-1101 and G.S. 7B-1103. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Two-Year Period in G.S. 7B-1103(a)(5)

Not Tolled. — Two-year period required under G.S. 7B-1103(a)(5) was not tolled until a mother reached the age of majority, even though the mother did not have a guardian ad litem appointed in earlier neglect and dependency proceedings, as the mother was an adult during the entire termination of parental rights proceeding, was represented by counsel, and did not directly attack the prior neglect and dependency proceedings based on the failure to appoint a guardian ad litem for the mother; G.S. 7B-1103(a)(5) was not a statute of limitations, or the equivalent of one. In re E.T.S., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2724 (2005).

While it is a correct statement of the law that a statute of limitations is tolled during the minority of a plaintiff, it does not follow that the two-year requirement of G.S. 7B-1103(a)(5) is a statute of limitations or the equivalent of such; this statute confers standing on the petitioners to file a termination of parental rights proceeding based on their two-year relationship with the child, which is in no manner related to the parent or his or her relationship with the child during that two-year period, and the person or persons with whom legal custody lies during this time period is irrelevant. In re E.T.S., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2724 (2005).

Jurisdiction Absent Where Petition Was Insufficient. — Because the petition for termination of parental rights was not accompanied by a copy of the custody order then in effect, the petition failed to confer subject matter jurisdiction on the trial court; that omission need not have been fatal if the Vance County Department of Social Services (DSS) had simply amended the petition by attaching the proper custody order or otherwise ensured the custody order was made a part of the record before the trial court. Thus, it was the failure by the DSS either to attach the custody order to the petition or to remedy that omission that ultimately deprived the trial court of subject matter jurisdiction. In re T.B., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 895, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1224 (2006).

§ 7B-1104. Petition or motion.

CASE NOTES

Invocation of Court's Jurisdiction. —

Because the petition for termination of parental rights was not accompanied by a copy of the custody order then in effect, the petition failed to confer subject matter jurisdiction on the trial court; that omission need not have been fatal if the Vance County Department of Social Services (DSS) had simply amended the petition by attaching the proper custody order or otherwise ensured the custody order was made a part of the record before the trial court. Thus, it was the failure by the DSS either to attach the custody order to the petition or to remedy that omission that ultimately deprived the trial court of subject matter jurisdiction. In re T.B., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 895, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1224 (2006).

Where Vance County Department of Social Services (DSS) filed a motion for termination of parental rights, the trial court had subject matter jurisdiction only if the record included a copy of an order, in effect when the petition was filed, that awarded DSS custody of the child; that was implicitly recognized by G.S. 7B-1104(5), which set out the requirements for a petition for termination of parental rights, and provided in part that the petition would set forth the name and address of any person or agency to whom custody of the juvenile had been given by a court of North Carolina or any other state, and a copy of the custody order would be attached to the petition or motion for termination. In re T.B., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 895, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1224 (2006).

Petition Held Sufficient. —

Allegations that the mother did not follow through with all of the components of the case plan, tested positive for marijuana, cocaine, and benzodiazepines, failed to hold a job, failed to obtain and maintain stable housing, and failed to pay child support were sufficient to put the mother on notice of neglect allegations. In re A.D.L., 169 N.C. App. 701, 612 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 797 (2005).

There is no authority that compels dismissal of an action solely because petitioner fails to include the G.S. 7B-1104(7) statement of fact in a termination petition. In re J.D.S., 170 N.C. App. 244, 612 S.E.2d 350, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1013 (2005), cert. denied, — U.S. —, 360 N.C. 64, 623 S.E.2d 584 (2005).

Petition Held Insufficient. —

Where a termination of rights petition did not address guardianship issues raised by the noncustodial parent respondent, where no custody order was attached, and where the trial court merely announced that it had decided the claimed guardianship was void, without further explanation, it was impossible to review the trial court's decision and the appeals court was forced to hold that the trial court had lacked subject matter jurisdiction due to the facial defects of the petition. In re Z.T.B., 170 N.C. App. 564, 613 S.E.2d 298, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1093 (2005).

§ 7B-1106. Issuance of summons.

CASE NOTES

Service Upon Child. — Trial court did not err by exercising personal jurisdiction over a mother with regard to terminating her parental rights to her son by serving the summons required by G.S. 7B-1106(a)(5) upon the attorney advocate of the child's guardian ad litem rather than the guardian ad litem, because the guardian ad litem did not object at trial to the sufficiency of service nor did the guardian ad litem argue the issue on appeal; the mother actually lacked standing to challenge service of the summons in that she was not an aggrieved party on that issue. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

Service of Summons. — Though the child was not served the summons required by G.S. 7B-1106(a)(5), nor was the child's guardian ad litem, but rather, the guardian ad litem's attorney advocate received the summons regarding the termination of parental rights proceeding, such procedural irregularity caused no prejudice to the parents and the guardian ad litem never objected to the same. In re B.D., 174 N.C. App. 234, 620 S.E.2d 913, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2387 (2005).

§ 7B-1106.1. Notice in pending child abuse, neglect, or dependency cases.

CASE NOTES

Required Notice. —

Since each notice contained all of the information required by G.S. 7B-1106.1(b), tracking the actual language used in the statute, and the certificate of service attached to each notice of proceeding included the names of all parties, including the mother and her counsel, there was proper notice in the termination of parental rights case. In re J.T.W., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 237, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1677 (2006).

Waiver of Objection to Lack of Notice. —

Mother in a termination of parental rights action waived any objection to improper notice by appearing with counsel at the hearing and failing to object to any lack of notice. In re J.S.L., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 387, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 883 (2006).

§ 7B-1108. Answer or response of parent.

CASE NOTES

Reversal for Failure to Appoint Guardian Ad Litem. —

Trial court erred in failing to appoint a guardian ad litem (GAL) for the child from the beginning of a termination proceeding; a GAL and an attorney advocate performed distinct and separate roles, so the appointment of the attorney advocate as the GAL after three and a half days of testimony was insufficient, even though the advocate had been involved in the case from an earlier time. In re R.A.H., 171 N.C. App. 427, 614 S.E.2d 382, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1256 (2005).

Failure of the record to disclose guardian ad litem papers did not require reversal where the guardian ad litem was noted as present at every hearing prior to and including the termination hearing where she represented the interests of the children. In re A.D.L., 169 N.C. App. 701, 612 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 797 (2005).

§ 7B-1109. Adjudicatory hearing on termination.

CASE NOTES

Voluntary Dismissal of First Petition. —

Fact that county department of social services had dismissed a prior petition for termination of mother's parental rights did not preclude a subsequent petition since the best interests of the children was always the primary focus, with no procedural rule barring the court's continuing jurisdiction over such a matter. In re

L.O.K., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 236, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2476 (2005).

Timeline of Termination Proceedings. —

Allowing the mother to stay the termination proceedings pending an appeal of a custody review order would have precluded compliance with the termination timeline mandated under G.S. 7B-907, G.S. 7B-1109, and G.S. 7B-1110, and this would have been improper. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Timeliness of Hearing. — Where the termination of parental rights hearing was initially set for less than one month outside that 90-day window, by agreement of the parties, the hearing was continued, and took place within the 90-day continuance window, and there was no showing of prejudice, there was no due process violation. In re J.T.W., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 237, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1677 (2006).

Failure to Sign Termination Order Within 30 Days. —

Mother was not entitled to reversal of an order terminating her parental rights despite the fact that it was entered more than 30 days after the hearing because she failed to show that she suffered prejudice as a result of the late order. In re P.L.P., 173 N.C. App. 1, 618 S.E.2d 241, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1921 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

Extraordinary delay of almost one year after the termination hearing in entering the order terminating a mother's parental rights pursuant to G.S. 7B-1109(e), G.S. 7B-1110(a) was sufficient to show prejudice to warrant reversal and a new hearing. In re T.W., 173 N.C. App. 153, 617 S.E.2d 702, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1922 (2005).

Trial court's entry of an order 83 days following the termination of parental rights hearing did not constitute prejudice per se, requiring a new hearing; the mother failed to articulate any prejudice she suffered. In re S.N.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 510, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 717 (2006).

Delay in Entering Order Requires Prejudice for Reversal. — Trial court erred by not entering its termination order within the statutory time frame, but reversal was not required since the parents did not show how they were prejudiced by the delay. In re D.R., 172 N.C. App. 300, 616 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1578 (2005).

Delay in Entering Termination Order. — Seven month delay between a termination hearing and the trial court's entry of its termination order ran counter to the legislative intent in enacting the 30-day requirement of G.S. 7B-1109(e) and G.S. 7B-1110(a), and prejudiced the mother, who was prevented from filing an appeal until seven months after the hearing; pending the appellate court's determination of the appeal, the child remained in the department's custody, and subsequent court proceedings involving the child were limited to those "temporary" orders authorized by G.S. 7B-1113. In re T.L.T., 170 N.C. App. 430, 612 S.E.2d 436, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1008 (2005).

Delay in Hearing Due to Request for Counsel. — The trial court did not err by holding a hearing on the petition to terminate the mother's parental rights outside of the initial 90-day time requirement where the other's request for appointment of counsel led to the delay. In re S.N.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 510, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 717 (2006).

Where the trial court did not reduce the parental termination to writing until seven months after the termination hearing in violation of the 30-day requirement of G.S. 7B-1109(e), -1110(a), -1111(a); all parties were prejudiced, as the mother and child lost time together, the foster parents were in a state of flux, and the adoptive parents were unable to complete their family plan. In re D.S., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 31, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 711 (2006).

Untimely termination of parental rights hearing did not require dismissal of the termination petition because the father's own motion for a continuance added 68 days to the trial court's original error and the father was not prejudiced thereby. In re D.J.D., 171 N.C. App. 230, 615 S.E.2d 26, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1268 (2005).

Trial court's failure to timely enter its adjudication and disposition order in a termination of parental rights action did not warrant reversal because that would only further delay the determination regarding the children's custody in opposition to the intent of G.S. 7B-1109(e) and G.S. 7B-1110(a). In re A.D.L., 169 N.C. App. 701, 612 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 797 (2005).

Mother was awarded a new termination of parental rights trial where the written order was not entered until five months after the trial court orally announced its decision; this violated G.S. 7B-1109 and G.S. 7B-1110, which required entry to be made within 30 days, and prejudice was shown, as the delay was unnecessary, closure was not obtained, and records and transcripts were either misplaced or irretrievable. In re C.J.B., 171 N.C. App. 132, 614 S.E.2d 368, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1168 (2005).

Finding of Neglect. —

Order terminating mother's parental rights to her four minor children was proper because the children were previously adjudicated neglected, there was a probability of repetition of neglect if returned to the mother, four to five trial placements with the mother had failed, the mother had a history of failing to show a positive response to counseling and educational programs, the mother left a stable job and housing to move to another state where she did not have employment or independent housing, and she had been unable to cope with the pressure of caring for the children at the same time, with such findings being sufficient to establish neglect under G. S. 7B-1111(a)(1). In re L.O.K., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 236, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2476 (2005).

Late Entry of Termination Order Held Reversible Error. — Trial court reversibly erred in failing to enter an order terminating a mother's parental rights over her children until over 180 days after the termination hearing, in violation of G.S. 7B-1109(e) and G.S. 7B-1110(a), because the long delay was highly prejudicial to the mother, the children, and the foster parent. In re L.E.B., 169 N.C. ## § 7B-1110. Determination of best interests of the juvenile.

CASE NOTES

The termination of parental rights statute provides for a two-stage termination proceeding, etc.

If a petitioner meets its burden of proving at least one ground for termination of parental rights exists under G.S. 7B-1111(a), then a trial court proceeds to the dispositional phase and determines whether termination of parental rights is in the best interest of the child. In re D.M.W., 173 N.C. App. 679, 619 S.E.2d 910, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2308 (2005).

Timeline of termination proceedings. — Allowing the mother to stay the termination proceedings pending an appeal of a custody review order would have precluded compliance with the termination timeline mandated under G.S. 7B-907, G.S. 7B-1109, and G.S. 7B-1110, and this would have been improper. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Family Integrity May Be Considered. —

During the adjudicatory phase of a termination of parental rights proceeding, a trial court does not consider whether there is a relative who can take custody of the minor child, but focuses on whether there is evidence to support termination on the grounds alleged in the petition, and if a fit relative were to come forward and declare their desire to have custody of the child, the court may consider this during the dispositional phase as grounds for why it would not be in the child's best interests to terminate the parent's parental rights. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

Termination of Parental Rights Supported by Child's Best Interests. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in finding that it was in the best interests of the children under G.S. 7B-1110(a) that the mother's parental rights be terminated; while the mother emphasized the strong bond with the children and that the mother made progress doing what the trial court ordered, the trial court was entitled to give greater weight to other evidence, including the mother's repeated statements that the mother could not handle the responsibility of parenting the children. In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in concluding that it was in a child's best interests to terminate a mother's parental rights where: (1) the mother failed to maintain stable housing, was unemployed, and failed to comply with a child support order, (2) the mother had left the child with others, including an incident initiating the child's removal from her custody, (3) the mother had attempted suicide, had not cooperated with social workers, did not follow through with mental health counseling, and did not complete parenting classes, (4) the mother only sporadically visited and contacted the child for over five years, (5) the child had been living with a guardian ad litem (GAL) for over five years and considered the GAL's step-son her big brother, and (6) the mother had been aware of the GAL's intent to adopt the child for three years, yet her personal situation had not improved or stabilized. In re E.T.S., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2724 (2005).

At the dispositional stage, a court is required to issue an order of termination unless it determines that the best interests of the child require that the parental rights of such parent not be terminated; a trial court did not err in refusing to conclude that termination was not in the best interests of the child where it found, inter alia, that the father was a convicted sex offender who violated his parole and was returned to prison while the child was in the custody of Department of Social Services, that the father was permitted only supervised visits with the child, was forbidden to reside in the same house with the child, and was ordered to complete sex offender treatment, which he failed to do. In re S.B.M., 173 N.C. App. 634,

Termination of the mother's parental rights was in the best interest of the child where, inter alia, the mother demonstrated no ability to establish a safe and stable home for the child, despite repeated offers of funding and logistical assistance from petitioner Durham County Department of Social Services. In re L.A.B., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 61, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1409 (2006).

The evidence supported a finding that termination of parental rights was in the best interest of the child; etc. —

There were sufficient findings to support the termination of parental rights order, including the fact that the father failed to propose an alternate replacement to take care of the children, that the father failed to provide any contact, love, or affection for the children, and that the father failed to attempt to contact the children while he was incarcerated. In re D.J.D., 171 N.C. App. 230, 615 S.E.2d 26, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1268 (2005).

Failure to Enter Written Termination Order Within 30 Days. — Mother was awarded a new termination of parental rights trial where the written order was not entered until five months after the trial court orally announced its decision; this violated G.S. 7B-1109 and G.S. 7B-1110, which required entry to be made within 30 days, and prejudice was shown, as the delay was unnecessary, closure was not obtained, and records and transcripts were either misplaced or irretrievable. In re C.J.B., 171 N.C. App. 132, 614 S.E.2d 368, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1168 (2005).

Trial court's six-month delay in entering order terminating parental rights was so prejudicial to the rights of the parent, the child, and the foster parents who hoped to adopt that the decree was vacated and the matter remanded for a new hearing. In re O.S.W., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 349, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 70 (2006).

Where the trial court did not reduce the parental termination to writing until seven months after the termination hearing in violation of the 30-day requirement of G.S. 7B-1109(e), -1110(a), -1111(a); all parties were prejudiced, as the mother and child lost time together, the foster parents were in a state of flux, and the adoptive parents were unable to complete their family plan. In re D.S., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 31, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 711 (2006).

Delay in Entering Termination Order. — Seven month delay between a termination hearing and the trial court's entry of its termination order ran counter to the legislative intent in enacting the 30-day requirement of G.S. 7B-1109(e) and G.S. 7B-1110(a), and prejudiced the mother, who was prevented from filing an appeal until seven months after the hearing; pending the appellate court's determination of the appeal, the child remained in the department's custody, and subsequent court proceedings involving the child were limited to those "temporary" orders authorized by G.S. 7B-1113. In re T.L.T., 170 N.C. App. 430, 612 S.E.2d 436, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1008 (2005).

Extraordinary delay of almost one year after the termination hearing in entering the order terminating a mother's parental rights pursuant to G.S. 7B-1109(e), G.S. 7B-1110(a) was sufficient to show prejudice to warrant reversal and a new hearing. In re T.W., 173 N.C. App. 153, 617 S.E.2d 702, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1922 (2005).

Delay in Entering Termination Order Requires Prejudice for Reversal. — Trial court erred by not entering its termination order within the statutory time frame, but reversal was not required since the parents did not show how they were prejudiced by the delay. In re D.R., 172 N.C. App. 300, 616 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1578 (2005).

Delay in Filing Termination Order. — Father was required to show prejudice from a trial court's delay in filing its termination order, but his sole argument was that the five-month delay prejudiced him by the delay of his right to appeal and to achieve finality in the relationship with his daughter before he faced a potentially long incarceration; in light of the father's continuous incarceration since before the termination hearing, there was insufficient prejudice to warrant a new trial. In re S.B.M., 173 N.C. App. 634, 619 S.E.2d 583, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2115 (2005).

Trial court's failure to timely enter its adjudication and disposition order in a termination of parental rights action did not warrant reversal because that would only further delay the determination regarding the children's custody in opposition to the intent of G.S. 7B-1109(e) and G.S. 7B-1110(a). In re A.D.L., 169 N.C. App. 701, 612 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 797 (2005).

Trial court reversibly erred in failing to enter an order terminating a mother's parental rights over her children until over 180 days after the termination hearing, in violation of G.S. 7B-1109(e) and G.S. 7B-1110(a), because the long delay was highly prejudicial to the mother, the children, and the foster parent. ## § 7B-1111. Grounds for terminating parental rights.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Neglect.
- III. Failure to Pay Reasonable Portion of Cost of Care.
- V. Illustrative Cases.
- VI. Willfully Leaving Child in Foster Care.
- VII. Failure to Establish Paternity, Legitimate Child, or Provide Support or Care.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Subject Matter Jurisdiction. — Trial court had subject matter jurisdiction over a case involving termination of a mother's parental rights to her son, and the trial court did not err in denying the mother's motion to stay the termination proceeding pending resolution of her appeal of a prior custody order, because case law established that the trial court retained jurisdiction to terminate parental rights during the pendency of the custody order appeal and, where a termination order is entered while a prior custody order is pending, the termination order necessarily renders the pending appeal moot. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

Appeal With Regard to Deceased Child Not Moot. — Mother's appeal of termination of parental rights as to her deceased child was not moot because the order terminating her rights as to that child could have a bearing on subsequent proceedings to terminate her rights as to her other child. In re C.C., 173 N.C. App. 375, 618 S.E.2d 813, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2017 (2005).

Grounds for Termination. —

Allowing the trial court to terminate the mother's parental rights during the pendency of the custody review order appeal did not prejudice the mother's rights, as the termination proceedings required that a ground for termination under G.S. 7B-1111 be established and the proceedings afforded the mother an opportunity to challenge the termination order on appeal under G.S. 7B-1113. In re R.T.W., 359 N.C. 539, 614 S.E.2d 489, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 646 (2005).

Finding of Any One of the Enumerated Grounds Is Sufficient to Support Termination. —

Because the appellate court found grounds for termination of a mother's parental rights were properly established pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), the court did not need to address the mother's further arguments regarding termination pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1) and G.S. 7B-1111(a)(3). In re O.C., 171 N.C. App. 457, 615 S.E.2d 391, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1272 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 587 (2005).

When it was alleged that a mother's parental rights to two children should be terminated because she (1) neglected them while they were in an agency's care within the meaning of G.S. 7B-101, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1), (2) willfully left the children in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress to correct the conditions that led to their removal, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), and (3) willfully failed to pay a reasonable portion of the cost of the children's care while in an agency's custody, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(3), and the petition was sustained on all three grounds, when the mother objected to findings as to only one ground on appeal, the other findings were binding, under N.C. R. App. P. 10, and, as only one ground had to be found to terminate parental rights, it was unnecessary to consider the mother's appellate argument as to the ground she challenged. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

Evidence was sufficient to support termination, etc. —

Termination of a father's parental rights was supported by evidence which showed that the father's history of domestic violence toward the child's mother led to the child's removal, that the father agreed to participation in a domestic violence program but failed to complete that program, and failed to show that different counseling he participated in addressed the domestic violence issue. In re D.M., 171 N.C. App. 244, 615 S.E.2d 669, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1263 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 162, 622 S.E.2d 494 (2005).

Trial court erred in failing to appoint a guardian ad litem for a mother in an action to terminate her parental rights; etc.

Although the mother's parental rights were not terminated for dependency under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6), the trial court erred in failing to appoint the mother a guardian ad litem under former G.S. 7B-1101; the guardian ad litem requirement was triggered because the mother's mental health issues, involving, in part, bipolar disorder, were central to the termination. In re L.W., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 626, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 55 (2006).

Trial court erred when it failed to appoint a guardian ad litem for mother pursuant to G.S. 7B-1101 after reviewing her psychological evaluation, but still considered her mental illness, even though it never mentioned G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) as a factor in terminating her parental rights. Accordingly, the mother was entitled to a new termination hearing and the appointment of a guardian ad litem. In re T.W., 173 N.C. App. 153, 617 S.E.2d 702, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1922 (2005).

Trial court did not err by not appointing a guardian ad litem for the mother for a termination of parental rights hearing as it was not alleged, pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6), that the mother was incapable of properly caring for her children; additionally, whether the trial court should have appointed a guardian ad litem for the mother in a prior dependency proceeding was not an issue before the court on the appeal of the termination of the mother's parental rights. In re O.C., 171 N.C. App. 457, 615 S.E.2d 391, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1272 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 587 (2005).

While the termination of a mother's parental rights was based on G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1), (7), the original petition alleged grounds for termination pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6), and the trial court considered the mother's substance abuse and mental illness in making that determination; therefore, G.S. 7B-1101 required appointment of a guardian ad litem for the mother, and the failure of the trial court to do so was error. In re K.R.S., 170 N.C. App. 643, 613 S.E.2d 318, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1092 (2005).

Assignments of Error Abandoned. — Mother's cursory argument concerning neglect and abandonment was predicated upon not receiving proper notice of the motion to terminate and thus, her assignment of error concerning G.S. 7B-1111 were deemed abandoned under N.C. R. App. P. 28(b)(6). In re P.L.P., 173 N.C. App. 1, 618 S.E.2d 241, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1921 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

Failure to Enter Written Termination Order Within 30 Days. — Where the trial court did not reduce the parental termination to writing until seven months after the termination hearing in violation of the 30-day requirement of G.S. 7B-1109(e), -1110(a), -1111(a); all parties were prejudiced, as the mother and child lost time together, the foster parents were in a state of flux, and the adoptive parents were unable to complete their family plan. In re D.S., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 31, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 711 (2006).

Failure to File Action Within 12-Month Recovery Period. — Trial court erred in terminating a mother's parental rights pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), as an agency filed the petition inside the statutory 12-month period for showing progress, as the period ran from the entry of the first custody order rather than from the mother's initial voluntary separation from the child. In re A.C.F., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 729, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 529 (2006).

Duration Requirement Defined. — The "for more than 12 months" requirement in G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2) means the duration of time beginning when the child was "left" in foster care or placement outside the home pursuant to a court order, and ending when the motion or petition for termination of parental rights was filed. In re A.C.F., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 729, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 529 (2006).

Removal Defined. — The legislature did not intend for any separation between a parent and a child to trigger the termination ground set forth in G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), failure to make reasonable progress; instead, the statute refers only to circumstances where a court has entered a court order requiring that a child be in foster care or other placement outside the home. In re A.C.F., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 729, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 529 (2006).

Rights Not Properly Terminated. — Termination of the father's parental rights was reversed where the father voluntarily agreed to and completed the requirements of the case plan, and no finding had been made that the father's failure to pay child support was willful or that father willfully left the children in foster care more than 12 months without making reasonable progress toward reunification. In re J.S.L., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 387, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 883 (2006).

Applied in In re A.K., 360 N.C. 449, 628 S.E.2d 753, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 44 (2006).

Cited in In re As.L.G., 173 N.C. App. 551, 619 S.E.2d 561, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2116 (2005); In re S.N.H., — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 510, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 717 (2006); In re D.H., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 920, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1195 (2006).

II. NEGLECT.

Neglected Juvenile. —

Although G.S. 7B-101(9), G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) concerned dependency, those provisions are applicable to termination of parental rights proceedings where neglect is pursued. In re L.W., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 626, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 55 (2006).

And Must Independently Determine If Neglect Exists at Time of Hearing. —

Trial court erred in terminating mother's parental rights based on neglect because the Department of Social Services presented no evidence that the mother could not, at the time of the hearing, adequately parent her children. Two of the witnesses presented by the Department had not been involved with the family in the two to three years prior to the termination hearing, and a third, the social worker last assigned to the case, presented no evidence that the mother was unfit as a parent at the time of the hearing. In re C.C., 173 N.C. App. 375, 618 S.E.2d 813, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2017 (2005).

Termination of parental rights by reason of neglect upheld, etc. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in terminating a mother's parental rights based on neglect where: (1) the mother failed to maintain stable housing and was unemployed, (2) the mother failed to comply with a child support order, (3) the mother had left the child with others, including an incident initiating the child's removal from her custody, (4) the mother failed to provide proper medication for the child, (5) the mother had attempted suicide, had not cooperated with social workers, did not follow through with mental health counseling, and did not complete parenting classes, and (6) the mother only sporadically visited and contacted the child for over five years. In re E.T.S., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 300, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2724 (2005).

Order terminating mother's parental rights to her four minor children was proper where the children were previously adjudicated neglected, there was a probability of repetition of neglect if returned to the mother, four to five trial placements with the mother had failed, the mother had a history of failing to show a positive response to counseling and educational programs, the mother left a stable job and housing to move to another state where she did not have employment or independent housing, and she had been unable to cope with the pressure of caring for the children at the same time, with such findings being sufficient to establish neglect under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1). In re L.O.K., — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 236, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2476 (2005).

Neglect Not Shown. — Trial court erred in concluding that grounds existed under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1) to terminate the mother's parental rights, where there was no prior adjudication of neglect. There was a prior adjudication of delinquency, but the mother had already lost custody; thus, there was no evidence before the trial court that the mother had neglected the child while the child was in the mother's care. In re J.G.B., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 450, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 978 (2006).

Termination Not Upheld. —

Department of social services did not meet its burden under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1) of proving by clear, cogent, and convincing evidence that a mother, at the time of her termination of parental rights hearing, had not taken substantial steps and made reasonable progress under her case plan because, while the mother, who had been incarcerated, did not complete substance abuse treatment, domestic violence counseling, and parenting classes that the department recommended, she did complete alternative treatment and counseling programs. In re D.M.W., 173 N.C. App. 679, 619 S.E.2d 910, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2308 (2005).

Because the trial court's findings did not support the conclusion that the mother failed to make reasonable progress in correcting the conditions that led to a finding of neglect and the child's removal, the mother's rights were improperly terminated. In re J.T.W., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 237, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1677 (2006).

III. FAILURE TO PAY REASONABLE PORTION OF COST OF CARE.

Ability to Pay. — Trial court does not err by failing to make a finding of "ability to pay" where the grounds to terminate are those set forth in G.S. 7B-1111(a)(4) or G.S. 7B-1111(a)(5)d. In re J.D.S., 170 N.C. App. 244, 612 S.E.2d 350, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1013 (2005), cert. denied, — U.S. —, 360 N.C. 64, 623 S.E.2d 584 (2005).

The court erred in failing to make a specific finding as to an incarcerated parent's ability to pay, etc.

Trial court's order terminating a mother's parental rights under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(3) was reversed because without findings regarding the mother's ability or means to pay to support the child, the trial court erred in terminating the mother's parental rights under § 7B-1111(a)(3). In re D.M.W., 173 N.C. App. 679, 619 S.E.2d 910, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2308 (2005).

V. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.

Mental Illness of Parent. —

G.S. 7B-1101.1 requires that a guardian ad litem be appointed in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 17 to represent a parent, meaning that where an allegation is made that parental rights should be terminated, a trial court is required to conduct a hearing to determine whether a guardian ad litem should be appointed to represent the parent, and an allegation under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(6) serves as a triggering mechanism, alerting the trial court that it should conduct a hearing to determine whether a guardian ad litem should be appointed; at the hearing, the trial court must determine whether the parents are incompetent within the meaning of G.S. 35A-1101, such that the individual would be unable to aid in their defense at the termination of parental rights proceeding, and the trial court should always keep in mind that the appointment of a guardian ad litem will divest the parent of their fundamental right to conduct his or her litigation according to their own judgment and inclination. In re J.A.A., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 45, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2706 (2005).

Rights Properly Terminated. —

There were sufficient findings to support the termination of parental rights order, including the fact that the father failed to propose an alternate replacement to take care of the children, that the father failed to provide any contact, love, or affection for the children, and that the father failed to attempt to contact the children while he was incarcerated. In re D.J.D., 171 N.C. App. 230, 615 S.E.2d 26, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1268 (2005).

Mother's parental rights were properly terminated, under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1) and (2) as she neglected her children and willfully left them in foster care for more than 12 months without showing reasonable progress, after the children had been returned to her once, as clear, cogent and convincing evidence showed she did not (1) complete required parenting, budgeting, and homemaking classes, (2) obtain mental health counseling, (3) have a phone, or (4) keep a clean home, and she offered no specific plan for the children's care while she worked, if they were returned, and the evidence showed her residential instability. In re J.W., 173 N.C. App. 450, 619 S.E.2d 534, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2109 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 780 (2006).

G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2) provides for termination of parental rights if a parent has willfully left a juvenile in foster care or placement outside the home for more than 12 months without showing to the satisfaction of the court that reasonable progress under the circumstances has been made in correcting those conditions which led to the removal of the juvenile, and willfulness may be found where a parent has made some attempt to regain custody of the child but has failed to exhibit reasonable progress or a positive response toward the diligent efforts of a department of social services; extremely limited progress is not reasonable progress. In re J.W., 173 N.C. App. 450, 619 S.E.2d 534, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2109 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 780 (2006).

Fact that the father could have written but did not do so, that he made no efforts to provide anything for the minor child, that he did not provide any love, nurturing, or support for the minor child, that he would continue to neglect the minor child if she were placed in his care, and that he would be incarcerated until the child reached the age of majority provided clear, cogent, and convincing evidence to support the termination of his parental rights. In re P.L.P., 173 N.C. App. 1, 618 S.E.2d 241, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1921 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

Evidence including the transient state of the mother's housing, the mother's untreated hygiene issues, and the mother's failure to complete parenting classes was sufficient to support termination of the mother's parental rights under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(9). In re L.A.B., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 61, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1409 (2006).

Reasonable Progress Shown. — Mother made reasonable progress in correcting the conditions that led to the removal of her children during more than 12 months that the children were in the custody of the Department of Social Services; among other things she attended family education sessions and parenting classes, acquired appropriate housing, and maintained her home. In Determining Whether Adequate Services Were Provided Court Properly Considered Progress Up Until Time of Hearing. — Nothing in the record supported the mother's contention that the trial court erred in terminating the mother's parental rights because the Department of Social Services failed to provide the mother with adequate services upon the mother's reaching the age of majority. The mother reached the age of majority more than a year before the termination hearing and the trial court properly considered evidence of the mother's progress up until the time of the hearing. In re J.G.B., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 450, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 978 (2006).

VI. WILLFULLY LEAVING CHILD IN FOSTER CARE.

Two Part Analysis to Be Performed By the Court. — Trial court, to find grounds to terminate a parent's rights under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), must perform a two part analysis, as the trial court must determine by clear, cogent and convincing evidence: (1) that a child has been willfully left by the parent in foster care or placement outside the home for over 12 months; and (2) as of the time of the hearing, also as demonstrated by clear, cogent and convincing evidence, that the parent has not made reasonable progress under the circumstances to correct the conditions which led to the removal of the child. Evidence and findings which support a determination of reasonable progress may parallel or differ from that which supports the determination of willfulness in leaving the child in placement outside the home. In re O.C., 171 N.C. App. 457, 615 S.E.2d 391, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1272 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 587 (2005).

Failure to Show Progress. —

Mother's parental rights were terminated, pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), because the mother willfully left her children in foster care for over 12 months, and clear, cogent, and convincing evidence demonstrated that the mother had not made reasonable progress to correct the conditions which led to the removal of the children as the mother failed to comply with a case plan in that she did not complete substance abuse programs, pursue a General Education Degree, complete parenting classes, or obtain employment. In re O.C., 171 N.C. App. 457, 615 S.E.2d 391, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1272 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 587 (2005).

Evidence was competent to support termination of the mother's parental rights pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2) where the finding indicated that the mother willfully left the children in foster care placement outside the home for more than 12 months without showing that reasonable progress had been made to correct those conditions which led to the removal of the children. In re A.D.L., 169 N.C. App. 701, 612 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 797 (2005).

Finding of any one of the grounds enumerated in G.S. 7B-1111 was sufficient to terminate respondent's parental rights, and a trial court's conclusion of law which stated: "The father has willfully left the child in foster care for more than twelve (12) months without showing to the satisfaction of the Court that reasonable progress under the circumstances has been made in correcting those conditions which led to the removal of the child" was a sufficient basis to terminate the father's parental rights. In re S.B.M., 173 N.C. App. 634, 619 S.E.2d 583, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2115 (2005).

Finding of any one of the grounds enumerated in G.S. 7B-1111 was sufficient to terminate respondent's parental rights, and a trial court's conclusion of law which stated: "The father has willfully left the child in foster care for more than twelve (12) months without showing to the satisfaction of the Court that reasonable progress under the circumstances has been made in correcting those conditions which led to the removal of the child" was a sufficient basis to terminate the father's parental rights. In re S.B.M., 173 N.C. App. 634, 619 S.E.2d 583, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2115 (2005).

Time Period for Reasonable Progress. —

Where the trial court relied upon the incorrect standard when it found that grounds existed to terminate the mother's parental rights under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(2), a provision that provided that termination could occur if the mother willfully left the children in foster care or placement outside their home for more than 12 months without making reasonable progress in 12 months, the error was harmless, as grounds also existed for termination for neglect under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(1) and for willful abandonment under G.S. 7B-1111(a)(7). In re C.L.C., 171 N.C. App. 438, 615 S.E.2d 704, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1316 (2005).

Leaving Held "Willful." —

Termination of parental rights of a mother and father were upheld on appeal, pursuant to G.S. 7B-1111, where the evidence showed that the parents were neglectful in leaving the child for over 12 months in foster care, failing to make any progress toward unification, and engaging in sexual abuse with the child. In re B.D., 174 N.C. App. 234, 620 S.E.2d 913, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2387 (2005).

Willful Leaving Not Shown. —

Where none of the court's findings touched directly on the mother's ability to provide her child with proper care, supervision and discipline, and the findings did not support the conclusion that the mother failed to make reasonable progress in correcting the conditions that led to the child's removal, the court erred in finding the mother willfully left the child in foster care for 12 months. In re J.T.W., — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 237, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1677 (2006).

Failure to Adequately Consider Mother's Age. — In a termination of parental rights action, the trial court failed to adequately address the mother's age, in terms of whether the mother willfully left the child in foster care for 12-months prior to the filing of the petition. The mother's living in the same foster home as the child did not necessarily constitute willfully leaving the child in foster care. In re J.G.B., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 450, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 978 (2006).

VII. FAILURE TO ESTABLISH PATERNITY, LEGITIMATE CHILD, OR PROVIDE SUPPORT OR CARE.

Termination Appropriate. —

Denial of an adoption agency's petition for the termination of a father's parental rights was reversed as the trial court did not find that the father, before the petition was filed, established paternity judicially, legitimated the child either through judicial process or marriage to the mother, or provided the mother with substantial financial support or consistent care. Implementation of Treatment Staffing Model at Youth Development Centers. — Session Laws 2005-276, ss. 16.6(a) through (c), as amended by Session Laws 2006-66, s. 15.6(a), provides: “(a) The Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention shall report December 31, 2005, and quarterly thereafter during the 2005-2007 biennium to the Chairs of the Senate and House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety and to the Joint Corrections, Crime Control, and Juvenile Justice Oversight Committee on the treatment staffing model being piloted at Samarkand and Stonewall Jackson Youth Development Centers. The report shall include a list of total positions at each facility by job class, whether the position is vacant or filled, whether positions were filled from internal employees or new employees, and the training and certification status of each position. Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety and the Joint Corrections, Crime Control, and Juvenile Justice Oversight Committee on the implementation of the treatment staffing model at Dobbs, Dillon, and Juvenile Evaluation Center Youth Development Centers. The Department shall identify the number of positions reallocated to the new treatment job classes and the source of funding for those positions.

“(c) The Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention shall report to the Chairs of the Senate and House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety and the Joint Corrections, Crime Control, and Juvenile Justice Oversight Committee by November 10, 2006, on the final recommended staffing plan for youth development centers for the 2007-2008 fiscal year. “(2) The total recommended staffing by position classification for each youth development center. Staffing by shift shall be provided for each housing unit as well as justification for the level and type of staff on each shift.

“(3) The total cost and cost per bed for each youth development center to implement the staffing model.

“(4) The primary basis for the number of staff at each youth development center by classification.

“(5) An identification of other states that have implemented a treatment based staffing model, how the staffing patterns compare to the Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention proposal, and any research on the benefits and outcomes of using the treatment based approach in these states.”

Delegation of Authority. —

Because a trial court ordered a juvenile defendant to pay restitution and participate in a residential treatment program, it did not impermissibly delegate authority; instead, defendant was ordered to pay restitution, but the amount was left to be determined until the victim's medical bills were provided to the trial court, which comported with G.S. 7B-2506. In re M.A.B., 170 N.C. App. 192, 611 S.E.2d 886, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 894 (2005).

Confinement Not Authorized. — When a trial court found that a juvenile appellant violated his probation, it was governed by G.S. 7B-2510, and was authorized to order a new disposition at Level 2, the next higher level from the original disposition at Level 1; commitment was not an allowable Level 2 disposition, so the trial court was not authorized to impose commitment, stayed or unstayed. Probationary Conditions Proper. — Probationary conditions in juvenile defendant's manslaughter adjudication that required defendant to visit and put flowers on the victim's grave site, wear a necklace with the victim's picture, and not participate in certain school

Transfer of Custody to Department of Social Services Was Proper. — Trial court was authorized to grant custody of respondent, who had been adjudicated delinquent based on a finding that respondent committed involuntary manslaughter, to the Department of Social Services for purposes of obtaining necessary evaluation and treatment pursuant to G.S. 7B-2506(1)(c). Respondent had a history of aggressive behavior directed at younger children and a facility that offered 24-hour monitoring would ensure that respondent did not cause any further harm to other children. ## SUBCHAPTER III. JUVENILE RECORDS.

ARTICLE 31.

Disclosure of Juvenile Information.

§ 7B-3100. Disclosure of information about juveniles.

(a) The Department, after consultation with the Conference of Chief District Court Judges, shall adopt rules designating certain local agencies that are authorized to share information concerning juveniles in accordance with the provisions of this section. Agencies so designated shall share with one another, upon request and to the extent permitted by federal law and regulations, information that is in their possession that is relevant to any assessment of a report of child abuse, neglect, or dependency or the provision or arrangement of protective services in a child abuse, neglect, or dependency case by a local department of social services pursuant to the authority granted under Chapter 7B of the General Statutes or to any case in which a petition is filed alleging that a juvenile is abused, neglected, dependent, undisciplined, or delinquent and shall continue to do so until the protective services case is closed by the local department of social services, or if a petition is filed when the juvenile is no longer subject to the jurisdiction of juvenile court. Agencies that may be designated as “agencies authorized to share information” include local mental health facilities, local health departments, local departments of social services, local law enforcement agencies, local school administrative units, the district’s district attorney’s office, the Department of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, and the Office of Guardian ad Litem Services of the Administrative Office of the Courts. Any information shared among agencies pursuant to this section shall remain confidential, shall be withheld from public inspection, and shall be used only for the protection of the juvenile and others or to improve the educational opportunities of the juvenile, and shall be released in accordance with the provisions of the Family Educational and Privacy Rights Act as set forth in 20 U.S.C. § 1232g. Nothing in this section or any other provision of law shall preclude any other necessary sharing of information among agencies. Nothing herein shall be deemed to require the disclosure or release of any information in the possession of a district attorney.

(b) Disclosure of information concerning any juvenile under investigation or alleged to be within the jurisdiction of the court that would reveal the identity of that juvenile is prohibited except that publication of pictures of runaways is permitted with the permission of the parents. (1979, c. 815, s. 1; 1987, c. 297; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 7, s. 1; 1995, c. 462, s. 4; c. 509, s. 5; 1997-459, s. 2; 1998-202, s. 6; 2000-137, s. 3; 2006-205, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-205, s. 2, effective August 8, 2006, in the second sentence of subsection (a), substituted “request and to the extent permitted by federal law and regulations” for “request,” added the language “any assessment of a report . . . Chapter 7B of the General Statutes or to” and “the protective services case is closed by the local department of social services, or if a petition is filed when.”

placement with relatives risked undermining the Interstate Compact on the Placement of Children (ICPC), G.S. 7B-3800, as home studies of out-of-state relatives required by the ICPC were often not completed until a review hearing was held. In re L.L., 172 N.C. ### CASE NOTES

Mental Health Records Previously Admitted Into Evidence. — Trial court did not err by considering mental health records of a mother contained within the underlying file and previously admitted into evidence in proceedings to terminate her parental rights, because the mental health records challenged by the mother were originally admitted into evidence during a permanency planning review hearing and were not challenged by the mother at that time. In re J.B., 172 N.C. App. 1, 616 S.E.2d 264, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1589 (2005).

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- IV. Compelled Disclosure.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Exclusion of Statement From Treating Physician. — Exclusion of a written response from a treating physician, which was in response to a facsimile sent by defense counsel that detailed three questions regarding causation of an employee's alleged work-related injury and subsequent disability, was proper since the communication was ex parte and consisted of interrogatories to a non-party, which were not authorized by any caselaw precedent nor any rule of evidence. Mayfield v. Parker Hannifin, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 243, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2472 (2005).

IV. COMPELLED DISCLOSURE.

Disclosure Properly Compelled. —

When defendant was charged with second-degree murder for causing another's death by his drunk driving, his medical records, showing the concentration of alcohol in his blood immediately after the incident, were properly admitted, under G.S. 8-53, because the trial court did not abuse its discretion in finding that the admission of such records was necessary for the proper administration of justice. State v. Westbrook, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 73, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2704 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in ordering a driver to produce privileged medical records, which mentioned or reflected the results of any tests performed to determine the driver's blood alcohol content and the presence of controlled substances in his body at the time of the accident, in the interest of justice. Roadway Express, Inc. v. Hayes, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 41, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1297 (2006).

§ 8-53.1. Physician-patient and nurse privilege waived in child abuse; disclosure of information in impaired driving accident cases.

(a) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 8-53 and G.S. 8-53.13, the physician-patient or nurse privilege shall not be a ground for excluding evidence regarding the abuse or neglect of a child under the age of 16 years or regarding an illness of or injuries to such child or the cause thereof in any judicial proceeding related to a report pursuant to the North Carolina Juvenile Code, Chapter 7B of the General Statutes of North Carolina.

(b) Nothing in this Article shall preclude a health care provider, as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, from disclosing information to a law enforcement agency investigating a vehicle crash under the provisions of G.S. 90-21.20B. (1965, c. 472, s. 2; 1971, c. 710, s. 2; 1981, c. 469, s. 24; 1998-202, s. 13(b); 2004-186, s. 16.2; 2006-253, s. 18.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-253, s. 1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Motor Vehicle Driver Protection Act of 2006.'"

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-253, s. 18, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, added "disclosure of information in impaired driving accident cases" at the end of the section heading; designated the existing provisions as subsection (a), and added subsection (b).

§ 8-53.3. Communications between psychologist and client or patient.

CASE NOTES

Authority to Compel Evidence. — It was not error for a trial court to admit certain evidence in a child neglect and dependency case that violated the mother's psychologist-patient privilege; under G.S. 8-53.3, the court had the authority to compel disclosure of otherwise privileged information if, in his or her opinion, it was necessary to a proper administration of justice, and the mother's psychological condition was a major issue in the determination that her son was neglected. In re K.D., — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 150, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1393 (2006).

Where evidence challenged whether an injured person's medical treatment and expenses from a collision were reasonable and necessary, and showed that the injured person had been receiving care for six years before the accident for back pain resulting from a prior collision, the trial court's refusal to charge on the G.S. 8-58.1 presumption as to medical expenses was proper. Osetek v. Jeremiah, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 202, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2489 (2005).

ARTICLE 13.

Photographs.

§ 8-97. Photographs as substantive or illustrative evidence.

CASE NOTES

Admissibility of Videotape Recordings.

Defendant's conviction of robbery with a firearm was proper; the State set a proper foundation for the admission of a videotape of the robbery under G.S. 8-97 by presenting testimony that the tape came from a store security camera, and had been in police custody and had not been altered, and the probative value of the videotape was not outweighed by any undue prejudice under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403. State v. Ayscue, 169 N.C. App. 548, 610 S.E.2d 389, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 677 (2005).

Pursuant to G.S. 8-97 and G.S. 8C-1-901, the trial court properly admitted the videotape evidence of defendant committing sexual acts with the victim, a minor child, and the photographs taken therefrom, because: (1) a state agent established an unbroken chain of custody from the time the tape was found in defendant's residence; (2) the state agent testified that the room depicted in the videotape shown to the jury was identical to the master bedroom in defendant's residence and that the man on the videotape was defendant; (3) the victim's mother, who had previously dated defendant, testified that defendant owned a camcorder and a tripod, which he had used to videotape them having sexual intercourse in the master bedroom of defendant's residence; (4) the victim's mother identified the room depicted in the videotape as defendant's master bedroom and the man on the videotape as defendant; (5) the victim's mother identified the young girl on the videotape as the victim, her daughter; (6) there was testimony that defendant's camcorder was in working condition; and (7) there was sufficient evidence from the testimony regarding the chain of custody to establish that the videotape had not been edited or altered, and that the same videotape seized from defendant's residence was the same videotape reviewed by the jury. State v. Prentice, 170 N.C. App. 593, 613 S.E.2d 498, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1086 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 622 S.E.2d 628 (2005).

Videos were properly admitted where there was testimony that the videos accurately depicted the events surrounding the subject incident and that the tape had not been changed or altered, and the portions of the tape that defendant contended were inflammatory were not shown at trial. State v. Buff, 170 N.C. App. 374, 612 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 998 (2005).

Trial court did not err in admitting an edited videotape of planes flying over the adjoining property owners' property in a case where they sued the airport operators based on the contention that operation of the airport was a private nuisance; the adjoining property owners laid a proper foundation for admission of that evidence and the airport operators did not argue that the videotaping system was not properly maintained or properly functioning. Broadbent v. Allison, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 758, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 524 (2006).

Even assuming that videotapes from a food store were not properly admitted into evidence, reversal was not required because defendant was not prejudiced by their admission given the admittance of defendant's statement in which defendant confessed to using the victim's credit card to purchase beer and cigarettes at the food store. State v. Brooks, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 54, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1334 (2006).

General Provisions.

Rule 102. Purpose and construction.

CASE NOTES

Court Has Inherent Authority to Order Sua Sponte Preliminary Hearing on Evidence. — Under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 102(a), 104(a), a trial court has the inherent authority to conduct an evidentiary hearing outside the presence of a jury sua sponte to clarify questions of admissibility and to prevent undue delay in the proceedings. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

Rule 103. Rulings on evidence.

(a) Effect of erroneous ruling. — Error may not be predicated upon a ruling which admits or excludes evidence unless a substantial right of the party is affected, and

- (1) Objection. — In case the ruling is one admitting evidence, a timely objection or motion to strike appears of record. No particular form is required in order to preserve the right to assert the alleged error upon appeal if the motion or objection clearly presented the alleged error to the trial court;
- (2) Offer of proof. — In case the ruling is one excluding evidence, the substance of the evidence was made known to the court by offer or was apparent from the context within which questions were asked.

Once the court makes a definitive ruling on the record admitting or excluding evidence, either at or before trial, a party need not renew an objection or offer of proof to preserve a claim of error for appeal.

(b) Record of offer and ruling. — The court may add any other or further statement which shows the character of the evidence, the form in which it was offered, the objection made, and the ruling thereon. It may direct the making of an offer in question and answer form.

(c) Hearing of jury. — In jury cases, proceedings shall be conducted, to the extent practicable, so as to prevent inadmissible evidence from being suggested to the jury by any means, such as making statements or offers of proof or asking questions in the hearing of the jury.

(d) Review of errors where justice requires. — Notwithstanding the requirements of subdivision (a) of this rule, an appellate court may review errors affecting substantial rights if it determines, in the interest of justice, it is appropriate to do so. (1983, c. 701, s. 1; 2003-101, s. 1; 2006-264, s. 30.5.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-264, s. 30.5, effective August 27, 2006, transferred the last sentence in subdivision (a)(2) to the last paragraph of subsection (a).

CASE NOTES

Applicability of Amendment. — Although an amendment to G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2), which provided that due to defendant's lack of objection to the admission of evidence at trial he failed to preserve for appellate review all issues related to the evidence found, was found unconstitutional by a judicial precedent, the appellate court reviewed defendant's assignments of error on the merits regarding a search of his vehicle and with respect to the denial of his suppression motion, as the amendment to G.S. 8C-1-103 went into effect before the trial in the matter, at which time the amendment was under a presumption of constitutionality. State v. Baublitz, 172 N.C. App. 801, 616 S.E.2d 615, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1778 (2005).

Because under G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2), which was later held unconstitutional but had been presumed constitutional at the time of trial, the trial court had assured defendant that he did not need to renew his objections to the evidence when it was offered at trial, the appellate court would review defendant's arguments as to the affected evidence. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

By failing to preserve evidence, etc. —

Although defendant failed to preserve an evidentiary issue for appellate review, pursuant to G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2), a review under G.S. 8C-1-403 indicated that the probative value of a letter that he wrote to his daughter, who was the victim of his unlawful sexual conduct, was not outweighed by the potential prejudice, as the meaning and intent of the letter were for the jury to decide. State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

Substance of Evidence Apparent From Context. — Substance of the testimony was apparent from the context within which the questions were asked under G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2), the grounds for admitting the testimony as evidence of the victim's violent character pertinent to defendant's assertion of self-defense under G.S. 8C-1-404(a)(2) were apparent from the context under N.C. R. App. P. 10(b)(1), and the issue of the testimony's admissibility was properly preserved for appellate review. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Failure to Offer Proof Precludes Appellate Review. —

In a medical malpractice case, objection to evidence excluded by motion in limine was not preserved for appellate review where there was no attempt to introduce the evidence during the trial. Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

Failure to Object to Admission of Evidence Precludes Appellate Review. —

Constitution of North Carolina vests the Supreme Court of North Carolina with exclusive authority to make rules of practice and procedure for the appellate division of the courts; while G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2) permitted appellate review of an evidentiary ruling even though the party failed to object at trial, since G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2) was inconsistent with N.C. R. App. P. 10(b)(1), G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2) failed. State v. Tutt, 171 N.C. App. 518, 615 S.E.2d 688, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1313 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Court Has Inherent Authority to Order Sua Sponte Preliminary Hearing on Evidence. — Under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 102(a), 104(a), a trial court has the inherent authority to conduct an evidentiary hearing outside the presence of a jury sua sponte to #### Judicial Notice.

Rule 201. Judicial notice of adjudicative facts.

CASE NOTES

Prior Proceedings. —

In a termination of parental rights hearing, it was not error for a trial court to take judicial notice of previous orders of adjudication, review orders, and permanency planning orders, under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 201(b), because the trial court, acting as fact-finder, was presumed to disregard any incompetent evidence, and nothing showed that the trial court did not conduct the required independent determination, as the trial court specifically found it considered the testimony offered by both sides in making its determination that a mother neglected her children, for purposes of termination. In re J.W., 173 N.C. App. 450, 619 S.E.2d 534, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2109 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 780 (2006).

Judicial Notice of Assumptions Underlying Abolished Tender Years Doctrine Held Improper. — Trial court erred in entering a custody order concerning the parties' child; the trial court improperly relied on the tender years presumption in granting custody to the mother, as that presumption had been abolished, and G.S. 50-13.2(a) required that the custody decision be based solely on the best interests of the child, and G.S. 8C-1, Rule 201(b) did not allow the trial court to take judicial notice of the assumptions underlying an abolished doctrine in order to resurrect the doctrine. Greer v. Greer, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 423, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 183 (2006).

Rule 401. Definition of "relevant evidence."

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Relevant Evidence.
- III. Irrelevant Evidence.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Applied in State v. Carmon, 169 N.C. App. 750, 611 S.E.2d 211, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 794 (2005); State v. Augustine, 359 N.C. 709, 616 S.E.2d 515, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 836 (2005); State v. King, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 719, 2006

N.C. App. LEXIS 1307 (2006).

Cited in State v. Wells, 171 N.C. App. 136, 613 S.E.2d 705, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1167 (2005); State v. Blizzard, 169 N.C. App. 285, 610 S.E.2d 245, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 680 (2005); State v. Locklear, 172 N.C. App. 249, 616 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1583 (2005).

II. RELEVANT EVIDENCE.

Police Officer's Opinion Relevant. —

Deputy's testimony that defendant fell over when the deputy asked defendant to stand on one leg and hop was relevant to the deputy's lay opinion that defendant was impaired. State v. Streckfuss, 171 N.C. App. 81, 614 S.E.2d 323, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1190 (2005).

Weapons Evidence Admissible. —

Presence of a gun was relevant to the charges of possession of cocaine with intent to manufacture, sell, or deliver, and trafficking in cocaine. State v. Boyd, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 796, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 854 (2006).

Evidence that defendant who shot a police officer with a shotgun possessed an assault rifle was relevant and was not more prejudicial than probative; evidence showed why defendant was in a field and why he used the shotgun rather than the rifle, and it was also highly probative of defendant's motive for the shooting: not wanting the victim to discover that defendant was violating his probation by possessing firearms. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

Evidence Held Relevant. —

Trial court did not err by admitting without editing or redacting letters that defendant and his accomplice wrote into evidence, as the letters were relevant under G.S. 8C-1-401 and G.S. 8C-1-402, and the probative value of the letters was not outweighed by prejudice under G.S. 8C-1-403. State v. Curry, 171 N.C. App. 568, 615 S.E.2d 327, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1312 (2005).

No plain error existed in the trial court admitting evidence of defendant's empty prescription pill bottle, testimony by an officer identifying the pills from the label, and testimony by a pharmacist about the interaction between the pills and alcohol in defendant's trial for driving while impaired, hit and run, and second degree murder, following an auto accident, as the evidence was relevant to the charges against defendant. State v. Edwards, 170 N.C. App. 381, 612 S.E.2d 394, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 992 (2005).

Defendant's statement to officers that he was expected to make a living outside prison showed a motive for the robbery and his statement that he wanted to go back to prison showed a possible motive to commit a crime in order to accomplish that objective; the statements were made by defendant himself shortly after the crime and were distinguishable from other evidence, and as such, the statements were probative of motive and intent, so there was no error in admission of the statements. State v. al-Bayyinah, 359 N.C. 741, 616 S.E.2d 500, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 844 (2005).

Evidence of prison records on defendant's father were relevant in defendant's rape trial to eliminate other potential perpetrators of the rape; specifically paternal relative of defendant. State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

III. IRRELEVANT EVIDENCE.

Evidence Properly Excluded. —

In a termination of parental rights hearing in a case in which a mother's children were removed from her because, inter alia, her house was unsanitary, and the children were adjudicated neglected on that basis, in part, it was proper for the trial court to sustain an objection, at the termination hearing, to questions about the condition of the mother's home the day after the department of social services' initial visit there, because the relevant issue, under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 401, at the termination hearing was whether the evidence supported a finding of neglect at the time of the termination hearing, rather than the condition of the mother's home before the children were adjudicated neglected. In re J.W., 173 N.C. App. 450, 619 S.E.2d 534, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2109 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 780 (2006).

That an unidentified man accused the victim of assault several years before the murder for which defendant was charged took place did not make any fact in the case more probable or less probable, and the trial court's ruling that the testimony was not relevant and was, hence, inadmissible until defendant introduced substantive evidence of self-defense or evidence that the victim was the first aggressor, was not in error. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

Evidence Held Irrelevant. —

In a rape and kidnapping case, evidence that defendant possessed pornographic magazines was not relevant because it did not tend to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence more or less probable since they were not shown to the victim, and they were not used to show dominion and control over a motel room; however, the error was harmless since a different outcome in the case would not have resulted due to overwhelming evidence of guilt. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

In a rape and kidnapping case, evidence of a criminal citation issued to defendant for drugs a few days before an attack was not relevant because it did not matter whether defendant actually possessed drugs; the admission of the evidence was harmless because the state could have proven the attack at any rate due to the testimony of the victim. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

In defendant's trial ending in her conviction for second-degree murder, evidence of her prior conduct in shooting a dog was irrelevant under G.S. § 8C-1-401; the evidence was not necessary to show that defendant was knowledgeable about firearms or had used a gun in the past because defendant had admitted that she shot her victim and whether or not she knew how to use a pistol was not contested, and the evidence was irrelevant to her claim of self-defense. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Erroneously But Not Prejudicially Admitted. —

Evidence that defendant, who shot a police officer with a shotgun, possessed a pistol was irrelevant because the pistol was not connected to the shooting in any way; the error was harmless under G.S. 15A-1443(a), however, because of the overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

Rule 402. Relevant evidence generally admissible; irrelevant evidence inadmissible.

CASE NOTES

Evidence Held Relevant. —

Various items of drug paraphernalia, packaging materials, and bus tickets found at accomplice's house were properly placed into evidence because they were clearly relevant to the issue of defendant's guilty of the trafficking of drugs and conspiracy offenses. State v. Howell, 169 N.C. App. 741, 611 S.E.2d 200, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 795 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 71, 622 S.E.2d 500 (2005).

Defendant's statement to officers that he was expected to make a living outside prison showed a motive for the robbery and his statement that he wanted to go back to prison showed a possible motive to commit a crime in order to accomplish that objective; the statements were made by defendant himself shortly after the crime and were distinguishable from other evidence, and as such, the statements were probative of motive and intent, so there was no error in admission of the statements. State v. al-Bayyinah, 359 N.C. 741, 616 S.E.2d 500, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 844 (2005).

Evidence Properly Admitted. —

Trial court did not err by admitting without editing or redacting letters that defendant and his accomplice wrote into evidence, as the letters were relevant under G.S. 8C-1-401 and G.S. 8C-1-402, and the probative value of the letters was not outweighed by prejudice under G.S. 8C-1-403. State v. Curry, 171 N.C. App. 568, 615 S.E.2d 327, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1312 (2005).

Where the State presented substantial evidence of guilt of second-degree sexual offense through the testimony of a cellmate, which was corroborated by two other inmates who heard defendant bragging about the sexual assault, the trial court did not commit plain error in admitting evidence of defendant's prior acts. State v. Locklear, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 254, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2465 (2005).

Rule 403. Exclusion of relevant evidence on grounds of prejudice, confusion, or waste of time.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Photographs and Videotapes.
- III. Prejudicial Evidence, Evidence Excluded Based on Confusion, Etc.
- IV. Admission or Exclusion of Evidence Not Prejudicial.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Specific Finding Not Required So Long as Balancing Test Occurred. —

Where the State presented substantial evidence of guilt of second-degree sexual offense through the testimony of a cellmate, which was corroborated by two other inmates who heard defendant bragging about the sexual assault, the trial court did not commit plain error in admitting evidence of defendant's prior acts, despite defendant's claim that the trial court failed to use a balancing test. State v. Locklear, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 254, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2465 (2005).

Factors to Consider in Determining Admissibility. —

Although the trial court did not state its reason(s) for refusing to allow the persons who made statements regarding defendant's prior acts to testify, the court could have concluded that such testimony would have merely wasted time; thus, defendant's contention that the prosecutor's argument regarding the statements was improper because the evidence was necessarily prejudicial was unpersuasive to the appellate court. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Evidence of Intent. —

3. Evidence of defendant's prior drug conviction was properly admitted to show defendant's intent; in the prior case, defendant sold .82 grams of cocaine in rock-like form to an undercover agent and the average dosage unit of crack cocaine was from .05 grams to .12 grams per rock of cocaine, while in the instant case, defendant had 12 rocks of crack cocaine weighing 1.6 grams; in both cases, the rocks of crack cocaine were not individually packaged. State v. Carpenter, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 538, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1623 (2006).

Applied in State v. Carmon, 169 N.C. App. 750, 611 S.E.2d 211, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 794 (2005); State v. Goblet, 173 N.C. App. 112, 618 S.E.2d 257, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1929 (2005); State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 501, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 703 (2006); State v. Boyd, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 796, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 854 (2006); State v. King, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 719, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1307 (2006); State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

Cited in State v. Blizzard, 169 N.C. App. 285, 610 S.E.2d 245, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 680 (2005); State v. Locklear, 172 N.C. App. 249, 616 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1583 (2005); State v. Jacobs, 172 N.C. App. 220, 616 S.E.2d 306, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1586 (2005); State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005); State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 393, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 191 (2006); State v. Jones, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 265, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 589 (2006).

II. PHOTOGRAPHS AND VIDEOTAPES.

Trial court did not err in allowing child sexual molestation victim to describe photos she took of defendant and her mother, even though the trial court refused to admit the photos themselves; the testimony was not significantly different than the daughter's prior testimony about the sexual relationship between her mother and defendant. State v. Pendleton, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 708, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2743 (2005).

Admittance of Videotape Recordings. —

Defendant's conviction of robbery with a firearm was proper; the State set a proper foundation for the admission of a videotape of the robbery under G.S. 8-97 by presenting testimony that the tape came from a store security camera, and had been in police custody and had not been altered, and the probative value of the videotape was not outweighed by any undue prejudice under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403. State v. Ayscue, 169 N.C. App. 548, 610 S.E.2d 389, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 677 (2005).

Admission of videos did not violate G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403, since the portions of the tape that defendant contended were inflammatory were not shown at trial. State v. Buff, 170 N.C. App. 374, 612 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 998 (2005).

Inability to View Lost Videotape. — That jurors were unable to view a lost videotape did not, per se, result in a violation of G.S. 8C-1, Rule 403; G.S. 8C-1, Rule 1004 permits admissibility of secondary evidence where the original is lost or destroyed. State v. Thorne, 173 N.C. App. 393, 618 S.E.2d 790, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2031 (2005).

III. PREJUDICIAL EVIDENCE, EVIDENCE EXCLUDED BASED ON CONFUSION, ETC.

Evidence Improperly Admitted. —

Although the trial court properly admitted a police officer's testimony about the underlying facts of defendant's prior 1995 conviction for assault inflicting serious injury, the trial court committed reversible error by admitting the state's exhibit of a copy of defendant's criminal conviction for that assault because admitting the bare fact of a non-testifying defendant's prior conviction after testimony had been elicited to establish the factual basis underlying that conviction violated G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), and 403; the bare fact of the prior conviction was inherently prejudicial. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

Evidence Properly Excluded. —

Where defendant, after resting defendant's case, moved to reopen the evidence to allow a child witness to rebut defendant's son's testimony that the victim had a bad bicycle wreck, corroborating defendant's story as to why the victim's buttocks were bruised, the trial court did not abuse its discretion under G.S. 15A-1226(b) in denying the motion; the trial court was permitted to exclude the testimony on grounds of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence under

G.S. 8C-1-403, as defendant could have asked defendant's son before trial whether anyone else had seen the victim wreck on the bicycle and could have cross-examined the son about this, and the child's testimony was cumulative and would have only possibly served to corroborate defendant's testimony or facts brought to the jury's attention during the son's cross-examination. State v. Phillips, 171 N.C. App. 622, 615 S.E.2d 382, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1369 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 622 S.E.2d 628 (2005).

Because no evidence proffered at an in camera hearing supported an inference that a victim's prior sexual activity was forced or caused any injuries, evidence of the victim's prior sexual activity was properly excluded under the rape shield statute, G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 412(b)(2); the probative value, if any, to defendant was substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice to the State and the prosecuting witness under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403. State v. Harris, 360 N.C. 145, 622 S.E.2d 615, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1320 (2005).

Trial court in a condemnation proceeding did not err in excluding opinion testimony as to property value offered by four witnesses, where the opinions were based upon prior condemnation sales, which were an improper basis for valuing property in a current condemnation proceeding, or based on sales of property which was insufficiently similar to the property in question. City of Charlotte v. Ertel, 170 N.C. App. 346, 612 S.E.2d 438, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1009 (2005).

Evidence Held Prejudicial. —

Trial court acted within its discretion in ruling that defendant could not inquire of a witness about sexual paraphernalia found in the murder victim's home, in that its probative value was substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice, G.S. 8C-1, Rule 403. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

Evidence Properly Admitted. — Trial court did not abuse its discretion in balancing the probative value of detective's testimony about the contents of a lost surveillance video tape against its prejudicial effect because the testimony provided evidence of the identity of the perpetrator, who was disguised with sunglasses and wore a dark covering over his face; although prejudicial, defendant made no showing that the prejudice was unfair or had the undue tendency to suggest a decision on an improper basis. State v. Thorne, 173 N.C. App. 393, 618 S.E.2d 790, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2031 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in admitting evidence of a prior robbery under G.S. 8C-1-404(b) because the similarities between the prior robbery and the current offense, which occurred within one week of each other, were sufficient to support a finding that the probative value of the evidence of the prior robbery was not substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. State v. Hagans, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 776, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 719 (2006).

IV. ADMISSION OR EXCLUSION OF EVIDENCE NOT PREJUDICIAL.

Evidence Properly Admitted. —

Although defendant failed to preserve an evidentiary issue for appellate review, pursuant to G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2), a review under G.S. 8C-1-403 indicated that the probative value of a letter that he wrote to his daughter, who was the victim of his unlawful sexual conduct, was not outweighed by the potential prejudice, as the meaning and intent of the letter were for the jury to decide. State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

Trial court did not err by admitting without editing or redacting letters that defendant and his accomplice wrote into evidence, as the letters were relevant under G.S. 8C-1-401 and G.S. 8C-1-402, and the probative value of the letters was not outweighed by prejudice under G.S. 8C-1-403. State v. Curry, 171 N.C. App. 568, 615 S.E.2d 327, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1312 (2005).

Defendant was not prejudiced by the trial court admitting into evidence testimony as to defendant's prior acts of being a passenger in a car where an officer smelled marijuana and being found asleep in a car with a bag of marijuana and a scale in plain view to support the case against defendant and his co-defendants for conspiring to possess, manufacture, and distribute marijuana, as the evidence showed that defendant had a propensity to commit the crime. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Trial court properly admitted various evidence in defendant's trial pursuant to G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b), because the various evidence was not admitted to prove the character of defendant in order to show that he acted in conformity therewith and was not overly prejudicial. State v. Matthews, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 815, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 138 (2006).

In a drug case, the testimony of a probation officer regarding defendant's residence was admissible under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b) because the evidence was only used to establish that defendant occupied a dwelling where drugs were located; moreover, the danger of unfair prejudice was outweighed by the probative value of the evidence. State v. Shine, 173 N.C.

App. 699, 619 S.E.2d 895, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2306 (2005).

Use of the descriptive term, “the Last Supper tapestry,” by witnesses and the prosecution to describe a tapestry on the victim’s wall was proper, and the trial court did not abuse its discretion by so ruling; nothing in the record suggested that the description was used excessively and solely to inflame the passions and prejudices of the jury against defendant. As a result, the trial court’s ruling was not so arbitrary that it could not have been the result of a reasoned decision. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

Testimony of a state witness, made after the trial judge conducted voir dire of the witness, was properly admitted as it was relevant to show plan, modus operandi, and identity. Admission of the evidence was upheld under G.S. 8C-1-403 since it did not have an undue tendency to suggest a decision on an improper basis when offered for the limited purpose of showing a common plan or scheme. State v. Summers, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 902, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2006).

Evidence that defendant who shot a police officer with a shotgun possessed an assault rifle was relevant and was not more prejudicial than probative; evidence showed why defendant was in a field and why he used the shotgun rather than the rifle, and it was also highly probative of defendant’s motive for the shooting: not wanting the victim to discover that defendant was violating his probation by possessing firearms. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

Evidence Properly Excluded. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by excluding testimony by a mental health expert retained by the State that in 10 prior cases she had never found a defendant insane at the time of his crime; although the trial court might properly have admitted such evidence, the trial court’s determination to exclude such testimony was not manifestly unsupported by reason. State v. Durham, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 63, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2752 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by excluding testimony by defendant’s brother about the brother’s own mental illness, which was similar to defendant’s mental illness, even though two mental health experts had previously testified that mental illnesses tended to run in families and a mental health expert retained by the State specifically testified that mental illness ran in defendant’s family; defendant’s claim that the brother’s testimony was more compelling evidence that a type of mental illness ran in defendant’s family and bolstered defendant’s claim of insanity was rejected. State v. Durham, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 63, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2752 (2005).

Statements Regarding Prior Similar Actions. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by ruling that the evidence regarding a second impersonation of a police officer and robbery incident was admissible in a defendant’s trial for a similar incident because the prior incident occurred two days after the first, involved the assailants’ entry into the victim’s residences under the auspices of legitimate law enforcement activity, and each assailant displayed a bogus search warrant and firearms in an effort to gain entry into the respective residences. State v. Jacobs, 174 N.C. App. 1, 620 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2279 (2005).

Other crimes evidence was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-404(b), as defendant’s statement that if someone did not call him back he was going to “burn you all up,” was admissible to prove a number of the listed purposes, namely defendant’s motive, intent, plan, common scheme, as well as defendant’s identity as the arsonist; the trial court guarded against the possibility of prejudice under G.S. 8C-1-403 by instructing the jury to consider the evidence only for the limited purposes of establishing identity, intent, motive, absence of mistake, and common plan. State v. Curmon, 171 N.C. App. 697, 615 S.E.2d 417, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1362 (2005).

Evidence that first-degree murder defendant had robbed drug dealers and hit a drug dealer during a robbery was relevant to refute his contention that he shot a police officer without premeditation and deliberation, while evidence about his illegal acquisition of weapons and his curfew violation was relevant as part of the chain of circumstances leading up to the shooting. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

Evidence of Other Drug Transactions. —

Confidential police informant’s testimony as to prior, uncharged drug transactions with defendant was admitted for a proper purpose under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), and the trial court did not act arbitrarily in allowing the testimony under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403 because the testimony was offered to show intent, knowledge, and common plan or scheme as well as to explain the relationship between the informant and defendant; additionally, an appropriate limiting instruction to that effect was given to the jury both at the time the informant testified and in the jury instructions. State v. Houston, 169 N.C. App. 367, 610 S.E.2d 777, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 606 (2005).

Rule 404. Character evidence not admissible to prove conduct; exceptions; other crimes.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Character Evidence Generally.
- III. Other Crimes and Wrongs.
- IV. Illustrative Cases.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Defendant's Burden of Proof on Appeal.

— Appeal by a defendant, who contended that evidence that he performed oral sex on a minor victim should have been excluded, was denied because, in light of defendant's admissions and other evidence admitted concerning defendant's sexual improprieties with the minor victim, defendant failed to show that in the absence of the evidence a different result would have been reached at the trial. State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 501, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 703 (2006).

Evidence Held Admissible to Show Motive. — Follow-up question to first defendant about first defendant's motivation for denying involvement in the subject crime, the fact that if found guilty first defendant would have violated his federal probation for another offense, was admissible for the purpose of showing motive. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 787, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 882 (2006).

Cited in State v. Jacobs, 172 N.C. App. 220, 616 S.E.2d 306, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1586 (2005); State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

II. CHARACTER EVIDENCE GENERALLY.

When Evidence of Character Traits Is Admissible. —

While the bad acts elicited by the prosecution on redirect of the defendant's girlfriend may have been inadmissible on direct examination under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b) before the defendant "opened the door" during cross-examination, the prosecution's rebuttal of the defendant's evidence of good character through the use of specific instances of conduct was proper under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(a)(1), (b). State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

"Pertinent" Trait to Be Restrictively Construed. —

In a prosecution for the murder of a child, in which defendant offered evidence of his appropriate behavior around children, while defendant's allegedly peaceable character was pertinent to the charge of first-degree murder, neither his character nor a trait of his character were essential elements of the charge or his defense, so elicitation of evidence about his character during direct testimony had to be accomplished by opinion or reputation testimony rather than specific opinion testimony, pursuant to G.S. 8C-1-404(a)(1) and G.S. 8C-1-405(a). State v. Murphy, 172 N.C. App. 734, 616 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1786 (2005).

Violent Character. —

Testimony from a witness who saw defendant's victim breaking car windows at an automobile dealership should have been admitted during her murder trial, which ended in her conviction for second-degree murder, as an essential element of her assertion of self-defense under G.S. 8C-1-405(b); the evidence was relevant and admissible as evidence of the victim's violent character to show the jury that defendant's apprehension of death and bodily harm was reasonable. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

In defendant's murder trial, defendant was not required to make an offer of proof regarding testimony that her victim had told her former employee that he was going to "shoot up his house" that was excluded when the trial court granted the state's motion to strike the testimony. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Erroneous exclusion of testimony from a car dealership employee who saw defendant's victim breaking car windows at the dealership, which should have been admitted during defendant's murder trial as evidence of the victim's violent character, was prejudicial even though defendant testified to the same incident on direct and redirect examination. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Substance of the testimony was apparent from the context within which the questions were asked under G.S. 8C-1-103(a)(2), the grounds for admitting the testimony as evidence of the victim's violent character pertinent to defendant's assertion of self-defense under G.S. 8C-1-404(a)(2) were apparent from the context under N.C. R. App. P. 10(b)(1), and the issue of the testimony's admissibility was properly preserved for appellate review. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006

N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Admission of Evidence Not Prejudicial.

Although the admission of reputation testimony violated G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(a), the error was not prejudicial because the evidence regarding one witness's possession of a crack pipe was cumulative and there was ample evidence to convict defendant without the evidence of his brother's reputation as a dealer of drugs. State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

III. OTHER CRIMES AND WRONGS.

Applicability of Subsection (b). —

Evidence of defendant's other crimes was not admitted pursuant to G.S. 8C-1-404(b), but was admitted to establish one of the elements of a crime that the State of North Carolina was required to prove — possession of a firearm by a felon. Thus, a limiting instruction regarding evidence of other crimes admitted pursuant to Rule 404(b) was not appropriate and the trial court did not err in failing to give that instruction. State v. Cromartie, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 677, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 701 (2006).

Admissibility. —

Trial court did not err in admitting evidence that defendant was in a gang and had served time in jail; even though such evidence incidentally touched on his bad character, it was also relevant to establish defendant's identity, and was admissible for that purpose. State v. Medina, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 176, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2608 (2005).

Defendant's statement to officers that he was expected to make a living outside prison showed a motive for the robbery and his statement that he wanted to go back to prison showed a possible motive to commit a crime in order to accomplish that objective; the statements were made by defendant himself shortly after the crime and were distinguishable from other evidence, and as such, the statements were probative of motive and intent, so there was no error in admission of the statements. State v. al-Bayyinah, 359 N.C. 741, 616 S.E.2d 500, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 844 (2005).

When Evidence of Other Crimes May Be Admitted. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by ruling that the evidence regarding a second impersonation of a police officer and robbery incident was admissible in a defendant's trial for a similar incident because the prior incident occurred two days after the first, involved the assailants' entry into the victim's residences under the auspices of legitimate law enforcement activity, and each assailant displayed a bogus search warrant and firearms in an effort to gain entry into the respective residences. State v. Jacobs, 174 N.C. App. 1, 620 S.E.2d

204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2279 (2005).

Evidence of Husband's Prior Misconduct Toward His Wife. —

North Carolina, to prove the disputed issue of defendant's intent to kill after defendant's forensic psychologist testified that defendant was unable to form the specific intent to kill, elicited testimony on defendant's prior misconduct toward his wife; thus, the psychologist's testimony regarding the statements of defendant's prior bad acts was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-404(b). State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Sufficiently Similar Crimes. —

Evidence that defendant had an outstanding warrant was admissible under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), as a possible motive for his decision to flee from officers after drugs were discovered in a car where he was riding as a passenger; also, evidence of the circumstances surrounding defendant's arrest in another state, where defendant was passenger in a car and attempted to flee in that car after drugs were discovered, was properly admitted under that same rule as the circumstances were sufficiently similar to show defendant's propensity or modus operandi to flee after being caught with drugs. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

In a rape and kidnapping case, evidence of other sexual attacks or attempted sexual attacks were properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b) because they showed modus operandi; the crimes were similar in that defendant lured women that he had known for a long period of time into secluded places with the promise of drugs and alcohol before choking and raping them. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

Evidence of defendant's prior drug conviction was properly admitted to show defendant's intent; in the prior case, defendant sold .82 grams of cocaine in rock-like form to an undercover agent and the average dosage unit of crack cocaine was from .05 grams to .12 grams per rock of cocaine, while in the instant case, defendant had 12 rocks of crack cocaine weighing 1.6 grams; in both cases, the rocks of crack cocaine were not individually packaged. State v. Carpenter, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 538, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1623 (2006).

Probative Value Must Be Weighed Against Potential Prejudice. —

Defendant was not prejudiced by the trial court admitting into evidence testimony as to defendant's prior acts of being a passenger in a car where an officer smelled marijuana and being found asleep in a car with a bag of marijuana and a scale in plain view to support the case against defendant and his co-defendants for conspiring to possess, manufacture, and distribute marijuana, as the evidence showed that defendant had a propensity to commit the crime. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Admission of 27 Year Old Alleged Sexual Offense Was Error. — Twenty seven-year lapse between an earlier alleged instance of sexual abuse and the current alleged instance merited against finding that defendant was engaged in an ongoing plan or scheme of sexual abuse, and thus, admission of evidence of the 27-year old alleged incident was error; since the State presented no evidence that defendant's possession of pornographic magazines and women's underwear played any part in the alleged offenses, the evidence was not relevant to prove the charges against him, was merely impermissible character evidence, and admission of the evidence was error but not plain error. State v. Delsanto, 172 N.C. App. 42, 615 S.E.2d 870, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1587 (2005).

Prior Bad Acts Showing Intent, Plan or Design. —

Other crimes evidence was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-404(b), as defendant's statement that if someone did not call him back he was going to "burn you all up," was admissible to prove a number of the listed purposes, namely defendant's motive, intent, plan, common scheme, as well as defendant's identity as the arsonist; the trial court guarded against the possibility of prejudice under G.S. 8C-1-403 by instructing the jury to consider the evidence only for the limited purposes of establishing identity, intent, motive, absence of mistake, and common plan. State v. Curmon, 171 N.C. App. 697, 615 S.E.2d 417, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1362 (2005).

Confidential police informant's testimony as to prior, uncharged drug transactions with defendant was admitted for a proper purpose under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), and the trial court did not act arbitrarily in allowing the testimony under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403 because the testimony was offered to show intent, knowledge, and common plan or scheme as well as to explain the relationship between the informant and defendant; additionally, an appropriate limiting instruction to that effect was given to the jury both at the time the informant testified and in the jury instructions. State v. Houston, 169 N.C. App. 367, 610 S.E.2d 777, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 606 (2005).

Evidence of defendant's prior sexual relations with his older half-daughter from about nine years before he began to have sexual relations with the victim, his younger daughter, was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-404(b) to show a common scheme or plan. State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

DNA evidence showing that defendant was the father of the victim's child, and thus must have had sexual intercourse with her, was admissible to show a common scheme or plan under G.S. 8C-1-404(b). State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Prior Convictions Showing Intent or Knowledge. —

Evidence pertaining to defendant's prior convictions for possession with intent to manufacture, sell, and deliver cocaine was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b) to show intent and knowledge, and the trial court properly gave a limiting instruction to the jury; furthermore, while testimony from the deputy clerk was inadmissible under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b), the error was harmless when defendant testified and was properly cross-examined about the convictions. State v. Renfro, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 221, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2483 (2005).

Prior Bad Act Showing Intent, Malice, Premeditation, and Deliberation. —

Evidence that first-degree murder defendant had robbed drug dealers and hit a drug dealer during a robbery was relevant to refute his contention that he shot a police officer without premeditation and deliberation, while evidence about his illegal acquisition of weapons and his curfew violation was relevant as part of the chain of circumstances leading up to the shooting. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

Evidence of Prior DWI Admissible to Show Malice. — Evidence as to defendant's prior convictions for driving while impaired and driving while license revoked was properly admitted, under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), as the evidence was relevant to show malice to support defendant's charge for second degree murder following an auto accident in which defendant was driving while impaired. State v. Edwards, 170 N.C. App. 381, 612 S.E.2d 394, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 992 (2005).

Prior Acts Showing Motive or Conduct. —

Evidence that defendant had an outstanding warrant was admissible under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), as a possible motive for his decision to flee from officers after drugs were discovered in a car where he was riding as a passenger; also, evidence of the circumstances surrounding defendant's arrest in another state, where defendant was passenger in a car and attempted to flee in that car after drugs were discovered, was properly admitted under that same rule as the circumstances were sufficiently similar to show defendant's propensity or modus operandi to flee after being caught with drugs. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

Prior Assault. —

Although the trial court properly admitted a police officer's testimony about the underlying facts of defendant's prior 1995 conviction for assault inflicting serious injury, the trial court committed reversible error by admitting the state's exhibit of a copy of defendant's criminal conviction for that assault because admitting the bare fact of a non-testifying defendant's prior conviction after testimony had been elicited to establish the factual basis underlying that conviction violated G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), and 403; the bare fact of the prior conviction was inherently prejudicial. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

Improper Impeachment of Witness's Statement by Extrinsic Evidence. — Defendant was granted a new trial on his convictions involving the sexual abuse of his grandchildren; the trial court committed prejudicial error under G.S. 15A-1443(a) by allowing the State to impeach by extrinsic evidence testimony by defendant's son and two daughters that defendant had never sexually abused them, and the error was so highly prejudicial that it likely affected the verdict, and because the evidence of prior sexual misconduct was not admissible under a hearsay exception, G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Crim. P. 404(b). State v. Mitchell, 169 N.C. App. 417, 610 S.E.2d 260, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 682 (2005).

Evidence Properly Admitted. —

Trial court properly admitted various evidence in defendant's trial pursuant to G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b), because the various evidence was not admitted to prove the character of defendant in order to show that he acted in conformity therewith and was not overly prejudicial. State v. Matthews, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 815, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 138 (2006).

Inadmissible Evidence Admitted but Held Harmless Error. —

Where defendant did not object to the prosecutor cross-examining him as to his alleged prior assaults, the appellate court's review of the record and transcripts satisfied that court that the defendant did not meet the test for finding plain error because the State presented strong evidence of defendant's guilt through the testimony of three eye witnesses who were present when the victim, a police officer, was shot, with all three giving consistent testimony identifying defendant as the shooter; therefore it was not possible for the appellate court to say that the cross-examination amounted to a miscarriage of justice or denied defendant a fundamental right. State v. Augustine, 359 N.C. 709, 616 S.E.2d 515, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 836 (2005).

Failure to Show Admissibility. — When a patient in a medical malpractice case argued that statistical reports dealing with infections would be admissible under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), but did not explain to what issue in the case a pattern, practice, plan, or modus operandi would be relevant, the appellate court could not conclude that the trial court's ruling denying her request for the reports was manifestly unreasonable. Diggs v. Novant Health, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 851, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 983 (2006).

IV. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.

Evidence Held Admissible. —

When defendant was charged with second-degree murder for causing another's death by his drunk driving, his nine-year-old conviction for driving while impaired was properly admitted, under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), because it showed malice, which was a proper purpose for admitting it, and the fact that it was nine years old did not render it too remote to be relevant. State v. Westbrook, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 73, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2704 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion when it admitted evidence consisting of defendant's post-Miranda statements to an officer that, inter alia, the defendant gave persons meth in exchange for work. A similar transaction with the victim was a sale under G.S. 90-95. State v. Yelton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 594, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 44 (2006).

In a drug case, the testimony of a probation officer regarding defendant's residence was admissible under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b) because the evidence was only used to establish that defendant occupied a dwelling where drugs were located; moreover, the danger of unfair prejudice was outweighed by the probative value of the evidence. State v. Shine, 173 N.C. App. 699, 619 S.E.2d 895, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2306 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in admitting evidence of a prior robbery under G.S. 8C-1-404(b) because the similarities between the prior robbery and the current offense, which occurred within one week of each other, were sufficient to support a finding that the probative value of the evidence of the prior robbery was not substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice. State v. Hagans, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 776, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 719 (2006).

Testimony of a detective regarding defendant's involvement in a second robbery was admissible under G.S. 8C-1-404(b), because the second robbery was sufficiently similar. State v. Jones, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 265, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 589 (2006).

Testimony of a state witness, made after the trial judge conducted voir dire of the witness, was properly admitted as it was relevant to show plan, modus operandi, and identity. Among other things, the testimony of the witness included a positive identification of defendant as the perpetrator of the crime against her, that the offense against her occurred within three miles of the offense against the victim, that both attacks occurred in the evening and during the hours of darkness, that the attacker was armed on each occurrence, and that the victims were similar in age and were both white females. State v. Summers, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 902, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2006).

Admission of evidence of other crimes was not prejudicial where the trial court instructed the jury that the evidence was being received for limited purpose of showing defendant's motive, opportunity, intent, and knowledge. State v. Calvino, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 839, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1834 (2006).

Admission of photographs of nude women was not erroneous because they were admitted for a permissible purpose other than to show defendant's character in conformity therewith; the photographs served to corroborate the victim's testimony and provided evidence of a plan and preparation to engage in sexual activities with the victim. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 49, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1311 (2006).

In light of uncontested evidence of defendant's prior convictions, defendant failed to show that the state's cross-examination of defendant regarding the prior convictions as improper under G.S. 8C-1-404. State v. Mewborn, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 224, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1411 (2006).

Admission of evidence of a power of attorney defendant obtained naming her as attorney in fact, personal papers and identification belonging to the victims, and the purchase of a vehicle with the power of attorney, did not violate G.S.

8C-1-404(b), as it was relevant and offered to show a common plan or scheme and the absence of mistake, and defendant failed to show that the admission of the evidence was manifestly unsupported by reason and was so arbitrary that it could not have been the result of a reasoned decision. State v. King, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 719, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1307 (2006).

Evidence of Prior Abuse Toward Other Child. — Admission of testimony by the victim's sister regarding defendant's prior abuse toward her was not erroneous because the testimony concerned defendant's actions towards the sister when she was approximately the same age, illustrating a continuing pattern of sexual abuse and an intent to commit incest. State v. Locklear, 172 N.C. App. 249, 616 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1583 (2005).

Where defendant was charged with indecent liberties with a child and with statutory sex offense, it was proper to admit testimony by three witnesses about other acts allegedly committed by defendant, in light of the similarity between the ages of the girls at the time of the acts, their placement with defendant because of familial or quasi-familial relationships, defendant's purported modus operandi in each instance, and the warning he allegedly gave each girl. State v. Bradley, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1968 (2006).

Admission of Evidence Not Plain Error. — Admission of evidence as to defendant's pornography business and a confidential informant's testimony that defendant handed him pornographic tapes was not impermissible evidence of defendant's character under a plain error analysis as its admission was not an error that was so fundamental as to result in a miscarriage of justice or that had a likely impact on the outcome of the trial as there was substantial evidence establishing defendant's commission of trafficking in cocaine by possession. State v. Williams, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 216, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1219 (2006).

Rule 405. Methods of proving character.

CASE NOTES

Cross-Examination as to Specific Instances of Defendant's Conduct. —

Since the defendant's sister gave her opinion as to the character of the defendant, under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 405(a), the cross-examiner could test that opinion with questioning on specific acts of conduct, such as his threats against the life of the sister, a person with whom he alleged a deep emotional bond; also, since the examination was in the death penalty phase, the State was allowed to present, by competent relevant evidence, any aspect of the defendant's character or record and any of the circumstances of the offense that could substantially support the imposition of the death penalty or that was contrary to the assertion of one of the defendant's proposed mitigating circumstances. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Consideration of Defendant's Character Evidence. —

In a prosecution for the murder of a child, in which defendant offered evidence of his appropriate behavior around children, while defen-dent's allegedly peaceable character was pertinent to the charge of first-degree murder, neither his character nor a trait of his character were essential elements of the charge or his defense, so elicitation of evidence about his character during direct testimony had to be accomplished by opinion or reputation testimony rather than specific opinion testimony, pursuant to G.S. 8C-1-404(a)(1) and G.S. 8C-1-405(a). State v. Murphy, 172 N.C. App. 734, 616 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1786 (2005).

Cited in State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006).

Rule 412. Rape or sex offense cases; relevance of victim's past behavior.

CASE NOTES

I. General Consideration.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Cross-Examination Properly Limited. —

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's request to inquire into the victim's previous sexual activity for the purpose of attacking her credibility as a witness, where defendant was on trial for having committed sexual offenses against the victim, his 16-year-old daughter, as he failed to show that such examination was within any of the four very narrow situations that were excepted from that prohibition under the Rape Shield Statute. State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

Exclusion of Evidence Upheld. —

Because no evidence proffered at an in camera hearing supported an inference that a victim's prior sexual activity was forced or caused any injuries, evidence of the victim's prior sexual activity was properly excluded under the rape shield statute, G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 412(b)(2); the probative value, if any, to defendant was substantially outweighed by the danger of unfair prejudice to the State and the prosecuting witness under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 403. State v. Harris, 360 N.C. 145, 622 S.E.2d 615, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1320 (2005).

ARTICLE 6.

Witnesses.

Rule 601. General rule of competency; disqualification of witness.

II. PERSONS INTERESTED IN THE EVENT OF THE ACTION.

Dead Man's Statute. —

Affidavit, in which a nephew averred that he never took any action on behalf of his aunts without their knowledge and consent, never converted any assets to his own benefit or engaged in inappropriate conduct as attorney-in-fact for the aunts, and denied fraud, did not violate G.S. 8C-1, Rule 601. Forbis v. Neal, —

N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 387, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 189 (2006).

Trial court erred in admitting the testimony of the brother's wife about conversations she had with decedent, and about conversations she overheard between decedent and the brother; since the wife was an interested party because she stood to inherit the property the brother was seeking if his specific performance action to enforce decedent's contract to make a will in the brother's favor was resolved in the brother's favor, she was barred from testifying about what a dead man had said in that regard. Taylor v. Abernethy, 174 N.C. App. 93, 620 S.E.2d 242, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2281 (2005).

Rule 602. Lack of personal knowledge.

CASE NOTES

Testimony Establishing Personal Knowledge. —

Store clerk had personal knowledge of the robber when she was able to look at him through his mask and otherwise observe for 45 seconds during the robbery. State v. Tuck, 173 N.C. App. 61, 618 S.E.2d 265, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1930 (2005).

Investigator was permitted to testify that defendant had no brother based on research he conducted. State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

Assertions in Affidavit Held Improper. — Where an affidavit filed to support a motion to dismiss under N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(2) contained assertions made “upon information and belief,” the court would not consider those assertions because such an affidavit had to be based upon personal knowledge. Banc of Am. Secs. LLC v.

Evergreen Int’l Aviation, Inc., 169 N.C. App. 690, 611 S.E.2d 179, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 799 (2005).

Testimony Held Proper. —

In a trial for attempted murder, the trial court properly admitted testimony by the victim that it was defendant who shot him, as the victim had sufficient personal knowledge under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 602, and the victim’s opinion was rationally based on his perception of the shooting as required by G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 701. State v. Watkins, 169 N.C. App. 518, 610 S.E.2d 746, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 683 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 624 S.E.2d 632 (2005).

Rule 606. Competency of juror as witness.

CASE NOTES

Jurors’ Affidavits Held Not Extraneous Information. —

Information contained in jurors’ affidavits as to the reading of dictionary definitions of “malice” could not be used to impeach the verdict under G.S. 15A-1240 as under the caselaw, definitions in standard dictionaries were not extraneous information within the meaning of G.S. 8C-1-606(b). State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Rule 608. Evidence of character and conduct of witness.

CASE NOTES

- II. Opinion and Reputation Evidence of Character.
- III. Specific Instances of Conduct.

II. OPINION AND REPUTATION EVIDENCE OF CHARACTER.

Evidence Held Admissible. —

Guidance counselor’s testimony that she believed the victim’s account of rape, made in the context of her role as a guidance counselor who suspected a child had been abused and admitted for corroboration, was admissible. State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006).

III. SPECIFIC INSTANCES OF CONDUCT.

Cross-Examination Held Proper. —

State was properly allowed to cross-examine and impeach defendant by questioning defendant about false statement made to police. State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006).

By defendant’s own admission, G.S. 8C-1-608 was inapplicable because the state’s questioning on cross-examination about defendant’s prior convictions was neither a reference to a specific act, nor probative of defendant’s truthfulness. State v. Mewborn, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 224, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1411 (2006).

Admission of Evidence Not Prejudicial Error. — Where defendant did not object to the prosecutor cross-examining him as to his alleged prior assaults, the appellate court’s review of the record and transcripts satisfied that court that the defendant did not meet the test for finding plain error because the State presented strong evidence of defendant's guilt through the testimony of three eyewitnesses who were present when the victim, a police officer, was shot, with all three giving consistent testimony identifying defendant as the shooter; therefore it was not possible for the appellate court to say that the cross-examination amounted to a miscarriage of justice or denied defendant a fundamental right. State v. Augustine, 359 N.C. 709, 616 S.E.2d 515, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 836 (2005).

Rule 609. Impeachment by evidence of conviction of crime.

CASE NOTES

Applicability. — G.S. 8C-1, Rule 609 addresses the use of evidence of prior convictions to impeach a testifying witness; a trial court did not err in holding that G.S. 8C-1, Rule 609 was inapplicable to statements made by a non-testifying defendant. State v. al-Bayyinah, 359 N.C. 741, 616 S.E.2d 500, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 844 (2005).

When Evidence of Defendant's Prior Convictions Is Admissible. —

Evidence pertaining to defendant's prior convictions for possession with intent to manufacture, sell, and deliver cocaine was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b) to show intent and knowledge, and the trial court properly gave a limiting instruction to the jury; furthermore, while testimony from the deputy clerk was inadmissible under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(b), the error was harmless when defendant testified and was properly cross-examined about the convictions. State v. Renfro, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 221, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2483 (2005).

Cross-Examination Upheld. —

State did not exceed the scope of proper cross-examination under G.S. 8C-1-609 when, in response to defendant's testimony, the state suggested the reason police officers searched defendant's home was because they knew defendant had been convicted of selling drugs. State v. Mewborn, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 224, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1411 (2006).

Cited in State v. Edwards, 170 N.C. App. 381, 612 S.E.2d 394, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 992 (2005); State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005); State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 787, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 882 (2006); State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006).

Rule 611. Mode and order of interrogation and presentation.

CASE NOTES

The scope of cross-examination is limited to those matters that are relevant, etc. —

Defendant was entitled to a new trial because the trial court erred in depriving defendant of the right to the closing argument to the jury where defendant did not introduce any evidence within the meaning of N.C. Gen. R. Prac. Super. & Dist. Ct. 10 during defendant's cross-examination of a witness about inconsistencies between two statements the witness gave about the shooting. State v. Wells, 171 N.C. App. 136, 613 S.E.2d 705, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1167 (2005).

Scope of Cross-Examination Is Subject to Court's Control. —

Trial court did not err in its rulings regarding the railroad's cross-examination of witnesses; in particular, it did not err in not allowing the railroad to cross-examine the expert for the employee, who had brought a negligence action against the railroad for exposure to asbestos, as cross-examination regarding a pathology report would not have been proper since the expert was not relying on the report. Williams v. CSX Transp., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 716, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 532 (2006).

Cross-Examination of Expert Upheld. —

Trial court properly permitted the prosecutor to question whether defendant's forensic psychologist adequately considered certain recorded statements in diagnosing defendant because the impeachment of the testimony given by the psychologist on direct examination was within the broad scope of cross-examination allowed by the courts in North Carolina. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Leading Questions Upheld When Delicate Subject Matter Was Involved. —

In an action charging defendant with six counts of first-degree statutory sexual offense, two counts of attempted first-degree statutory sexual offense, seven counts of taking indecent liberties with a minor, and six counts of lewd and lascivious conduct with a minor, the State was properly permitted to ask leading questions of the child victim where the victim, who was 11 years old at the time of trial, was hesitant to answer questions regarding sexual matters of a delicate nature. State v. Bates, 172 N.C. App. 27, 616 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1585 (2005).

Cross-Examination of Defendant Upheld. —

Where the State, on cross-examination, introduced evidence of defendant's phone conversation in which defendant allegedly made an admission that conflicted with defendant's trial testimony, this did not violate G.S. 8C-1-611(b); testing credibility and impeaching explanations were relevant and within scope of cross-examination. State v. Phillips, 171 N.C. App. 622, 615 S.E.2d 382, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1369 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 622 S.E.2d 628 (2005).

Illustrative Cases. —

Questions to defendant regarding the existence and location of a rubber vagina were premissible where the purpose of the questions was used to impeach defendant. State v. Hill, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 777, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1636 (2006).

Rule 613. Prior statements of witnesses.

CASE NOTES

Failure to Prove Prior Statement Was Requested. — When defense counsel failed to request that a bench conference be recorded, resulting in a lack of proof that defense counsel asked for and failed to receive the contents of defendant's prior statement, there was no violation of G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 613. State v. Turner, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 464, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 979 (2006).

Rule 614. Calling and interrogation of witnesses by court.

CASE NOTES

Clarification of Testimony. —

Trial court asking questions of a witness during defendant's felonious breaking and entering trial was upheld on appeal, because the trial court was merely seeking clarification of the testimony and did not rise to the level of expressing an opinion that defendant was guilty. State v. Carmon, 169 N.C. App. 750, 611 S.E.2d 211, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 794 (2005).

Defendant's conviction of first-degree murder under G.S. 14-17, was affirmed; the trial court properly denied defendant's requested jury instructions on voluntary intoxication and second-degree murder, as defendant showed no signs of intoxication when he committed the crime, and the evidence of premeditation was very strong, and the trial court did not abuse its authority to question witnesses under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Crim. P. 614(b), as the trial court only questioned jurors to focus the witness, or to clarify the testimony. State v. Rios, 169 N.C. App. 270, 610 S.E.2d 764, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 685 (2005), appeal dismissed, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 37 (2005).

Partiality of Judge. — Defendant's rights were not violated when the trial court "moved the trial forward" by maintaining control over certain witness examinations by defense counsel; while the trial court was not allowed to show partiality toward a party, it did have the discretionary power to supervise and control the trial and no abuse of that discretion was shown. State v. Bethea, 173 N.C. App. 43, 617 S.E.2d 687, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1907 (2005).

Rule 615. Exclusion of witnesses.

CASE NOTES

Denial of Motion to Sequester Witnesses Held Proper. —

Denial of defendants' motions to sequester was not improper where the trial court's ruling showed adequate deliberation and weighing of the merits, and neither defendant identified any instance of a witness conforming testimony to that of another witness. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 787, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 882 (2006).

ARTICLE 7.

*Opinions and Expert Testimony.Rule 701. Opinion testimony by lay witness.

CASE NOTES

Test for the admissibility of an opinion, etc.

Trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of the employee's former co-workers as lay opinion testimony regarding the employee's exposure to asbestos, as the employee showed that the former co-workers had rationally based perceptions since they worked around the employee and that their testimony would be helpful to understanding the employee's exposure to asbestos. Williams v. CSX Transp., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 716, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 532 (2006).

Shorthand Statements of Fact. —

Trial court properly admitted, under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 701, G.S. 8C-1, Rule 704, lay opinion testimony of various law enforcement officers that defendant "tried to kill" one of the responding officers because their testimony amounted to nothing more than shorthand statements of fact based on their knowledge and observations and did not implicate defendant's guilt, mental state, or intent. The officers' testimony was based on their perceptions after witnessing defendant shoot the officer, and was not objectionable merely because it embraced an ultimate issue to be decided by the trier of fact. State v. McVay, 174 N.C. App. 335, 620 S.E.2d 883, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2402 (2005).

Lay Opinion Regarding Property Value in Condemnation Proceeding. — Trial court in a condemnation proceeding did not err in excluding opinion testimony as to property value offered by four witnesses, where the opinions were based upon prior condemnation sales, which were an improper basis for valuing property in a current condemnation proceeding, or based on sales of property which was insufficiently similar to the property in question. City of Charlotte v. Ertel, 170 N.C. App. 346, 612 S.E.2d 438, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1009 (2005).

Lay Opinion On Drugs. — Admissible testimony and opinions of woman who, with victim who died from smoking methamphetamine and defendant, smoked an eight-ball of meth was sufficient evidence to convict defendant of possession and its sale, by exchange for work, under G.S. 90-95 and involuntary manslaughter under G.S. 14-18. State v. Yelton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 594, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 44 (2006).

Testimony and opinions of woman who, with victim who died from smoking methamphetamine (meth) and defendant, smoked an eight-ball of it was admissible based upon her six-year meth smoking experiences, that it was meth and that the victim smoked some of it. The testimony was admissible to prove elements of the charged crimes and to prove that defendant possessed the meth and gave it to the victim, and assisted the jury to otherwise understand what transpired. State v. Yelton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 594, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 44 (2006).

Same — Murder Trial. —

Murder defendant was mentally retarded so he was not sentenced to death under G.S. 15A-2005(a)(1); but (1) experts testified he was competent under G.S. 15A-1001(a) to stand trial; and (2) evidence and his girlfriend's opinion testimony under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 701, that he was "fine" and "not mentally retarded," indicated he was able to form the requisite "deliberation" and "cool state of blood" (as defined State v. Ruof jury instructions and which were properly given to the jury in response to a deliberation question under G.S. 15A-1234(a)(1)) when he shot a coworker who teased him about being mentally retarded. State v. McClain, 169 N.C. App. 657, 610 S.E.2d 783, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 804 (2005).

Police Officer's Testimony Regarding Intoxication. —

Deputy's testimony that defendant fell over when the deputy asked defendant to stand on one leg and hop was relevant to the deputy's lay opinion that defendant was impaired. State v. Streckfuss, 171 N.C. App. 81, 614 S.E.2d 323, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1190 (2005).

Testimony by Police Officer Which Required No Expertise Upheld. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by admitting testimony of police captain concerning the gait of a robber on a surveillance tape where the officer testified that, as part of his training as an undercover narcotics officer, he studied different mannerisms and characteristics of people and was trained to notice differences in the actual ways people walk; furthermore, he was experienced in watching people both in person and on film and had attended several schools for electronic and technical surveillance, and his testimony bore on the jury's determination of the identity of the perpetrator and was not barred by G.S. 8C-1, Rule 701. State v. Thorne, 173 N.C. App. 393, 618 S.E.2d 790, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2031 (2005).

Court properly allowed a police officer to testify concerning the type of pistol used in assault as the officer's testimony regarding the location of shell casings when a bullet was fired from two different weapons was based not upon any specialized expertise or training, but merely upon his own personal experience and observations in firing different kinds of weapons; defendant's due process rights were not violated by the destruction of the shell casings as the police had no duty to preserve the casings when defendant did not file a discovery request for the casings. State v. Fisher, 171 N.C. App. 201, 614 S.E.2d 428, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1214 (2005).

Testimony Upheld. —

Officer's testimony regarding defendant's pretrial statements to the police implicating a man as an accomplice in a felonious breaking and entering was properly admitted at trial where the testimony of the alleged accomplice's denial of involvement was admissible not as to his general credibility and character, but rather as an explanation for why he was not arrested. State v. Carmon, 169 N.C. App. 750, 611 S.E.2d

211, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 794 (2005).

In a trial for attempted murder, the trial court properly admitted testimony by the victim that it was defendant who shot him, as the victim had sufficient personal knowledge under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 602, and the victim's opinion was rationally based on his perception of the shooting as required by G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 701. State v. Watkins, 169 N.C. App. 518, 610 S.E.2d 746, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 683 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 624 S.E.2d 632 (2005).

Testimony Held Inadmissible. —

Affidavit of licensed social worker and counselor who had counseled decedent for alcohol and substance abuse was not sufficient to raise a genuine issue of material fact and preclude summary judgment in a case where the claimant was trying to recover as a beneficiary under decedent's life insurance policy; the policy excluded recovery for an insured's ingestion of a drug, medicine, or sedative, except as prescribed by a physician, and the licensed social worker and counselor's opinions contained in the affidavit regarding decedent's ingestion of methadone were neither based on his personal knowledge nor proffered as expert opinions. Duncan v. Cuna Mut. Ins. Soc'y, 171 N.C. App. 403, 614 S.E.2d 592, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1207 (2005).

Rule 702. Testimony by experts.

(a) If scientific, technical or other specialized knowledge will assist the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue, a witness qualified as an expert by knowledge, skill, experience, training, or education, may testify thereto in the form of an opinion.

(a1) A witness, qualified under subsection (a) of this section and with proper foundation, may give expert testimony solely on the issue of impairment and not on the issue of specific alcohol concentration level relating to the following:

- (1) The results of a Horizontal Gaze Nystagmus (HGN) Test when the test is administered by a person who has successfully completed training in HGN.
- (2) Whether a person was under the influence of one or more impairing substances, and the category of such impairing substance or substances. A witness who has received training and holds a current certification as a Drug Recognition Expert, issued by the State Department of Health and Human Services, shall be qualified to give the testimony under this subdivision.

(b) In a medical malpractice action as defined in G.S. 90-21.11, a person shall not give expert testimony on the appropriate standard of health care as defined in G.S. 90-21.12 unless the person is a licensed health care provider in this State or another state and meets the following criteria:

- (1) If the party against whom or on whose behalf the testimony is offered is a specialist, the expert witness must:
  - a. Specialize in the same specialty as the party against whom or on whose behalf the testimony is offered; or
  - b. Specialize in a similar specialty which includes within its specialty the performance of the procedure that is the subject of the complaint and have prior experience treating similar patients.

- (2) During the year immediately preceding the date of the occurrence that is the basis for the action, the expert witness must have devoted a majority of his or her professional time to either or both of the following:
- a. The active clinical practice of the same health profession in which the party against whom or on whose behalf the testimony is offered, and if that party is a specialist, the active clinical practice of the same specialty or a similar specialty which includes within its specialty the performance of the procedure that is the subject of the complaint and have prior experience treating similar patients; or
  - b. The instruction of students in an accredited health professional school or accredited residency or clinical research program in the same health profession in which the party against whom or on whose behalf the testimony is offered, and if that party is a specialist, an accredited health professional school or accredited residency or clinical research program in the same specialty.
- (c) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this section, if the party against whom or on whose behalf the testimony is offered is a general practitioner, the expert witness, during the year immediately preceding the date of the occurrence that is the basis for the action, must have devoted a majority of his or her professional time to either or both of the following:
- (1) Active clinical practice as a general practitioner; or
  - (2) Instruction of students in an accredited health professional school or accredited residency or clinical research program in the general practice of medicine.
- (d) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this section, a physician who qualifies as an expert under subsection (a) of this Rule and who by reason of active clinical practice or instruction of students has knowledge of the applicable standard of care for nurses, nurse practitioners, certified registered nurse anesthetists, certified registered nurse midwives, physician assistants, or other medical support staff may give expert testimony in a medical malpractice action with respect to the standard of care of which he is knowledgeable of nurses, nurse practitioners, certified registered nurse anesthetists, certified registered nurse midwives, physician assistants licensed under Chapter 90 of the General Statutes, or other medical support staff.
- (e) Upon motion by either party, a resident judge of the superior court in the county or judicial district in which the action is pending may allow expert testimony on the appropriate standard of health care by a witness who does not meet the requirements of subsection (b) or (c) of this Rule, but who is otherwise qualified as an expert witness, upon a showing by the movant of extraordinary circumstances and a determination by the court that the motion should be allowed to serve the ends of justice.
- (f) In an action alleging medical malpractice, an expert witness shall not testify on a contingency fee basis.
- (g) This section does not limit the power of the trial court to disqualify an expert witness on grounds other than the qualifications set forth in this section.
- (h) Notwithstanding subsection (b) of this section, in a medical malpractice action against a hospital, or other health care or medical facility, a person may give expert testimony on the appropriate standard of care as to administrative or other nonclinical issues if the person has substantial knowledge, by virtue of his or her training and experience, about the standard of care among hospitals, or health care or medical facilities, of the same type as the hospital, or health care or medical facility, whose actions or inactions are the subject of the testimony situated in the same or similar communities at the time of the alleged act giving rise to the cause of action.

(i) A witness qualified as an expert in accident reconstruction who has performed a reconstruction of a crash, or has reviewed the report of investigation, with proper foundation may give an opinion as to the speed of a vehicle even if the witness did not observe the vehicle moving. Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

- IV. Expert Opinion Admissible.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Cited in Elliott v. Muehlbach, 173 N.C. App. 709, 620 S.E.2d 266, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2226 (2005); Worthey v. York, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 37263 (W.D.N.C. Sept. 13, 2005); Formyduval v. Britt, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 192, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1222 (2006).

II. QUALIFICATION OF EXPERT.

Qualifications of Expert. —

Neurologist could testify, as an expert witness for the patient about the relevant standard of care in a medical malpractice case because the witness, a board certified neurologist, specialized in the same specialty as one of the health care providers, who had a specialty in general consulting neurology. Billings v. Rosenstein, 174 N.C. App. 191, 619 S.E.2d 922, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2293 (2005).

Police Officer. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in allowing the investigating officer to testify as an expert under G.S. 8C-1-702(a) regarding the lividity of pooled blood found at the homicide crime scene and as to approximate time of death, as the State offered ample evidence, which included the officer's education, experience, and specialized training, that the officer was better qualified to give an opinion on the subject than the trier of fact; although the officer was not a medical expert, the applicable standard did not require an expert to be licensed or a specialist in the field in which the expert testified. State v. Steelmon, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 492, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 693 (2006).

Nurse Engaged in Clinical Nursing. — In a medical malpractice case, a patient had forecast sufficient evidence that a nurse was qualified to testify under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 702(b)(2). The nurse's deposition testimony that she worked in the clinical practice of nursing part of the time and that she served as a legal consultant part of the time did not necessarily contradict her affidavit that she devoted the majority of her time to clinical nursing; furthermore, defendants had not contradicted her statements that a registered nurse could be a "floor nurse" and that there was no "floor nursing" specialty. Diggs v. Novant Health, Inc., — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 851, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 983 (2006).

III. EXPERT OPINION NOT ADMISSIBLE.

Expert's Failure to Make Independent Diagnosis. — In medical malpractice case, trial court did not err by refusing to allow expert testimony from a physician who did not make his own independent diagnosis or conduct independent testing to determine the cause of pain experienced after an injection. Miller v. Forsyth Mem'l Hosp., Inc., 173 N.C. App. 385, 618 S.E.2d 838, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2040 (2005).

Children's Symptoms of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder. — Trial court erred in admitting an expert's testimony regarding the children's symptoms of post-traumatic stress disorder as no instruction was given that the testimony was to be considered for corroborative purposes, so it had to be assumed that the testimony was admitted to prove that the children had been sexually assaulted; however, the error was not plain error in light of the overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Credibility. —

It was plain error for a medical expert to bolster the credibility of the victim in violation of G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 702(a), so defendant did not have to preserve the claim for review pursuant to N.C.R. App. P. 10(b)(1); however, the error did not prejudice defendant as the State presented sufficient evidence from other sources to establish the victim's credibility. State v. Blizzard, 169 N.C. App. 285, 610 S.E.2d 245, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 680 (2005).

Trial court erred in admitting expert testimony that, inter alia, "these children suffered sexual abuse by (defendant)," as the opinion did not relate to a diagnosis derived from the expert's examination of the prosecuting witnesses in the course of treatment, making it improper opinion testimony concerning the children's credibility; however, the error was not plain error in light of the overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

IV. EXPERT OPINION ADMISSIBLE.

Physician. —

Expert witness was properly allowed to give his opinion as to defendant's state of mind based on the fact that the victim was found lying prone on the floor; as a psychiatrist, the witness was trained to recognize links between behavior and a person's state of mind, therefore he had specialized knowledge to assist the trier of fact to understand the evidence or to determine a fact in issue, G.S. 8C-1, Rule 702(a), and his testimony was not improperly allowed. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

In a wrongful death action based on a medical specialist's medical malpractice, the trial court erred in failing to allow the specialist to cross-examine the medical expert for the decedent's estate as to whether the other treating doctor, a former codefendant, acted in accordance with the standard of care, because evidence of the former co-defendant's standard of care was relevant to show whether the specialist's conduct was the proximate cause of the injury, as G.S. 90-21.12 permits a physician, otherwise qualified under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 702, to testify regarding the applicable standard of care in a medical malpractice case. However, any error was harmless because there was other expert testimony admitted for both parties that contained the same substance, and it could not be said that a different outcome would have resulted. Boykin v. Kim, 174 N.C. App. 278, 620 S.E.2d 707, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2396 (2005).

Trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of the employee's physicians as expert witnesses, as they were qualified by experience, training, and education with specialized scientific knowledge regarding the development of mesothelioma. Williams v. CSX Transp., Inc., — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 716, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 532 (2006).

Opinion on Helpfulness of Autopsy Photographs. — Expert witness was properly permitted to testify that in the expert's opinion each of the autopsy photographs admitted into evidence depicted aspects of the victim's wounds, and each would be helpful to illustrate the victim's wounds to the jury, since such opinions were within the doctor's area of expertise and were relevant and appropriate to show the number and severity of the wounds. State v. Taylor, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 218, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1575 (2006).

S.B.I. Lab Technician. —

S.B.I. agent was properly allowed to give her expert opinion as to why the seizure of defendant's police frequency book was important, testifying that finding a police frequency book and a radio scanner could indicate those acting illegally might have a "jump start" if they knew which police frequencies to monitor; that testimony was within the witness's expertise and was likely to assist the jury in inferring why such evidence was considered important and why it was seized during a search of defendant's residence for a methamphetamine laboratory. State v. Alderson, 173 N.C. App. 344, 618 S.E.2d 844, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2033 (2005).

Expert in Child Physical Abuse Case. —

In a prosecution for the murder of a child, it was proper, under G.S. 8C-1-702(a), for properly qualified experts to offer the opinion that the victim's death was not caused by an accidental injury, as: (1) both based their opinions on their years of experience as pathologists, during which they performed and consulted on numerous autopsies; and (2) the experts offered the basis of their opinions. State v. Murphy, 172 N.C. App. 734, 616 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1786 (2005).

Ballistics Expert. — Defendant's conviction of first degree murder was affirmed, as the trial court properly admitted an expert's ballistic testimony pursuant to G.S. 8C-1, Rule 702, and defendant's claims concerning violation of the Daubert standard were irrelevant as North Carolina did not recognize the Daubert standard. State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 393, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 191 (2006).

Rule 703. Bases of opinion testimony by experts.

CASE NOTES

Expert need not testify from personal knowledge, etc.

Where the expert witness testified that he viewed the racetrack (although not while it was in use), reviewed aerial photos and topographical maps of the area, listened to recordings of the sound generated by the all terrain vehicles, and discussed the racetrack noise with several of the landowners in their nuisance case against their neighbors, the neighbors made no showing and presented no argument suggesting that this information was an inadequate basis under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 703, for the expert's opinions; without such a showing, the appellate court not hold that the trial court erred in denying the neighbors' motion to strike the expert's testimony. Elliott v. Muehlbach, 173 N.C. App. 709, 620 S.E.2d 266, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2226 (2005).

Otherwise Inadmissible Hearsay Evidence May Be Allowed. —

Trial court did not err in admitting into evidence the crime laboratory reports upon which the expert, whether hearsay or not, permissibly based the expert opinion under G.S. 8C-1-703, as disclosure of the basis of the expert's opinion was essential to assessment of credibility and was not hearsay under G.S. 8C-1-801. State v. Lyles, 172 N.C. App. 323, 615 S.E.2d 890, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1424 (2005), appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 73, 622 S.E.2d 625 (2005).

Testimony Regarding Results of Experiments. —

Trial court did not err in admitting the testimony of an expert regarding the findings of another expert about what the nontestifying expert learned and reported in regard to ballistics tests performed on the weapon allegedly used to shoot the two victims in defendant's case; the expert's testimony was not offered for the truth of the matter asserted, but was offered to show the basis of his opinion, that he was relying on the nontestifying expert's report. State v. Bethea, 173 N.C. App. 43, 617 S.E.2d 687, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1907 (2005).

Rule 704. Opinion on ultimate issue.

CASE NOTES

This rule allows testimony on ultimate issues, etc.

Trial court properly admitted, under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 701, G.S. 8C-1, Rule 704, lay opinion testimony of various law enforcement officers that defendant "tried to kill" one of the responding officers because their testimony amounted to nothing more than shorthand statements of fact based on their knowledge and observations and did not implicate defendant's guilt, mental state, or intent. The officers' testimony was based on their perceptions after witnessing defendant shoot the officer, and was not objectionable merely because it embraced an ultimate issue to be decided by the trier of fact. State v. McVay, 174 N.C. App. 335, 620 S.E.2d 883, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2402 (2005).

Constructive Possession in Drug Case.

— Officer's testimony was not improper on the issue of constructive possession of drugs; the officer never testified that defendant was in constructive possession, but to the underlying facts of defendant's location in proximity to the drugs. State v. Hart, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 102, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1675 (2006).

"Intentional Injury" in Child Abuse Case. —

In a prosecution for the murder of a child, it was proper, under G.S. 8C-1-704, for properly qualified experts to offer opinions on the ultimate issue that the victim's death was not caused by an accidental injury, as: (1) both based their opinions on their years of experience as pathologists, during which they performed and consulted on numerous autopsies; and (2) the experts offered the basis of their opinions. State v. Murphy, 172 N.C. App. 734, 616 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1786 (2005).

Rule 705. Disclosure of facts or data underlying expert opinion.

CASE NOTES

Testimony Properly Excluded. —

Because the State did not choose to explore the basis for defendant's expert's opinion at trial, the trial court was not obligated to allow the expert to testify as to certain conversations that he had with defendant that formed the basis for his opinion. State v. Edwards, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 333, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2487 (2005).

Testimony As to Final Conclusion. —

Trial court properly allowed the expert to testify as to his final conclusion even though it may have touched on an ultimate issue in the case. Taylor v. Abernethy, 174 N.C. App. 93, 620 S.E.2d 242, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2281 (2005).

ARTICLE 8.

*Hearsay.Rule 801. Definitions and exception for admissions of a party-opponent.

CASE NOTES

Agency. —

North Carolina Industrial Commission did not err when it allowed a professional football player's agent to testify regarding statements made by the team's scouting director, its position coach, and the assistant special teams coach because those individuals had authority to discuss the team's needs and a player's performance as their opinion would be considered in determining the team's final roster. Renfro v. Richardson Sports, Ltd. Partners, 172 N.C. App. 176, 616 S.E.2d 317, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1435 (2005).

Statements Admissible to Explain Subsequent Conduct. —

In a drug case, a trial court did not err by allowing an officer to testify about a conversation with another person that led to defendant's arrest under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 801(c) because (1) defendant opened the door during cross-examination and (2) the testimony was offered to explain subsequent conduct of the officers. State v. Cardenas, 169 N.C. App. 404, 610 S.E.2d 240, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 681 (2005).

Trial court did not err in finding that police detective was the custodian or other qualified witness of pawn shop records for purposes of admissibility of his testimony regarding his review of those records, nor did it err in admitting the detective's testimony regarding said records, as his testimony regarding his review and his resulting actions was admissible to show the basis for those actions, explained his conduct, and was not hearsay. State v. Goblet, 173 N.C. App. 112, 618 S.E.2d 257, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1929 (2005).

Testimony regarding an officer's interaction with a detective and a third individual was non-hearsay since it was not admitted to prove the truth of the matter asserted, but rather to show how the officer formed a reasonable suspicion that defendant was involved in the robbery at issue, which in turn justified including defendant's photo in a lineup shown to the robbery victim. State v. Alexander, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 434, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 843 (2006).

Admission by Party Opponent. —

Defendant's statement that he would "be guilty" was admissible under G.S. 8C-1-801(d)(A) because it was defendant's own statement offered against his own interest. State v. Laney, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 522, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1398 (2006).

Statements of coconspirators made prior to or subsequent to the conspiracy, etc.

Because there was no evidence that a conspiracy to rob a convenience store was in existence at the time statements in question were made, the trial court erred in admitting the hearsay statements as a statement by a co-conspirator under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 801(d); however, the error was harmless pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b) because the remaining evidence that defendant took part in the robbery was overwhelming. State v. Stephens, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 610, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 50 (2006).

Evidence Not Hearsay. —

Trial court did not err in admitting into evidence the crime laboratory reports upon which the expert, whether hearsay or not, permissibly based the expert opinion under G.S. 8C-1-703, as disclosure of the basis of the expert's opinion was essential to assessment of credibility and was not hearsay under G.S. 8C-1-801. State v. Lyles, 172 N.C. App. 323, 615 S.E.2d 890, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1424 (2005), appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 73, 622 S.E.2d 625 (2005).

With regard to a defendant's conviction for first-degree felony murder as to the death of his ex-girlfriend, the trial court did not err by admitting the testimony of a man who had been watching a movie with the victim at her home just prior to her death, which detailed why the man ran from the scene instead of confronting the defendant who broke into the victim's home, because the testimony was offered not for the truth of the matter asserted but for purposes of explaining why the man chose to run, to seek out the police, and not confront defendant single-handedly, which was admissible non-hearsay. State v. Byers, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 357, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 59 (2006).

Trial court did not err in admitting into evidence two letters from decedent to the brother, as well as the envelopes which contained those letters; the letters and envelopes were not hearsay because they were not offered for the truth of the matter, but were offered to provide a sample of decedent's handwriting so that the jury could compare it to the signature on a contract at issue, and the letters were properly authenticated by a witness familiar with decedent's handwriting. Taylor v. Abernethy, 174 N.C. App. 93, 620 S.E.2d 242, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2281 (2005).

Football player was properly permitted to testify as to why he was released from another team where he offered personal knowledge as to why he was released and he stated that he could not "perform as needed on the field;" the statement did not meet the definition of hearsay because it occurred while the football player was testifying at a hearing. Swift v. Richardson Sports, Ltd., 173 N.C. App. 134, 620 S.E.2d 533, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1898 (2005).

North Carolina Industrial Commission did not err under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 801(c) by allowing a former professional football player to testify about the reason for his termination from another professional team after his first professional team released the player because the player offered personal knowledge about why he was released and his testimony was not hearsay. Swift v. Richardson Sports, Inc., — N.C. App. —, — S.E.2d —, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 725 (Apr. 5, 2005).

Evidence Held Admissible. —

No limiting instruction was required relating to defendant's statements to officers which established his motive for a robbery during which a store owner was killed, as defendant's statements were properly admitted as admissions of a party opponent. State v. al-Bayyinah, 359 N.C. 741, 616 S.E.2d 500, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 844 (2005).

In defendant's murder trial, defendant was not required to make an offer of proof regarding testimony that her victim had told her former employee that he was going to "shoot up his house" that was excluded when the trial court granted the state's motion to strike the testimony. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Evidence Held Inadmissible. —

Trial court erred in granting summary judgment to an employer because the statements in the affidavits made by three affiants to establish an employee's on-call pay rate, and in the exhibits submitted in support of their affidavits, were hearsay under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 801(c) and were inadmissible under G.S. 1A-1, N.C. R. Civ. P. 56(e) to prove the employee's on-call pay rate because only the employer's management team had knowledge of the employee's on call pay rate. However, there was no evidence that the affiants were members of the employer's management team or were otherwise involved in the establishment of the on-call pay rate for the employer; therefore, any knowledge the affiants had of the on-call pay rate was only through a statement made by another, namely the employer's management team. Gilreath v. N.C. HHS, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 293, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1077 (2006).

Admission of Non-Hearsay Raised No Confrontation Clause Concerns. —

Admission of nonhearsay raises no Confrontation Clause concerns; testimony regarding an officer's interaction with a detective and a third individual was non-hearsay, and raised no Confrontation Clause concerns, since it was not admitted to prove the truth of the matter asserted, but rather to show how the officer formed a reasonable suspicion that defendant was involved in the robbery at issue, which in turn justified including defendant's photo in a lineup shown to the robbery victim. State v. Alexander, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 434, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 843 (2006).

Applied in State v. Lawson, 173 N.C. App. 270, 619 S.E.2d 410, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2036 (2005).

Cited in State v. Lewis, 360 N.C. 1, 619 S.E.2d 830, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1000 (2005); In re M.G.T.-B., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 916, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1182 (2006).

Rule 802. Hearsay rule.

CASE NOTES

Evidence Held Admissible. —

Trial court did not err in finding that police detective was the custodian or other qualified witness of pawn shop records for purposes of admissibility of his testimony regarding his review of those records, nor did it err in admitting the detective's testimony regarding said records, as his testimony regarding his review and his resulting actions was admissible to show the basis for those actions, explained his conduct, and was not hearsay. State v. Goblet, 173 N.C. App. 112, 618 S.E.2d 257, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1929 (2005).

Applied in State v. Cardenas, 169 N.C. App. 404, 610 S.E.2d 240, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 681 (2005).

III. EXCITED UTTERANCES.

Statement Admissible as Excited Utterance. —

Statement made by defendant's girlfriend, "We gots to be more careful," was admissible as an excited utterance exception to the hearsay rule where it was made in reaction to the startling event of arriving home late in the evening, being seized in the front yard, and being led handcuffed into her own residence; an eyewitness testified that she the girlfriend made the statement she was upset and shaking, and immediately after making it, she burst into tears. State v. Boyd, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 796, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 854 (2006).

IV. MENTAL, EMOTIONAL OR PHYSICAL CONDITION.

Statement of Intent to Engage in Future Act. —

Victim's statement to the victim's sister regarding the victim's intention to meet defendant was admissible under G.S. 8C-1-803(3) because the statement tended to show the victim's plan or intent to engage in a future act. State v. Taylor, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 218, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1575 (2006).

In defendant's murder trial, defendant was not required to make an offer of proof regarding testimony that her victim had told her former employee that he was going to "shoot up his house" that was excluded when the trial court granted the state's motion to strike the testimony. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

V. STATEMENTS FOR DIAGNOSIS OR TREATMENT.

Statements of Child Victim of Sexual Abuse to Health Care Professional. —

Videotapes of the nurses' interviews of the children regarding defendant's sexual abuse of the children were admissible under the hearsay exception for statements made for the purpose of medical diagnosis and treatment under G.S. 8C-1-803(4); the statements were made in a medical atmosphere, a hospital, the statements were taken by nurses prior to a medical examination, the statements were taken for the children's first treatment after the abuse, and the statements, including identification of defendant, aided diagnosis of psychological problems and treatment for those problems. State v. Lewis, 172 N.C. App. 97, 616 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1439 (2005).

VII. RECORDS OF REGULARLY CONDUCTED ACTIVITY.

Fingerprint Records. — Because a fingerprint card created upon defendant's arrest, and contained in the Automated Fingerprint Identification System database, was a business record and therefore non-testimonial, the trial court did not violate defendant's Sixth Amendment right to confrontation by admitting into evidence law enforcement record cards allegedly bearing his fingerprints. State v. Windley, 173 N.C. App. 187, 617 S.E.2d 682, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1927 (2005).

DNA Results Properly Admitted. — State investigative reports that gave the results of DNA tests incriminating defendant were properly admitted at his trial for murder and rape as business records under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 803(6), even though the investigator who made the reports did not testify. His supervisor testified, and the reports were not testimonial but were neutral and were not prepared exclusively for trial. State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

Sex Offender Registration. — Notice of Pending Registration and a Sex Offender Registration Worksheet were properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-803(6). State v. Wise, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 732, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1293 (2006).

Foundational Requirements for Business Records. — Trial court erred in considering affidavits at summary judgment because none of the affidavits addressed the foundational requirements for the admission of evidence to establish an employee's on-call pay rate through a business record under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 803(6), and thus did not present personal knowledge setting forth facts admissible in evidence. Further, nothing in one affiant's affidavit established a foundation that a facsimile cover page was a record of regularly conducted activity, which would fall under the business records exception to the hearsay rule, because the affiant relied on a hand-written note on a cover page that purported to summarize the contents of missing memos. Gilreath v. N.C. HHS, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 293, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1077 (2006).

VIII. PUBLIC RECORDS AND REPORTS.

Relation to Business Records Exception. — Where defendant argued that the language of G.S. 8C-1-803(8), regarding the hearsay exception for public records and reports, restricted the business records exception of G.S. 8C-1-803(6), the argument failed; G.S. 8C-1-803(8) was adopted without the intention of changing the common law rule allowing admissions of public records of purely ministerial observations, as the intended purpose of G.S. 8C-1-803(8) was to prevent prosecutors from attempting to prove their cases through police officers' reports of their observations during the investigation of crime. State v. Lyles, 172 N.C. App. 323, 615 S.E.2d 890, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1424 (2005), appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 73, 622 S.E.2d 625 (2005).

Prison records. — Prison records on defendant's father were admissible under the public records exception to the hearsay rule. State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

DNA Reports Properly Admitted. — State investigative reports that gave the results of DNA tests incriminating defendant were properly admitted at his trial for murder and rape under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 803(8), as public records, even though the investigator who made the records did not testify. His supervisor testified, the reports concerned routine matters and recorded only ministerial observations, and defendant's right of confrontation was not violated. State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

XIII. OTHER EXCEPTIONS.

Trustworthiness of Child Victim's Out-of-Court Statements in Sexual Abuse Case.

Three boys' statements possessed equivalent guarantees of trustworthiness for purposes of the residual hearsay exception as, inter alia: (1) the discussion of sexual matters was initiated spontaneously by the children; (2) the adults to whom the statements were made were credible witnesses; (3) the nature of the statements tended to show that they were trustworthy as they were very explicit sexual statements that would not ordinarily be stated by boys of their age unless the statements were true; and (4) the trial court had an opportunity to see the boys on the witness stand at the motion hearing and it appeared obvious that their presence on the witness stand in front of defendant was traumatic for them. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Notice of Intent to Use Hearsay at Trial Insufficient. — Witness's hearsay statement identifying the perpetrator was not admissible under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 803 because the State did not provide sufficient written notice to defendant of its intent to use the statement prior to trial. State v. Lawson, 173 N.C. App. 270, 619 S.E.2d 410, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2036 (2005).

Evidence Held Admissible.

As two children were available to testify, although neither the State nor defendant called them to testify, defendant waived her right to confront the children; additionally, none of the challenged statements constituted formal statements to the police or other government officers because the statements were not procured by a government officer but by the children's foster parents, and although the statements were conveyed both to the department of social services and the police, the statements were not formal testimonial statements. State v. Brigman, 171 N.C. App. 305, 615 S.E.2d 21, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1264 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

Children's statements to their foster parents were properly admitted under the residual hearsay exception as, inter alia: (1) the children were unavailable as they had no memory of the subject matter; (2) the statements were evidence of material facts; (3) the statements were not covered by any of the hearsay exceptions listed in G.S. 8C-1-804(b)(1)-(4) and G.S. 8C-1-803(1)-(23); and (4) the statements possessed equivalent circumstantial guarantees of trustworthiness. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Rule 804. Hearsay exceptions; declarant unavailable.

CASE NOTES

II. Unavailability as a Witness.

VI. Other Exceptions.

II. UNAVAILABILITY AS A WITNESS.

Trustworthiness Shown. —

Three boys' statements possessed equivalent guarantees of trustworthiness for purposes of the residual hearsay exception as, inter alia: (1) the discussion of sexual matters was initiated spontaneously by the children; (2) the adults to whom the statements were made were credible witnesses; (3) the nature of the statements tended to show that they were trustworthy as they were very explicit sexual statements that would not ordinarily be stated by boys of their age unless the statements were true; and (4) the trial court had an opportunity to see the boys on the witness stand at the motion hearing and it appeared obvious that their presence on the witness stand in front of defendant was traumatic for them. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Trustworthiness Not Shown. —

Witness's hearsay statement identifying the perpetrator was not admissible under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 804 since the trial court did not find the witness to be unavailable and there was no indicia of reliability regarding the statement. State v. Lawson, 173 N.C. App. 270, 619 S.E.2d 410, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2036 (2005).

Unavailability Requirement Not Satisfied. —

Trial court erred in admitting testimony of a witness regarding another parties' statements regarding duplicate keys defendant allegedly made for the victim's home because the trial court failed to make any findings regarding the declarant's availability to testify and the reliability of her statements; however, the error did not require reversal. State v. Scanlon, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 770, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 541 (2006).

Effect of Unavailability of Witness on Defendant's Right to Confrontation. — For purposes of a claim of a confrontation clause violation under N.C. Const. art. I, § 23, a trial court's confrontation clause analysis of a statement should proceed as follows: the initial determination is whether the statement is testimonial or nontestimonial, and if the statement is testimonial, the trial court must then ask whether the declarant is available or unavailable to testify during the trial; if the declarant is unavailable pursuant to the G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 804(b)(5) hearsay exception, the trial court must determine whether the accused had a prior opportunity to cross-examine the declarant about this statement, and if the accused had such an opportunity, the statement may be admissible if it is not otherwise excludable hearsay, but if the accused did not have this opportunity, the statement must be excluded. State v. Lewis, 360 N.C. 1, 619 S.E.2d 830, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

Defendant's Right to Confrontation of Witnesses. — Appellate court erred in finding that defendant's right to confrontation pursuant to N.C. Const. art. I, § 23 was violated by allowing an officer to testify pursuant to G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 804(b)(5), that the deceased victim picked defendant from a lineup; although the hearsay statement was testimonial, and thus implicated the confrontation clause, the error was harmless pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b), as the outcome of the trial probably would have been the same if the lineup was excluded based on the victim's independent identification of defendant as the perpetrator. State v. Lewis, 360 N.C. 1, 619 S.E.2d 830, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

Statement Held Admissible. —

Because the child's statements were made to a person close to him (his foster mother) and without the reasonable belief that the statements would be used at a subsequent trial, the statements were not testimonial and therefore did not violate the Confrontation Clause; additionally, although the child was unavailable to testify, the trial court did not err in admitting the statements as hearsay exceptions. State v. Brigman, 171 N.C. App. 305, 615 S.E.2d 21, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1264 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

Children's statements to their foster parents were properly admitted under the residual hearsay exception as, inter alia: (1) the children were unavailable as they had no memory of the subject matter; (2) the statements were evidence of material facts; (3) the statements were not covered by any of the hearsay exceptions listed in G.S. 8C-1-804(b)(1)-(4) and G.S. 8C-1-803(1)-(23); and (4) the statements possessed equivalent circumstantial guarantees of trustworthiness. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

VI. OTHER EXCEPTIONS.

Circumstances Indicating Trustworthiness. —

Trial court erroneously admitted, under the residual exception of G.S. 8C-1-804(b)(5), the hearsay statements made by the witness to the police detective; in finding that the proffered statements were trustworthy, the trial court erroneously considered the corroborative nature of the witness's statements. State v. Champion, 171 N.C. App. 716, 615 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1364 (2005).

Admission of Evidence Upheld. —

Out-of-court statements the children made to their foster parents and pediatrician were admissible under the residual exception to the hearsay rule because they were evidence of material facts in the case and were more probative than any other evidence the State could produce through reasonable efforts. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 307, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1071 (2006).

ARTICLE 9.

Authentication and Identification.

Rule 901. Requirement of authentication or identification.

CASE NOTES

Authentication of Letters. — Trial court did not err in admitting into evidence two letters from decedent to the brother, as well as the envelopes which contained those letters; the letters and envelopes were not hearsay because they were not offered for the truth of the matter, but were offered to provide a sample of decedent's handwriting so that the jury could compare it to the signature on a contract at issue, and the letters were properly authenticated by a witness familiar with decedent's handwriting. Taylor v. Abernethy, 174 N.C. App. 93, 620 S.E.2d 242, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2281 (2005).

Evidence Held Admissible. —

Pursuant to G.S. 8-97 and G.S. 8C-1-901, the trial court properly admitted the videotape evidence of defendant committing sexual acts with the victim, a minor child, and the photographs taken therefrom, because: (1) a state agent established an unbroken chain of custody from the time the tape was found in defendant's residence; (2) the state agent testified that the room depicted in the videotape shown to the jury was identical to the master bedroom in defendant's residence and that the man on the videotape was defendant; (3) the victim's mother, who had previously dated defendant, testified that defendant owned a camcorder and a tripod, which he had used to videotape them having sexual intercourse in the master bedroom of defendant's residence; (4) the victim's mother identified the room depicted in the videotape as defendant's master bedroom and the man on the videotape as defendant; (5) the victim's mother identified the young girl on the videotape as the victim, her daughter; (6) there was testimony that defendant's camcorder was in working condition; and (7) there was sufficient evidence from the testimony regarding the chain of custody to establish that the videotape had not been edited or altered, and that the same videotape seized from defendant's residence was the same videotape reviewed by the jury. State v. Prentice, 170 N.C. App. 593, 613 S.E.2d 498, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1086 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 622 S.E.2d 628 (2005).

In a suit brought against a store to recover for personal injuries a customer sustained when he tripped on a stock cart in an aisle of the store, the trial court did not err in admitting the store's employee safety handbook into evidence because the testimony of the store's manager, identifying the document, stating that he obtained a copy of the handbook effective at the time of the customer's injury, and testifying that it was the same handbook required to be distributed to all store employees, was sufficient to support a finding that the document produced by the customer was a copy of the store's employee handbook in effect at the time of the customer's accident. Herring v. Food Lion, LLC, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 281, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2754 (2005).

Text messages were sufficiently authenticated when a manager of the Nextel branch testified that the subject messages were those that the manager retrieved as the stored incoming and outgoing messages for a specific cellular phone. State v. Taylor, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 218, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1575 (2006).

Evidence Held Inadmissible. —

Where petitioners challenged a city annexation ordinances, the trial court properly ruled that their spreadsheets could not be offered to show that the city's methodology was not calculated to provide reasonably accurate results, as required by G.S. 160A-54, because they presented no expert testimony about the spreadsheets, and testimony of the city's principal planner was insufficient to establish a foundation for their admissibility. Brown v. City of Winston-Salem, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 747, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 531 (2006).

Rule 902. Self-authentication.

CASE NOTES

Public records. — Extrinsic evidence of authenticity is not a condition precedent for the admissibility of documents bearing seal and certified copies of public records. State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

ARTICLE 10.

Contents of Writings, Recordings and Photographs.

Rule 1004. Admissibility of other evidence of contents.

CASE NOTES

Best Evidence Rule Not Violated. —

That jurors were unable to view a lost videotape did not, per se, result in a violation of G.S. 8C-1, Rule 403; G.S. 8C-1, Rule 1004 permits admissibility of secondary evidence where the original is lost or destroyed. State v. Thorne, 173 N.C. App. 393, 618 S.E.2d 790, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2031 (2005).

Rule 1006. Summaries.

CASE NOTES

Admission in Summary Form. — Trial court did not err in admitting voluminous videotape recordings in summary form, as such an approach to the evidence was permitted under the North Carolina Rules of Civil Procedure and the jury was informed that the videos, taken for use in a private nuisance case, were edited from many hours of tape recorded over a period of several months. Broadbent v. Allison, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 758, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 524 (2006).

§ 9-3. Qualifications of prospective jurors.

CASE NOTES

Excuse Based on Age. —

There was no error in defendant's murder case when a trial judge refused to disqualify a juror who was over the age of 65; a prospective juror over that age had a right under G.S. 9-3 to serve, and while such a juror had a right under G.S. 9-6.1 to request an exemption, the trial judge had discretion whether to excuse any juror. The language of G.S. 9-6.1 9-6(a) gave the court considerable latitude to deal with prospective jurors and particular problems, and the trial judge, after questioning the prospective juror, genuinely exercised his judicial discretion in refusing to excuse her. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

There was no error in defendant's murder case when a trial judge refused to disqualify a juror who was over the age of 65; a prospective juror over that age had a right under G.S. 9-3 to serve. It was also clear from the text of G.S. 9-3, 9-6(a), and 9-6.1, that whether a juror should be excused from jury service is a decision which rests in the sound discretion of the trial court, and after questioning the prospective juror as to whether or not she thought that she could sit and listen to the evidence, the trial court did not abuse its discretion in allowing her to sit as a juror. *State v. #### Petit Jurors.

§ 9-10. Summons to jurors.

(a) The register of deeds shall, within three days after the receipt of numbers drawn, deliver the list of prospective jurors to the sheriff of the county, who shall summon the persons named therein. The summons shall be served personally, or by leaving a copy thereof at the place of residence of the juror, or by telephone or first-class mail, at least 15 days before the session of court for which the juror is summoned. Service by telephone, or by first-class mail if mailed to the correct current address of the juror on or before the fifteenth day before the day the court convenes, shall be valid and binding on the person served, and he shall be bound to appear in the same manner as if personally served. The summons shall contain information as to the time, place, and authority before whom applications for excuses from jury service may be heard.

(b) All summons served personally or by mail under this section or under G.S. 9-11 shall inform the prospective juror that persons 72 years of age or older are entitled to establish in writing exemption from jury service for good cause, shall contain a statement for claiming such exemption and stating the cause and a place for the prospective juror's signature, and shall state the mailing address of the clerk of superior court and the date by which such request for exemption must be received. (1779, c. 157, ss. 4, 6, P.R.; R.C., c. 31, s. 29; 1868-9, c. 9, s. 12; Code, s. 1733; Rev., s. 1976; C.S., s. 2320; 1967, c. 218, s. 1; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1207, s. 3; 1985, c. 609, s. 3; 2006-226, s. 8; 2006-264, ss. 30(a), 30(c).)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 30(a), which had substituted "72 years" for "65 years" in subsection (b), was repealed by Session Laws 2006-264, s. 30(c), which provided that "If Senate Bill 1479, 2005 Regular Session (Session Laws 2006-226), becomes law, this section is repealed." Session Laws 2006-226 became law on August 10, 2006.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2006-226, s. 8, effective August 10, 2006, substituted "72 years" for "65 years" in subsection (b).

ARTICLE 5.

Discharge of Jurors Prohibited.

§ 9-32. Discharge of juror unlawful.

CASE NOTES

Dissent Erred In Claiming That Issue of Waiver Ex Mero Motu Could Be Addressed. — Dissent erred in raising an issue as to the waiver of sovereign immunity under G.S. 9-32 as the claim was not raised by the parties; the dissent's claim that issue of waiver ex mero motu could be addressed because the North Carolina Board of Nursing moved to dismiss the complaint pursuant to N.C. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(1) and 12(b)(2) was rejected as: (1) the Board only moved to dismiss a negligent infliction of emotional distress claim pursuant to Rule 12(b)(1) and 12(b)(2), (2) the Board moved to dismiss the violation of G.S. 9-32 claim pursuant to N.C. 2006-199, s. 2, effective July 1, 2006, added the second sentence of subsection (a); added subsection (b); redesignated former subsection (b) as present subsection (c); and, in subsection (c), deleted “and defects in the commissioning or recommissioning of the notary that were approved by the Department under this Chapter” at the end of the second sentence and added the third sentence.

Nothing in this Chapter modifies or repeals the common law doctrine of substantial compliance in effect on November 30, 2005.

(b) A notarial act performed before October 1, 2006, shall be deemed valid if it complies with the law as it existed on or before December 1, 2005. (2006-59, s. 24; 2006-199, s. 4.)

- (7) The e-mail address of the registrant.

The information provided in a registration that relates to subdivision (7) of this section shall be considered confidential information and shall not be subject to disclosure under Chapter 132 of the General Statutes, except as provided by rule.

(e) The electronic registration form for an electronic notary shall be transmitted electronically to the Secretary and shall include any decrypting instructions, codes, keys, or software that allow the registration to be read.

(f) Within 10 business days after the change of any registration information required of an electronic notary, the notary shall electronically transmit to the Secretary a notice of the change of information signed with the notary's official electronic signature. pealed." House Bill 1432 (2006-59) did pass.

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-59, s. 25, effective October 1, 2006, and except as otherwise set forth in this act, applicable to notarial acts performed on or after that date, rewrote the second paragraph of subsection (d).

SUBCHAPTER I. GENERAL PROVISIONS.

ARTICLE 1.

Felonies and Misdemeanors.

§ 14-2.4. Punishment for conspiracy to commit a felony.

CASE NOTES

Proof of Conspiracy. —

Trial court did not err in denying defendants' motions to dismiss conspiracy charge because substantial evidence existed, in that: (1) a co-defendant testified that defendants had agreed to distribute marijuana, were engaged in distributing marijuana, and stored marijuana in the house where defendants lived and sold marijuana from an apartment; (2) defendants each had access to the marijuana found in a garage; (3) one defendant was at the apartment when a law enforcement agent made a controlled delivery of a package containing marijuana; (4) marijuana, scales, packaging materials, and weapons were found at both the apartment and in the bedrooms and public areas of the house. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Conspiracy to Commit Murder. —

Defendant was properly charged and convicted of conspiracy to commit first-degree murder under the felony murder rule because the instruction that was given requiring the jury to find an agreement and specific intent to kill eliminated the possibility that an unintentional felony murder formed the basis for the specific intent underlying the conspiracy of which the jury convicted defendant. State v. Curry, 171 N.C. App. 568, 615 S.E.2d 327, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1312 (2005).

Motion to dismiss was properly denied where the evidence showed that defendant drove through an apartment complex in a borrowed car with victim's brother, exited the vehicle in a certain area and returned to the vehicle after gunshots, and the brother fabricated a story to police to avoid identification, there was sufficient evidence to support a finding of conspiracy to commit murder. State v. Brewton, 173 N.C. App. 323, 618 S.E.2d 850, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2027 (2005).

Jury Instructions. — Finding of "an agreement to kill" is equivalent to a finding of an agreement to commit an intentional murder, even in the absence of an instruction requiring the latter finding, and the finding of an agreement to kill is equivalent to the finding of an agreement to premeditate and deliberate. State v. Brewton, 173 N.C. App. 323, 618 S.E.2d 850, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2027 (2005).

Trial court committed plain error in failing to instruct the jury on conspiracy to commit common law robbery as the jury was properly instructed on robbery with a dangerous weapon and common law robbery, apparently based on the conflicting evidence regarding whether the gun used was real or fake; the same conflicting evidence directly pertained to defendant's charge of conspiracy to commit common law robbery as there was conflicting evidence as to whether the agreement was that the person who committed the robbery would use a real or a fake gun. State v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 332, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1078 (2006).

Sufficient Evidence to Go to Jury on Conspiracy to Commit Robbery with Dangerous Weapon. — Defendant's motion to dismiss a conspiracy to commit robbery with a dangerous weapon charge was properly denied as there was conflicting evidence as to whether a gun given to a person who committed a robbery (the actor) was real or not and there was sufficient evidence that the gun was an operable weapon where: (1) defendant and two other men told the actor to rob a store in exchange for drugs, which she agreed to do, (2) the men provided the actor with a gun and she committed the robbery, (3) the actor spoke primarily with defendant regarding the robbery, (4) the actor stated that one of the men told her that the gun was fake, but that she was uncertain whether it was fake, and (5) the actor stated that defendant and the others had a real gun and a fake gun and that she believed she had been given the fake one. State v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 332, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1078 (2006).

§ 14-2.5. Punishment for attempt to commit a felony or misdemeanor.

CASE NOTES

Sentence aggravation. — Trial court erred in sentencing defendant as a level IV offender on his conviction of second-degree murder, as the trial court erred in finding that a prior New York conviction of N.Y. Penal Law § 120.05 was substantially similar to North Carolina's offense of simple assault set forth in G.S. 14-33(a), as the North Carolina offense required serious injury to the victim and the New York offense did not; furthermore, under G.S. 14-2.5, an attempt to commit a misdemeanor or a felony is punishable under the next lower classification as the offense the offender attempted to commit, and defendant's prior New York conviction for attempted second-degree assault should have been treated as a class 3 misdemeanor, which would have not had any point value for prior record purposes. State v. Hanton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 600, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 45 (2006).

§ 14-4. Violation of local ordinances misdemeanor.

CASE NOTES

Applied in Shavitz v. City of High Point, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 4, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1080 (2006).

ARTICLE 2A.

Habitual Felons.

§ 14-7.1. Persons defined as habitual felons.

CASE NOTES

Enhanced Punishment Is Constitutional. —

Defendant's constitutional challenges to his sentence as an habitual felon failed because (1) the North Carolina Habitual Felon Act was not violative of the Separation of Powers Clause; (2) there was no double jeopardy infirmity inherent in the Habitual Felon Act as applied in conjunction with the North Carolina Structured Sentencing Act; and (3) the state appellate court and the state supreme court have rejected constitutional challenges to the Habitual Felon Act based on allegations of cruel and unusual punishment. State v. McIlwaine, 169 N.C. App. 397, 610 S.E.2d 399, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 607 (2005).

Sufficiency of Indictment. — Where defendant did not dispute that his habitual felony indictment included each element specified in G.S. 14-7.3, the indictment was facially valid; defendant's claim that there was a variance between the indictment and the proof offered in support of the indictment should have been raised by a motion to dismiss and was waived by his guilty plea. State v. McGee, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 782, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 180 (2006).

Indictment Held Sufficient. — Defendant contended that because the specific name of the controlled substance was not alleged in the indictment, the indictment was not sufficient to charge habitual felon; however, the habitual felon indictment alleging a prior conviction for felony possession with intent to manufacture, sell, or deliver a Schedule I controlled substance, in addition to two other felony convictions, was sufficient notice under North Carolina and case law. Additionally, because there was no defect in the indictment, the trial court had jurisdiction to sentence defendant as an habitual felon under G.S. 14-7.1 and G.S. 14-7.3. State v. McIlwaine, 169 N.C. App. 397, 610 S.E.2d 399, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 607 (2005).

Conviction on Predicate Felonies. — Defendant's argument, that he was not convicted for purposes of G.S. 14-7.1 until he was sentenced for the first predicate felony, and, therefore, he committed the second felony before he was "convicted" of the first felony, did not challenge the sufficiency of the indictment on its face, and thus defendant's guilty plea waived this argument; in any event, "conviction" referred to the jury's or factfinder's guilty verdict. State v. McGee, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 782, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 180 (2006).

Sentence Enhancement. —

State's use of defendant's prior misdemeanor convictions to enhance a sentence already enhanced under the Habitual Felon Act, G.S. 14-7.1 et seq., did not constitute cruel and unusual punishment. State v. Hall, 174 N.C. App. 353, 620 S.E.2d 723, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2397 (2005).

Use of Prior Convictions. —

Defendant was properly sentenced as a habitual offender where the record showed that defendant had been convicted of three previous felony offenses, including possession of cocaine. State v. Nettles, 170 N.C. App. 100, 612 S.E.2d 172, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 950 (2005).

Defendant Has Burden of Proving Prior Felony Was Set Aside. — Though defendant may have had a valid defense to a habitual felony proceeding if he could establish that a juvenile felony conviction was unconditionally discharged under the provisions of 18 U.S.C.S. § 5021(a), defendant did not submit any evidence of such a discharge and thereby failed to carry his burden of proof under G.S. 14-7.1 to show that a prior felony was set aside. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

Selective Prosecution Not Shown. — Without substantial evidence of intentional discrimination, and absent a showing that the prosecutorial system was motivated by discriminatory purpose and had discriminatory effect, a District Attorney did not abuse his prosecutorial discretion in deciding to seek indictments against all individuals eligible for prosecution as habitual felons; defendant's claim that he was subject to selective prosecution was without merit. State v. Blyther, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 43, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2740 (2005).

Cited in State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

§ 14-7.3. Charge of habitual felon.

CASE NOTES

New Indictment Required. — State did not satisfy the requirements of G.S. 14-7.3, and the trial court lacked the authority to sentence defendant as an habitual felon for a later offense, where the State had not obtained a new habitual felon indictment, and defendant did not agree to waive the same and admit his status pursuant to a bill of information; while the State previously charged defendant with being an habitual felon, defendant was already convicted of the substantive felonies associated with those bills of information, and a new indictment was required. State v. Bradley, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 85, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2745 (2005).

Indictment Held Sufficient. —

Defendant contended that because the specific name of the controlled substance was not alleged in the indictment, the indictment was not sufficient to charge habitual felon; however, the habitual felon indictment alleging a prior conviction for felony possession with intent to manufacture, sell, or deliver a Schedule I controlled substance, in addition to two other felony convictions, was sufficient notice under North Carolina and case law. Additionally, because there was no defect in the indictment, the trial court had jurisdiction to sentence defendant as an habitual felon under G.S. 14-7.1 and G.S. 14-7.3. State v. McIlwaine, 169 N.C. App. 397, 610 S.E.2d 399, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 607 (2005).

Where defendant did not dispute that his habitual felony indictment included each element specified in G.S. 14-7.3, the indictment was facially valid; defendant's claim that there was a variance between the indictment and the proof offered in support of the indictment should have been raised by a motion to dismiss and was waived by his guilty plea. State v. McGee, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 782, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 180 (2006).

Collateral Attack. —

Defendant's collateral attack questioning the validity of his original conviction for the habitual felon sentence was impermissible under G.S. 14-7.3. State v. Flemming, 171 N.C. App. 413, 615 S.E.2d 310, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005).

Cited in State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

§ 14-7.4. Evidence of prior convictions of felony offenses.

CASE NOTES

Proof of Prior Convictions. —

Where defendant, in pleading nolo contendere, stipulated to three of defendant's eight prior convictions, but the State failed to prove any of the remaining convictions as required by G.S. 15A-1340.14(f) and G.S. 14-7.4, the trial court erred under G.S. 15A-1340.13(b) and G.S. 15A-1340.14(a) in sentencing defendant as a prior record level III offender based on prior convictions that were not proven at trial; the sentence, despite being agreed to by defendant, had to be authorized by G.S. 15A-1340.17. State v. Quick, 170 N.C. App. 166, 611 S.E.2d 864, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 897 (2005).

Defendant's collateral attack questioning the validity of his original conviction for the habitual felon sentence was impermissible under G.S. 14-7.3. State v. Flemming, 171 N.C. App.

413, 615 S.E.2d 310, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005).

Admission of exhibits containing both the dates of defendant's prior offenses and resulting convictions for three felonies were properly admitted into evidence and supported defendant's conviction as an habitual offender. State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

A faxed certified copy of a criminal record was admissible under this section to prove defendant's status as an habitual felon; etc. —

Facsimile copy of judgment and probation order were sufficient as proof of defendant's third felony under G.S. 14-7.4. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

§ 14-7.5. Verdict and judgment.

CASE NOTES

Cited in State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

§ 14-7.6. Sentencing of habitual felons.

CASE NOTES

Being an habitual felon is not a crime, but is a status, etc. —

Defendant was sentenced only once as required by the habitual felon statute, G.S. 14-7.6; he was not convicted of being an habitual felon, since the status being an habitual felon was not a separate offense, rather his status as an habitual felon enhanced his conviction of the crime attempting to obtain property by false pretenses. State v. Ledwell, 171 N.C. App. 314, 614 S.E.2d 562, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1212 (2005).

Use of Prior Convictions. —

State's use of defendant's prior misdemeanor convictions to enhance a sentence already enhanced under the Habitual Felon Act, G.S. 14-7.1 et seq., did not constitute cruel and unusual punishment. State v. Hall, 174 N.C. App. 353, 620 S.E.2d 723, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2397 (2005).

Trial court's use of defendant's prior driving while impaired convictions in determining defendant's sentence as a Level II offender did not violate G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) as defendant's prior convictions were not used as aggravating factors; instead, the trial court added points to defendant's prior record pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.14, which in contrast to using the same prior convictions to establish a person's status as an habitual felon, was not expressly prohibited. Further, the use of the same prior convictions introduced by the State as evidence of malice during trial to increase defendant's prior record level at sentencing did not violate the plain language of G.S. 15A-1340.01. State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Sentence Was Proportionate and Not Cruel and Unusual. — Defendant had a lengthy criminal record and was sentenced accordingly for G.S. 14-100 false pretenses, which sentence was enhanced by his status of being an habitual offender under G.S. 14-7.6; the sentence of 142 months to 180 months was within the range for a Class C level V felon, was not disproportionate to the defendant's 25-year history of criminal convictions, and was not cruel and unusual under U.S. Const. amends. VIII, XIV. State v. Ledwell, 171 N.C. App. 314, 614 S.E.2d 562, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1212 (2005).

Trial court erred in entering judgment and commitment for defendant under the habitual offender case number since the error was clerical; however, the court was entitled to fix the error and reversal was not necessary. State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

Sentence Held Proper. — Sentence imposed on defendant of 84 months to 110 months imprisonment, where defendant had a prior record level of III, was not grossly disproportionate under the Eighth Amendment; defendant's sentence was as a Class C felony under G.S. 14-7.6 and his sentence was in the mitigated sentencing range of G.S. 15A-1340.17. State v. Flemming, 171 N.C. App. 413, 615 S.E.2d 310, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005).

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Death Need Not Be Intended for Conviction. — While defendant may not have intended to join the codefendant in shooting and killing the victim, defendant's intent was irrelevant under an acting in concert theory of felony murder in violation of G.S. 14-17; as long as defendant joined the codefendant in committing a felony, defendant was responsible for all other crimes committed in a single transaction that were in furtherance of a common purpose or plan. State v. Herring, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 742, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 521 (2006).

Defendant had no right to a reversal in his murder trial, despite his claim that the indictment was insufficient for staying only that he violated G.S. 14-17. The indictment the requirements of G.S. 15-144. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Entitlement to Parole Ineligibility Instruction. — Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, first-degree rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and the burning of personal property, in violation of G.S. 14-17, 14-27.2(a)(2), 14-39, 14-87, and 14-66, argued that the sentencing court erred by failing to provide a parole ineligibility instruction, the prisoner, who was sentenced to death for the murder conviction, was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because the prisoner would have been eligible for parole under former G.S. 15A-1371(a1) if the jury had recommended life imprisonment; thus, because the prisoner was eligible for parole as a matter of law, the prisoner was not entitled to a parole ineligibility instruction. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

Mitigating Circumstances. — Where a state prisoner, who was sentenced to death for committing first-degree murder, in violation of G.S. 14-17, argued that his attorneys were ineffective because they failed to adequately present mitigating evidence concerning his life history and his mental health, the prisoner was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because (1) the prisoner's sisters testified at sentencing about the prisoner's dysfunctional childhood; (2) the prisoner instructed the attorneys not to introduce further evidence of his background; and (3) a doctor testified at sentencing that the prisoner's mental disorders impaired his ability to control his behavior; furthermore, the prisoner could not demonstrate prejudice because the additional evidence identified by the prisoner was largely cumulative and the jury found that four severe aggravating circumstances under G.S. 15A-2000 outweighed any mitigating circumstances. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

Applied in State v. Andrews, 170 N.C. App. 68, 612 S.E.2d 178, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 891 (2005).

Cited in Buckner v. Polk, 453 F.3d 195, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 16062 (4th Cir. 2006).

II. MURDER IN THE FIRST DEGREE GENERALLY.

A specific intent to kill is an essential element of first degree murder.

Trial court properly denied motion to dismiss the charge of attempted murder of an infant child as the State presented sufficient evidence of defendant's specific intent to kill the child by showing that defendant carjacked a woman and her infant child, drove the woman and her infant child to a deserted area, raped the woman, beat the woman to death, and drove away while leaving the child behind in his diapers on a hot day in grass a foot tall at the deserted area. Additionally, a pediatric critical care expert testified that the infant's injuries, especially sunburns, were life-threatening and that if the infant had not been found by a passerby before nightfall he could have died as a result of exposure and dehydration. State v. Edwards, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 333, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2487 (2005).

Specific intent to kill shown. — Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss charge of attempted first degree murder in violation of G.S. 14-17, as defendant's acts of kidnapping his infant daughter and leaving her in a shed in freezing weather for two days, coupled with his stated interest in avoiding having to pay child support, showed a specific intent to kill the child. State v. Pittman, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 135, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2583 (2005).

Premeditation and Deliberation Generally. —

Defendant's convictions for attempted first-degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury did not violate his right to be free of double jeopardy; in order to obtain a conviction for attempted first-murder, the state had to prove premeditation and deliberation, whereas it did not have to prove those elements to obtain a conviction for assault with a deadly weapon, which was a different offense requiring both proof of the use of a deadly weapon and proof of serious injury. State v. Bethea, 173 N.C. App. 43, 617 S.E.2d 687, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1907 (2005).

Comments by Prosecutor. — Defendant's first degree murder conviction for stabbing his wife to death was affirmed because the prosecutor's statements as to the evidence were not grossly improper and the trial court's failure to intervene ex mero motu was not error. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Same — Nature and Number of Wounds.

Sufficient evidence of premeditation supported defendant's conviction of first-degree murder under G.S. 14-17, where defendant stabbed the victim multiple times in a bar after the victim called defendant names and punched defendant; the evidence of premeditation, which taken together was adequate for a jury to convict, included that defendant slashed the victim multiple times and that defendant left the scene. State v. Dennison, 171 N.C. App. 504, 615 S.E.2d 404, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1271 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 69, 622 S.E.2d 113 (2005).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Evidence was sufficient to support an attempted first-degree murder conviction because the evidence established that the prisoner broke into the victims' home, brandished a gun, threatened to kill both victims, and then shot both victims. Fredrick v. Beck, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 28000 (W.D.N.C. Oct. 28, 2005).

IV. MURDER IN PERPETRATION OF A FELONY.

Death Need Not Be Intended. —

Trial court did not err in instructing the jury both on premeditation and deliberation, and felony murder, as defendant could be convicted of felony murder even though it was the co-felon he shot and killed during the robbery of the seafood merchant; the State only had to show that the killing occurred by defendant's hands during the perpetration of a felony, and not that the intended victim was killed. State v. Torres, 171 N.C. App. 419, 615 S.E.2d 36, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1200 (2005).

Deadly Weapons. —

State did not have to prove that defendant knew the codefendant possessed a gun in order to for defendant to be convicted of felony murder under G.S. 14-17 based on trafficking in cocaine with a deadly weapon in violation of G.S. 90-95 under a concert of action theory; defendant's knowledge that the codefendant had a gun was irrelevant as long as the codefendant killed the victim while possession or attempting to possess the drugs, which the State substantially established was the common purpose of defendant and the codefendant. State v. Herring, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 742, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 521 (2006).

Evidence of Murder in Perpetration of Felony Held Sufficient. —

State presented sufficient evidence that the codefendant had constructive possession of the cocaine around the time of the shooting to find that defendant, by virtue of concert of action, committed trafficking in cocaine by possession of more than 400 grams of cocaine while also possessing a deadly weapon in violation of G.S. 90-95; when the codefendant shot the victim, the codefendant obtained dominion and control over the victim and the area around him, including the cocaine, and the codefendant's shooting of the victim within moments of the codefendant stepping into the apartment with the gun to complete the gun transaction was sufficient to convict defendant of felony murder under G.S. 14-17. State v. Herring, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 742, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 521 (2006).

VI. DEFENSES AND DENIALS.

F. Self-Defense.

Evidence of Victim's Character. —

In defendant's murder trial, defendant was not required to make an offer of proof regarding testimony that her victim had told her former employee that he was going to "shoot up his house" that was excluded when the trial court granted the state's motion to strike the testimony. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

In defendant's trial ending in her conviction for second-degree murder, evidence of her prior conduct in shooting a dog was irrelevant under G.S. § 8C-1-401; the evidence was not necessary to show that defendant was knowledgeable about firearms or had used a gun in the past because defendant had admitted that she shot her victim and whether or not she knew how to use a pistol was not contested, and the evidence was irrelevant to her claim of self-defense. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Testimony from a witness who saw defendant's victim breaking car windows at an automobile dealership should have been admitted during her murder trial, which ended in her conviction for second-degree murder, as an essential element of her assertion of self-defense under G.S. 8C-1-405(b). State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Erroneous exclusion of testimony from a car dealership employee who saw defendant's victim breaking car windows at the dealership, which should have been admitted during defendant's murder trial as evidence of the victim's violent character, was prejudicial under G.S. 15A-1443(a) even though defendant testified to the same incident on direct and redirect examination. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Instruction on Self-Defense Required. —

Defendant was awarded a new trial on charges of second degree murder because there was testimony from the prosecution's witnesses that defendant returned fire only after a person in the car shot at defendant. According to such evidence, defendant was not the initial aggressor and his right to stand his ground was at least a substantial feature of his defense of self-defense; because this instructional error had a probable impact on the jury's finding of guilt, the error was prejudicial, the trial court's failure to give the instruction was thus plain error. State v. Davis, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 474, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 696 (2006).

VII. EVIDENCE.

A. In General.

Mere Strong Suspicion of Guilt Insufficient to Withstand Motion to Dismiss. —

While evidence presented by the State raised a strong suspicion of guilt it did not permit a reasonable inference that defendants were responsible for victim's death, but merely that they had the opportunity to commit the crime, and the trial court did not err in granting defendants' motion to dismiss. State v. Myers, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 329, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2485 (2005).

Premeditation and Deliberation Shown. —

Although the trial court erred in admitting the hearsay statements of the witness, the error was harmless under G.S. 15A-1443(b) given the presence of overwhelming evidence of premeditation required for the conviction of first-degree murder; this evidence included the fact that defendant brought the murder weapon to the residence where the murder occurred, that defendant stabbed or lacerated the victim 51 times, and that the responding police officer saw that defendant's clothes were heavily blood stained. State v. Champion, 171 N.C. App. 716, 615 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1364 (2005).

Evidence of Prior Abuse of Victim. —

North Carolina, to prove the disputed issue of defendant's intent to kill after defendant's forensic psychologist testified that defendant was unable to form the specific intent to kill, elicited testimony on defendant's prior misconduct toward his wife; thus, the psychologist's testimony regarding the statements of defendant's prior bad acts was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-404(b). State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App.

—, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Evidence of Conspiracy. — Motion to dismiss was properly denied where the evidence showed that defendant drove through an apartment complex in a borrowed car with victim's brother, exited the vehicle in a certain area and returned to the vehicle after gunshots, and the brother fabricated a story to police to avoid identification, there was sufficient evidence to support a finding of conspiracy to commit murder. State v. Brewton, 173 N.C. App. 323, 618 S.E.2d 850, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2027 (2005).

Admissible Evidence. —

Evidence as to defendant's prior convictions for driving while impaired and driving while license revoked was properly admitted, under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 404(b), as the evidence was relevant to show malice to support defendant's charge for second degree murder following an auto accident in which defendant was driving while impaired. Further, there was no plain error in the trial court admitting evidence of defendant's empty prescription pill bottle, testimony by an officer identifying the pills from the label, and testimony by a pharmacist about the interaction between the pills and alcohol, as the evidence was relevant to the charges against defendant. State v. Edwards, 170 N.C. App. 381, 612 S.E.2d 394, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 992 (2005).

Defendant's first degree murder conviction for stabbing his wife to death was affirmed because defendant's written waiver of his Miranda rights and written confession were made understandingly, knowingly, and voluntarily through a police officer that served as defendant's interpreter. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Evidence Held Sufficient to Support Conviction. —

Evidence, including a history of violence and hostility between the parties, testimony from defendant's girlfriend that she thought defendant was going to shoot the victim, and defendant's DNA on a beer can, was sufficient to support defendant's conviction for first-degree murder. State v. Hocutt, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 832, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 966 (2006).

Sufficient evidence supported a murder conviction where testimony revealed that defendant attacked the victim after the victim had been knocked to the ground by another, that defendant then beat the victim with a rubber mallet, that defendant then stole the shoes off the victim's feet and fled the scene, and that during his flight, defendant stated to others "I killed him, I killed him." State v. Yarrell, 172 N.C. App. 135, 616 S.E.2d 258, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1428 (2005).

Error in admission of victim's statements without cross-examination was harmless. — Defendant's conviction for first-degree murder was upheld on appeal, despite that the trial court erring by admitting the statements of two unavailable robbery victims with regard to their statements to police after the crime, which identified and implicated defendant and three others, without affording defendant the right to confrontation, because the evidence of defendant's guilt was overwhelming, which rendered the trial court's error harmless. State v. Allen, 171 N.C. App. 71, 614 S.E.2d 361, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1186 (2005), cert. dismissed, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 875 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 878 (2005).

VIII. INSTRUCTIONS.

A. In General.

Ability to Form Specific Intent. —

Defendant's first degree murder conviction for stabbing his wife to death was affirmed because the trial court did not error in giving a jury instruction which limited the purpose of evidence that was introduced regarding defendant's prior bad acts to the determination of defendant's intent. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Instruction as to Aiding and Abetting. — Defendant's conviction for first-degree murder, under a theory of aiding and abetting, was affirmed because the trial court's clarifying instructions properly set out the elements of the crime and did not lessen the state's burden of proof. State v. Glynn, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 551, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1676 (2006).

Finding of "an agreement to kill" is equivalent to finding an agreement to commit an intentional murder, even in the absence of an instruction requiring the latter finding, and the finding of an agreement to kill is equivalent to the finding of an agreement to premeditate and deliberate. State v. Brewton, 173 N.C. App. 323, 618 S.E.2d 850, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2027 (2005).

Instruction on action in concert was erroneously given regarding defendant's first-degree murder charge, as the State failed to present any evidence that defendant acted with another; moreover, the error was not harmless, as contended by the State, because the trial court also erroneously informed the jury in its instructions that it could convict defendant of first-degree murder on the basis of acting in concert under both felony murder and premeditation and deliberation theories. State v. Windley, 173 N.C. App. 187, 617 S.E.2d 682, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1927 (2005).

Voluntary Intoxication. —

Defendant's conviction of first-degree murder under G.S. 14-17, was affirmed; the trial court properly denied defendant's requested jury instructions on voluntary intoxication and second-degree murder, as defendant showed no signs of intoxication when he committed the crime, and the evidence of premeditation was very strong, and the trial court did not abuse its authority to question witnesses under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Crim. P. 614(b), as the trial court only questioned jurors to focus the witness, or to clarify the testimony. State v. Rios, 169 N.C. App. 270, 610 S.E.2d 764, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 685 (2005), appeal dismissed, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 623 S.E.2d 37 (2005).

IX. CHARGE AND INDICTMENT.

Short-Form Indictment Held Sufficient.

Defendant's conviction for first degree murder, pursuant to a theory of aiding and abetting under G.S. § 14-5.2, was affirmed because: (1) the short form indictment properly apprised defendant of the charges against him under G.S. 15-144; and (2) there was no variance with the evidence as the state's evidence presented supported the indictment for first degree murder. State v. Glynn, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 551, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1676 (2006).

XII. CAPITAL PUNISHMENT.

Sentence Not Disproportionate. —

Several factors supported the determination that imposition of the death penalty was neither excessive nor disproportionate where the evidence indicated that defendant began planning to kill the victim as soon as their telephone conversation ended the day before the murder; that defendant urged the victim to walk into the field for the ostensible purpose of setting up targets, then shot him without provocation; that the victim asked defendant not to shoot him again; that defendant fired three spaced shots into the victim; that the third shot was fired into the victim's head as the victim lay helpless watching defendant; that defendant took the victim's keys from his body after shooting him; and that defendant felt no remorse. State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

XIII. APPEAL.

Ineffective Assistance of Counsel Claims. — Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, in violation of G.S. 14-17, argued that his attorneys were ineffective because they failed to assert a diminished capacity defense, the prisoner was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because (1) the prisoner directed the attorneys to pursue the theory that another individual committed the murder; (2) the attorneys' strategic decision to argue that the prisoner did not commit the murder was objectively reasonable; (3) the fact that the attorneys met with the prisoner only five times before trial did not establish their ineffectiveness; and (4) the state court reasonably held that asserting a diminished capacity defense would not have led to a different outcome. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

Defendant's first degree murder conviction for stabbing his wife to death was affirmed because defendant failed to show ineffective assistance of counsel as he did not meet his burden of showing a reasonable probability that, but for defense counsel's failure to raise an issue at trial, the result of his proceedings would have been different. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

§ 14-18. Punishment for manslaughter.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Manslaughter.
  - B. Voluntary.
- VIII. Sufficiency of Evidence.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Trial court erred in failing to submit aggravating factors to the jury before imposing an aggravated sentence on defendant for his two manslaughter convictions; as defendant was entitled to a jury trial on the charge, any aggravating factor had to be submitted to the jury before an aggravated sentence could be imposed. State v. Speight, 359 N.C. 602, 614 S.E.2d 262, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 645 (2005).

Cited in In re K.T.L., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 152, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 965 (2006).

II. MANSLAUGHTER.

B. Voluntary.

Defendant's convictions on both assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury and attempted voluntary manslaughter for shooting a person were mutually exclusive offenses and the trial court's consolidation of the offenses into a single judgment was error that mandated a new trial; for the jury to convict on both offenses, it had to find either that defendant did not have the intent to kill, which would support the assault offense, or that he had the intent to kill, but that such intent was negated by sudden provocation, which would support the attempted manslaughter charge. State v. Hames, 170 N.C. App. 312, 612 S.E.2d 408, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1007 (2005), cert. denied, stay denied, 360 N.C. 70, 622 S.E.2d 496 (2005).

VIII. SUFFICIENCY OF EVIDENCE.

Evidence Sufficient to Sustain Conviction. —

Admissible testimony and opinions of woman who, with victim who died from smoking methamphetamine and defendant, smoked an eight-ball of meth was sufficient evidence to convict defendant of possession and its sale, by exchange for work, under G.S. 90-95 and involuntary manslaughter under G.S. 14-18. State v. Yelton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 594, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 44 (2006).

CASE NOTES

Proof of Penetration. —

Where the evidence showed that defendant ordered the victim to drop her pants and underwear at gunpoint and asked her to spread open her labia so he could inspect her vagina and defendant then used the barrel of his gun to separate her labia and the victim testified that she felt the gun up against her private area right where her tampon would be entered, such evidence was sufficient to support a finding that a penetration occurred under G.S. 14-27.1(4) to support defendant's conviction for first degree sexual offense, despite defendant changing his mind about pursuing any further contact with the victim upon discovering the tampon. State v. Bellamy, 172 N.C. App. 649, 617 S.E.2d 81, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1793 (2005).

Touching the victim's breast and genitals demonstrated intent to commit a sexual act against the victim without her consent sufficient to support the charge of attempted second degree sex offense. State v. Buff, 170 N.C. App. 374, 612 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 998 (2005).

A "Sexual Act" Includes Anal Intercourse. — Defendant's conviction for sexual assault was affirmed because there was substantial evidence that defendant engaged in a sexual act of anal penetration with the victim, against the victim's will, and by employing a knife as a dangerous or deadly weapon. While the elderly victim gave conflicting testimony as to whether defendant penetrated her anally, a report from a rape kit concluded that semen was present on the swab from the victim's rectum; furthermore, an emergency room doctor testified that it was possible for a person to be penetrated anally without showing signs of trauma and a victim might not recall anal penetration due to the fear experienced during such an assault. State v. Cartwright, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 318, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2006).

Applied in State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 49, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1311 (2006).

§ 14-27.2. First-degree rape.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- IV. Victim under Age.
- XIII. Evidence.
- XIV. Instructions.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Unanimity of Verdict. — Defendant's convictions for first-degree rape of a child under the age of 13, in violation of G.S. 14-27.2(a)(1), were affirmed because the trial court did not violate defendant's right to a unanimous verdict based upon generic testimony, or evidence of more incidents than there were criminal charges. State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Multiple Short-Form Indictments Did Not Create a Danger of Unanimous Verdicts. — Appellate court erred in reversing defendant's convictions of first-degree statutory rape, G.S. 14-27.2, and taking indecent liberties with a minor, G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), as defendant was properly charged by short-form indictments on all the charges as authorized by G.S. 15-144.2(a), because there was no danger of a nonunanimous verdict resulting from the multiple indictments in violation of N.C. Const. art. 1, § 24, and G.S. 15A-1237(b), as even if some jurors disagreed on the kinds of sexual misconduct committed, the jury as a whole would unanimously find that there occurred sexual conduct within the ambit of any immoral, improper, or indecent liberties as required by G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), and because defendant was indicted on five counts of statutory rape, the victim testified to five specific incidents of statutory rape, and five verdicts of guilty were returned. State v. Lawrence, 360 N.C. 368, 627 S.E.2d 609, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 30 (2006).

Instruction on Parole Ineligibility in Capital Case. — Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, first-degree rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and the burning of personal property, in violation of G.S. 14-17, 14-27.2(a)(2), 14-39, 14-87, and 14-66, argued that the sentencing court erred by failing to provide a parole ineligibility instruction, the prisoner, who was sentenced to death for the murder conviction, was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because the prisoner would have been eligible for parole under former G.S. 15A-1371(a1) if the jury had recommended life imprisonment; thus, because the prisoner was eligible for parole as a matter of law, the prisoner was not entitled to a parole ineligibility instruction. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

Prosecutorial Comments in Closing Argument. — Defendant's convictions for first-degree rape of a child under the age of 13, in violation of G.S. 14-27.2(a)(1), were affirmed because the trial court did not err by failing to intervene ex mero motu to limit certain remarks made by the state in its closing argument; in the remarks, the prosecutor referred to defendant as "vile," "amoral," "wicked," and "evil." State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Cited in State v. Watts, 172 N.C. App. 58, 616 S.E.2d 290, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1588 (2005).

IV. VICTIM UNDER AGE.

Multiple Instances of Statutory Rape. — Defendant's convictions on five counts of statutory rape and three counts of taking indecent liberties with a child had to be reversed, and he had to be retried on those charges, as the State's proof at trial of many more acts than were pled in those counts meant that the appellate court could not determine whether defendant was found guilty by the required unanimous jury on the counts pled or some other acts that were not pled; accordingly, defendant's right to conviction by a unanimous jury may have been compromised. State v. Lawrence, 170 N.C. App. 200, 612 S.E.2d 678, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1016 (2005).

XIII. EVIDENCE.

Evidence of Defendant's Prior Sexual Misconduct. —

Defendant's convictions for first-degree rape of a child under the age of 13 were affirmed because evidence of defendant's prior sexual relations with his older half-daughter from about nine years earlier was properly admitted under G.S. 8C-1-404(b) to show a common scheme or plan; further, DNA evidence showing that defendant was the father of the victim's child, and thus must have had sexual intercourse with her, was admissible to show a common scheme or plan under Rule 404(b). State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Evidence Held Sufficient to Support Separate Charges and Convictions. —

Defendant's 11 convictions for first-degree rape of a child under the age of 13, in violation of G.S. 14-27.2(a)(1), were affirmed because the generic evidence in the form of the victim's testimony as to the acts that occurred approximately twice a week over a 10-month period was sufficient to support the convictions; thus, defendant's right to a unanimous verdict was not violated. State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Defendant's adjudication for first-degree attempted rape was affirmed and the trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss at the end of all the evidence, where: (1) defendant, who was 14 years old, told the victim, his 8-year-old step-sister, to come into his room; (2) when the victim entered the room, defendant pulled down her pants; (3) defendant then pulled down his own pants and touched the victim's vagina with his penis; (4) when he heard his step-mother coming, defendant ran to his closet while pulling up his pants; (4) the step-mother found the victim under the covers in defendant's bed not wearing pants or underwear; and (5) while the step-mother was in the room defendant hid in the closet. In re D.W., 171 N.C. App. 496, 615 S.E.2d 90, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1358 (2005).

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss criminal charges against him; evidence that defendant forced the victim at knife-point from the front of her home to a bedroom and then sexually assaulted her constituted sufficient evidence to satisfy the charge of kidnapping under G.S. 14-39(a), as well as the charge of rape under G.S. 14-27.2 and burglary under G.S. 14-51. State v. Blizzard, 169 N.C. App. 285, 610 S.E.2d 245, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 680 (2005).

Complainant's testimony that defendant's penis penetrated her vagina "more than once" provided support for the rape charge provided sufficient evidence to support defendant's conviction; thus, the denial of defendant's motion to dismiss was proper. State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

XIV. INSTRUCTIONS.

Instruction on "Use of Deadly Weapon".

— Appellate court affirmed defendant's first-degree rape conviction, where defendant did not object to the jury instruction, because, even if the trial court erred by instructing the jury that a knife was a dangerous weapon as a matter of law, the trial court's instruction did not amount to plain error as, in light of the entire record, particularly the victim's testimony that she knew it was a knife that defendant took from his pocket, that she asked him not hurt her upon seeing the knife, and that she was scared, the jury likely would have found that the victim reasonably believed the knife to be a dangerous or deadly weapon. State v. Cartwright, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 318, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2006).

Instruction Held Proper. —

Defendant's convictions for first-degree rape of a child under the age of 13, in violation of G.S. 14-27.2(a)(1), were affirmed because the trial court properly instructed the jury on all 11 counts as its charge on the initial instruction on the elements of first-degree rape applied to all 11 counts. State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

§ 14-27.3. Second-degree rape.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- III. Evidence.
- IV. Instructions.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Indictment Defective. — Indictment of defendant for statutory rape was insufficient to support a judgment on the offense of attempted second degree rape, where the indictment failed to charge essential elements of the offense of attempted second degree rape. Because the indictment was fatally defective, defendant's conviction for attempted second degree rape was a nullity. State v. Frink, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 472, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 689 (2006).

III. EVIDENCE.

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Forensic DNA testing showing a high probability that defendant was the father of the victim's children and the victim's statement that defendant, her father, started molesting her when she was four years old provided sufficient evidence to support defendant's conviction for second-degree rape. State v. Locklear, 172 N.C. App. 249, 616 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1583 (2005).

Rape conviction was supported by testimony that defendant engaged in sexual intercourse with the victim when she was helpless due to her having consumed a large quantity of alcohol, the victim's her lack of experience with intoxicating beverages, and the victim's repeated loss of consciousness due to her alcohol consumption. State v. Buff, 170 N.C. App. 374, 612 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 998 (2005).

IV. INSTRUCTIONS.

Impermissible Instruction Regarding Elements of Force and Lack of Consent. — In a second degree rape charge under G.S. 14-27.3 where the victim alleged that she said no and that defendant engaged in sexual intercourse with her while she was asleep, and defendant alleged that the victim was awake and consented to intercourse, the State and defendant presented contradictory evidence on the elements of force and against the victim's will, but the trial court impermissibly instructed the jury that two elements — force and lack of consent — were established as a matter of law; the trial court's jury instruction created a reasonable likelihood that the jury did not deliberate upon the contradictory evidence, but rather understood the trial court's instruction to mean force and lack of consent had been established. Thus, there was a reasonable likelihood the jury concluded the victim was asleep by a standard less than beyond a reasonable doubt; therefore, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b), the erroneous jury instruction was not harmless beyond a reasonable doubt, and defendant was entitled to a new trial. State v. Smith, 170 N.C. App. 461, 613 S.E.2d 304, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1075 (2005).

§ 14-27.4. First-degree sexual offense.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Elements of Offense.
- III. Practice and Procedure.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Defendant's right to a unanimous jury verdict was jeopardized by the trial court's failure to ensure that each juror had in mind the same instances of abuse when voting to convict defendant. State v. Bates, 172 N.C. App. 27, 616 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1585 (2005).

Cited in State v. Massey, 174 N.C. App. 216, 621 S.E.2d 633, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2400 (2005).

II. ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE.

Penetration. — Where the evidence showed that defendant ordered the victim to drop her pants and underwear at gunpoint and asked her to spread open her labia so he could inspect her vagina and defendant then used the barrel of his gun to separate her labia and the victim testified that she felt the gun up against her private area right where her tampon would be entered, such evidence was sufficient to support a finding that a penetration occurred under G.S. § 14-27.1(4) to support defendant's conviction for first degree sexual offense, despite defendant changing his mind about pursuing any further contact with the victim upon discovering the tampon. State v. Bellamy, 172 N.C.

App. 649, 617 S.E.2d 81, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1793 (2005).

III. PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.

Fatal Variance. —

Defendant's convictions on six counts of first-degree sexual offense had to be vacated, as a fatal variance existed between the offense charged, which the State said in the indictment was by force and against the victim's will, and the fact that the State did not present any evidence that the alleged offenses were forcible and the trial court's instruction to the jury that the offense was based on the victim being under 13-years-old. State v. Lawrence, 170 N.C. App. 200, 612 S.E.2d 678, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1016 (2005).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Defendant's conviction for sexual assault was affirmed because there was substantial evidence that defendant engaged in a sexual act of anal penetration with the victim, against the victim's will, and by employing a knife as a dangerous or deadly weapon. While the elderly victim gave conflicting testimony as to whether defendant penetrated her anally, a report from a rape kit concluded that semen was present on the swab from the victim's rectum; furthermore, an emergency room doctor testified that it was possible for a person to be penetrated anally without showing signs of trauma and a victim might not recall anal penetration due to the fear experienced during such an assault. State v. Cartwright, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 318, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2006).

§ 14-27.5. Second-degree sexual offense.

CASE NOTES

Evidence held sufficient, etc. —

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss, pursuant to G.S. 15A-954, with respect to sexual offense charges against him which he allegedly committed against his 16-year-old daughter, as the evidence was sufficient to support the jury verdict, finding defendant guilty of second-degree sexual offense in violation of G.S. 14-27.5, where he physically and sexually attacked her; defendant's claim that there were inconsistencies in the testimony and a lack of physical evidence to bolster the victim's testimony lacked merit, as there was no physical evidence bolstering requirement, and inconsistencies were for the jury to resolve. State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

Evidence that defendant committed several overt acts, including touching the victim's breast and vaginal areas, demonstrated intent to commit a sexual act against the victim without her consent sufficient to support the charge of attempted second degree sex offense. State v. Buff, 170 N.C. App. 374, 612 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 998 (2005).

Applied in State v. Whiteley, 172 N.C. App. 772, 616 S.E.2d 576, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1795 (2005).

§ 14-27.7. Intercourse and sexual offenses with certain victims; consent no defense.

CASE NOTES

Indictment Sufficient. — Indictment for sex offense in a parental role that matched the form required by G.S. 14-27.7 was sufficient to inform defendant of the charges against him. State v. Massey, 174 N.C. App. 216, 621 S.E.2d 633, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2400 (2005).

§ 14-27.7A. Statutory rape or sexual offense of person who is 13, 14, or 15 years old.

CASE NOTES

Indictment sufficient. — Short-form indictment charging violation of G.S. 14-27.7A(a) was sufficient when it alleged that defendant unlawfully, willfully, and feloniously engaged in a sexual act with a person of the age of 13 years, that defendant was at least six years older than the victim, and that he was not lawfully married to the victim; the indictment complied with the requirements of G.S. 15-144.2(a) and was sufficient to put him on notice of the crime of which he was accused. State v. Bradley, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1968 (2006).

Evidence Was Sufficient to Support Conviction. —

Evidence was sufficient to support defendant's conviction for statutory rape, as it showed that he engaged in repeated acts of sexual intercourse with the victim when she was under the age of consent and he was an adult who was dating her mother; indeed, the evidence showed that she gave birth to his baby when she was still a minor. State v. Jones, 172 N.C. App. 308, 616 S.E.2d 15, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1580 (2005).

When taken in the light most favorable to the state, the victim's testimony that defendant "stuck his fingers in her vagina" while she was 13 years old provided sufficient evidence to support defendant's conviction for statutory sexual offense of a person 13 years old. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 49, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1311 (2006).

Defendant Not Entitled to Jury Instruction on Mistake of Fact. — Defendant's request for a jury instruction on mistake of fact as to the victim's age was properly denied because statutory rape is a strict liability crime to which mistake of fact is no defense. State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006).

Cited in State v. Watts, 172 N.C. App. 58, 616 S.E.2d 290, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1588 (2005).

ARTICLE 8.

Assaults.

§ 14-32. Felonious assault with deadly weapon with intent to kill or inflicting serious injury; punishments.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Other Crimes.
- V. Deadly Weapon.
- VI. Intent to Kill.
- IX. Instructions to Jury.
- XI. Sufficiency of Evidence.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Evidence was sufficient to support conviction of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury where testimony revealed defendant went into the room where the victims were, defendant later reemerged from the room wearing one victim's jacket, the victim was undressed and lying in bed in an unlit bedroom, the victim was struck, was bleeding, and blacked out, and, as a result of the assault, the victim incurred a nasal fracture, sinus fracture, and closed head injury, and required surgery on her nose. State v. Yarrell, 172 N.C. App. 135, 616 S.E.2d 258, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1428 (2005).

Conviction of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury was supported by sufficient evidence where testimony revealed that defendant hit the victim in the head, that the victim then fell to the ground, and that, as a result of the assault, the victim incurred a deep laceration over her left eye and required stitches, antibiotics, and a tetanus shot. State v. Yarrell, 172 N.C. App. 135, 616 S.E.2d 258, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1428 (2005).

A police officer was properly allowed to testify concerning the type of pistol used in assault as the officer's testimony regarding the location of shell casings when a bullet was fired from two different weapons was based not upon any specialized expertise or training, but merely upon his own personal experience and observations in firing different kinds of weapons; defendant's due process rights were not violated by the destruction of the shell casings as the police had no duty to preserve the casings when defendant did not file a discovery request for the casings. State v. Fisher, 171 N.C. App. 201, 614 S.E.2d 428, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1214 (2005).

Great Monetary Loss as Aggravating Factor Was Proper. — Defendant was not entitled to a new sentencing hearing on his assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury conviction where the victim's medical bills after being shot in the amount of $29,837.29 were "excessive" and surpassed those normally incurred from such an assault; defendant stipulated to the medical bills as he did not object to the State's recitation of the figure nor take exception to the amount of the medical expenses offered by the State in support of its argument for the existence of the non-statutory aggravating factor of great monetary loss. State v. Pender, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2710 (2005).

Cited in State v. Everette, 172 N.C. App. 237, 616 S.E.2d 237, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1437 (2005).

II. OTHER CRIMES.

Defendant cannot be convicted of both assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury and attempted murder upon the same victim, because they are mutually exclusive, and defendant who convicted of both was entitled to a new trial. State v. Yang, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 632, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2623 (2005).

Prosecution Under G.S. 14-34.2 and This Section Not Double Jeopardy. —

Trial court violated defendant's right to be free of double jeopardy when it sentenced him for both assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-32(b) and misdemeanor assault inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-33(c)(1) based on an incident in which defendant punched his girlfriend into a wall and stabbed her multiple times in the arm and leg; because defendant's convictions under G.S.

14-32(b) provided for greater punishment than G.S. 14-32.4 or 14-33(c), the trial court could not convict and sentence defendant under two statutes for the same conduct in each incident without violating the double jeopardy provisions of USCS Const. Amend. 5 and N.C. Const. art. I, § 19. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

V. DEADLY WEAPON.

Insufficient Evidence to Support Charge of Assault With Deadly Weapon. — Trial court erred in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charge of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious bodily injury because there was insufficient evidence to determine defendant's size and strength compared to that of the victim; mere observation by the jury of the victim and defendant's strength and size alone was not sufficient to support the deadly weapon element, as a result of which the State failed to prove the deadly weapon element of the offense. State v. Lawson, 173 N.C. App. 270, 619 S.E.2d 410, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2036 (2005).

Knife. —

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charge of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury, a violation of G.S. 14-32(b), because although defendant claimed the state presented no substantive evidence that the knife was a dangerous or deadly weapon, which was an essential element of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-32(b), the state's evidence included the documents from the domestic violence hearing which were admitted as substantive evidence and tended to show that defendant stabbed his girlfriend five times with a knife causing wounds still visible some eight weeks after the assault. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

Evidence of Premeditation and Deliberation Not Required. — Defendant's convictions for attempted first-degree murder and assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury did not violate his right to be free of double jeopardy; in order to obtain a conviction for attempted first-murder, the state had to prove premeditation and deliberation, whereas it did not have to prove those elements to obtain a conviction for assault with a deadly weapon, which was a different offense requiring both proof of the use of a deadly weapon and proof of serious injury. State v. Bethea, 173 N.C. App. 43, 617 S.E.2d 687, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1907 (2005).

VI. INTENT TO KILL.

Intent to Kill May Be Inferred from Circumstances. —

In a case involving an assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury with intent to kill, a motion to dismiss based on insufficient evidence was properly denied because the jury could have inferred an intent to kill due to the victim's multiple stab wounds with a knife. State v. Nicholson, 169 N.C. App. 390, 610 S.E.2d 433, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 601 (2005).

IX. INSTRUCTIONS TO JURY.

Failure to Submit Lesser Offense Held Not Error. —

Trial court did not commit plain error when it failed to instruct the jury on the lesser included offense of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury as the evidence showed that defendant went into his home, retrieved a loaded gun, pointed the gun at the victim at close range, told the victim he was not leaving the alley that day, and then shot the victim in the back. It was irrelevant that defendant only shot the victim one time as the lack of multiple shots fired did not negate intent to kill. State v. Cromartie, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 677, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 701 (2006).

XI. SUFFICIENCY OF EVIDENCE.

Defendant's convictions on both assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury and attempted voluntary manslaughter for shooting a person were mutually exclusive offenses and the trial court's consolidation of the offenses into a single judgment was error that mandated a new trial; for the jury to convict on both offenses, it had to find either that defendant did not have the intent to kill, which would support the assault offense, or that he had the intent to kill, but that such intent was negated by sudden provocation, which would support the attempted manslaughter charge. State v. Hames, 170 N.C. App. 312, 612 S.E.2d 408, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1007 (2005), cert. denied, stay denied, 360 N.C. 70, 622 S.E.2d 496 (2005).

§ 14-32.1. Assaults on handicapped persons; punishments.

- (a) For purposes of this section, a "handicapped person" is a person who has:
- (1) A physical or mental disability, such as decreased use of arms or legs, blindness, deafness, mental retardation or mental illness; or which would substantially impair that person's ability to defend himself.

(2) Infirmary

(b) through (d) Repealed by Session Laws 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 767, s. 31, effective October 1, 1994.

(e) Unless his conduct is covered under some other provision of law providing greater punishment, any person who commits any aggravated assault or assault and battery on a handicapped person is guilty of a Class F felony. A person commits an aggravated assault or assault and battery upon a handicapped person if, in the course of the assault or assault and battery, that person:

(1) Uses a deadly weapon or other means of force likely to inflict serious injury or serious damage to a handicapped person; or

(2) Inflicts serious injury or serious damage to a handicapped person; or

(3) Intends to kill a handicapped person.

(f) Any person who commits a simple assault or battery upon a handicapped person is guilty of a Class A1 misdemeanor. (1981, c. 780, s. 1; 1993, c. 539, ss. 15, 1139; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 767, s. 31; 2006-179, s. 1.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-179, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after December 1, 2006, substituted "Class A1" for "Class 1" near the end of subsection (f).

§ 14-32.4. Assault inflicting serious bodily injury; strangulation; penalties.

CASE NOTES

Serious Bodily Injury Shown. —

Evidence was sufficient to support defendants' convictions for assault inflicting serious bodily injury where the victim testified that his facial injuries were "very" painful, and that he suffered pain for about a month, and a doctor testified that the injuries suffered by the victim were the type that caused "severe" and "extreme" pain. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 787, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 882 (2006).

Prosecution Under G.S. 14-32 and This Section Double Jeopardy. —

Trial court violated defendant's right to be free of double jeopardy when it sentenced him for both assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-32(b) and misdemeanor assault inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-33(c)(1) based on an incident in which defendant punched his girlfriend into a wall and stabbed her multiple times in the arm and leg; because defendant's convictions under G.S. 14-32(b) provided for greater punishment than G.S. 14-32.4 or 14-33(c), the trial court could not convict and sentence defendant under two statutes for the same conduct in each incident without violating the double jeopardy provisions of USCS Const. Amend. 5 and N. C. Const. art. I, § 19. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

§ 14-33. Misdemeanor assaults, batteries, and affrays, simple and aggravated; punishments.

CASE NOTES

II. Other Crimes.

III. Infliction of Serious Injury.

VI. Assaults on Law-Enforcement Officers.

VII. Sufficiency of Evidence.

VIII. Punishment.

II. OTHER CRIMES.

Use of Conviction in Another Jurisdiction. — Trial court erred in sentencing defendant as a level IV offender on his conviction of second-degree murder, as the trial court erred in finding that a prior New York conviction of N.Y. Penal Law § 120.05 was substantially similar to North Carolina's offense of simple assault set forth in G.S. 14-33(a), as the North Carolina offense required serious injury to the victim and the New York offense did not; furthermore, under G.S. 14-2.5, an attempt to commit a misdemeanor or a felony is punishable under the next lower classification as the offense the offender attempted to commit, and defendant's prior New York conviction for attempted second-degree assault should have been treated as a class 3 misdemeanor, which would have not had any point value for prior record purposes. State v. Hanton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 600, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 45 (2006).

III. INFLECTION OF SERIOUS INJURY.

Evidence Insufficient to Show Felony Child Abuse but Sufficient for Misdemeanor Assault Charge. — Remand for resentencing on felony child abuse inflicting serious physical injury was improper because the indictment failed to allege an essential element required for proof of that crime: that injury be inflicted by a parent or any other person providing care to or supervision of a child less than 16 years of age; however, the indictment and jury verdict did support a conviction for class A1 misdemeanor assault. State v. Locklear, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 516, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1641 (2006).

VI. ASSAULTS ON LAW-ENFORCEMENT OFFICERS.

Lesser Included Offense. — Misdemeanor assault on a government official is not a lesser included offense of felony malicious conduct by a prisoner; therefore, defendant was not entitled to such a jury instruction in a case where defendant spat in an officer's face. State v. Crouse, 169 N.C. App. 382, 610 S.E.2d 454, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 691 (2005).

Trial court did not violate the Double Jeopardy Clause, etc.

Defendant's convictions for malicious conduct by a prisoner and habitual misdemeanor assault did not charge the same offense, and, thus, did not violate the double jeopardy clause; although the conduct alleged in both indictments was identical, the evidence needed to prove both malicious conduct by a prisoner and habitual misdemeanor assault based on an assault on a government employee was different, which meant separate offenses were involved. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

VII. SUFFICIENCY OF EVIDENCE.

Evidence Sufficient. —

State produced sufficient evidence to support a conviction of assault with a deadly weapon where testimony revealed that defendant went into the room where the victims were, later reemerged from the room wearing one victim's jacket, and that at the time of the assault, the victim was undressed and facing downward in an unlit bedroom, was hit in the head from behind, and dragged to the ground, where he was then kicked while facing downward. State v. Yarrell, 172 N.C. App. 135, 616 S.E.2d 258, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1428 (2005).

VIII. PUNISHMENT.

Double Punishment Prohibited. —

Trial court violated defendant's right to be free of double jeopardy when it sentenced him for both assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-32(b) and misdemeanor assault inflicting serious injury under G.S. 14-33(c)(1) based on an incident in which defendant punched his girlfriend into a wall and stabbed her multiple times in the arm and leg; because defendant's convictions under G.S. 14-32(b) provided for greater punishment than G.S. 14-32.4 or 14-33(c), the trial court could not convict and sentence defendant under two statutes for the same conduct in each incident without violating the double jeopardy provisions of USCS Const. Amend. 5 and N. C. Const. art. I, § 19. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

§ 14-34.1. Discharging certain barreled weapons or a firearm into occupied property.

CASE NOTES

Instruction Held Erroneous. —

Defendant was awarded a new trial on charges of discharging a firearm into occupied property because the trial court, when it gave the final mandate as to the charge, did not instruct the jury that it could return a verdict of not guilty as to that charge if it found that defendant acted in self-defense. Further, because there was evidence that defendant was not the initial aggressor and his right to stand his ground was at least a substantial feature of his defense of self-defense; the trial court's failure to instruct the jury that defendant had no duty to retreat was plain error. State v. Davis, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 474, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 696 (2006).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Substantial evidence existed from which a jury could have found that defendant had reasonable grounds to believe that the restaurant was occupied when he fired the shots in its direction; prior to the subject incident, the restaurant had stayed open until 3:00 a.m., and the restaurant was located in an area where other establishments were open until the early morning hours. State v. Everett, 172 N.C. App. 237, 616 S.E.2d 237, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1437 (2005).

Cited in State v. Langley, 173 N.C. App. 194, 618 S.E.2d 253, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1920 (2005).

§ 14-34.2. Assault with a firearm or other deadly weapon upon governmental officers or employees, company police officers, or campus police officers.

CASE NOTES

Erroneous Admission of Irrelevant Motive Evidence Held Non-Prejudicial. — Since the State presented evidence that defendant assaulted a deputy sheriff by dragging the officer with his car, any error committed in admitting evidence of another traffic stop where defendant also fled in a vehicle was non-prejudicial. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

§ 14-34.5. Assault with a firearm on a law enforcement, probation, or parole officer or on a person employed at a State or local detention facility.

CASE NOTES

ARTICLE 10.

Kidnapping and Abduction.

§ 14-39. Kidnapping.

(a) Any person who shall unlawfully confine, restrain, or remove from one place to another, any other person 16 years of age or over without the consent of such person, or any other person under the age of 16 years without the consent of a parent or legal custodian of such person, shall be guilty of kidnapping if such confinement, restraint or removal is for the purpose of:

- (1) Holding such other person for a ransom or as a hostage or using such other person as a shield; or
- (2) Facilitating the commission of any felony or facilitating flight of any person following the commission of a felony; or
- (3) Doing serious bodily harm to or terrorizing the person so confined, restrained or removed or any other person; or
- (4) Holding such other person in involuntary servitude in violation of G.S. 14-43.12.

(5) Trafficking another person with the intent that the other person be held in involuntary servitude or sexual servitude in violation of G.S. 14-43.11.

(6) Subjecting or maintaining such other person for sexual servitude in violation of G.S. 14-43.13.

(b) There shall be two degrees of kidnapping as defined by subsection (a). If the person kidnapped either was not released by the defendant in a safe place or had been seriously injured or sexually assaulted, the offense is kidnapping in the first degree and is punishable as a Class C felony. If the person kidnapped was released in a safe place by the defendant and had not been seriously injured or sexually assaulted, the offense is kidnapping in the second degree and is punishable as a Class E felony.

(c) Any firm or corporation convicted of kidnapping shall be punished by a fine of not less than five thousand dollars ($5,000) nor more than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), and its charter and right to do business in the State of North Carolina shall be forfeited. (1933, c. 542; 1975, c. 843, s. 1; 1979, c. 760, s. 5; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1316, s. 47; 1981, c. 63, s. 1; c. 179, s. 14; 1983, c. 746, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 1143; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1995, c. 509, s. 8; 2006-247, s. 20(c).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "That this shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 20(c), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, substituted "14-43.12" for "14-43.2" at the end of subdivision (a)(4) and added subdivisions (a)(5) and (a)(6).

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

When Defendant May Be Convicted of Both Kidnapping and Another Felony. — Since the State failed to show that the removal of the victims was separate from the robbery, that it increased the danger beyond that inherent in the robbery, that the victims were physically injured, or that they were subjected to restraint beyond that of the threatened use of a firearm, defendant's kidnapping convictions were reversed as being in violation of double jeopardy. State v. Ripley, 172 N.C. App. 453, 617 S.E.2d 106, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1801 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 626 S.E.2d 289 (2006).

It was reversible error to impose sentences for first-degree kidnapping and attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon offenses, both of which the jury was instructed could serve as underlying felonies to the charge of felony murder. State v. Oglesby, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 152, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2624 (2005).

Instruction on Parole Ineligibility in Capital Case. — Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, first-degree rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and the burning of personal property, in violation of G.S. 14-17, 14-27.2(a)(2), 14-39, 14-87, and 14-66, argued that the sentencing court erred by failing to provide a parole ineligibility instruction, the prisoner, who was sentenced to death for the murder conviction, was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because the prisoner would have been eligible for parole under former G.S. 15A-1371(a1) if the jury had recommended life imprisonment; thus, because the prisoner was eligible for parole as a matter of law, the prisoner was not entitled to a parole ineligibility instruction. Campbell v. Polk, 447

II. KIDNAPPING, GENERALLY.

Evidence held sufficient, etc.

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the second-degree kidnapping charges, a violation of G.S. 14-39(a), which arose from two separate incidents in which defendant beat and restrained his girlfriend against her will because the evidence was sufficient to support the trial court's denial of defendant's motion to dismiss the charges of second-degree kidnapping. The record showed that the hospital staff that treated defendant's girlfriend testified that defendant restrained his girlfriend by refusing to allow her to seek medical treatment for a broken arm after the first incident, and after the second incident, a police officer testified that the girlfriend told him that defendant had been holding her against her will for days and would not let her contact her family. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

VI. FIRST-DEGREE KIDNAPPING.

Restraint Must be Separate and Apart From that Inherent in Committing Other Felonies. —

Defendant's kidnapping conviction was vacated because there was insufficient evidence of confinement, restraint, or removal of the victim beyond that which was inherent to the additional crimes of armed robbery and rape. The victim's testimony was that defendant grabbed the victim by her arm, pushed her back into her kitchen, pulled out a knife and demanded money, pushed the victim through a hall and into a den where he raped her, and left when the victim gave him her money. State v. Cartwright, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 318, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1076 (2006).

VII. SECOND-DEGREE KIDNAPPING.

A. In General.

The evidence was sufficient to show that the defendant acted with the purpose of terrorizing the victim, etc. —

Trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charge of second-degree kidnapping as the evidence that defendant grabbed the victim on the street at night, attempted to drag the victim to some bushes, wrestled with and sexually molested the victim, fled from the scene when the police were called by a woman who heard the victim screaming, and that the victim was emotionally upset and distraught when the police arrived and when she saw defendant at a showup identification about 30 minutes later was sufficient for the jury to conclude that defendant acted with the purpose of terrorizing the victim. State v. Harrison, 169 N.C. App. 257, 610 S.E.2d 407, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 608 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 71, 622 S.E.2d 496 (2005).

Evidence Insufficient to Sustain Removal Requirement. —

Trial court erred in denying defendant's motion to dismiss a second-degree kidnapping charge under G.S. 14-39(a)(2) where defendant's act of pushing a convenience store clerk toward the register during a robbery did not expose her to a greater danger than inherent in an armed robbery, and thus was insufficient to support the charge. State v. Stephens, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 610, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 50 (2006).

VIII. CHARGE AND INDICTMENT, GENERALLY.

Evidence Was Sufficient to Deny Motion to Dismiss. — Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss criminal charges against him; evidence that defendant forced the victim at knifepoint from the front of her home to a bedroom and then sexually assaulted her constituted sufficient evidence to satisfy the charge of kidnapping under G.S. 14-39(a), as well as the charge of rape under G.S. 14-27.2 and burglary under G.S. 14-51. State v. Blizard, 169 N.C. App. 285, 610 S.E.2d 245, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 680 (2005).

IX. INSTRUCTIONS.

Instructions as to Lesser Included Offenses. —

There was no error in the trial court's failure to submit the charge of second-degree kidnapping to the jury because there was no affirmative or willful action on the part of defendants to release the victims, as alleged by defendants. State v. Love, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 234, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2006).

Instruction on False Imprisonment as Lesser Offense. —

Trial court did not err in failing to instruct on the lesser-included offense of false imprisonment, where the evidence showed that defendant restrained the victim for the purpose of terrorizing her; among other things, the evidence showed that defendant approached the victim with a rifle, grabbed her hair, and forced her into his vehicle, where he placed her in headlock, choked her, and caused her to hit her head against the side of the vehicle. State v. Jacobs, 172 N.C. App. 220, 616 S.E.2d 306, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1586 (2005).

Defendant's conviction for second-degree kidnapping was affirmed because the trial court did not err in denying defendant's request to instruct the jury regarding the lesser-included offense of false imprisonment, as defendant had the specific intent to terrorize his victim, a woman whom defendant grabbed on the street, attempted to drag toward some bushes, and wrestled with and sexually molested before defendant fled. State v. Harrison, 169 N.C. App. 257, 610 S.E.2d 407, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 608 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 71, 622 S.E.2d 496 (2005).

§ 14-43.2: Repealed by Session Laws 2006-247, s. 20(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date.

Cross References. — For current provisions regarding involuntary servitude, see G.S. 14-43.12.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a) provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

- X. Evidence.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Steps on Appeal. — While convictions that result in a judgment of death are automatically appealable to the Supreme Court of North Carolina, all other convictions are properly appealed to the Court of Appeals pursuant to G.S. 7A-27 and N.C. R. App. P. 4(d), and while neither party filed a motion to bypass the Court of Appeals as to defendant’s non-capital conviction for burglary, when he appealed his conviction for murder and his death sentence, the Supreme Court of North Carolina, on its own initiative, and consistently with N.C. R. App. P. 2, considered defendant’s assignments of error that concerned his burglary conviction under G.S. 14-51 because the issue also related to one of his arguments regarding an aggravating circumstance. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

VIII. INDICTMENT.

Felony Must Be Specified. —

When an indictment charged defendant with first-degree burglary for breaking and entering with the intent to commit larceny, but the jury was instructed that, in order to convict defendant of first-degree burglary, it had to find he broke and entered with the intent to commit robbery with a dangerous weapon, defendant was convicted of a crime of which he was not given sufficient notice in order to prepare a defense, so his conviction was vacated. State v. Farrar, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 253, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1966 (2006).

When the prosecution amended an indictment for felonious breaking and entering in such a manner that the defendant could no longer rely upon its statement of the felony defendant allegedly intended, such an amendment was a substantial alteration and was prohibited by G.S. 15A-923(e), as to allow such practice would enable the state to thwart the very purpose of an indictment, which was to enable the accused to prepare for trial. State v. Farrar, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 253, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1966 (2006).

It is axiomatic that where the state alleges an intent to commit a specific felony as an element of burglary in the indictment, the jury is required to find defendant possessed the intent to commit the specific felony alleged in order to convict on the charge. State v. Farrar, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 253, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1966 (2006).

X. EVIDENCE.

Evidence Was Sufficient to Deny Motion to Dismiss. —

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss criminal charges against him; evidence that defendant forced the victim at knifepoint from the front of her home to a bedroom and then sexually assaulted her constituted sufficient evidence to satisfy the charge of kidnapping under G.S. 14-39(a), as well as the charge of rape under G.S. 14-27.2 and burglary under G.S. 14-51. State v. Blizzard, 169 N.C. App. 285, 610 S.E.2d 245, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 680 (2005).

Sufficient Evidence of Burglary in the First Degree. — There was sufficient evidence to convict defendant of burglary in the first degree under G.S. 14-51, given that the State showed that he broke and entered his murder victim's home in the nighttime. While the evidence that the victim was in or near her nightclothes at the time of the murder was not dispositive of whether the breaking and entering occurred at night, such evidence was relative and was properly considered with the other evidence that tended to show that the crime occurred during the nighttime. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

§ 14-54. Breaking or entering buildings generally.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Elements of Offense.
- III. Breaking or Entering.
- V. Intent.
- VII. Indictment.
- IX. Trial.
- C. Instructions.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Construction With Armed Career Criminal Act. — Burglary convictions under G.S. 14-54 were violent felonies for purposes of the Armed Career Criminal Act (ACCA), 18 U.S.C.S. § 924(e); district court did not violate defendant's right to trial by jury under the Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution or commit other error when it reviewed the record to determine if defendant was convicted of violating G.S. 14-54 on separate occasions without submitting that issue to a jury, found that he was subject to enhanced punishment under the ACCA, and sentenced him to fifteen years' imprisonment, five years of supervised release, and a $100 special assessment. United States v. Thompson, 421 F.3d 278, 2005 U.S. App. LEXIS 19223 (4th Cir. 2005), cert. denied, — U.S. —, 126 S. Ct. 1463, 164 L. Ed. 2d 250 (2006).

Guilty Plea Supported. — Arresting officer's testimony established a sufficient factual basis to support defendant's guilty plea to breaking and entering; the officer testified that he found defendant's truck near a burglarized residence, that he saw jewelry and boxes in the truck, that footprints in the snow led up to the residence where a window was broken, and that, during a search of the residence, the officer found defendant underneath a bed with a stolen rifle laying next to him. State v. Poore, 172 N.C. App. 839, 616 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1774 (2005).

Cited in State v. Scanlon, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 770, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 541 (2006).

II. ELEMENTS OF OFFENSE.

Identification of Owner of Property Not An Element. — Relying on analogous statute, G.S. 14-54(a), prohibiting breaking and entering, the appellate court found that the identification of the owner of the property was not an element of breaking into a coin-operated machine under G.S. 14-56.1; therefore, defendant was properly convicted of breaking into a coin-operated machine, although the State did not allege that the owner of the property was a natural person or a person capable of owning property. State v. Price, 170 N.C. App. 672, 613 S.E.2d 60, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1085 (2005).

III. BREAKING OR ENTERING.

Entry with Consent of Owner. —

While defendant entered a law office with implied consent from the firm, that consent was void ab initio when defendant went into areas of the firm that were not open to the public so that defendant could commit theft; thus, defendant's convictions for felonious breaking and entering and felonious larceny were supported by sufficient evidence. State v. Brooks, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 54, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1334 (2006).

Possession of Stolen Goods Conviction Vacated. — Where defendant was acquitted on the underlying charge; the trial court erred in accepting the jury's guilty verdict on a charge of felony possession of stolen goods when the jury found defendant not guilty of the underlying breaking and entering charge. State v. Goblet, 173 N.C. App. 112, 618 S.E.2d 257, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1929 (2005).

V. INTENT.

Intent May Be Inferred from Circumstances. —

Trial court properly denied motion to dismiss the charge of felonious breaking and entering, under G.S. 14-54(a) where substantial evidence existed that defendant and two accomplices entered a locked building without permission in the early morning hours, they ransacked the inside of the building, and they placed items that belonged to the business located in the building into bags. The jury could infer that defendant and his accomplices intended to commit larceny. State v. Garcia, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 292, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2493 (2005).

VII. INDICTMENT.

Overruling of Case Law on Indictment Requirements. — There is no requirement that an indictment for felonious breaking or entering contain specific allegations of the intended felony, and State v. Vick, 70 N.C. App. 338, 319 S.E.2d 327 (N.C. Ct. App. 1984), is overruled insofar as it is inconsistent with this; however, if an indictment does specifically allege the intended felony, G.S. § 15A-923(e) mandates such allegations may not be amended. State v. Silas, 360 N.C. 377, 627 S.E.2d 604, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 26 (2006).

IX. TRIAL.

C. Instructions.

Instruction As To Diminished Capacity Defense. — Trial court did not commit plain error by failing to instruct the jury on diminished capacity from defendant having taken medication before breaking and entering into a building with his accomplices, despite defendant's contention that he was in a fog, because defendant's two statements regarding his mental condition were insufficient to create a reasonable doubt in the juror's minds that defendant was unable to form the specific intent necessary to commit the crime of breaking and entering. State v. Garcia, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 292, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2493 (2005).

§ 14-56.1. Breaking into or forcibly opening coin- or currency-operated machines.

CASE NOTES

Identification of Owner of Property Not An Element. — Relying on an analogous statute, G.S. 14-54(a), prohibiting breaking and entering, the appellate court found that the identification of the owner of the property was not an element of breaking into a coin-operated machine under G.S. 14-56.1; therefore, defendant was properly convicted of breaking into a coin-operated machine, although the State did not allege that the owner of the property was a natural person or a person capable of owning property. State v. Price, 170 N.C. App. 672, 613 S.E.2d 60, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1085 (2005).

ARTICLE 15.

Arson and Other Burnings.

§ 14-58. Punishment for arson.

CASE NOTES

Evidence Sufficient to Defeat Motion to Dismiss. — Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss a charge of first-degree arson; evidence which indicated that defendant had threatened to burn the victims, was in the vicinity of the scene when he made another threatening call, and that a fire was deliberately set was sufficient evidence that defendant was the perpetrator. State v. Curmon, 171 N.C. App. 697, 615 S.E.2d 417, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1362 (2005).

Curtilage. — Defendant, who allegedly set fire to a garage about 30 feet from an inhabited house, was properly charged with first-degree arson under G.S. 14-58 and not with burning an outbuilding under G.S. 14-62 because the garage was located within the curtilage of an inhabited house; although tension existed between caselaw applying G.S. 14-62 to outbuildings within the curtilage of dwelling houses and the common-law definition of arson, the appellate court was bound by precedent to find that defendant's motion to dismiss the arson charge was properly denied. State v. Nipper, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 883, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1181 (2006).

Applied in State v. Norris, 360 N.C. 507, 630 S.E.2d 915, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 592 (2006).

Cited in State v. Norris, 172 N.C. App. 722, 617 S.E.2d 298, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1787 (2005).

§ 14-58.2. Burning of mobile home, manufactured-type house or recreational trailer home.

CASE NOTES

Sufficiency of Evidence. — Fact that vinyl siding on a mobile home melted as a result of a fire set by defendant was sufficient to constitute the "charring" necessary to find that the mobile home had burned and it supported defendant's conviction under G.S. 14-58.2. State v. Norris, 172 N.C. App. 722, 617 S.E.2d 298, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1787 (2005).

§ 14-62. Burning of certain buildings.

CASE NOTES

IV. Buildings.

IV. BUILDINGS.

Garage. — Defendant, who allegedly set fire to a garage about 30 feet from an inhabited house, was properly charged with first-degree arson under G.S. 14-58 and not with burning an outbuilding under G.S. 14-62 because the garage was located within the curtilage of an inhabited house; although tension existed between caselaw applying G.S. 14-62 to outbuildings within the curtilage of dwelling houses and the common-law definition of arson, the appellate court was bound by precedent to find that defendant's motion to dismiss the arson charge was properly denied. State v. Nipper, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 883, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1181 (2006).

§ 14-66. Burning of personal property.

CASE NOTES

Instruction on Parole Ineligibility in Capital Case. — Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, first-degree rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and the burning of personal property, in violation of G.S. 14-17, 14-27.2(a)(2), 14-39, 14-87, and 14-66, argued that the sentencing court erred by failing to provide a parole ineligibility instruction, the prisoner, who was sentenced to death for the murder conviction, was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because the prisoner would have been eligible for parole under former G.S. 15A-1371(a1) if the jury had recommended life imprisonment; thus, because the prisoner was eligible for parole as a matter of law, the prisoner was not entitled to a parole ineligibility instruction. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

SUBCHAPTER V. OFFENSES AGAINST PROPERTY.

ARTICLE 16.

Larceny.

§ 14-70. Distinctions between grand and petit larceny abolished; punishment; accessories to larceny.

CASE NOTES

II. Elements of the Offense.

II. ELEMENTS OF THE OFFENSE.

An indictment for larceny that fails to allege the ownership of the property either in a natural person or a legal entity capable of owning property is fatally defective; etc. —

Indictments alleging that the city transit and parking services owned the parking meters allegedly broken into by defendant, were insufficient to allege injury to personal property in violation of G.S. 14-160 and larceny because the city transit and parking services was not a natural person, and the indictments did not allege that the city transit and parking services was capable of owning property. State v. Price, 170 N.C. App. 672, 613 S.E.2d 60, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1085 (2005).

§ 14-71.1. Possessing stolen goods.

CASE NOTES

Elements of Felonious Possession of Stolen Property. —

Respondent, a juvenile, was erroneously found delinquent for the felonious possession of his mother's stolen car; he should have been adjudicated delinquent for misdemeanor possession of stolen goods. The State did not introduce evidence of the car's condition or its value; thus, the State did not satisfy G.S. 14-71.1, which required a stolen item to have a value of more than $1,000. In re J.H., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 457, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1223 (2006).

Separate Offenses Not Shown. — Trial court erred by sentencing defendant on five, rather than one, counts of felony possession of stolen goods, as defendant and his companions stole five all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) from the same victim during one break-in, occurring on the same night, and there was no interruption in the events once the transaction began such that defendant was divested of possession and then came back into possession; the ATVs were stolen at approximately the same time, and defendant's actions were part of a single, continuous transaction. State v. Phillips, 172 N.C. App. 143, 615 S.E.2d 880, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1426 (2005).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Substantial evidence existed to show that respondent, a juvenile, had possession of his mother's stolen car; the car was found in the driveway of a house in another city nine days after the car was stolen, respondent was found in the house, he had access to the car on the day that it was stolen, and he confessed to his mother that he had taken the car. In re J.H., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 457, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1223 (2006).

Evidence Held Insufficient. —

Because substantial evidence of each element of an offense charged had to be shown to exist when a court ruled on a motion to dismiss, an adjudication finding that respondent, a juvenile, was delinquent for having the felonious possession of his mother's stolen car had to be reversed; the State introduced substantial evidence that he had possession of the stolen car, but the State failed to introduce any evidence as to the car's condition or that it was worth more than $1,000, as G.S. 14-71.1 required. Thus, a trial court erroneously denied respondent's motion to dismiss the charge against him. In re J.H., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 457, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1223 (2006).

§ 14-72. Larceny of property; receiving stolen goods or possessing stolen goods.

(a) Larceny of goods of the value of more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) is a Class H felony. The receiving or possessing of stolen goods of the value of more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) while knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe that the goods are stolen is a Class H felony. Larceny as provided in subsection (b) of this section is a Class H felony. Receiving or possession of stolen goods as provided in subsection (c) of this section is a Class H felony. Except as provided in subsections (b) and (c) of this section, larceny of property, or the receiving or possession of stolen goods knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe them to be stolen, where the value of the property or goods is not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000), is a Class 1 misdemeanor. In all cases of doubt, the jury shall, in the verdict, fix the value of the property stolen.

(b) The crime of larceny is a felony, without regard to the value of the property in question, if the larceny is any of the following:

- (1) From the person.
- (2) Committed pursuant to a violation of G.S. 14-51, 14-53, 14-54, 14-54.1, or 14-57.
- (3) Of any explosive or incendiary device or substance. As used in this section, the phrase "explosive or incendiary device or substance" shall include any explosive or incendiary grenade or bomb; any dynamite, blasting powder, nitroglycerin, TNT, or other high explosive; or any device, ingredient for such device, or type or quantity of substance primarily useful for large-scale destruction of property by explosive or incendiary action or lethal injury to persons by explosive or incendiary action. This definition shall not include fireworks; or any form, type, or quantity of gasoline, butane gas, natural gas, or any other substance having explosive or incendiary properties but serving a legitimate nondestructive or nonlethal use in the form, type, or quantity stolen.
- (4) Of any firearm. As used in this section, the term "firearm" shall include any instrument used in the propulsion of a shot, shell or bullet by the action of gunpowder or any other explosive substance within it. A "firearm," which at the time of theft is not capable of being fired, shall be included within this definition if it can be made to work. This definition shall not include air rifles or air pistols.
- (5) Of any record or paper in the custody of the North Carolina State Archives as defined by G.S. 121-2(7) and G.S. 121-2(8).

(c) The crime of possessing stolen goods knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe them to be stolen in the circumstances described in subsection (b) is a felony or the crime of receiving stolen goods knowing or having reasonable grounds to believe them to be stolen in the circumstances described in subsection (b) is a felony, without regard to the value of the property in question.

(d) Where the larceny or receiving or possession of stolen goods as described in subsection (a) of this section involves the merchandise of any store, a merchant, a merchant's agent, a merchant's employee, or a peace officer who detains or causes the arrest of any person shall not be held civilly liable for detention, malicious prosecution, false imprisonment, or false arrest of the person detained or arrested, when such detention is upon the premises of the store or in a reasonable proximity thereto, is in a reasonable manner for a reasonable length of time, and, if in detaining or in causing the arrest of such person, the merchant, the merchant's agent, the merchant's employee, or the peace officer had, at the time of the detention or arrest, probable cause to believe that the person committed an offense under subsection (a) of this section. If the person being detained by the merchant, the merchant's agent, or the merchant's employee, is a minor under the age of 18 years, the merchant, the merchant's agent, or the merchant's employee, shall call or notify, or make a reasonable effort to call or notify the parent or guardian of the minor, during the period of detention. A merchant, a merchant's agent, or a merchant's employee, who makes a reasonable effort to call or notify the parent or guardian of the minor shall not be held civilly liable for failing to notify the parent or guardian of the minor. (1895, c. 285; Rev., s. 3506; 1913, c. 118, s. 1; C.S., s. 4251; 1941, c. 178, s. 1; 1949, c. 145, s. 2; 1959, c. 1285; 1961, c. 39, s. 1; 1965, c. 621, s. 5; 1969, c. 522, s. 2; 1973, c. 238, ss. 1, 2; 1975, c. 163, s. 2; c. 696, s. 4; 1977, c. 978, ss. 2, 3; 1979, c. 408, s. 1; c. 760, s. 5; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1316, ss. 11, 47; 1981, c. 63, s. 1; c. 179, s. 14; 1991, c. 523, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 34; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1995, c. 185, s. 2; 2006-259, s. 4(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-259, s. 4(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to acts committed on or after that date, added “any of the following” at the end of the introductory paragraph of subsection

(b), substituted a period for “; or” at the end of subdivision (b)(1), inserted “14-54.1” in subdivision (b)(2), and inserted “G.S.” preceding “121-2(8)” in subdivision (b)(5).

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Applied in In re J.H., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 457, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1223 (2006).

Cited in State v. Ayscue, 169 N.C. App. 548, 610 S.E.2d 389, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 677 (2005); State v. Flemming, 171 N.C. App. 413, 615 S.E.2d 310, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005); *State v. ### II. LARCENY.

A. In General.

No Trespass. — Absent a trespass, there was no felonious larceny under G.S. 14-72; a trial court should have dismissed a larceny charge which was based on defendant's admission that she dug up and spent money buried by the victim in land defendant was renting, even though the money was buried before defendant's lease. No trespassory taking occurred since the lease granted defendant lawful possession of the land where the money was buried. State v. Jones, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 436, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 842 (2006).

B. Degree of Offense.

Insufficient Evidence for Felony Larceny Charge. — Defendant's conviction of felonious larceny, G.S. 14-72, was reversed and remanded for resentencing because the trial court failed to find that the value of the property he took was more than $ 1,000.00 or that he committed the larceny in the course of a felonious breaking and entering, as required by the statute. State v. Matthews, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 815, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 138 (2006).

IV. POSSESSION OF STOLEN PROPERTY.

Exclusive possession of stolen property may be joint possession, etc. —

Trial court erred by sentencing defendant on five, rather than one, counts of felony possession of stolen goods, as defendant and his companions stole five all-terrain vehicles (ATVs) from the same victim during one break-in, occurring on the same night, and there was no interruption in the events once the transaction began such that defendant was divested of possession and then came back into possession; the ATVs were stolen at approximately the same time, and defendant's actions were part of a single, continuous transaction. State v. Phillips, 172 N.C. App. 143, 615 S.E.2d 880, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1426 (2005).

Possession of stolen goods conviction vacated where defendant was acquitted on the underlying charge; the trial court erred in accepting the jury's guilty verdict on a charge of felony possession of stolen goods when the jury found defendant not guilty of the underlying breaking and entering charge. State v. Goblet, 173 N.C. App. 112, 618 S.E.2d 257, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1929 (2005).

VIII. PRACTICE AND PROCEDURE.

A. Indictment.

Ownership of Property. —

Abbreviation "Inc." identifying the victim in a larceny indictment imported the entity's ability to own property, and thus, the indictment was sufficient; the fact of incorporation did not need to be alleged where the corporate name was correctly set out in the indictment. State v. Cave, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 299, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2479 (2005).

B. Evidence.

Trial judge did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charges, etc.

Evidence was sufficient to deny defendant's motion to dismiss and to present the case to the jury where defendant was a passenger in a car when he and others were detained by police, there were items from several stores in the car but none of the people in the car could produce receipts, one of the co-defendants testified that he told an investigating officer that defendant acted as a lookout while the others were stealing from the stores, and defendant provided contradictory testimony both that he was unaware of his co-defendants taking any items from the store and that he knew his co-defendants were taking merchandise. State v. Cave, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 299, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2479 (2005).

Evidence Sufficient. —

While defendant entered a law office with implied consent from the firm, that consent was void ab initio when defendant went into areas of the firm that were not open to the public so that defendant could commit theft; thus, defendant's convictions for felonious breaking and entering and felonious larceny were supported by sufficient evidence. State v. Brooks, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 54, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1334 (2006).

F. Verdict.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Plain Error Found. — Trial court committed plain error in failing to instruct the jury on conspiracy to commit common law robbery as the jury was properly instructed on robbery with a dangerous weapon and common law robbery, apparently based on the conflicting evidence regarding whether the gun used was real or fake; the same conflicting evidence directly pertained to defendant's charge of conspiracy to commit common law robbery as there was conflicting evidence as to whether the agreement was that the person who committed the robbery would use a real or a fake gun. State v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 332, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1078 (2006).

Instruction on Parole Ineligibility in Capital Case. — Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, first-degree rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and the burning of personal property, in violation of G.S. 14-17, 14-27.2(a)(2), 14-39, 14-87, and 14-66, argued that the sentencing court erred by failing to provide a parole ineligibility instruction, the prisoner, who was sentenced to death for the murder conviction, was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because the prisoner would have been eligible for parole under former G.S. 15A-1371(a1) if the jury had recommended life imprisonment; thus, because the prisoner was eligible for parole as a matter of law, the prisoner was not entitled to a parole ineligibility instruction. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

V. USE OR THREATENED USE OF DANGEROUS WEAPON.

B. Dangerous Weapon.

"Means." — Because the term "means" in G.S. 14-87 follows the terms "firearm," "other dangerous weapon," and "implement," the legislature intended the "means" employed by an armed robber to consist of some extraneous instrument similar to a "firearm," "implement," or "other dangerous weapon." State v. Duff, 171 N.C. App. 662, 615 S.E.2d 373, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1367 (2005).

Requirement of "External" Weapon or Instrument. — Common sense and the clear intent of G.S. 14-87 lead the North Carolina Court of Appeals to conclude that an individual cannot possess, use, or threaten to use a dangerous weapon during a robbery where that individual is not possessing, using, or threatening to use some external weapon or instrument during the robbery; the critical difference between armed and common law robbery is that the former is accomplished by the use or threatened use of a dangerous weapon whereby the life of a person is endangered or threatened. State v. Duff, 171 N.C. App. 662, 615 S.E.2d 373, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1367 (2005).

Fists, Hands, and Feet. — Trial court erred by denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charge of robbery with a dangerous weapon because the State failed to demonstrate that he either possessed or used a dangerous weapon, implement, or means during the attack; defendant's fists, hands, and feet could not be considered dangerous weapons for purposes of G.S. 14-87. State v. Duff, 171 N.C. App. 662, 615 S.E.2d 373, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1367 (2005).

Although G.S. 14-87 refers to the possession, use, or threatened use of "means" during the robbery, the North Carolina Court of Appeals is not convinced that "means" was included in the statute in order to reach the situation where a robbery was perpetrated by the use of hands, fists, or feet; it is a recognized principle of statutory construction that when particular or specific words or acts, the subject of a statute, are followed by general words, the latter must as a rule be confined to acts and things of the same kind. State v. Duff, 171 N.C. App. 662, 615 S.E.2d 373, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1367 (2005).

Despite prior holdings of the North Carolina Court of Appeals that, under certain circumstances, a defendant's hands, fists, and feet can be considered deadly weapons for the purposes of an assault conviction, the court has never held that hands, fists, and feet can be considered dangerous weapons for the purposes of G.S. 14-87. State v. Duff, 171 N.C. App. 662, 615 S.E.2d 373, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1367 (2005).

Conflicting Evidence as to Whether Gun Was Real. — Defendant's motion to dismiss a conspiracy to commit robbery with a dangerous weapon charge was properly denied as there was conflicting evidence as to whether a gun given to a person who committed a robbery (the actor) was real or not and there was sufficient evidence that the gun was an operable weapon where: (1) defendant and two other men told the actor to rob a store in exchange for drugs, which she agreed to do, (2) the men provided the actor with a gun and she committed the robbery, (3) the actor spoke primarily with defendant regarding the robbery, (4) the actor stated that one of the men told her that the gun was fake, but that she was uncertain whether it was fake, and (5) the actor stated that defendant and the others had a real gun and a fake gun and that she believed she had been given the fake one. State v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 332, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1078 (2006).

VI. TAKING AND INTENT.

Person or persons in attendance. —

Store clerk saw the defendant in her store in a “mask” and with a gun and fled the store; even though the defendant took the money after the store clerk fled, the robbery occurred in the store clerk’s “presence” under G.S. 14-87 because the defendant made his purposes known to her. State v. Tuck, 173 N.C. App. 61, 618 S.E.2d 265, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1930 (2005).

VII. LESSER OFFENSES.

Merger of Sentences. — Trial court erred when it failed to arrest judgment on defendant’s armed robbery conviction under G.S. 14-87(a); when defendant was convicted of first-degree murder pursuant to the felony murder rule, and a verdict of guilty was returned on the underlying felony, the armed robbery conviction provided no basis for an additional sentence, hence it merged into the murder conviction. State v. Staten, 172 N.C. App. 673, 616 S.E.2d 650, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1777 (2005).

VIII. INDICTMENT.

Amended Indictment Upheld. — Because a showing of a taking is not a necessary element of the crime of robbery with a dangerous weapon, the amendment of the indictment against defendant from attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon to robbery with a dangerous weapon sufficiently apprised defendant of the charge against him with enough certainty to have enabled him to prepare his defense and was not in error; further, since the classifications and punishments of the crimes of attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon and robbery with a dangerous weapon are identical, the amendment to defendant’s indictment did not deprive the trial court of knowledge as to the judgment to pronounce in the event of conviction since the amendment did not substantially alter the charge. State v. Van Trusell, 170 N.C. App. 33, 612 S.E.2d 195, 2005 N.C.

App. LEXIS 886 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 620 S.E.2d 196 (2005).

IX. EVIDENCE.

Evidence held sufficient to sustain conviction, etc.

State’s evidence was sufficient to support a felony murder charge based on robbery with a dangerous weapon, as the evidence showed defendant and the victim together on a store surveillance videotape, and the next evening defendant was in possession of the victim’s car, wallet, boom box, and other personal property; the evidence also showed that the victim kept his wallet in the pocket of his trousers and his boom box in the house. DNA evidence placed defendant at the victim’s home, and the victim’s blood was found on defendant’s trousers. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

Evidence Held Insufficient to Support Conviction. — Where there was not sufficient evidence to show the juvenile knew that his friend was going to rob the victim, nor did the State introduce any evidence tending to show that the juvenile encouraged the commission of the crime, and in fact, tried to help stop the attack, the robbery charge should have been dismissed. In re R.P.M., 172 N.C. App. 782, 616 S.E.2d 627, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1803 (2005).

Defendant’s conviction of armed robbery, pursuant to G.S. 14-87, had to be reversed because defendant used only his hands in the robbery and, thus, the evidence was not sufficient to support the conviction of armed robbery; however, pursuant to G.S. 15-170, there was sufficient evidence for a conviction of the lesser included offense of common law robbery, as defendant stole a car from the victim with the use of force. State v. Staten, 172 N.C. App. 673, 616 S.E.2d 650, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1777 (2005).

Evidence Sufficient to Deny Motion to Dismiss. —

Evidence was sufficient to show defendant attempted to commit the crime of attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon because, viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the state, a reasonable person could find that defendant and his accomplices, while acting in concert, tried to rob a victim of her pocketbook as they entered the victim’s house with guns drawn. State v. Farrar, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 253, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1966 (2006).

XI. PUNISHMENT.

“Great Monetary Value” Aggravating Factor Not Supported By Evidence. — Defendant was entitled to a new sentencing hearing after his armed robbery conviction because a finding as an aggravating factor that the offense involved the actual taking of great monetary value was not supported by the evidence where $1,300 and $700 were taken from the victims; the amounts of $1,300 and $700 do not constitute great or extraordinary amounts such that either represents a sum of “great monetary value” within the aggravating factor list. State v. Pender, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2710 (2005).

§ 14-90. Embezzlement of property received by virtue of office or employment.

CASE NOTES

- II. Elements of the Offense.
- III. Who May Be Guilty of Embezzlement.
- V. Evidence.

II. ELEMENTS OF THE OFFENSE.

Evidence held insufficient, etc. — Evidence was insufficient to support an embezzlement conviction where defendant opened a post office box and bank accounts in the name of her employers without authorization, directed checks to the post office box, deposited the checks into the unauthorized accounts, and wrote checks to herself from those accounts; defendant never took lawful possession of the incoming checks, nor was she entrusted with the checks by virtue of a fiduciary capacity, but, instead, acquired the incoming checks through misrepresentation, State v. Palmer, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 676, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2712 (2005).

III. WHO MAY BE GUILTY OF EMBEZZLEMENT.

As a local alcoholic beverage control board employee, defendant should have been charged with embezzlement under G.S. 14-90; a trial court lacked jurisdiction to hear the case where defendant was charged with violation of G.S. 14-92. State v. Jones, 172 N.C. App. 161, 615 S.E.2d 896, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1438 (2005), cert. denied, stay denied, 360 N.C. 72, 624 S.E.2d 365 (2005), cert. dismissed, 360 N.C. 72, 624 S.E.2d 366 (2005).

V. EVIDENCE.

Knowing and Wilfull Misapplication of Funds. — North Carolina State Bar presented substantial evidence that the attorney knowingly and willfully misapplied a client’s settlement money for other purposes; for months the attorney was aware that not only was the attorney’s trust account out of balance, but it was woefully short of the necessary funds. N.C. State Bar v. Leonard, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 183, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1573 (2006).

CASE NOTES

Sufficiency of evidence. — Defendant's conviction for embezzlement of North Carolina property of a value of $100,000 or more by aiding and abetting was affirmed because the state presented substantial evidence that defendant committed the crime by testimony that defendant was the only person authorized to make withdrawals from the corporate account from which the missing funds that were withheld from employee wages for remittance to the North Carolina Department of Revenue were deposited. State v. Ross, 173 N.C. App. 569, 620 S.E.2d 33, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2084 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

III. INDICTMENT.

Same — Property Obtained. —

Since a superseding indictment sufficiently described the false pretense incident as the defendant representing to the store employee that he was entitled to a cash refund for a watch band, when in truth and in fact, he knew that he had unlawfully taken the watch band and was not entitled to a refund, the indictment gave him proper notice and was properly not dismissed. State v. Ledwell, 171 N.C. App. 314, 614 S.E.2d 562, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1212 (2005).

Since the indictment alleged the defendant sought to exchange the watch band that he had taken from the store for cash, the indictment did not have to allege the exact amount of cash that the defendant had tried to obtain by false pretenses. State v. Ledwell, 171 N.C. App. 314, 614 S.E.2d 562, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1212 (2005).

IV. ILLUSTRATIVE CASES.

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Evidence was sufficient to survive defendant's motion to dismiss the charge of aiding and abetting obtaining property by false pretenses; defendant did not deny asking a county employee to come to defendant's residence and fix a toilet on county time, and defendant stated that the employee may have come on county time and in a county vehicle. *State v. ## § 14-104. Obtaining advances under promise to work and pay for same.

CASE NOTES

Motion to Dismiss Properly Denied. — Superior court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss misdemeanor charge of failure to work after being paid, as a conflict in the evidence presented created a question for the jury to resolve; moreover, even though the $ 100 defendant received was intended for purchasing materials, his conviction was supported by the evidence presented, as he still obtained an advance of money, provisions, goods, wares or merchandise on the false promise of completing the work. State v. Octetree, 173 N.C. App. 228, 617 S.E.2d 356, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2005).

§ 14-112.2. Exploitation of an elder adult or disabled adult.

(a) The following definitions apply in this section:

- (1) Disabled adult. — A person 18 years of age or older or a lawfully emancipated minor who is present in the State of North Carolina and who is physically or mentally incapacitated as defined in G.S. 108A-101(d).
- (2) Elder adult. — A person 60 years of age or older who is not able to provide for the social, medical, psychiatric, psychological, financial, or legal services necessary to safeguard the person's rights and resources and to maintain the person's physical and mental well-being.

(b) It is unlawful for a person: (i) who stands in a position of trust and confidence with an elder adult or disabled adult, or (ii) who has a business relationship with an elder adult or disabled adult to knowingly, by deception or intimidation, obtain or use, or endeavor to obtain or use, an elder adult's or disabled adult's funds, assets, or property with the intent to temporarily or permanently deprive the elder adult or disabled adult of the use, benefit, or possession of the funds, assets, or property, or to benefit someone other than the elder adult or disabled adult.

(c) It is unlawful for a person, who knows or reasonably should know that an elder adult or disabled adult lacks the capacity to consent, to obtain or use, endeavor to obtain or use, or conspire with another to obtain or use an elder adult's or disabled adult's funds, assets, or property with the intent to temporarily or permanently deprive the elder adult or disabled adult of the use, benefit, or possession of the funds, assets, or property, or benefit someone other than the elder adult or disabled adult. This subsection shall not apply to a person acting within the scope of that person's lawful authority as the agent for the elder adult or disabled adult.

(d) A violation of subsection (b) of this section is punishable as follows:

- (1) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) or more, then the offense is a Class F felony.
- (2) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), then the offense is a Class G felony.
- (3) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at less than twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), then the offense is a Class H felony.

(e) A violation of subsection (c) of this section is punishable as follows:

- (1) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) or more, then the offense is a Class G felony.

- (2) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) or more but less than one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), then the offense is a Class H felony.
- (3) If the funds, assets, or property involved in the exploitation of the elderly person or disabled adult is valued at less than twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), then the offense is a Class I felony. (2005-272, s. 2; 2006-264, s. 99.)

Indictment That Failed to Allege Ownership of the Property Was Defective. — Indictments alleging that the city transit and parking services owned the parking meters allegedly broken into by defendant, were insufficient to allege injury to personal property in violation of G.S. 14-160 and larceny because the city transit and parking services was not a natural person, and the indictments did not allege that the city transit and parking services was capable of owning property. State v. Price, 170 N.C. App. 672, 613 S.E.2d 60, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1085 (2005).

Although G.S. 14-177 is not unconstitutional on its face, it was unconstitutional as applied to defendant's conviction since a minor was not involved, the conduct did not involve non-consensual or coercive sexual acts, the conduct did not occur in a public place, and the conduct did not involve prostitution or solicitation. State v. Whiteley, 172 N.C. App. 772, 616 S.E.2d 576, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1795 (2005).

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Elements and Proof of Offense.
- III. Evidence.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Violation of This Section Is Not a Lesser Included Offense of First Degree Sexual Offense. — Because indecent liberties with a minor does not merge with and is not a lesser included offense of first-degree sexual offense, evidence presented on the charges of first-degree sexual offense may also support a conviction for indecent liberties; thus, it was impossible to tell which particular acts corresponded with which charges and convictions for indecent liberties where defendant was convicted of seven of ten counts of taking indecent liberties with a minor and the trial court failed to indicate which offenses were to be considered for which verdict sheets. State v. Bates, 172 N.C. App. 27, 616 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1585 (2005).

Sufficiency of Indictment. —

Indictment for indecent liberties that matched the form required by G.S. 14-202.1 was sufficient to inform defendant of the charges against him. State v. Massey, 174 N.C. App. 216, 621 S.E.2d 633, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2400 (2005).

Prior Convictions as Aggravating Factors. — Appellate court found no error in the trial court's determination, by a preponderance of the evidence, that defendant's prior North Carolina convictions for assault inflicting serious injury and larceny merited one point each because that determination was a fact of a prior conviction and not precluded by Blakely or Allen. The trial court also properly determined, by a preponderance of the evidence, that four of defendant's out-of-state convictions were substantially similar to offenses under North Carolina law; thus, defendant's sentence of 25 to 30 months for each violation of G.S. 14-202.1, to be served consecutively, was affirmed. State v. Hadden, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 417, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 190 (2006).

Multiple Short-Form Indictments Did Not Create a Danger of Unanimous Verdicts. — Appellate court erred in reversing defendant's convictions of first-degree statutory rape, G.S. 14-27.2, and taking indecent liberties with a minor, G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), as defendant was properly charged by short-form indictments on all the charges as authorized by G.S. 15-144.2(a), because there was no danger of a nonunanimous verdict resulting from the multiple indictments in violation of N.C. Const. art. 1, § 24, and G.S. 15A-1237(b), as even if some jurors disagreed on the kinds of sexual misconduct committed, the jury as a whole would unanimously find that there occurred sexual conduct within the ambit of any immoral, improper, or indecent liberties as required by G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), and because defendant was indicted on five counts of statutory rape, the victim testified to five specific incidents of statutory rape, and five verdicts of guilty were returned. State v. Lawrence, 360 N.C. 368, 627 S.E.2d 609, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 30 (2006).

Unanimous Verdict Requirement. — Defendant's claim, that his right to a unanimous jury verdict as to each of the charges against him was violated because none of the verdict sheets set out the specific actus reus that the jury had to find in order to convict, was rejected as the indecent liberties statute did not list distinct criminal offenses in the disjunctive. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Cited in State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 307, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1071 (2006); State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006).

II. ELEMENTS AND PROOF OF OFFENSE.*Single Offense Provable by Commission of Various Acts. —

Defendant's convictions on five counts of statutory rape and three counts of taking indecent liberties with a child had to be reversed, and he had to be retried on those charges, as the State's proof at trial of many more acts than were pled in those counts meant that the appellate court could not determine whether defendant was found guilty by the required unanimous jury on the counts pled or some other acts that were not pled; accordingly, defendant's right to conviction by a unanimous jury may have been compromised. State v. Lawrence, 170 N.C. App. 200, 612 S.E.2d 678, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1016 (2005).

Evidence Held Insufficient. —

Evidence was insufficient to support defendant's conviction on one of the two counts charged against him of indecent liberties with children; the State, at most, only proved that a single sex act occurred, which could only support one of the two convictions, and not both convictions. State v. Jones, 172 N.C. App. 308, 616 S.E.2d 15, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1580 (2005).

III. EVIDENCE.

Evidence of Touching Supported Only One Charge. — Trial court erred in denying motion to dismiss one of the two charges of indecent liberties because a single act could support only one conviction; the evidence showed that the sole act involved was touching and that there was no gap in time between defendant's touching of the victim's breasts and putting his hand inside the waistband of the victims' pants. State v. Laney, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 522, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1398 (2006).

Evidence Supported Finding of Abuse. —

Victim's testimony that defendant tickled her in her private parts, that he was tickling her leg and would start going up to her private parts, provided substantial evidence in support conviction for taking indecent liberties with a child. State v. Verrier, 173 N.C. App. 123, 617 S.E.2d 675, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1899 (2005).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Trial court did not err in dismissing for insufficiency of the evidence the taking indecent liberties with a minor child counts against defendant where defendant argued that the child victims' accounts contained conflicting details and, therefore, lacked credibility, as the appellate court, in a sufficiency of the evidence analysis, was required to resolve such discrepancies in favor of the State and was not permitted to weigh the evidence. State v. Lewis, 172

N.C. App. 97, 616 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1439 (2005).

§ 14-202.2. Indecent liberties between children.

CASE NOTES

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Defendant's adjudication of indecent liberties between children was affirmed and the trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss at the end of all the evidence, where: (1) defendant, who was 14 years old, told the victim, his 8-year-old step-sister, to come into his room; (2) when the victim entered the room, defendant pulled down her pants; (3) defendant then pulled down his own pants and touched the victim's vagina with his penis; (4) when he heard his step-mother coming, defendant ran to his closet while pulling up his pants; (4) the step-mother found the victim under the covers in defendant's bed not wearing pants or underwear; and (5) while the step-mother was in the room defendant hid in the closet was sufficient to support the adjudication. In re D.W., 171 N.C. App. 496, 615 S.E.2d 90, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1358 (2005).

Sex Offender and Public Protection Registration Programs.

Part 1. Registration Programs, Purpose and Definitions Generally.

§ 14-208.5. Purpose.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 18, provides: "The Department of Correction shall study and develop a plan for offering mental health treatment for incarcerated sex offenders designed to reduce the likelihood of recidivism. The Department shall study appropriate and effective mental health treatment techniques and alternatives. Services must be best practices, as determined by the Department. The Department will consult various stakeholders from organizations dedicated to the prevention of sexual assault, victims' advocacy organizations, and experts in the field of treatment of sexual offenders. The Department shall consider the fiscal impact, if any, of implementing the plan developed pursuant to this study.

"The Department shall make a preliminary report to the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee on Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services no later than January 15, 2007, and a final report to the Joint Legislative Oversight Committee on Mental Health, Developmental Disabilities, and Substance Abuse Services and the General Assembly on or before October 1, 2007."

CASE NOTES

A convicted sex offender's failure to inquire into a state's laws on registration requirement is neither entirely innocent nor wholly passive, particularly when combined with that sex offender's violation of his previous resident state's sex offender registration laws; convicted sex offender from another jurisdiction who subsequently moved to North Carolina had actual notice of his lifelong duty to register with South Carolina, which led a reasonable individual to inquire of a duty to register in any state upon relocation. State v. Bryant, 359 N.C. 554, 614 S.E.2d 479, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 647 (2005).

§ 14-208.6A. Lifetime registration requirements for criminal offenders.

It is the objective of the General Assembly to establish a 10-year registration requirement for persons convicted of certain offenses against minors or sexually violent offenses. It is the further objective of the General Assembly to establish a more stringent set of registration requirements for recidivists, persons who commit aggravated offenses, and for a subclass of highly dangerous sex offenders who are determined by a sentencing court with the assistance of a board of experts to be sexually violent predators.

To accomplish this objective, there are established two registration programs: the Sex Offender and Public Protection Registration Program and the Sexually Violent Predator Registration Program. Any person convicted of an offense against a minor or of a sexually violent offense as defined by this Article shall register in person as an offender in accordance with Part 2 of this Article. Any person who is a recidivist, who commits an aggravated offense, or who is determined to be a sexually violent predator shall register in person as such in accordance with Part 3 of this Article.

The information obtained under these programs shall be immediately shared with the appropriate local, State, federal, and out-of-state law enforcement officials and penal institutions. In addition, the information designated under G.S. 14-208.10(a) as public record shall be readily available to and accessible by the public. However, the identity of the victim is not public record and shall not be released as a public record. (1997-516, s. 1; 2001-373, s. 2; 2006-247, s. 2(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 2(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, inserted "in person" in the second and third sentences of the second paragraph.

§ 14-208.6B. Registration requirements for juveniles transferred to and convicted in superior court.

A juvenile transferred to superior court pursuant to G.S. 7B-2200 who is convicted of a sexually violent offense or an offense against a minor as defined in G.S. 14-208.6 shall register in person in accordance with this Article just as an adult convicted of the same offense must register. (1997-516, s. 1; 1998-202, s. 13(e); 2006-247, s. 3(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides, "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 3(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, inserted "in person."

If the person is a current resident of North Carolina, the person shall register:

- (1) Within 10 days of release from a penal institution or arrival in a county to live outside a penal institution; or
- (2) Immediately upon conviction for a reportable offense where an active term of imprisonment was not imposed.

Registration shall be maintained for a period of at least 10 years following the date of initial county registration.

(a1) A person who is a nonresident student or a nonresident worker and who has a reportable conviction, or is required to register in the person's state of residency, is required to maintain registration with the sheriff of the county where the person works or attends school. In addition to the information required under subsection (b) of this section, the person shall also provide information regarding the person's school or place of employment as appropriate and the person's address in his or her state of residence.

(b) The Division shall provide each sheriff with forms for registering persons as required by this Article. The registration form shall require:

- (1) The person's full name, each alias, date of birth, sex, race, height, weight, eye color, hair color, drivers license number, and home address;
- (2) The type of offense for which the person was convicted, the date of conviction, and the sentence imposed;
- (3) A current photograph;
- (4) The person's fingerprints;
- (5) A statement indicating whether the person is a student or expects to enroll as a student within a year of registering. If the person is a student or expects to enroll as a student within a year of registration, then the registration form shall also require the name and address of the educational institution at which the person is a student or expects to enroll as a student; and
- (6) A statement indicating whether the person is employed or expects to be employed at an institution of higher education within a year of registering. If the person is employed or expects to be employed at an institution of higher education within a year of registration, then the registration form shall also require the name and address of the educational institution at which the person is or expects to be employed.

The sheriff shall photograph the individual at the time of registration and take fingerprints from the individual at the time of registration both of which will be kept as part of the registration form. The registrant will not be required to pay any fees for the photograph or fingerprints taken at the time of registration.

(c) When a person registers, the sheriff with whom the person registered shall immediately send the registration information to the Division in a manner determined by the Division. The sheriff shall retain the original registration form and other information collected and shall compile the information that is a public record under this Part into a county registry.

(d) Any person required to register under this section shall report in person at the appropriate sheriff's office to comply with the registration requirements set out in this section. The sheriff shall provide the registrant with written proof of registration at the time of registration. (1995, c. 545, s. 1; 1997-516, s. 1; 2001-373, s. 4; 2002-147, s. 17; 2006-247, s. 5(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 5(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, rewrote the last paragraph of subsection (a) and added subsection (d).

§ 14-208.8. Prerelease notification.

CASE NOTES

Untimely notification of requirement. — Although the penal institution failed to inform defendant that he was required to register as a sex offender until five days prior to release from prison, the late notice did not eliminate the registration requirement. State v. Harris, 171 N.C. App. 127, 613 S.E.2d 701, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1169 (2005).

- (1) Is employed or carries on a vocation in a county in the State other than the county in which the person is registered for more than 10 business days within a 30-day period, or for an aggregate period exceeding 30 days in a calendar year, on a part-time or full-time basis, with or without compensation or government or educational benefit.
- (2) Maintains a temporary residence, including in that county for more than 10 business days within a 30-day period, or for an aggregate period exceeding 30 days in a calendar year.

(b) Time Period. — The notice required by subsection (a) of this section shall be provided within 72 hours after the person knows or should know that he or she will be working and maintaining a temporary residence in a county other than the county in which the person resides for more than 10 business days within a 30-day period, or within 10 days after the person knows or should know that he or she will be working and maintaining a temporary residence in a county other than the county in which the person resides for an aggregate period exceeding 30 days in a calendar year.

(c) Notice to Division. — Upon receiving the notice required under subsection (a) of this section, the sheriff shall immediately forward the information to the Division. The Division shall notify the sheriff of the county where the person is working and maintaining a temporary residence of the person's place of employment and temporary address in that county. (2006-247, s. 4(a).)

§ 14-208.9. Change of address; change of academic status or educational employment status.

(a) If a person required to register changes address, the person shall report in person and provide written notice of the new address not later than the tenth day after the change to the sheriff of the county with whom the person had last registered. Upon receipt of the notice, the sheriff shall immediately forward this information to the Division. If the person moves to another county in this State, the Division shall inform the sheriff of the new county of the person's new residence.

(b) If a person required to register intends to move to another state, the person shall report in person to the sheriff of the county of current residence at least 10 days before the date the person intends to leave this State to establish residence in another state or jurisdiction. The person shall provide to the sheriff a written notification that includes all of the following information: the address, municipality, county, and state of intended residence.

(1) If it appears to the sheriff that the record photograph of the sex offender no longer provides a true and accurate likeness of the sex offender, then the sheriff shall take a photograph of the offender to update the registration.

(2) The sheriff shall inform the person that the person must comply with the registration requirements in the new state of residence. The sheriff shall also immediately forward the information included in the notification to the Division, and the Division shall inform the appropriate state official in the state to which the registrant moves of the person's notification and new address.

(b1) A person who indicates his or her intent to reside in another state or jurisdiction and later decides to remain in this State shall, within 10 days after the date upon which the person indicated he or she would leave this State, report in person to the sheriff's office to which the person reported the intended change of residence, of his or her intent to remain in this State. If the sheriff is notified by the sexual offender that he or she intends to remain in this State, the sheriff shall promptly report this information to the Division.

(c) If a person required to register changes his or her academic status either by enrolling as a student or by terminating enrollment as a student, then the person shall, within 10 days, report in person to the sheriff of the county with whom the person registered and provide written notice of the person's new status. The written notice shall include the name and address of the institution of higher education at which the student is or was enrolled. The sheriff shall immediately forward this information to the Division.

(d) If a person required to register changes his or her employment status either by obtaining employment at an institution of higher education or by terminating employment at an institution of higher education, then the person shall, within 10 days, report in person to the sheriff of the county with whom the person registered and provide written notice of the person's new status not later than the tenth day after the change to the sheriff of the county with whom the person registered. The written notice shall include the name and address of the institution of higher education at which the person is or was employed. The sheriff shall immediately forward this information to the Division. (1995, c. 545, s. 1; 1997-516, s. 1; 2001-373, s. 5; 2002-147, s. 19; 2006-247, s. 6(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 6(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, rewrote the section.

CASE NOTES

Motion to Dismiss Properly Denied. — Denial of defendant's motion to dismiss a failure to register as a sex offender charge was proper as defendant's confession permitted the jury to infer that defendant had not lived at the registered address within 10 days of his arrest, and there was evidence that on June 2, 1998, defendant was released from a prison sentence imposed for taking indecent liberties with a child. State v. Wise, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 732, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1293 (2006).

§ 14-208.9A. Verification of registration information.

(a) The information in the county registry shall be verified semiannually for each registrant as follows:

- (1) Every year on the anniversary of a person's initial registration date, and again six months after that date, the Division shall mail a nonforwardable verification form to the last reported address of the person.
- (2) The person shall return the verification form in person to the sheriff within 10 days after the receipt of the form.
- (3) The verification form shall be signed by the person and shall indicate whether the person still resides at the address last reported to the sheriff. If the person has a different address, then the person shall indicate that fact and the new address.
- (3a) If it appears to the sheriff that the record photograph of the sex offender no longer provides a true and accurate likeness of the sex offender, then the sheriff shall take a photograph of the offender to include with the verification form.
- (4) If the person fails to return the verification form in person to the sheriff within 10 days after receipt of the form, the person is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 14-208.11. If the person fails to report in person and provide the written verification as provided by this section, the sheriff shall make a reasonable attempt to verify that the person is residing at the registered address. If the person cannot be found at the registered address and has failed to report a change of address, the person is subject to the penalties provided in G.S. 14-208.11, unless the person reports in person to the sheriff and proves that the person has not changed his or her residential address.

(b) Additional Verification May Be Required. — During the period that an offender is required to be registered under this Article, the sheriff is authorized to attempt to verify that the offender continues to reside at the address last registered by the offender.

(c) Additional Photograph May Be Required. — If it appears to the sheriff that the current photograph of the sex offender no longer provides a true and accurate likeness of the sex offender, upon in-person notice from the sheriff, the sex offender shall allow the sheriff to take another photograph of the sex offender at the time of the sheriff's request. If requested by the sheriff, the sex offender shall appear in person at the sheriff's office during normal business hours within 72 hours of being requested to do so and shall allow the sheriff to take another photograph of the sex offender. A person who willfully fails to comply with this subsection is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. (1997-516, s. 1; 2006-247, s. 7(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 7(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, rewrote the section.

§ 14-208.10. Registration information is public record; access to registration information.

CASE NOTES

Convicted sex offender from another jurisdiction who subsequently moved to North Carolina had actual notice of his life-long duty to register with South Carolina, which led a reasonable individual to inquire of a duty to register in any state upon relocation. State v. Bryant, 359 N.C. 554, 614 S.E.2d 479, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 647 (2005).

§ 14-208.11. Failure to register; falsification of verification notice; failure to return verification form; order for arrest.

(a) A person required by this Article to register who willfully does any of the following is guilty of a Class F felony:

- (1) Fails to register as required by this Article.
- (2) Fails to notify the last registering sheriff of a change of address as required by this Article.
- (3) Fails to return a verification notice as required under G.S. 14-208.9A.
- (4) Forges or submits under false pretenses the information or verification notices required under this Article.
- (5) Fails to inform the registering sheriff of enrollment or termination of enrollment as a student.
- (6) Fails to inform the registering sheriff of employment at an institution of higher education or termination of employment at an institution of higher education.
- (7) Fails to report in person to the sheriff's office as required by G.S. 14-208.7, 14-208.9, and 14-208.9A.
- (8) Reports his or her intent to reside in another state or jurisdiction but remains in this State without reporting to the sheriff in the manner required by G.S. 14-208.9.
- (9) (Effective June 1, 2007) Fails to notify the registering sheriff of out-of-county employment if temporary residence is established as required under G.S. 14-208.8A.

(a1) If a person commits a violation of subsection (a) of this section, the probation officer, parole officer, or any other law enforcement officer who is aware of the violation shall immediately arrest the person in accordance with G.S. 15A-401, or seek an order for the person's arrest in accordance with G.S. 15A-305.

(b) Before a person convicted of a violation of this Article is due to be released from a penal institution, an official of the penal institution shall conduct the prerelease notification procedures specified under G.S. 14-208.8(a)(2) and (3). If upon a conviction for a violation of this Article, no active term of imprisonment is imposed, the court pronouncing sentence shall, at the time of sentencing, conduct the notification procedures specified under G.S. 14-208.8(a)(2) and (3).

(c) A person who is unable to meet the registration or verification requirements of this Article shall be deemed to have complied with its requirements if:

- (1) The person is incarcerated in, or is in the custody of, a local, State, private, or federal correctional facility,
- (2) The person notifies the official in charge of the facility of their status as a person with a legal obligation or requirement under this Article and
- (3) The person meets the registration or verification requirements of this Article no later than 10 days after release from confinement or custody. (1995, c. 545, s. 1; 1997-516, s. 1; 2002-147, s. 20; 2006-247, ss. 8(a), 8(b).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 8(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, inserted "willfully" in the introductory paragraph of subsection (a), added "as required by this Article" at the end of subdivision (a)(1), added subdivisions (a)(7) and (a)(8); and added subsection (c); and, s. 8(b), effective June 1, 2007, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, added subdivision (a)(9).

CASE NOTES

This statute is facially constitutional as applied to a convicted sex offender from another jurisdiction, who subsequently moved to North Carolina, because such a defendant has actual notice of his or her lifelong duty to register as a result of his or her out-of-state conviction, which provides a reasonable individual to inquire of a duty to register in any state upon relocation. State v. Bryant, 359 N.C. 554, 614 S.E.2d 479, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 647 (2005).

Untimely Notice Did Not Mandate Dismissal of Charges. — Failure to inform defendant that he was required to register as a sex offender until five days prior to release from prison did not require dismissal of charge for failure to register; the late notice was not fatal as defendant was not prejudiced. State v. Harris, 171 N.C. App. 127, 613 S.E.2d 701, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1169 (2005).

Motion to Dismiss Properly Denied. — Denial of defendant's motion to dismiss a failure to register as a sex offender charge was proper as defendant's confession permitted the jury to infer that defendant had not lived at the registered address within 10 days of his arrest, and there was evidence that on June 2, 1998, defendant was released from a prison sentence imposed for taking indecent liberties with a child. *State v. - (2) Harbor, attempt to harbor, or assist another person in harboring or attempting to harbor, the offender.
- (3) Conceal, or attempt to conceal, or assist another person in concealing or attempting to conceal, the offender.

(4) Provide information to a law enforcement agency regarding the offender that the person knows to be false information.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

§ 14-208.12A. Request for termination of registration requirement.

(a) A person required to register under this Part may petition the superior court in the district where the person resides to terminate the registration requirement 10 years from the date of initial county registration if the person has not been convicted of a subsequent offense requiring registration under this Article.

(a1) The court may grant the relief if:

- (1) The petitioner demonstrates to the court that he or she has not been arrested for any crime that would require registration under this Article since completing the sentence,
- (2) The requested relief complies with the provisions of the federal Jacob Wetterling Act, as amended, and any other federal standards applicable to the termination of a registration requirement or required to be met as a condition for the receipt of federal funds by the State, and
- (3) The court is otherwise satisfied that the petitioner is not a current or potential threat to public safety.

(a2) The district attorney in the district in which the petition is filed shall be given notice of the petition at least three weeks before the hearing on the matter. The petitioner may present evidence in support of the petition and the district attorney may present evidence in opposition to the requested relief or may otherwise demonstrate the reasons why the petition should be denied.

(a3) If the court denies the petition, the person may again petition the court for relief in accordance with this section one year from the date of the denial of the original petition to terminate the registration requirement. If the court grants the petition to terminate the registration requirement, the clerk of court shall forward a certified copy of the order to the Division to have the person's name removed from the registry.

(b) If there is a subsequent offense, the county registration records shall be retained until the registration requirement for the subsequent offense is terminated by the court under subsection (a1) of this section. (1997-516, s. 1; 2006-247, s. 10(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 10(a), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to persons for whom the period of registration would terminate on or after that date, rewrote the section.

- (2) Enters into a written lease contract for the residence and for as long as the person is lawfully entitled to remain on the premises.

Part 5. Sex Offender Monitoring.

§ 14-208.40. Establishment of program; creation of guidelines; duties.

(a) The Department of Correction shall establish a sex offender monitoring program that uses a continuous satellite-based monitoring system and shall create guidelines to govern the program. The program shall be designed to monitor two categories of offenders as follows:

- (1) Any offender who is convicted of a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4) and who is required to register under Part 3 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes because the defendant is classified as a sexually violent predator, is a recidivist, or was convicted of an aggravated offense as those terms are defined in G.S. 14-208.6. An offender in this category who is ordered by the court to submit to satellite-based monitoring is subject to that requirement for the person's natural life, unless the requirement is terminated pursuant to G.S. 14-208.43.
- (2) Any offender who satisfies all of the following criteria: (i) is convicted of a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4), (ii) is required to register under Part 2 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, (iii) has committed an offense involving the physical, mental, or sexual abuse of a minor, and (iv) based on the Department's risk assessment program requires the highest possible level of supervision and monitoring. An offender in this category who is ordered by the court to submit to satellite-based monitoring is subject to that requirement only for the period of time ordered by the court and is not subject to a requirement of lifetime satellite-based monitoring.

(b) In developing the guidelines for the program, the Department shall require that any offender who is enrolled in the satellite-based program submit to an active continuous satellite-based monitoring program, unless an active program will not work as provided by this section. If the Department determines that an active program will not work as provided by this section, then the Department shall require that the defendant submit to a passive continuous satellite-based program that works within the technological or geographical limitations.

(c) The satellite-based monitoring program shall use a system that provides all of the following:

- (1) Time-correlated and continuous tracking of the geographic location of the subject using a global positioning system based on satellite and other location tracking technology.
- (2) Reporting of subject's violations of prescriptive and proscriptive schedule or location requirements. Frequency of reporting may range from once a day (passive) to near real-time (active).

(d) The Department may contract with a single vendor for the hardware services needed to monitor subject offenders and correlate their movements to reported crime incidents. The contract may provide for services necessary to implement or facilitate any of the provisions of this Part. (2006-247, s. 15(a).)

Editor's Note. — This section was enacted as G.S. 14-208.33 by Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(a), and was recodified as this section at the direction of the Revisor of Statutes.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides:

"This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes.'"

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(j), provides: "The Department of Correction shall have the program enacted by subsection (a) of this section established by January 1, 2007.”

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(l), provides: “Unless otherwise provided in the section, this section is effective when it becomes law [August 16, 2006] and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole. However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established.”

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 16, provides: “The Department of Correction shall either issue an RFP prior to signing a contract, or with prior approval by the State Chief Information Officer or his designee, enter into a contract through an approved contracting alliance or consortium for a passive and active Global Positioning System. The system shall be for use as an intermediate sanction and to help supervise certain sex offenders who are placed on probation, parole, or post-release supervision. If an RFP is issued, the contract shall be awarded by October 1, 2006 for contract terms to begin January 1, 2007. The Department of Correction shall report by November 1, 2006 to the Chairs of the House of Representatives and Senate Appropriations Committees and the Chairs of the House of Representatives and Senate Appropriations Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety on the details of the awarded contract.”

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 17, provides: “No later than January 1, 2007, the Department of Correction shall develop a graduated risk assessment program that identifies, assesses, and closely monitors a high-risk sex offender who, while not classified as a sexually violent predator, a recidivist, or convicted of an aggravated offense as those terms are defined in G.S. 14-208.6, may still require extraordinary supervision and may be placed on probation, parole, or post-release supervision only on the conditions provided in G.S. 15A-1343(b2) or G.S. 15A-1368.4(b1).”

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

§ 14-208.41. Enrollment in satellite-based monitoring programs mandatory; length of enrollment.

(a) Any person described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1) shall enroll in a satellite-based monitoring program with the Division of Community Corrections office in the county where the person resides. The person shall remain enrolled in the satellite-based monitoring program for the registration period imposed under G.S. 14-208.23 which is the person’s life, unless the requirement to enroll in the satellite-based monitoring program is terminated pursuant to G.S. 14-208.42.

ment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, when the court sentences an offender who is in the category described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1) for a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4), and orders the offender to enroll in a satellite-based monitoring program, the court shall also order that the offender, upon completion of the offender's sentence and any term of parole, post-release supervision, intermediate punishment, or supervised probation that follows the sentence, continue to be enrolled in the satellite-based monitoring program for the offender's life and be placed on unsupervised probation unless the requirement that the person enroll in a satellite-based monitoring program is terminated pursuant to G.S. 14-208.43. The request to terminate the satellite-based monitoring requirement and to terminate the accompanying requirement of unsupervised probation may not be submitted until at least one year after the offender: (i) has served his or her sentence for the offense for which the satellite-based monitoring requirement was imposed, and (ii) has also completed any period of probation, parole, or post-release supervision imposed as part of the sentence.

(b) Upon receipt of the request for termination, the Commission shall review documentation contained in the offender's file and the statewide registry to determine whether the person has complied with the provisions of this Article. In addition, the Commission shall conduct fingerprint-based state and federal criminal history record checks to determine whether the person has been convicted of any additional reportable convictions.

(c) If it is determined that the person has not received any additional reportable convictions during the period of satellite-based monitoring and the person has substantially complied with the provisions of this Article, the Commission may terminate the monitoring requirement if the Commission finds that the person is not likely to pose a threat to the safety of others.

(d) If it is determined that the person has received any additional reportable convictions during the period of satellite-based monitoring or has not substantially complied with the provisions of this Article, the Commission shall not order the termination of the monitoring requirement.

However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established."

§ 14-208.45. Fees.

(a) There shall be a one-time fee of ninety dollars ($90.00) assessed to each person required to enroll pursuant to this Part. The court may exempt a person from paying the fee only for good cause and upon motion of the person placed on satellite-based monitoring. The court may require that the fee be paid in advance or in a lump sum or sums, and a probation officer may require payment by those methods if the officer is authorized by subsection (c) of this section to determine the payment schedule. This fee is intended to offset only the costs associated with the time-correlated tracking of the geographic location of subjects using the location tracking crime correlation system.

(b) The fee shall be payable to the clerk of superior court, and the fees shall be remitted quarterly to the Department of Correction.

(c) If a person placed on supervised probation, parole, or post-release supervision is required as a condition of that probation, parole, or post-release supervision to pay any moneys to the clerk of superior court, the court may delegate to a probation officer the responsibility to determine the payment schedule. (2006-247, s. 15(a).)

ment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole. However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established.”

SUBCHAPTER VIII. OFFENSES AGAINST PUBLIC JUSTICE.

ARTICLE 30.

Obstructing Justice.

§ 14-223. Resisting officers.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Nature and Evidence of Offense.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Cited in State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

II. NATURE AND EVIDENCE OF OFFENSE.

Evidence Sufficient to Withstand Dismissal. —

Facts of the case, when viewed in the light most favorable to the State, supported the inference that the officer was discharging official duties by observing defendant, telling defendant to remain in the vehicle, and asking to search defendant after defendant reluctantly answered that defendant did not have any weapons; this evidence was sufficiently substantial to survive defendant’s motion to dismiss the resisting an officer charge. State v. Shearin, 170 N.C. App. 222, 612 S.E.2d 371, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1002 (2005), appeal dismissed, cert. denied, — N.C. —, 624 S.E.2d 369 (2005).

§ 14-226. Intimidating or interfering with witnesses.

(a) If any person shall by threats, menaces or in any other manner intimidate or attempt to intimidate any person who is summoned or acting as a witness in any of the courts of this State, or prevent or deter, or attempt to prevent or deter any person summoned or acting as such witness from attendance upon such court, he shall be guilty of a Class H felony.

(b) A defendant in a criminal proceeding who threatens a witness in the defendant’s case with the assertion or denial of parental rights shall be in violation of this section. (1891, c. 87; Rev., s. 3696; C.S., s. 4380; 1977, c. 711, s. 16; 1993, c. 539, s. 1212; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 2004-128, s. 15; 2006-264, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. —
Session Laws 2006-264, s. 2, effective August 27, 2006, substituted “in violation” for “a violation” in subsection (b).

CASE NOTES

Evidence Sufficient. — Sufficient evidence existed to establish that juvenile attempted to intimate a witness in violation of G.S. 14-226, after a court counselor witnessed the juvenile mouth the words, “I’m going to kick your ass,” while in court at his adjudication hearing after the witness testified against the juvenile with regard to breaking and entering and trespass charges. In re R.D.R., — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 341, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 52 (2006).

§ 14-226.2. Harassment of participant in neighborhood crime watch program.

Any person who willfully threatens or intimidates an identifiable member or a resident in the same household as the member of a neighborhood crime watch program for the purpose of intimidating or retaliating against that person for the person's participation in a neighborhood crime watch program is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor including a fine of at least three hundred dollars ($300.00). It is a violation of this section for a person to threaten or intimidate an identifiable member or a resident in the same household as the member of a neighborhood crime watch program while that member is traveling to or from a neighborhood crime watch meeting, actively participating in a neighborhood crime watch program activity, or actively participating in an ongoing criminal investigation. (2006-181, s. 3.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-181, s. 4 makes this section effective December 1, 2006.

A public officer is also involved in making a contract if the board, commission, or other body of which he or she is a member takes action on the contract, whether or not the public officer actually participates in that action, unless the contract

- (b1) No public officer who will derive a direct benefit from a contract entered into under subsection (b) of this section may deliberate or vote on the contract or attempt to influence any other person who is involved in making or administering the contract.

mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse board serving one or more counties within which there is located no village, town, or city with a population of more than 15,000 according to the most recent official federal census, and (vi) any member of the board of directors of a public hospital if all of the following apply:

- (1) The undertaking or contract or series of undertakings or contracts between the village, town, city, county, county social services board, county or city board of education, local health board or area mental health, developmental disabilities, and substance abuse board, or public hospital and one of its officials is approved by specific resolution of the governing body adopted in an open and public meeting, and recorded in its minutes and the amount does not exceed twelve thousand five hundred dollars ($12,500) for medically related services and twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000) for other goods or services within a 12-month period.
- (2) The official entering into the contract with the unit or agency does not participate in any way or vote.

(d4) Subsection (a) of this section does not apply to an application for, or the receipt of a grant or other financial assistance from, the Tobacco Trust Fund created under Article 75 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes by a member of the Tobacco Trust Fund Commission or an entity in which a member of the Commission has an interest provided that the requirements of G.S. 143-717(h) are met.

Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1995, c. 519, s. 4; 2000-147, s. 6; 2001-409, s. 1; 2001-487, ss. 44(a), 44(b), 45; 2002-159, s. 28; 2006-78, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-78, s. 2, effective July 10, 2006, substituted “Part 9 of Article 21 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes or the Community Conservation Assistance Program created pursuant to Part 11 of Article 21 of Chapter 143 of the General Statutes” for “G.S. 143-215.74” in subsection (d3).

ARTICLE 33.

Prison Breach and Prisoners.

§ 14-256. Prison breach and escape from county or municipal confinement facilities or officers.

CASE NOTES

Deputy of Officer of “Such Jail.” — Deputy’s testimony he placed defendant in the Alamance County jail before and after defendant’s hearing led to the conclusion that the deputy was an officer of “such jail,” within the meaning of G.S. 14-256, and thus there was sufficient evidence to support defendant’s conviction for felonious escape from local jail. State v. Farrar, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 48, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1345 (2006).

§ 14-258.2. Possession of dangerous weapon in prison.

CASE NOTES

Cited in State v. Dent, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2491 (2005).

§ 14-258.3. Taking of hostage, etc., by prisoner.

CASE NOTES

Cited in State v. Dent, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2491 (2005).

§ 14-258.4. Malicious conduct by prisoner.

CASE NOTES

In Custody. — Since no conclusion could be reached by reading the indictment other than that defendant was in custody at the time he allegedly committed malicious conduct by a prisoner, the trial court had jurisdiction over his case, as the State adequately alleged the offense such that defendant was notified of the offense against which he was called to defend.

State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

Evidence. — In a case involving felony malicious conduct by a prisoner, evidence regarding the treatment required for spitting when it went into an open wound, eyes, or mouth, even if erroneously admitted, did not constitute a prejudicial error. State v. Crouse, 169 N.C. App. 382, 610 S.E.2d 454, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 691 (2005).

Lesser Included Offense. —

Misdemeanor assault on a government official is not a lesser included offense of felony malicious conduct by a prisoner; therefore, defendant was not entitled to such a jury instruction in a case where defendant spat in an officer's face. State v. Crouse, 169 N.C. App.

382, 610 S.E.2d 454, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 691 (2005).

Willful and Knowing Conduct. — In a case involving felony malicious conduct by a prisoner, a motion to dismiss was properly denied because a jury could have inferred that defendant's act of spitting in an officer's face was knowing and willful; despite evidence that defendant was in a stupor, there was ample evidence that defendant had motor skill control because defendant expressed dissatisfaction with the officer, ran down the street, and collected saliva in her mouth prior to spitting. State v. Crouse, 169 N.C. App. 382, 610 S.E.2d 454, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 691 (2005).

Cited in State v. Dent, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2491 (2005).

- (5) Sworn law-enforcement officers, when off-duty, provided that an officer does not carry a concealed weapon while consuming alcohol or an unlawful controlled substance or while alcohol or an unlawful controlled substance remains in the officer's body.

(b1) It is a defense to a prosecution under this section that:

- (1) The weapon was not a firearm;

- (2) The defendant was engaged in, or on the way to or from, an activity in which he legitimately used the weapon;
- (3) The defendant possessed the weapon for that legitimate use; and
- (4) The defendant did not use or attempt to use the weapon for an illegal purpose.

The burden of proving this defense is on the defendant.

(c) Any person violating the provisions of subsection (a) of this section shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor. Any person violating the provisions of subsection (a1) of this section shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor for the first offense. A second or subsequent offense is punishable as a Class I felony.

(d) This section does not apply to an ordinary pocket knife carried in a closed position. As used in this section, "ordinary pocket knife" means a small knife, designed for carrying in a pocket or purse, that has its cutting edge and point entirely enclosed by its handle, and that may not be opened by a throwing, explosive, or spring action. (Code, s. 1005; Rev., s. 3708; 1917, c. 76; 1919, c. 197, s. 8; C.S., s. 4410; 1923, c. 57; Ex. #### CASE NOTES

Forest Ranger. — Negligence complaints against the Division of Forest Resources, alleging negligence in failing to extinguish a forest fire which caused smoke and fog to obscure the the forest ranger failed to detect and prevent misconduct of others through improper inspections. Myers v. McGrady, 170 N.C. App. 501, 613 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1087 (2005).

Lotteries, Gaming, Bingo and Raffles.

Part 1. Lotteries and Gaming.

§ 14-289. Advertising lotteries.

CASE NOTES

Illegal Lottery Not Shown. — Trial court properly found that sale of a corporation's prepaid phone cards with game pieces was not an illegal lottery where the inclusion of game pieces was merely a marketing system, the phone card was sufficiently compatible with the price being charged and had sufficient value and utility to support the conclusion that it, and not the associated game of chance, was the object being purchased, and consumers could receive free game pieces without purchasing the phone card via written request. Am. Treasures, Inc. v. State, 173 N.C. App. 170, 617 S.E.2d 346, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1928 (2005).

For the purpose of this section, a video gaming machine is a video machine which requires deposit of any coin, token, or use of any credit card, debit card, or any other method that requires payment to activate play of any of the games listed in this subsection. The enumeration of games in the list in this subsection does not authorize the possession or operation of such game if it is otherwise prohibited by law.

For the purpose of this section, a video gaming machine includes those that are within the scope of the exclusion provided in G.S. 14-306(b)(2), but does not include those that are within the scope of the exclusion provided in G.S. 14-306(b)(1).

Upon request of the Sheriff of the county, the Department of Revenue shall forward a copy of the report to the Sheriff of the county where the machines are located. Session-Laws 2006-6, s. 12, provides, in part: “Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective dates in this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions. If a final Order by a court of competent jurisdiction prohibits possession or operation of video gaming machines by a federally recognized Indian tribe because that activity is not allowed elsewhere in this State, this act is void.”

To qualify for an exemption under this subsection, the machines must be disabled and not operable, unless the machines are located on Indian land where they may be lawfully operated under a Tribal-State Compact.

(d) Ban on Warehousing. — It is unlawful to warehouse any video gaming machine except in conjunction with the activities permitted under subsection (c) of this section.

(e) Exemption for Activities Under IGRA. — Notwithstanding any other prohibitions in State law, the form of Class III gaming otherwise prohibited by subsections (a) through (d) of this section may be legally conducted on Indian lands which are held in trust by the United States government for and on behalf of federally recognized Indian tribes if conducted in accordance with an approved Class III Tribal-State Gaming Compact applicable to that tribe as provided in G.S. 147-12(14) and G.S. 71A-8.

(f) Machines described in G.S. 14-306(b)(1) are excluded from this section. (2006-6, s. 4; 2006-259, s. 6.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-6, s. 12, makes this section effective July 1, 2007, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date.

Session Laws 2006-6, s. 12, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective dates in this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions. If a final Order by a court of competent jurisdiction prohibits possession or operation of video gaming machines by a federally recognized Indian tribe because that activity is not allowed elsewhere in this State, this act is void."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-259, s. 6, effective August 23, 2006, added subsection (f).

§ 14-306.2. (Effective July 1, 2007) Violation of G.S. 14-306.1A a violation of the ABC laws.

Violation of G.S. 14-306.1A is a violation of the gambling statutes for the purposes of G.S. 18B-1005(a)(3). (2000-151, s. 2.; 2006-6, s. 5.)

Section Set Out Twice. — The section above is effective July 1, 2007. For the section as in effect until July 1, 2007, see the main volume.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-6, s. 12, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective dates in this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions. If a final Order by a court of competent jurisdiction prohibits possession or operation of video gaming machines by a federally recognized Indian tribe because that activity is not allowed elsewhere in this State, this act is void."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-6, s. 5, effective July 1, 2007, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, substituted "G.S. 14-306.1A" for "G.S. 14-306.1."

§ 14-309. (Effective July 1, 2007) Violation made criminal.

(a) Any person who violates any provision of G.S. 14-304 through 14-309 is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor for the first offense, and is guilty of a Class H felony for a second offense and a Class G felony for a third or subsequent offense.

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a) of this section, any person violating the provisions of G.S. 14-306.1A involving the operation of five or more machines prohibited by that section is guilty of a Class G felony. ( 1937, c. 196, s. 6; 1993, c. 366, s. 3, c. 539, s. 211; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 14, s. 9(a), (b); 2000-151, s. 3.; 2006-6, s. 11.)

Section Set Out Twice. — The section above is effective July 1, 2007. For the section as in effect until July 1, 2007, see the main volume.

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-6, s. 12, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective dates in this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions. If a final Order by a court of competent jurisdiction prohibits possession or operation of video gaming machines by a federally recognized Indian tribe because that activity is not allowed elsewhere in this State, this act is void."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-6, s. 11, effective July 1, 2007, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, in subsection (a), substituted "Class H felony" for "Class I felony" and "Class G felony" for "Class H felony"; and substituted "G.S. 14-306.1A" for "G.S. 14-306.1" in subsection (b).

Part 2. Bingo and Raffles.

§ 14-309.15. Raffles.

(a) It is lawful for any nonprofit organization or association, recognized by the Department of Revenue as tax-exempt pursuant to G.S. 105-130.11(a), and for any government entity within the State, to conduct raffles in accordance with this section. Any person who conducts a raffle in violation of any provision of this section shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor. Upon conviction that person shall not conduct a raffle for a period of one year. It is lawful to participate in a raffle conducted pursuant to this section. It shall not constitute a violation of State law to advertise a raffle conducted in accordance with this section. A raffle conducted pursuant to this section is not "gambling".

(b) For purposes of this section "raffle" means a game in which the prize is won by random drawing of the name or number of one or more persons purchasing chances.

(c) Raffles shall be limited to two per nonprofit organization per year.

(d) The maximum cash prize that may be offered or paid for any one raffle is fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) and if merchandise is used as a prize, and it is not redeemable for cash, the maximum fair market value of that prize may be fifty thousand dollars ($50,000). No real property may be offered as a prize in a raffle. The total cash prizes offered or paid by any nonprofit organization or association may not exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) in any calendar year. The total fair market value of all prizes offered by any nonprofit organization or association, either in cash or in merchandise that is not redeemable for cash, may not exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) in any calendar year.

(e) Raffles shall not be conducted in conjunction with bingo.

(f) As used in this subsection, "net proceeds of a raffle" means the receipts less the cost of prizes awarded. No less than ninety percent (90%) of the net proceeds of a raffle shall be used by the nonprofit organization or association for charitable, religious, educational, civic, or other nonprofit purposes. None of the net proceeds of the raffle may be used to pay any person to conduct the raffle, or to rent a building where the tickets are received or sold or the drawing is conducted. (1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1107, s. 11; 1993, c. 219, s. 1; c. 539, s. 215; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1997-10, s. 1; 2005-276, s. 17.31; 2005-345, s. 31; 2006-264, s. 3(a).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 1993, c. 219, which amended this section, in s. 2 provides that for purposes of the act, government entities within the State of North Carolina shall be considered nonprofit as defined in G.S. 105-130.11(a). Session Laws 2006-264, s. 3(b) repealed Session Laws 1993, c. 219, s. 2, effective August 27, 2006.

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 3(a), effective August 27, 2006, inserted "and for any government entity within the State" in the first sentence of subsection (a).

ARTICLE 39.

Protection of Minors.

§ 14-318.4. Child abuse a felony.

CASE NOTES

Failure to Instruct Regarding “Serious Bodily Injury.” — Because a trial court failed to instruct the jury regarding “serious bodily injury” as alleged in the indictment, it was error to sentence defendant for felonious child abuse inflicting serious bodily injury because the jury was only instructed on the lesser offense of felony child abuse inflicting serious physical injury. State v. Locklear, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 516, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1641 (2006).

ARTICLE 47.

§ 14-362.2. Dog fighting and baiting.

(a) A person who instigates, promotes, conducts, is employed at, provides a dog for, allows property under the person’s ownership or control to be used for, gambles on, or profits from an exhibition featuring the baiting of a dog or the fighting of a dog with another dog or with another animal is guilty of a Class H felony. A lease of property that is used or is intended to be used for an exhibition featuring the baiting of a dog or the fighting of a dog with another dog or with another animal is void, and a lessor who knows this use is made or is intended to be made of the lessor’s property is under a duty to evict the lessee immediately.

(b) A person who owns, possesses, or trains a dog with the intent that the dog be used in an exhibition featuring the baiting of that dog or the fighting of that dog with another dog or with another animal is guilty of a Class H felony.

(c) A person who participates as a spectator at an exhibition featuring the baiting of a dog or the fighting of a dog with another dog or with another animal is guilty of a Class H felony.

(d) This section does not prohibit the use of dogs in the lawful taking of animals under the jurisdiction and regulation of the Wildlife Resources Commission. (1997-78, s. 1; 2006-113, s. 3.1; 2006-259, s. 37.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-113, s. 3.1, as amended by Session Laws 2006-259, s. 37, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, throughout the section, deleted the language “fighting or” preceding “baiting” and added the language “or the fighting of a dog with another dog or with another animal”; in subsection (a) substituted “the person’s” for “his” in the first sentence and “the lessor’s” for “his” in the second sentence; and added subsection (d).

§ 14-401.14. Ethnic intimidation; teaching any technique to be used for ethnic intimidation.

CASE NOTES

Evidence Sufficient for Conviction. — Trial court did not err in denying a juvenile’s motion to dismiss a charge that he committed a violation of North Carolina’s Ethnic Intimidation Statute, G.S. 14-401.14 at the close of all the evidence, as the State presented sufficient evidence that he: (1) sent an E-mail to the African-American victim, which contained racial slurs and was signed “KKK,” and directly communicated an intent to harm her; and (2) testified that he sent the E-mail to the victim in protest of her alleged differing treatment against him as compared with others who were African-American. Thus, the State met its burden in showing that the E-mail was sent to the victim for racially motivated reasons. In re B.C.D., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 617, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1073 (2006).

ARTICLE 52A.

Sale of Weapons in Certain Counties.

§ 14-404. Issuance or refusal of permit; appeal from refusal; grounds for refusal; sheriff’s fee.

(a) Upon application, the sheriff shall issue the license or permit to a resident of that county, unless the purpose of the permit is for collecting, in which case a sheriff can issue a permit to a nonresident, when the sheriff has done all of the following:

- (1) Verified, before the issuance of a permit, by a criminal history background investigation that it is not a violation of State or federal law for the applicant to purchase, transfer, receive, or possess a handgun. The sheriff shall determine the criminal and background history of any applicant by accessing computerized criminal history records as maintained by the State Bureau of Investigation and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, by conducting a national criminal history records check, by conducting a check through the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS), and by conducting a criminal history check through the Administrative Office of the Courts.
- (2) Fully satisfied himself or herself by affidavits, oral evidence, or otherwise, as to the good moral character of the applicant.
- (3) Fully satisfied himself or herself that the applicant desires the possession of the weapon mentioned for (i) the protection of the home, business, person, family or property, (ii) target shooting, (iii) collecting, or (iv) hunting.

(b) If the sheriff is not fully satisfied, the sheriff may, for good cause shown, decline to issue the license or permit and shall provide to the applicant within seven days of the refusal a written statement of the reason(s) for the refusal. An appeal from the refusal shall lie by way of petition to the chief judge of the district court for the district in which the application was filed. The determination by the court, on appeal, shall be upon the facts, the law, and the reasonableness of the sheriff’s refusal, and shall be final.

(c) A permit may not be issued to the following persons:

- (1) One who is under an indictment or information for or has been convicted in any state, or in any court of the United States, of a felony (other than an offense pertaining to antitrust violations, unfair trade practices, or restraints of trade). However, a person who has been convicted of a felony in a court of any state or in a court of the United States and who is later pardoned may obtain a permit, if the purchase or receipt of a pistol or crossbow permitted in this Article does not violate a condition of the pardon.
- (2) One who is a fugitive from justice.
- (3) One who is an unlawful user of or addicted to marijuana or any depressant, stimulant, or narcotic drug (as defined in 21 U.S.C. section 802).

- (4) One who has been adjudicated mentally incompetent or has been committed to any mental institution.
- (5) One who is an alien illegally or unlawfully in the United States.
- (6) One who has been discharged from the armed forces under dishonorable conditions.
- (7) One who, having been a citizen of the United States, has renounced his or her citizenship.
- (8) One who is subject to a court order that:
  - a. Was issued after a hearing of which the person received actual notice, and at which the person had an opportunity to participate;
  - b. Restrains the person from harassing, stalking, or threatening an intimate partner of the person or child of the intimate partner of the person, or engaging in other conduct that would place an intimate partner in reasonable fear of bodily injury to the partner or child; and
  - c. Includes a finding that the person represents a credible threat to the physical safety of the intimate partner or child; or by its terms explicitly prohibits the use, attempted use, or threatened use of physical force against the intimate partner or child that would reasonably be expected to cause bodily injury.

(d) Nothing in this Article shall apply to officers authorized by law to carry firearms if the officers identify themselves to the vendor or donor as being officers authorized by law to carry firearms and state that the purpose for the purchase of the firearms is directly related to the law officers' official duties.

(e) The sheriff shall charge for the sheriff's services upon issuing the license or permit a fee of five dollars ($5.00).

(f) Each applicant for a license or permit shall be informed by the sheriff within 30 days of the date of the application whether the license or permit will be granted or denied and, if granted, the license or permit shall be immediately issued to the applicant. (1919, c. 197, s. 3; C.S., s. 5108; 1959, c. 1073, s. 2; 1969, c. 73; 1981 (Reg. Sess., 1982), c. 1395, s. 1; 1987, c. 518, s. 1; 1995, c. 487, s. 2; 2006-39, s. 1; 2006-264, s. 4.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-39, s. 1, as amended by Session Laws 2006-264, s. 4, effective June 30, 2006, made minor stylistic changes in subsection (a); in subdivision (a)(1), substituted "Verified, before the issuance of a permit" for "Verified" in the first sentence, added "and background" following "The sheriff shall determine the criminal" and inserted "by conducting a check through the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS)" in the last sentence.

§ 14-407.1. Sale of blank cartridge pistols.

The provisions of G.S. 14-402, 14-405, and 14-406 shall apply to the sale of pistols suitable for firing blank cartridges. The sheriffs of all the counties of this State are authorized and may in their discretion issue to any person, firm or corporation, in any such county, a license or permit to purchase or receive any pistol suitable for firing blank cartridges from any person, firm or corporation offering to sell or dispose of the same, which said permit shall be in substantially the following form:

North Carolina

_____ County

I, _____, sheriff of said county, do hereby certify that _____, whose place of residence is _____ Street in _____ (or) in _____ Township in _____

County, North Carolina, having this day satisfied me that the possession of a pistol suitable for firing blank cartridges will be used only for lawful purposes, a permit is therefore given said _____ to purchase said pistol from any person, firm or corporation authorized to dispose of the same, this _____ day of _____, _____.

_____
Sheriff

The sheriff shall charge for the sheriff's services, upon issuing such permit, a fee of fifty cents (50¢). (1959, c. 1068; 1999-456, s. 59; 2006-264, s. 5.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-264, s. 5, effective August 27, 2006, in the introductory paragraph, substituted "G.S. 14-402, 14-405, and 14-406" for "G.S. 14-402 and 14-405 to 14-407" in the first sentence and

"sheriffs" for "clerks of the superior courts" in the second sentence; substituted "sheriff" for "Clerk of the Superior Court" twice in the form; and substituted "sheriff" for "clerk" and "the sheriff's" for "his" in the last paragraph.

Other Firearms.

§ 14-409.11. "Antique firearm" defined.

(a) The term "antique firearm" means any of the following:

- (1) Any firearm (including any firearm with a matchlock, flintlock, percussion cap, or similar type of ignition system) manufactured on or before 1898.
- (2) Any replica of any firearm described in subdivision (1) of this subsection if the replica is not designed or redesigned for using rimfire or conventional centerfire fixed ammunition.
- (3) Any muzzle loading rifle, muzzle loading shotgun, or muzzle loading pistol, which is designed to use black powder substitute, and which cannot use fixed ammunition.

(b) For purposes of this section, the term "antique firearm" shall not include any weapon which:

- (1) Incorporates a firearm frame or receiver.
- (2) Is converted into a muzzle loading weapon.
- (3) Is a muzzle loading weapon that can be readily converted to fire fixed ammunition by replacing the barrel, bolt, breechblock, or any combination thereof. (1969, c. 101, s. 2; 2006-259, s. 7(a).)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-259, s. 7(a), effective August 23, 2006, rewrote the section.

ARTICLE 54A.

*The Felony Firearms Act.§ 14-415.1. Possession of firearms, etc., by felon prohibited.

(a) It shall be unlawful for any person who has been convicted of a felony to purchase, own, possess, or have in his custody, care, or control any firearm or any weapon of mass death and destruction as defined in G.S. 14-288.8(c). For the purposes of this section, a firearm is (i) any weapon, including a starter gun, which will or is designed to or may readily be converted to expel a projectile by the action of an explosive, or its frame or receiver, or (ii) any firearm muffler or firearm silencer. This section does not apply to an antique firearm, as defined in G.S. 14-409.11.

Every person violating the provisions of this section shall be punished as a Class G felon.

(b) Prior convictions which cause disentitlement under this section shall only include:

- (1) Felony convictions in North Carolina that occur before, on, or after December 1, 1995; and
- (2) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 487, s. 3, effective December 1, 1995.
- (3) Violations of criminal laws of other states or of the United States that occur before, on, or after December 1, 1995, and that are substantially similar to the crimes covered in subdivision (1) which are punishable where committed by imprisonment for a term exceeding one year.

When a person is charged under this section, records of prior convictions of any offense, whether in the courts of this State, or in the courts of any other state or of the United States, shall be admissible in evidence for the purpose of proving a violation of this section. The term "conviction" is defined as a final judgment in any case in which felony punishment, or imprisonment for a term exceeding one year, as the case may be, is permissible, without regard to the plea entered or to the sentence imposed. A judgment of a conviction of the defendant or a plea of guilty by the defendant to such an offense certified to a superior court of this State from the custodian of records of any state or federal court shall be prima facie evidence of the facts so certified.

(c) The indictment charging the defendant under the terms of this section shall be separate from any indictment charging him with other offenses related to or giving rise to a charge under this section. An indictment which charges the person with violation of this section must set forth the date that the prior offense was committed, the type of offense and the penalty therefor, and the date that the defendant was convicted or plead guilty to such offense, the identity of the court in which the conviction or plea of guilty took place and the verdict and judgment rendered therein. (1971, c. 954, s. 1; 1973, c. 1196; 1975, c. 870, ss. 1, 2; 1977, c. 1105, ss. 1, 2; 1979, c. 760, s. 5; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1316, s. 47; 1981, c. 63, s. 1; c. 179, s. 14; 1989, c. 770, s. 3; 1993, c. 539, s. 1245; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 1995, c. 487, s. 3; c. 507, s. 19.5(k); 2004-186, s. 14.1; 2006-259, s. 7(b).)

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-259, s. 7(b), effective August 23, 2006, added the last sentence of the first paragraph of subsection (a).

CASE NOTES*Constitutionality. —

By possessing a firearm, defendant committed a fresh violation of G.S. 14-288.8(c), and defendant's punishment for that new crime could not reasonably be said to re-punish the earlier offense; rather, it only punished the new violation, and accordingly the mere reliance on the earlier conviction to establish that defendant was a recidivist for sentencing purposes did not implicate double jeopardy concerns. State v. Crump, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 233, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1671 (2006).

Amendment of Statute in 1995 and Application to Ex-Felons Did Not Violate Ex Post Facto. — Application of G.S. 14-415.1 to convict defendant, who was convicted of a felony in 1983 and had fully served his sentence on that conviction when he was found in possession of a handgun in 2001, did not violate ex post facto where the statute was amended in 1995 and applied to all occurrences after that date; ex post facto was also not violated since defendant's 1983 conviction, which was the predicate felony for his conviction under G.S. 14-415.1, was a felony in 1983, was a felony in 1995 when the statute was amended, and was a felony in 2001 when defendant was found in possession of a handgun; finally, the amendment to G.S. 14-415.1 in 1995 did not increase the punishment for defendant's prior 1983 felony, but created a new offense, so ex post facto was also not violated on that ground. State v. Johnson, 169 N.C. App. 301, 610 S.E.2d 739, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 612 (2005).

Amendments to Statutes Criminalizing Possession of Guns by Ex-Felons Are Not Bills of Attainder. — Application of G.S. 14-415.1 to convict defendant, who was convicted of a felony in 1983 and had fully served his sentence on that conviction when he was found in possession of a handgun in 2001, did not violate prohibitions against bills of attainder, or against bills of pain and penalties, since the statute's prohibition of possession of handguns by convicted felons outside their homes or businesses was not enacted as a retroactive punishment, was not historically regarded as punishment, and was not imposed without judicial process; defendant had a trial before being convicted under the statute; defendant was not punished for belonging to a designated class of people, but was convicted for violating a statute that was validly imposed on the group to which he belonged, so there was no violation of the bill of attainder provisions in U.S. Const. art. I, § 10 and N.C. Const. art. I, § 16. State v. Johnson, 169 N.C. App. 301, 610 S.E.2d 739, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 612 (2005).

Ex-Felon's Right to Possess Guns Not a Vested Right and Was Properly Restricted to Home and Business. — Since a convicted felon's re-acquired right to bear arms was subject to regulation and was not completely abridged by a subsequent amendment to G.S. 14-415.1, which prohibited the ex-felon from possessing handguns outside his home or business, and since the regulation was reasonably related to further securing the public's safety, there was no interference with any vested right when the statute was amended to include the ex-felon; he was properly convicted and sentenced for violating the statute without any violation of his right to due process. State v. Johnson, 169 N.C. App. 301, 610 S.E.2d 739, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 612 (2005).

Sawed-Off Shotguns. —

State's decision to allege defendant's possession of a handgun required that it produce such evidence at trial, as the category of weapon was an essential element of G.S. 14-415.1(a); as the state failed to do so, there was a fatal variance between the indictment and the evidence, and the state's proof at trial was instead of a specific category of firearm, a sawed-off shotgun. State v. Langley, 173 N.C. App. 194, 618 S.E.2d 253, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1920 (2005).

Indictment Upheld. —

Omission of the date of defendant's prior conviction of breaking and entering a motor vehicle was not material, did not affect a substantial right relating to defendant's charge of possession of firearm by a convicted felon, and was not fatal to jurisdiction. State v. Inman, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 306, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2480 (2005).

Evidence Was Sufficient to Find Constructive Possession. —

Instruction that the jury could have inferred defendant's constructive possession of a gun based on his control over the area where it was found, between his leg and the inner console of the vehicle he was driving, was proper. State v. Inman, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 306, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2480 (2005).

The State Bureau of Investigation shall submit the fingerprints to the Federal Bureau of Investigation as necessary. The sheriff shall determine the criminal and background history of an applicant also by conducting a check through the National Instant Criminal Background Check System (NICS). The cost of processing the set of fingerprints shall be charged to an applicant as provided by G.S. 14-415.19. (1995, c. 398, s. 1; c. 507, ss. 22.2(a), 22.1(b); 2006-39, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-39, s. 2, effective June 30, 2006, added the next-to-last sentence in subsection (b).

Indictment Sufficient. — Where indictment charged defendant with all of the essential elements of the crime of damaging computers, it was not fatally flawed; the indictment alleged that defendant unlawfully and without consent entered a computer system for the purpose of damaging files and caused a loss. *State v. #### Indictment.

§ 15-144. Essentials of bill for homicide.

CASE NOTES

Short-Form Murder Indictment Complied with Statutory Requirements. —

Appeals court upheld the use of a short form murder indictment under G.S. 15-144 which stated that: The jurors for North Carolina upon their oath present that on or about the (the date was stated) in (the county was stated). (the defendant's name was stated) did unlawfully, wilfully, and feloniously and of malice aforethought kill and murder (the victim's name was stated). State v. McClain, 169 N.C. App. 657, 610 S.E.2d 783, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 804 (2005).

Short-form indictment in the capital murder case met the requirements of G.S. 15-144. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Defendant's attempt to have conviction for attempted first-degree murder vacated based on his claim that the use of a short-form indictment for the crime of attempted murder was not authorized in North Carolina was without merit; G.S. 15-144, when construed with G.S. 15-170, authorized use of a short-form indictment to charge attempted first-degree murder, and the indictment sufficiently alleged the offense of attempted first-degree murder using the statutory language. State v. McVay, 174 N.C. App. 335, 620 S.E.2d 883, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2402 (2005).

Defendant had no right to a reversal in his murder trial, despite his claim that the indictment was insufficient for staying only that he violated G.S. 14-17. The indictment the requirements of G.S. 15-144. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Offenses Which Indictment Will Support. —

G.S. 15-144, when construed alongside N.C. G.S. 15-170, implicitly authorizes the State to utilize a short-form indictment to charge attempted first-degree murder; when drafting such a indictment, it is sufficient for statutory purposes for the State to allege that the accused person feloniously, willfully, and of his malice aforethought, did (attempt to) kill and murder the named victim. State v. Jones, 359 N.C. 832, 616 S.E.2d 496, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 845 (2005).

Use of Short-Form Indictment Insufficient to Charge Attempted Murder. — The application of G.S. 15-144 to indictments for attempted murder goes beyond the plain language of the statute, and absent statutory authority for a short-form indictment, the State must allege all essential elements of the crime charged; nothing in G.S. 15-153 or G.S. 15-155, which dealt with certain informalities and defects that did not vitiate a warrant or indictment, dispensed with the requirement that the essential elements of the offense had to be charged. State v. Watkins, 169 N.C. App. 518, 610 S.E.2d 746, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 683 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 624 S.E.2d 632 (2005).

§ 15-144.1. Essentials of bill for rape.

CASE NOTES

Indictment Upheld. —

Trial court did not err by entering judgment on short form indictments because short form indictments were specifically approved for the offense of first-degree rape of a child under the age of 13 under G.S. 15-144.1(b). State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Cited in State v. Jones, 359 N.C. 832, 616 S.E.2d 496, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 845 (2005).

§ 15-144.2. Essentials of bill for sex offense.

CASE NOTES

Evidence Must Correspond to Allegations. —

Defendant's convictions on six counts of first-degree sexual offense had to be vacated, as a fatal variance existed between the offense charged, which the State said in the indictment was by force and against the victim's will, and the fact that the State did not present any evidence that the alleged offenses were forcible and the trial court's instruction to the jury that the offense was based on the victim being under 13-years-old. State v. Lawrence, 170 N.C. App. 200, 612 S.E.2d 678, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1016 (2005).

Indictment Sufficient to Charge First-Degree Sexual Offense. —

Indictment for first-degree sex offense that matched the form required by G.S. 15-144.2 was sufficient to inform defendant of the charges against him. State v. Massey, 174 N.C. App. 216, 621 S.E.2d 633, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2400 (2005).

Short-form indictment charging violation of G.S. 14-27.7A(a) was sufficient when it alleged that defendant unlawfully, willfully, and feloniously engaged in a sexual act with a person of the age of 13 years, that defendant was at least six years older than the victim, and that he was not lawfully married to the victim; the indictment complied with the requirements of G.S.

15-144.2(a) and was sufficient to put him on notice of the crime of which he was accused. State v. Bradley, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1968 (2006).

Multiple Short-Form Indictments Did Not Create a Danger of Ununanimous Verdicts. — Appellate court erred in reversing defendant's convictions of first-degree statutory rape, G.S. 14-27.2, and taking indecent liberties with a minor, G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), as defendant was properly charged by short-form indictments on all the charges as authorized by G.S. 15-144.2(a), because there was no danger of a nonunanimous verdict resulting from the multiple indictments in violation of N.C. Const. art. 1, § 24, and G.S. 15A-1237(b), as even if some jurors disagreed on the kinds of sexual misconduct committed, the jury as a whole would unanimously find that there occurred sexual conduct within the ambit of any immoral, improper, or indecent liberties as required by G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), and because defendant was indicted on five counts of statutory rape, the victim testified to five specific incidents of statutory rape, and five verdicts of guilty were returned. State v. Lawrence, 360 N.C. 368, 627 S.E.2d 609, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 30 (2006).

Cited in State v. Jones, 359 N.C. 832, 616 S.E.2d 496, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 845 (2005).

II. FORM AND SUFFICIENCY OF INDICTMENTS AND WARRANTS.

A. In General.

Indictment Sufficient. — Since no conclusion could be reached by reading the indictment other than that defendant was in custody at the time he allegedly committed malicious conduct by a prisoner, the trial court had jurisdiction over his case, as the State, pursuant to G.S. 15-153, adequately alleged the offense such that defendant was notified of the offense against which he was called to defend. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

§ 15-170. Conviction for a less degree or an attempt.

CASE NOTES

I. General Consideration.
III. Lesser and Included Offenses.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Construction With Other Statutes. — G.S. 15-144, when construed alongside G.S. 15-170, implicitly authorizes the State to utilize a short-form indictment to charge attempted first-degree murder; when drafting such a indictment, it is sufficient for statutory purposes for the State to allege that the accused person feloniously, willfully, and of his malice aforethought, did (attempt to) kill and murder the named victim. State v. Jones, 359 N.C. 832, 616 S.E.2d 496, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 845 (2005).

Use of Short-form Attempted Murder Indictment. — Defendant's attempt to have conviction for attempted first-degree murder vacated based on his claim that the use of a short-form indictment for the crime of attempted murder was not authorized in North Carolina was without merit; the indictment sufficiently alleged the offense of attempted first-degree murder using the language from G.S. 15-144 and G.S. 15-170 providing that defendant could be convicted of the crime charged therein, or of an attempt to commit the crime so charged, or of a less degree of the same crime. State v. McVay, 174 N.C. App. 335, 620 S.E.2d 883, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2402 (2005).

III. LESSER AND INCLUDED OFFENSES.

Armed Robbery. —

Defendant's conviction of armed robbery, pursuant to G.S. 14-87, had to be reversed because defendant used only his hands in the robbery and, thus, the evidence was not sufficient to support the conviction of armed robbery; however, pursuant to G.S. 15-170, there was sufficient evidence for a conviction of the lesser included offense of common law robbery, as defendant stole a car from the victim with the use of force. State v. Staten, 172 N.C. App. 673, 616 S.E.2d 650, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1777 (2005).

§ 15-173. Demurrer to the evidence.

CASE NOTES

V. Denial of Motion.

A. In General.

B. Appeal from Denial of Motion.

V. DENIAL OF MOTION.

A. In General.

Denial of Motion Held Proper. —

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss the charge of attempted murder of an infant child as the State of North Carolina presented sufficient evidence of defendant's specific intent to kill the child by showing that defendant carjacked a woman and her infant child, drove the woman and her infant child to a deserted area, raped the woman, beat the woman to death, and drove away while leaving the child behind in his diapers on a hot day in grass a foot tall at the deserted area. Additionally, a pediatric critical care expert testified that the infant's injuries, especially sunburns, were life-threatening and that if the infant had not been found by a passerby before nightfall he could have died as a result of exposure and dehydration. State v. Edwards, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 333, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2487 (2005).

B. Appeal from Denial of Motion.

Denial of Motion to Dismiss Was Proper.

— Defendant's motion to dismiss a conspiracy to commit robbery with a dangerous weapon charge was properly denied as there was conflicting evidence as to whether a gun given to a person who committed a robbery (the actor) was real or not and there was sufficient evidence that the gun was an operable weapon where: (1) defendant and two other men told the actor to rob a store in exchange for drugs, which she agreed to do, (2) the men provided the actor with a gun and she committed the robbery, (3) the actor spoke primarily with defendant regarding the robbery, (4) the actor stated that one of the men told her that the gun was fake, but that she was uncertain whether it was fake, and (5) the actor stated that defendant and the others had a real gun and a fake gun and that she believed she had been given the fake one. State v. Carter, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 332, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1078 (2006).

ARTICLE 19A.

Credits against the Service of Sentences and for Attainment of Prison Privileges.

§ 15-196.1. Credits allowed.

CASE NOTES

Treatment Program Constituted Custody in State Institution. —

Trial court erred in denying defendant's motion for credit against his sentence for time he spent in a substance abuse program as defendant was confined and in custody pursuant to the plain meaning of G.S. 15-196.1 since defendant's freedom and liberty were limited by the programs and daily schedule and, although he could leave or withdraw from the program at any time, he was told that if he did so, he would be charged with additional crimes and have his suspended sentence activated. State v. Lutz, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 34, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 712 (2006).

Incarceration for Probation Violation.

— Trial court erred by failing to award defendant credit for her prior confinement for violation of her probation; the state conceded that defendant was entitled to a 30-day credit for the time she spent incarcerated for her violation of probation. State v. Belcher, 173 N.C. App. 620, 619 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2112 (2005).

Expunction of Records.

§ 15A-146. Expunction of records when charges are dismissed or there are findings of not guilty.

CASE NOTES

Expungement Only Available for Dismissed Charge. — Since an offender was convicted of assault inflicting serious bodily injury at the same time that his assault and battery charge was dismissed, he was eligible for expungement under G.S. 15A-146 only for the assault and battery charge, and an original order should have been amended to reflect expungement only for the assault and battery. In re Expungement for Kearney, 174 N.C. App. 213, 620 S.E.2d 276, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2294 (2005).

Trial court improperly expunged, pursuant to G.S. 15A-146(a), numerous unrelated arrests that occurred over a period of years from the applicant’s record; the plain language of G.S. 15A-146(a) allowed only one expungement and did not allow expungements of multiple unrelated offenses occurring over a number of years. In re Robinson, 172 N.C. #### Search and Seizure by Consent.

§ 15A-221. General authorization; definition of “consent”.

CASE NOTES

Use of Evidence Obtained in Search by Consent. —

Handgun, cocaine, and several thousand dollars in cash found in a safe in the bedroom of defendant's apartment were admissible because the contents of the safe were discovered as the result of a valid consent search, pursuant to G.S. 15A-221 and G.S. 15A-222; defendant was arrested outside his apartment building after a confidential police informant made a controlled purchase of cocaine from defendant; defendant was taken in handcuffs to his apartment; defendant, without being advised of his Miranda rights, consented to a search of rooms his apartment; defendant gave the officers the combination to the safe in his bedroom at their request; and at no time did defendant withdraw his consent to the search. State v. Houston, 169 N.C. App. 367, 610 S.E.2d 777, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 606 (2005).

§ 15A-222. Person from whom effective consent may be obtained.

CASE NOTES

Consent by Person in Possession of Automobile. —

Where defendant gave consent to the search of defendant's vehicle while defendant was seated in the patrol car with the officer who was writing defendant's traffic citation, the consent was validly given pursuant to G.S. 15A-222, N.C. Const. art. I, § 20, and U.S. Const. amend. IV; the officer read a consent form to defendant which defendant signed, and defendant stated that defendant believed defendant was free to leave after the citation was issued. *State v. ### § 15A-244. Contents of the application for a search warrant.

CASE NOTES

II. Probable Cause.

II. PROBABLE CAUSE.

There was sufficient probable cause, etc.

Evidence as a whole provided the magistrate with a substantial basis for concluding that probable cause existed at the time the search warrant was issued; although the alleged victims did not provide specific dates, the allegations of inappropriate sexual touching by defendant allowed a reasonably inference that defendant's criminal activity was protracted and continuing in nature. State v. Pickard, — § 15A-267. Access to DNA samples from crime scene.

CASE NOTES

No Right to Appeal. — Defendant's appeal of the trial court's denial of his motion for post-conviction DNA testing was dismissed because neither G.S. 15A-269 nor G.S. 15A-270 allows a defendant an appeal as of right from a grant or denial of a motion for post-conviction DNA. Review by writ of certiorari was also not available to defendant because his conviction for attempted rape had already been entered and there was no statutory reason allowing a writ of certiorari regarding motions for post-conviction DNA testing. State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

§ 15A-269. Request for postconviction DNA testing.

CASE NOTES

No Right to Appeal. — Defendant's appeal of the trial court's denial of his motion for post-conviction DNA testing was dismissed because neither G.S. 15A-269 nor G.S. 15A-270 allows a defendant an appeal as of right from a grant or denial of a motion for post-conviction DNA. Review by writ of certiorari was also not available to defendant because his conviction for attempted rape had already been entered and there was no statutory reason allowing a writ of certiorari regarding motions for post-conviction DNA testing. State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

No statutory right of appeal exists from a trial court's denial of a motion for post-conviction DNA testing. State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

§ 15A-270. Post-test procedures.

CASE NOTES

No Right to Appeal. — Defendant's appeal of the trial court's denial of his motion for post-conviction DNA testing was dismissed because neither G.S. 15A-269 nor G.S. 15A-270 allows a defendant an appeal as of right from a grant or denial of a motion for post-conviction DNA. Review by writ of certiorari was also not available to defendant because his conviction for attempted rape had already been entered and there was no statutory reason allowing a writ of certiorari regarding motions for post-conviction DNA testing. State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

intent to waive the state's immunity in federal courts. Hooper v. North Carolina, 379 F. Supp. 2d 804, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 19515 (M.D.N.C. Apr. 13, 2005).

III. ARREST WITHOUT WARRANT.*B. Illustrative Cases.*2. Offense Out of Presence of Officer.*Sale of Illegal Drugs. —

Defendant's arrest and subsequent search conducted by a police officer were permissible under U.S. Const. amend. IV because the officer had sufficient probable cause, pursuant to G.S. 15A-401(b)(1) and (b)(2)(a), to believe that defendant was committing, or had committed, a felony in light of information provided by a confidential informant, to the effect that a black male matching defendant's description was selling drugs outside a local store in violation of G.S. 90-95(a)(1) and (b)(1); the informant's 14 years of personal dealings with the officer resulting in over 100 arrests and numerous convictions allowed the conclusion that the informant was reliable. *State v. ## § 15A-544.4. Notice of forfeiture.

CASE NOTES

Surety Entitled to Notice. —

Because the bond company admitted that it was properly given notice of a bond forfeiture under G.S. 15A-544.4, it could only obtain relief from the final judgment of forfeiture if extraordinary circumstances existed. State v. Gonzalez-Fernandez, 170 N.C. App. 45, 612 S.E.2d 148, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 900 (2005).

G.S. 15A-544.4(e) states that notice is effective when the notice of bond forfeiture is mailed; it does not require that a surety receive the notice of bond forfeiture for notice to be effective. State v. Ferrer, 170 N.C. App. 131, 611 S.E.2d 881, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 892 (2005).

Trial court properly denied a surety's motion under G.S. 15A-544.8 to set aside a bond forfeiture; while the surety presented evidence that it had not received notice of forfeiture, an assistant clerk's testimony as to her actions and her office's procedures was sufficient to support the trial court's finding that the clerk mailed notice to the surety as required by G.S. 15A-544.4. State v. Belton, 169 N.C. App. 350, 610 S.E.2d 283, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 618 (2005).

Motion for Relief from Forfeiture. —

When a surety moved for relief from the forfeiture of a bond it posted in a criminal case, claiming it did not received notice of the forfeiture within 30 days of its entry, as required by G.S. 15A-544.4(e), this was not one of the exclusive grounds for relief from forfeiture stated in G.S. 15A-544.5, so the trial court lacked the authority to grant the surety's motion. State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

Surety was required to pay a bond forfeiture judgment because a presumption of regularity arose where a county clerk of court followed the procedures in G.S. 15A-544.4 by mailing notice to the surety. State v. Ferrer, 170 N.C. App. 131, 611 S.E.2d 881, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 892 (2005).

Insurer was not entitled to have the judgment, in which it was found that a forfeiture of the bond posted by the insurer had occurred, vacated, and the trial court did not abuse its discretion under G.S. 15A-544.8(b) in refusing to vacate the judgment; the State submitted sufficient evidence, in the form of the bond forfeiture notice with the certificate of mailing, to support the trial court's determination that the insurer received notice under G.S. 15A-544.4. State v. Lopez, 169 N.C. App. 816, 611 S.E.2d 197, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 806 (2005).

§ 15A-544.5. Setting aside forfeiture.

CASE NOTES

Exclusive Grounds for Relief. — Exclusive avenue for relief from forfeiture of an appearance bond (where the forfeiture has not yet become a final judgment) is provided in G.S. 15A-544.5. State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

"Final Order." — When a surety appealed the denial of its motion for relief from a forfeiture of a bond it posted, no party addressed whether the trial court's order was interlocutory or, alternatively, a "final order" within the meaning of G.S. 15A-544.5(h). State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

Extraordinary Cause. —

Surrender of an accused by a surety does not constitute extraordinary circumstances under G.S. 15A-544.8 as a matter of law. State v. Edwards, 172 N.C. App. 821, 616 S.E.2d 634, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1766 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 776 (2005).

Court's Discretion Not Abused. —

Trial court's denial of a surety's motion to set aside the judgment of forfeiture with regard to a bond was upheld on appeal because the surety failed to present any evidence that it tried to apprehend defendant for a court date that defendant failed to appear at and, instead, presented evidence of efforts to apprehend defendant only after notice of the forfeiture was made; as such, no extraordinary circumstances under G.S. 15A-544.5(b)(3) existed. State v. Edwards, 172 N.C. App. 821, 616 S.E.2d 634, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1766 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 776 (2005).

Appeals. — When a surety appealed the denial of its motion for relief from a forfeiture of a bond it posted, because it allegedly did not receive notice of the forfeiture within 30 days of its entry, the appeal was not based on any of the "Reasons for Set Aside" in G.S. 15A-544.5(b). State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

Cited in State v. Gonzalez-Fernandez, 170 N.C. App. 45, 612 S.E.2d 148, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 900 (2005); State v. Belton, 169 N.C. App. 350, 610 S.E.2d 283, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 618 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Cited in State v. Gonzalez-Fernandez, 170 N.C. App. 45, 612 S.E.2d 148, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 900 (2005).

§ 15A-544.7. Docketing and enforcement of final judgment of forfeiture.

(a) Final Judgment Docketed As Civil Judgment. — When a forfeiture has become a final judgment under this Part, the clerk of superior court, under G.S. 1-234, shall docket the judgment as a civil judgment against the defendant and against each surety named in the judgment.

(b) Judgment Lien. — When a final judgment of forfeiture is docketed, the judgment shall become a lien on the real property of the defendant and of each surety named in the judgment, as provided in G.S. 1-234.

(c) Execution; Copy to Commissioner of Insurance. — After docketing a final judgment under this section, the clerk shall:

- (1) Issue execution on the judgment against the defendant and against each accommodation bondsman and professional bondsman named in the judgment and shall remit the clear proceeds to the county finance officer as provided in G.S. 115C-452.
- (2) If an insurance company or professional bondsman is named in the judgment, send the Commissioner of Insurance a notice of the judgment, showing the date on which the judgment was docketed.

(d) Sureties May Not Execute Bonds in County. — After a final judgment is docketed as provided in this section, no surety named in the judgment shall become a surety on any bail bond in the county in which the judgment is docketed until the judgment is satisfied in full. (2000-133, s. 6; 2006-188, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-188, s. 2, effective August 3, 2006, substituted “notice” for “copy” in subdivision (c)(2).

§ 15A-544.8. Relief from final judgment of forfeiture.

CASE NOTES

Extraordinary Cause Standard. —

Surrender of an accused by a surety does not constitute extraordinary circumstances under G.S. 15A-544.8 as a matter of law. State v. Edwards, 172 N.C. App. 821, 616 S.E.2d 634, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1766 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 776 (2005).

Petition for Relief After Final Judgment. —

Insurer was not entitled to have the judgment, in which it was found that a forfeiture of the bond posted by the insurer had occurred, vacated, and the trial court did not abuse its discretion under G.S. 15A-544.8(b) in refusing to vacate the judgment; the State submitted sufficient evidence, in the form of the bond forfeiture notice with the certificate of mailing, to support the trial court’s determination that the insurer received notice under G.S. 15A-544.4. State v. Lopez, 169 N.C. App. 816, 611 S.E.2d 197, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 806 (2005).

When Remission Authorized. —

Under G.S. 15A-544.8, relief from a forfeiture judgment could not be granted except as provided under the statute for, inter alia, lack of notice, under G.S. 15A-544.4, or other extraordinary circumstances that the trial court determined warranted relief. State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

Sureties are not without recourse where notices of forfeiture are not in compliance with G.S. 15A-544.4, pursuant to G.S. 15A-544.8(b)(1), but the fact that the general assembly specifically made allowance for relief from final judgment of forfeiture for faulty notice, and omitted the same as a ground for relief from an entry of forfeiture, suggested the legislature made a conscious choice in this regard. State v. Sanchez, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 780, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2705 (2005).

“Extraordinary Cause” Shown. —

Defendant’s federal incarceration was not evidence of extraordinary cause meriting bond company relief from liability under the bond when defendant failed to appear for scheduled court date; thus bond company failed to demonstrate extraordinary circumstances or efforts sufficient to set aside the bond forfeiture pursuant to G.S. 15A-544.8. State v. Gonzalez-Fernandez, 170 N.C. App. 45, 612 S.E.2d 148, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 900 (2005).

Extraordinary Cause Not Shown. — Trial court’s denial of a surety’s motion to set aside the judgment of forfeiture with regard to a bond was upheld on appeal because the surety failed to present any evidence that it tried to apprehend defendant for a court date that defendant failed to appear at and, instead, presented evidence of efforts to apprehend defendant only after notice of the forfeiture was made; as such, no extraordinary circumstances under G.S. 15A-544.5(b)(3) existed. State v. Edwards, 172 N.C. App. 821, 616 S.E.2d 634, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1766 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 776 (2005).

Surety was required to pay a bond forfeiture judgment because a presumption of regularity arose where a county clerk of court followed the procedures in G.S. 15A-544.4 by mailing notice to the surety. State v. Ferrer, 170 N.C. App. 131, 611 S.E.2d 881, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 892 (2005).

Relief from Forfeiture Denied. — Trial court properly denied a surety’s motion under G.S. 15A-544.8 to set aside a bond forfeiture; while the surety presented evidence that it had not received notice of forfeiture, an assistant clerk’s testimony as to her actions and her office’s procedures was sufficient to support the trial court’s finding that the clerk mailed notice to the surety as required by G.S. 15A-544.4. State v. Belton, 169 N.C. App. 350, 610 S.E.2d 283, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 618 (2005).

§ 15A-615. Testing of certain persons for sexually transmitted infections.

(a) After a finding of probable cause pursuant to the provisions of Article 30 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes or indictment for an offense that involves nonconsensual vaginal, anal, or oral intercourse; an offense that involves vaginal, anal, or oral intercourse with a child 12 years old or less; or an offense under G.S. 14-202.1 that involves vaginal, anal, or oral intercourse with a child less than 16 years old; the victim or the parent, guardian, or guardian ad litem of a minor victim may request that a defendant be tested for the following sexually transmitted infections:

- (1) Chlamydia;
- (2) Gonorrhea;
- (3) Hepatitis B;
- (3a) Herpes;
- (4) HIV; and
- (5) Syphilis.

In the case of herpes, the defendant, pursuant to the provisions of this section, shall be examined for oral and genital herpetic lesions and, if a suggestive but nondiagnostic lesion is present, a culture for herpes shall be performed.

(b) Upon a request under subsection (a) of this section, the district attorney shall petition the court on behalf of the victim for an order requiring the defendant to be tested. Upon finding that there is probable cause to believe that the alleged sexual contact involved in the offense would pose a significant risk of transmission of a sexually transmitted infection listed in subsection (a) of this section, the court shall order the defendant to submit to testing for these infections.

(c) If the defendant is in the custody of the Department of Correction, the defendant shall be tested by the Department of Correction. If the defendant is not in the custody of the Department of Correction, the defendant shall be tested by the local health department. The Department of Correction shall inform the local health director of all test results. The local health director shall ensure that the victim is informed of the results of the tests and counseled appropriately. The agency conducting the tests shall inform the defendant of the results of the tests and ensure that the defendant is counseled appropriately. The results of the tests shall not be admissible as evidence in any criminal proceeding. (1993, c. 489, s. 1; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 8, s. 1; 2006-226, s. 10; 2006-264, s. 33(a).) the trial judge did not err in instructing the jury that it could convict defendant of indecent liberties under either a principal or aiding and abetting theory. State v. Fuller, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 509, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1674 (2006).

When Agreement on Detainers Inapplicable. —

Order for arrest served on defendant while in the county jail was not a detainer and the provisions of the Interstate Agreement on Detainers, G.S. 15A-761, were not applicable to defendant because, although defendant did have an untried indictment in that county when he was served with the order while in federal custody, (1) there was nothing in the record to suggest that the order for arrest was ever filed with the Federal Bureau of Prisons, or any institution; and (2) there was nothing in the record to suggest that the State requested federal officials to hold defendant at the end of his federal sentence or notify it prior to defendant's release from federal custody. State v. Prentice, 170 N.C. App. 593, 613 S.E.2d 498, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1086 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 622 S.E.2d 628 (2005).

SUBCHAPTER VIII-A. RIGHTS OF CRIME VICTIMS AND WITNESSES.

  - c. A Class G felony if it is a violation of one of the following: G.S. 14-32.3(b); 14-51; 14-58; 14-87.1; or 20-141.4.

  - g. Any of the following misdemeanor offenses when the offense is committed between persons who have a personal relationship as defined in G.S. 50B-1(b): G.S. 14-33(c)(1); 14-33(c)(2); 14-33(a); 14-34; 14-134.3; or 14-277.3.

(b) If the victim is deceased, then the next of kin, in the order set forth in the definition contained in this section, is entitled to the victim's rights under this Article. However, the right contained in G.S. 15A-834 may only be exercised by the personal representative of the victim's estate. Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides that: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21, is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 20(e), effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, substituted "14-43.6" for "14-43.2" in subdivision (a)(7)b.

- II. Statement of Defendant.
- IV. Statements of Witnesses.
- V. State Witnesses.
- VI. Documents, Tangible Objects, and Reports.

II. STATEMENT OF DEFENDANT.

Duty of State to Disclose. —

State fulfilled its duty to disclose defendant's statement, pursuant to G.S. 15A-903(a)(2), where both the testimony received at trial and the statement contained in the report that was given to defendant conveyed that defendant had told his daughter, the victim of his unlawful sexual conduct, not to tell anyone about the sexual assault. State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

IV. STATEMENTS OF WITNESSES.

Testimony Properly Allowed. —

There was no error in the admission of testimony by a witness not included on the State's witness list where neither defendant made a motion requesting the trial court to order that the State provide such a list and the trial court strictly limited the testimony to corroboration. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 787, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 882 (2006).

Where Witness Had Not Made a Specific Statement Prior to His Testimony. — During discovery, a victim testified that he had never revealed the contents of his telephone conversation with defendant to the State; defendant opened the door on cross-examination by asking the victim about later conversations between defendant and the victim. Defendant knew that the State had evidence that he had attempted to bribe a witness and should not have been surprised when the victim testified defendant had attempted to bribe him; defendant could not now reasonably complain that the victim's testimony amounted to unfair surprise. State v. Farmer, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 244, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1201 (2006).

V. STATE WITNESSES.

State has no initial duty to disclose the names of witnesses, etc. —

Manager of cellular telephone store was properly permitted to testify as a "surprise" witness where the state did disclose it would call the "Custodian of Nextel Phone Records" and provided the manager's name to defendant as listed in the detective's file. State v. Taylor, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 218, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1575 (2006).

Interviews of State Witnesses. —

Pursuant to G.S. 15A-903(a)(1), the detective was not required to submit to a pretrial interview with defense counsel against the detective's wishes. State v. Taylor, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 218, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1575 (2006).

State Special Agent's Testimony Must Comply With Section. — Trial court abused its discretion in allowing a State Bureau of Investigation special agent to testify without requiring the state to comply with the discovery requirements of G.S. 15A-903; although the state may not have known the specific witness it would be calling, the state did know it would be calling someone to testify concerning the process of manufacturing methamphetamine. State v. Blankenship, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 208, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1412 (2006).

During discovery, a victim testified that he

VI. DOCUMENTS, TANGIBLE OBJECTS, AND REPORTS.

Denial of Discovery Held Harmless Error. —

While the trial court erred by denying defendant's motion under former G.S. 15A-903(e) (repealed by 2004 N.C. Sess. Laws 154 § 4, at 517-520) for the production of the laboratory protocols associated with DNA testing, the error was harmless because defendant's identity was not at issue during trial as the defense focused on defendant's mental state. Therefore, the State did not need the DNA evidence to link defendant to the crimes, including a rape. State v. Edwards, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 333, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2487 (2005).

Destruction of Cartridge Casings Not Error Where Discovery Request Not Filed.

— Court properly allowed a police officer to testify concerning the type of pistol used in assault as the officer's testimony regarding the location of shell casings when a bullet was fired from two different weapons was based not upon any specialized expertise or training, but merely upon his own personal experience and observations in firing different kinds of weapons; defendant's due process rights were not violated by the destruction of the shell casings as the police had no duty to preserve the casings when defendant did not file a discovery request for the casings. State v. Fisher, 171 N.C. App. 201, 614 S.E.2d 428, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1214 (2005).

Trial court did not err by denying defendant's motion to continue after the State produced discovery notes on the morning of trial where the notes, which originated from the Department of Social Services (DSS), were not part of the prosecution file, and nothing suggested that DSS acted as a prosecutorial agency. State v. Pendleton, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 708, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2743 (2005).

examination by asking the victim about later conversations between defendant and the victim. ### Pleadings and Joinder.

§ 15A-923. Use of pleadings in felony cases and misdemeanor cases initiated in the superior court division.

CASE NOTES

Amendment of Indictment Permitted. —

Because a showing of a taking is not a necessary element of the crime of robbery with a dangerous weapon, the amendment of the indictment against defendant from attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon to robbery with a dangerous weapon sufficiently apprised defendant of the charge against him with enough certainty to have enabled him to prepare his defense and was not in error; further, since the classifications and punishments of the crimes of attempted robbery with a dangerous weapon and robbery with a dangerous weapon are identical, the amendment to defendant's indictment did not deprive the trial court of knowledge as to the judgment to pronounce in the event of conviction since the amendment did not substantially alter the charge. State v. Van Trusell, 170 N.C. App. 33, 612 S.E.2d 195, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 886 (2005), cert. denied, — N.C. —, 620 S.E.2d 196 (2005).

Amendment of Indictment Not Permitted. —

When the prosecution amended an indictment for felonious breaking and entering in such a manner that the defendant could no longer rely upon its statement of the felony defendant allegedly intended, such an amendment was a substantial alteration and was prohibited by G.S. 15A-923(e), as to allow such practice would enable the state to thwart the very purpose of an indictment, which was to enable the accused to prepare for trial. State v. Farrar, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 253, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1966 (2006).

Felonious Breaking or Entering Indictment. — There is no requirement that an indictment for felonious breaking or entering contain specific allegations of the intended felony, and State v. Vick, 70 N.C. App. 338, 319 S.E.2d 327 (N.C. Ct. App. 1984), is overruled insofar as it is inconsistent with this; however, if an indictment does specifically allege the intended felony, G.S. 15A-923(e) mandates such allegations may not be amended. State v. Silas, 360 N.C. 377, 627 S.E.2d 604, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 26 (2006).

CASE NOTES

I. General Consideration.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Specifying Felony in Indictment. —

Since a superseding indictment sufficiently described the false pretense incident as the defendant representing to the store employee that he was entitled to a cash refund for a watch band, when in truth and in fact, he knew that he had unlawfully taken the watch band and was not entitled to a refund, the indictment gave him proper notice and was properly not dismissed. State v. Ledwell, 171 N.C. App. 314, 614 S.E.2d 562, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1212 (2005).

Since the indictment alleged the defendant sought to exchange the watch band that he had taken from the store for cash, the indictment did not have to allege the exact amount of cash that the defendant had tried to obtain by false pretenses. State v. Ledwell, 171 N.C. App. 314, 614 S.E.2d 562, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1212 (2005).

Indictment Held Sufficient. —

Indictments against defendant for first-degree murder and first-degree burglary complied with the statutory and caselaw requirements for charging those crimes; therefore, the State's use of the short-form indictments was proper as the indictments did not have to state each element of the offenses charged. State v. Byers, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 357, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 59 (2006).

Since no conclusion could be reached by reading the indictment other than that defendant was in custody at the time he allegedly committed malicious conduct by a prisoner, the trial court had jurisdiction over his case, as the State adequately alleged the offense such that defendant was notified of the offense against which he was called to defend. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

II. JOINDER OF OFFENSES.

A. In General.

Joinder Ruled Proper. —

Joinder under G.S. 15A-926(a) of the charges against defendant of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury and possession of a firearm by a felon did not unjustly or prejudicially hinder defendant's ability to defend himself or to receive a fair hearing. In addition, the evidence was not complicated and the trial court's instruction to the jury clearly separated the two offenses. State v. Cromartie, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 677, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 701 (2006).

III. JOINDER OF DEFENDANTS.

B. Illustrative Cases.

Joinder was upheld, etc. —

Denial of defendants' motions to sever was proper because very minimal conflict in defendants' respective positions at trial existed in as much as neither was claiming that the other was the guilty party with regard to the armed robbery of a fast food restaurant. State v. Bellamy, 172 N.C. App. 649, 617 S.E.2d 81, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1793 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in joining defendants' cases for trial because the State of North Carolina sought to hold defendants accountable for the same crimes that arose at the same time, and the State's evidence was sufficient to show that defendants were involved in a common scheme to distribute marijuana. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Stipulation of Previous Convictions.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Court Erroneously Dismissed Habitual Felon Indictment. — Defendant was not subjected to a second prosecution for the same substantive offense as he claimed, rather the trial court erroneously determined that G.S. 15A-928 required the habitual felon indictment be dismissed due to its belief that defendant had not been properly arraigned regarding the habitual felon charge; the case was remanded for habitual felon proceedings. State v. Marshburn, 173 N.C. App. 749, 620 S.E.2d 282, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2254 (2005).

II. STIPULATION OF PREVIOUS CONVICTIONS.

Defendant may stipulate the previous convictions, etc. —

Defendant's conviction for habitual misdemeanor assault was proper where the stipulation by defense counsel that defendant had been convicted of the prior misdemeanors alleged in the indictment charging him with habitual misdemeanor assault was sufficient to establish the prior conviction element of that charge without submission of that element for determination by the jury. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

No Need to Request Arraignment on Appeal De Novo From District to Superior Court. — By immediately proceeding to trial without defendant's consent on an appeal de novo from a district court, a superior court violated G.S. 15A-943(b), which defendant adequately invoked; as the superior court was not the court of original jurisdiction, the prosecutor never submitted a bill of indictment for defendant nor was defendant indicted, so there was no 21-day period from which defendant needed to file a written request for an arraignment. *State v. ##### I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Proceeding to Trial Immediately After Arraignment Was Reversible Error. — Trial court committed reversible error by beginning defendant's trial without his consent on the same day on which he was formally arraigned; defendant sought a continuance to obtain evidence in preparation for trial, but the trial court, by immediately proceeding to trial, violated G.S. 15A-943(b), which defendant adequately invoked. *State v. Defendant Did Not Need to File Written Request for Arraignment. — By immediately proceeding to trial without defendant's consent on an appeal de novo from a district court, a superior court violated G.S. 15A-943(b), which defendant adequately invoked, where defendant sought a continuance to obtain additional evidence for trial; there was no indictment, so there was no 21-day period from which defendant needed to file a written request for an arraignment. *State v. ###### Denial of Motion Held Proper. —

When defendant had not shown how additional time would have helped him to better prepare had a continuance been granted, his motion for a continuance was properly denied; moreover, because of the overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt, he was not materially prejudiced by the denial. State v. Smith, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 34, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1290 (2006).

§ 15A-954. Motion to dismiss — Grounds applicable to all criminal pleadings; dismissal of proceedings upon death of defendant.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- V. Double Jeopardy.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Sufficiency of the Evidence. —

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss, pursuant to G.S. 15A-954, with respect to sexual offense charges against him which he allegedly committed against his 16-year-old daughter, as the evidence was sufficient to support the jury verdict, finding defendant guilty of second-degree sexual offense in violation of G.S. 14-27.5, where he physically and sexually attacked her; defendant's claim that there were inconsistencies in the testimony and a lack of physical evidence to bolster the victim's testimony lacked merit, as there was no physical evidence bolstering requirement, and inconsistencies were for the jury to resolve. State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

Trial court's denial of defendant's motion to dismiss, as well as the denial of his post-trial motion to set aside the verdict, was proper where there was sufficient evidence to support an inference of constructive possession for purposes of defendant's possession of cocaine charge, as a police investigator saw defendant at a suspected drug dealer's home, he saw defendant drive away with a known drug runner from the home, and the runner informed the investigator where to find drugs in the vehicle; defendant was the driver of the vehicle where the cocaine was found and all reasonable inferences provided support for the conviction. State v. Baublitz, 172 N.C. App. 801, 616 S.E.2d 615, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1778 (2005).

Evidence of scales and plastic bags with marijuana found in defendants' residence was sufficient evidence for the issue of manufacturing to be submitted to a jury; moreover, a co-defendant testified that one defendant used the scale and vacuum sealer found in the kitchen to weigh and package marijuana for distribution. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Testimony by a co-defendant that defendants stored marijuana in a house where they resided and sold marijuana from an apartment was insufficient to support the charge of trafficking by transportation because no one testified to observing defendants personally or actively moving or carrying any controlled substance. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Because substantial evidence of each element of an offense charged had to be shown to exist when a court ruled on a motion to dismiss, an adjudication finding that respondent, a juvenile, was delinquent for having the felonious possession of his mother's stolen car had to be reversed; the State introduced substantial evidence that he had possession of the stolen car, but the State failed to introduce any evidence as to the car's condition or that it was worth more than $1,000, as G.S. 14-71.1 required. Thus, a trial court erroneously denied respondent's motion to dismiss the charge against him. In re J.H., — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 457, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1223 (2006).

Refusal to Dismiss Was Proper. —

Trial court did not err in denying defendants' motions to dismiss conspiracy charge because substantial evidence existed, in that: (1) a co-defendant testified that defendants had agreed to distribute marijuana, were engaged in distributing marijuana, and stored marijuana in the house where defendants lived and sold marijuana from an apartment; (2) defendants each had access to the marijuana found in a garage; (3) one defendant was at the apartment when a law enforcement agent made a controlled delivery of a package containing marijuana; and (4) marijuana, scales, packaging materials, and weapons were found at both the apartment and in the bedrooms and public areas of the house. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Evidence from a co-defendant that defendant had access to a garage at their residence where one to two thousand dime bags were found, that defendant had access to the kitchen where a scale and vacuum sealer were found, and that defendant used bags found in the garage to distribute marijuana, when coupled with evidence that the police found, which included among other things, a set of scales and plastic bags containing marijuana residue in defendants bedroom, was sufficient to submit to the jury the issue of whether defendant was trafficking in marijuana by manufacture. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

Motion to dismiss the charge of possession with intent to manufacture, sell, and deliver methamphetamine was properly denied where defendant testified to knowingly assisting her husband in manufacturing methamphetamine by ordering chemistry ware for him; her testimony that 2.9 grams of methamphetamine found at her residence was for personal use was contradicted by expert testimony that indicated the items found were consistent with materials used in manufacturing methamphetamine and packaging controlled substances and that plastic bags such as those found at defendant's residence could be used to package controlled substances into smaller amounts for sale. State v. Alderson, 173 N.C. App. 344, 618 S.E.2d 844, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2033 (2005).

Trial court properly denied defendant's motion to dismiss charge of manufacturing methamphetamine within 300 feet of a school where the State presented physical evidence seized from inside and around defendant's residence that was consistent with methamphetamine manufacturing from which a reasonable juror could find that defendant manufactured methamphetamine within 300 feet of an elementary school. State v. Alderson, 173 N.C. App. 344,

618 S.E.2d 844, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2033 (2005).

Motion to Dismiss on Basis of Insufficient Evidence Properly Denied. —

In a possession with intent to sell or deliver case, the trial court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss based on insufficiency of the evidence because the evidence showed that: (1) the undercover officers approached defendant and asked if they could get drugs; (2) defendant advised the undercover officers that he could get them marijuana or cocaine if they gave him money first; (3) the officers gave defendant money, and he returned with two bags of marijuana and one bag of cocaine; (4) a special agent testified that the substance submitted for testing was cocaine; and (5) any conflicting testimony about the color of the baggie containing the cocaine defendant sold to the undercover officers was a discrepancy in the state's evidence, properly considered by the jury in weighing the reliability of the evidence. State v. Bunn, 173 N.C. App. 729, 619 S.E.2d 918, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2301 (2005).

Denial of Motion Held Appropriate. —

Evidence of drug paraphernalia found in various areas of the house where both defendants resided, and the testimony of a co-defendant that both defendants were engaged in the sale of marijuana and both had access to the garage where marijuana was found, were sufficient for the issue of possession to survive a motion to dismiss. State v. Harrington, 171 N.C. App. 17, 614 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2005), cert. denied, sub nom. State v. Rattis, 360 N.C. 70, 623 S.E.2d 36 (2005).

V. DOUBLE JEOPARDY.

Revocation of License Did Not Place Defendant in Prior Jeopardy. — Double jeopardy principles did not mandate dismissal of a driving while intoxicated charge because the confiscation and retention of defendant's South Dakota driver's license and imposition of a fee were not punishment and, therefore, did not place defendant in prior jeopardy for the offense. State v. Streckfuss, 171 N.C. App. 81, 614 S.E.2d 323, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1190 (2005).

§ 15A-955. Motion to dismiss — Grounds applicable to indictments.

CASE NOTES

Sufficiency of the Evidence. —

Superior court did not err in denying defendant's motion to dismiss misdemeanor charge of failure to work after being paid, as a conflict in the evidence presented created a question for the jury to resolve; moreover, even though the $100 defendant received was intended for purchasing materials, his conviction was supported by the evidence presented, as he still obtained an advance of money, provisions, goods, wares or merchandise on the false promise of completing the work. State v. Octetree, 173 N.C. App. 228, 617 S.E.2d 356, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2005).

§ 15A-957. Motion for change of venue.

CASE NOTES

Pretrial Publicity. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by determining that a reasonable likelihood existed that prejudicial pretrial publicity would prevent a fair trial the third time and, therefore, ordering a venire with regard to defendant's felonious breaking and entering trial, because the county had a very small population and massive publicity was generated surrounding defendant's two previous mistrials; also, during the second trial, the trial court had heard testimony that the victim and her husband owned a mini-mart frequented by many residents in the community. State v. Carmon, 169 N.C. App. 750, 611 S.E.2d 211, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 794 (2005).

§ 15A-958. Motion for a special venire from another county.

CASE NOTES

Discretion of Trial Judge. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion by determining that a reasonable likelihood existed that prejudicial pretrial publicity would prevent a fair trial the third time and, therefore, ordering a venire with regard to defendant's felonious breaking and entering trial, because the county had a very small population and massive publicity was generated surrounding defendant's two previous mistrials; also, during the second trial, the trial court had heard testimony that the victim and her husband owned a mini-mart frequented by many residents in the community. State v. Carmon, 169 N.C. App. 750, 611 S.E.2d 211, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 794 (2005).

§ 15A-959. Notice of defense of insanity; pretrial determination of insanity.

CASE NOTES

Cross-Examination of Expert Using Testimony from Pretrial Insanity Hearing Improper. — Trial court erred in allowing the State to cross-examine experts using testimony from defendant's pretrial insanity hearing as G.S. 15A-959(c) did not limit the bar on using hearsay testimony to "substantive evidence," but stated a blanket prohibition; the error was not harmless as the only issue at trial was defendant's sanity at the time of the murder, and substantial evidence including the testimony of all three expert witnesses tended to show that defendant was insane. State v. Durham, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 63, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2752 (2005).

ARTICLE 53.

Motion to Suppress Evidence.

§ 15A-971. Definitions.

CASE NOTES

Trial Court's Change of Decision from Pretrial Grant. — Trial court did not err by changing its decision with regard to defendant's motion to suppress and subsequently allowing drug-related evidence seized from the shrubbery around defendant's mobile home at trial, because a ruling on such a motion was preliminary in nature, which did not automatically cause exclusion pursuant to G.S. 15A-979(a). Since the trial court's ruling on the motion to suppress was not final, it was well within the trial court's authority to reverse its decision at trial. State v. McNeill, 170 N.C. App. 574, 613 S.E.2d 43, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1068 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 73, 622 S.E.2d 626 (2005).

§ 15A-972. Motion to suppress evidence before trial in superior court in general.

CASE NOTES

Motion to Suppress Properly Denied. — Despite a juvenile's contention that his aunt was his guardian, his suppression motion was properly denied, as she was not considered a "party listed" under G.S. 7B-2101, and the aunt never lived with the juvenile, did not have custody of him, nor acted on his behalf as a parent or his guardian. State v. Oglesby, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 152, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2624 (2005).

Suppression of Evidence Discovered During Checkpoint Search Erroneously

Denied. — Trial court erred in denying defendant's motion to suppress evidence, pursuant to G.S. 15A-972, which was uncovered during a checkpoint stop; the trial court failed to make required findings as to the primary programmatic purpose of the checkpoint, and as to whether the checkpoint was tailored to meet that programmatic purpose. State v. Rose, 170 N.C. App. 284, 612 S.E.2d 336, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1015 (2005).

§ 15A-974. Exclusion or suppression of unlawfully obtained evidence.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- III. Substantial Violation of Chapter.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Trial Court's Change of Decision from Pretrial Grant. — Trial court did not err by changing its decision with regard to defendant's motion to suppress and subsequently allowing drug-related evidence seized from the shrubbery around defendant's mobile home at trial, because a ruling on such a motion was preliminary in nature, which did not automatically cause exclusion pursuant to G.S. 15A-979(a). Since the trial court's ruling on the motion to suppress was not final, it was well within the trial court's authority to reverse its decision at trial. State v. McNeill, 170 N.C. App. 574, 613 S.E.2d 43, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1068 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 73, 622 S.E.2d 626 (2005).

III. SUBSTANTIAL VIOLATION OF CHAPTER.

Motion Denied Out of Term and Out of Session. — Since the trial court's ruling and written order denying defendant's motions to suppress were entered out of term and out of session, the ruling and order were null and void, and of no legal effect; accordingly, defendant was entitled to have his judgment of conviction vacated and to a new trial, and that conclusion was true even though he had not objected and might not be able to show he was prejudiced. State v. Trent, 359 N.C. 583, 614 S.E.2d 498, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 641 (2005).

§ 15A-977. Motion to suppress evidence in superior court; procedure.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Findings of Fact.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Cited in State v. McKinney, 174 N.C. App. 138, 619 S.E.2d 901, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2307 (2005).

II. FINDINGS OF FACT.

If there is no material conflict in the evidence on voir dire, etc. —

Second interrogation of a defendant was not unconstitutional under the facts of the case, and the trial court did not err by admitting the statement obtained by law enforcement officials during that second interrogation because uncontradicted evidence introduced during the suppression hearing supported the conclusion that the law enforcement officials involved in the investigation of one incident honored the defendant's invocation of his right to remain silent regarding another incident, and thereafter no questioning touched on that other incident and fresh Miranda warnings were given. State v. Jacobs, 174 N.C. App. 1, 620 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2279 (2005).

Findings Binding on Appellate Courts.

Trial court's finding of fact that defendant was not coerced into a confession due to threats made against his wife or suggested by law enforcement officials was supported by competent evidence and, thus, binding on appeal; defendant was aware of his constitutional right to remain silent when he chose to speak and both police officers testified that at no point did they indicate to defendant that his wife would be charged if he did not confess, nor did they promise defendant anything if he offered a confession. State v. Duff, 171 N.C. App. 662, 615 S.E.2d 373, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1367 (2005).

§ 15A-979. Motion to suppress evidence in superior and district court; orders of suppression; effects of orders and of failure to make motion.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Appeal From Denial of Motion.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Trial Court's Change of Decision from Pretrial Grant. — Trial court did not err by changing its decision with regard to defendant's motion to suppress and subsequently allowing drug-related evidence seized from the shrubbery around defendant's mobile home at trial, because a ruling on such a motion was preliminary in nature, which did not automatically cause exclusion pursuant to G.S. 15A-979(a). Since the trial court's ruling on the motion to suppress was not final, it was well within the trial court's authority to reverse its decision at trial. State v. McNeill, 170 N.C. App. 574, 613 S.E.2d 43, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1068 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 73, 622 S.E.2d 626 (2005).

Admission of Statements Given to Police. —

Defendant's first degree murder conviction was affirmed because the trial court did not err by denying defendant's motion to suppress his written confession as defendant's written waiver of his Miranda rights and his written confession were made understandingly, knowingly, and voluntarily with the assistance of a police officer who acted as defendant's interpreter. State v. Nguyen, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 197, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1571 (2006).

Detention of Passenger of Vehicle at a Traffic Stop was Justified. — Defendant's motion to suppress was properly denied where defendant was a passenger in a car that was stopped for a valid traffic infraction and defendant's suspicious behavior and the discovery of drugs in the car gave officers a reasonable articulable suspicion to detain defendant. State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

Cited in State v. Johnson, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 488, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 695 (2006); State v. Branch, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 506, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 713 (2006).

II. APPEAL FROM DENIAL OF MOTION.

Defendant Properly Notified Prosecution in Text of Motion to Suppress. —

Where defendant entered a guilty plea to the offense, defendant was permitted to appeal the denial of the motion to suppress pursuant to G.S. 15A-979(b), as defendant, in the text of the motion to suppress, notified the prosecution of defendant's reservation of the right to appeal the issue. State v. Hernandez, 170 N.C. App. 299, 612 S.E.2d 420, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1006 (2005).

Motion Properly Denied. —

Defendant's arrest and subsequent search conducted by a police officer were permissible under U.S. Const. amend. IV because the officer had sufficient probable cause, pursuant to G.S. 15A-401(b)(1) and (b)(2)(a), to believe that defendant was committing, or had committed, a felony in light of information provided by a confidential informant, to the effect that a black male matching defendant's description was selling drugs outside a local store in violation of G.S. 90-95(a)(1) and (b)(1); the informant's 14 years of personal dealings with the officer resulting in over 100 arrests and numerous convictions allowed the conclusion that the informant was reliable. State v. Stanley, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 680, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2707 (2005).

§ 15A-980. Right to suppress use of certain prior convictions obtained in violation of right to counsel.

CASE NOTES

Denial of Motion Upheld. —

Where the trial court relied in part on two prior convictions to calculate defendant's prior record level for sentencing purposes, suppression of those convictions under G.S. 15A-980(c) for violation of the right to counsel was not required; defendant did not sustain his burden of proof, as he did not provide a supporting affidavit with the motion. State v. Frady, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 346, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 53 (2006).

Defendant failed to prove that his prior convictions were obtained in violation of his right to counsel and thus, suppression under G.S. 15A-980 was properly denied. State v. Jordan, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 229, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2481 (2005).

Applied in State v. Hadden, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 417, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 190 (2006).

SUBCHAPTER X. GENERAL TRIAL PROCEDURE.

ARTICLE 56.

Incapacity to Proceed.

§ 15A-1001. No proceedings when defendant mentally incapacitated; exception.

CASE NOTES

Relationship Between Mental Retardation, Competency to Stand Trial, and Forming Requisite Intent to Kill. — Murder defendant was mentally retarded so he was not sentenced to death under G.S. 15A-2005(a)(1); but (1) experts testified he was competent under G.S. 15A-1001(a) to stand trial; and (2) evidence and his girlfriend's opinion testimony under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 701, that he was "fine" and "not mentally retarded," indicated he was able to form the requisite "deliberation" and "cool state of blood" (as defined State v. Ruof jury instructions and which were properly given to the jury in response to a deliberation question under G.S. 15A-1234(a)(1)) when he shot a coworker who teased him about being mentally retarded. State v. McClain, 169 N.C. App. 657, 610 S.E.2d 783, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 804 (2005).

Trial court did not err by not holding a competency hearing sua sponte, etc. —

Defendant's conviction of first-degree felony murder was affirmed; the trial court was not required by G.S. 15A-1001(a) and G.S. 15A-1002(a) to sua sponte order a competency hearing for defendant, as the trial court conducted a colloquy, and defendant's replies were lucid and displayed his understanding of the consequences of testifying. State v. Staten, 172 N.C. App. 673, 616 S.E.2d 650, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1777 (2005).

§ 15A-1002. Determination of incapacity to proceed; evidence; temporary commitment; temporary orders.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Hearing.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Trial court properly held a retrospective competency hearing after defendant's robbery trial and before his habitual felon trial; where an evaluation found defendant competent and noted that he had not been hearing voices nor had suicidal thoughts as stated in the original motion, and where defense counsel testified that defendant was competent during the robbery trial, the trial court's finding that defendant had the capacity to proceed was supported by competent evidence. State v. Blancher, 170 N.C. App. 171, 611 S.E.2d 445, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 909 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 880 (2005).

II. HEARING.

Trial court did not err by not holding a competency hearing sua sponte, etc. —

Defendant's conviction of first-degree felony murder was affirmed; the trial court was not required by G.S. 15A-1001(a) and G.S. 15A-1002(a) to sua sponte order a competency hearing for defendant, as the trial court conducted a colloquy, and defendant's replies were lucid and displayed his understanding of the consequences of testifying. State v. Staten, 172 N.C.

App. 673, 616 S.E.2d 650, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1777 (2005).

Waiver of Hearing Right. —

By his failure to challenge the trial court's ruling that he was competent to stand trial, defendant waived his right to a competency hearing under G.S. 15A-1002(b). State v. Hoover, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 303, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2467 (2005).

ARTICLE 58.

Procedures Relating to Guilty Pleas in Superior Court.

§ 15A-1022. Advising defendant of consequences of guilty plea; informed choice; factual basis for plea; admission of guilt not required.

CASE NOTES

Adjudication as Habitual Felon. —

Trial court erred in finding defendant to have the status of a habitual felon, as the trial court did not inform defendant of the nature of the charges and consequences of pleading guilty to such a status, as required by G.S. 15A-1022(a)(1)-(4), and defendant could raise the failure to so inform him on appeal even though he had not objected at trial and had apparently pled guilty to habitual felon status. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

Arresting officer's testimony established a sufficient factual basis to support defendant's guilty plea to breaking and entering; the officer testified that he found defendant's truck near a burglarized residence, that he saw jewelry and boxes in the truck, that footprints in the snow led up to the residence where a window was broken, and that, during a search of the residence, the officer found defendant underneath a bed with a stolen rifle laying next to him. State v. Poore, 172 N.C. App. 839, 616 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1774 (2005).

ARTICLE 59.

Maintenance of Order in the Courtroom.

§ 15A-1031. Custody and restraint of defendant and witnesses.

CASE NOTES

When Defendant May Be Restrained During Trial. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in ordering a juvenile defendant to be restrained with leg shackles, as the bailiff had requested the same out of concern about the juvenile's desire to run, and especially where the shackles could not be seen and there was no evidence that the jury was affected by, or even aware of, the restraints. State v. Oglesby, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 152, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2624 (2005).

The court's failure to comply with the requirements of G.S. 15A-1032(b)(1) was not reversible error in the defendant's murder trial after the defendant was both physically restrained under G.S. 15A-1031 and was removed for disruptive behavior since the defendant's counsel waived the instruction under G.S. 15A-1032(b)(1) because they felt it would just call more attention to the fact that the defendant was not in the courtroom. State v. Ash, 169 N.C. App. 715, 611 S.E.2d 855, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 809 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 878 (2005).

§ 15A-1032. Removal of disruptive defendant.

CASE NOTES

The court's failure to comply with the requirements of this section was not reversible error, etc. —

The court's failure to comply with the requirements of this section was not reversible error in the defendant's murder trial after the defendant was both physically restrained under G.S. 15A-1031 and was removed for disruptive behavior since the defendant's counsel waived the instruction under G.S. 15A-1032(b)(1) because they felt it would just call more attention to the fact that the defendant was not in the courtroom. State v. Ash, 169 N.C. App. 715, 611 S.E.2d 855, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 809 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 878 (2005).

ARTICLE 61.

Granting of Immunity to Witnesses.

§ 15A-1054. Charge reductions or sentence concessions in consideration of truthful testimony.

CASE NOTES

Cited in State v. Howell, 169 N.C. App. 741, 611 S.E.2d 200, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 795 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 71, 622 S.E.2d 500 (2005).

ARTICLE 62.

Mistrial.

§ 15A-1061. Mistrial for prejudice to defendant.

CASE NOTES

Remarks of Prosecutor. —

Denial of defendants' motion for a mistrial was not an abuse of discretion, as, even assuming it was error for the State to refer to a conviction for the lesser-included offense of assault inflicting serious injury as a misdemeanor amounting to a slap on the writ, the evidence was sufficient to support first defendant's conviction for assault inflicting serious bodily injury. State v. Brown, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 787, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 882 (2006).

Mistrial Properly Denied. —

Since the evidence supported the trial court's finding that none of the 12 jurors selected for the sitting panel were in the jury room by the time a newspaper article regarding the trial appeared there, defendant did not show the substantial and irreparable harm required by G.S. 15A-1061 for declaring a mistrial. State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

Cited in State v. Bethea, 173 N.C. App. 43, 617 S.E.2d 687, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1907 (2005).

§ 15A-1063. Mistrial for impossibility of proceeding.

CASE NOTES

Denial of Mistrial Upheld. — Defendant was not entitled to a mistrial based on a supplemental instruction to the deadlocked jury which did not threaten to require the jury to deliberate for an unreasonable length of time or for unreasonable intervals. State v. Hagans, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 776, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 719 (2006).

SUBCHAPTER XII. TRIAL PROCEDURE IN SUPERIOR COURT.

ARTICLE 71.

Right to Trial by Jury.

§ 15A-1201. Right to trial by jury.

CASE NOTES

Unanimous Verdict. —

Trial court did not err by allowing defendant to be convicted with fewer than 12 jurors finding him guilty because the trial court's use of the term "consensus" in an instruction did not violate the verdict unanimity requirement, as the trial judge twice repeated that the jury had to unanimously agree on a verdict. State v. Flemming, 171 N.C. App. 413, 615 S.E.2d 310,

2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005).

Defendant's right to an unanimous verdict under N.C. Const. art. I, § 24, G.S. 15A-1201, and G.S. 15A-1237(b) was not violated by generic testimony, or evidence of more incidents than there were criminal charges. State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

ARTICLE 72.

Selecting and Impaneling the Jury.

§ 15A-1211. Selection procedure generally; role of judge; challenge to the panel; authority of judge to excuse jurors.

CASE NOTES

Knowing State's Witness Was Not Ground for Dismissal. — Defendant's challenge of a juror based on the fact that she admitted, during trial, to knowing one of the State's witnesses failed because the juror stated that she could continue to be fair and impartial, and defendant failed to show either an abuse of discretion or that he suffered any prejudice due to the continued service of the juror. State v. Bates, 172 N.C. App. 27, 616 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1585 (2005).

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Knowing State's Witness Was Not Ground for Dismissal. — Defendant's challenge of a juror based on the fact that she admitted, during trial, to knowing one of the State's witnesses failed because the juror stated that she could continue to be fair and impartial. State v. Bates, 172 N.C. App. 27, 616 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1585 (2005).

IV. INABILITY TO RENDER VERDICT IN ACCORDANCE WITH LAW.

The trial court acted within its discretion in refusing to remove a juror for cause, etc. —

Defendant failed to show an abuse of the trial court's discretion in granting a challenge for cause as to a prospective juror, as the juror lived down the road from the victim, had known the victim his entire life, had been in the victim's home, and had attended the victim's funeral. The victim called the prosecutive juror shortly before the murder to request a ride to get his car serviced. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

III. QUESTIONING OF PROSPECTIVE JURORS.

Prejudice Not Shown. —

Although the trial court violated the mandatory statutory procedure for jury selection in G.S. 15A-1214, defendants failed to show any prejudice resulting therefrom; defendants failed to show jury bias, the inability to question prospective jurors, inability to assert peremptory challenges, nor any other defect which had the likelihood to affect the outcome of the trial. State v. Love, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 234, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1189 (2006).

III. STATEMENT OF PARTIES' CONTENTIONS.

No Reversible Error Found. — Defendant's unpreserved argument was that the prosecutor's closing statement to the jury indicated that the court had decided that the defendant acted with deliberation such that the court should have corrected the statement ex mero motu; however, the statement was not reversible error since (1) it did not directly and unambiguously tell the jury the court formed an opinion on the evidence; (2) because there was no objection, and therefore no overruling by the court of the defendant's objection, the idea was not solidified in the jurors' minds; (3) the statement did not travel outside the record as prohibited by G.S. 15A-1230(a); (4) so that it would not violate G.S. 15A-1222 and G.S. 15A-1232, the court instructed the jury that the court was impartial and that the jury would be mistaken to believe otherwise; and (5) the court instructed the jury it "may" find premeditation and deliberation, and instructed on what basis the jury could make such a finding. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

An instruction by the trial court stating that the evidence tended to show the existence of a confession to the crime charged was not an impermissible comment invading the province of the jury and its fact-finding function; considering defendant's admissions which tended to show premeditation and deliberation — such as the sheer number of blows with the fire extinguisher, the time between each blow, and the dragging of one victim back into the apartment — the statement did support inclusion of the confession instruction, and the instruction given by the trial court left it to the jury to conclude whether the confession occurred and what weight to give it. State v. Duke, 360 N.C.

§ 15A-1226. Rebuttal evidence; additional evidence.

CASE NOTES

Discretion Not Abused in Reopening Case. — Trial court did not abuse its discretion by allowing the state to reopen its case and to present additional evidence of defendant's release date after the parties had rested, but before the case was presented to the jury, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1226(b). State v. Wise, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 732, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1293 (2006).

Refusal to Reopen Case Held Not Error.

Where defendant, after resting defendant's case, moved to reopen the evidence to allow a child witness to rebut defendant's son's testimony that the victim had a bad bicycle wreck, corroborating defendant's story as to why the victim's buttocks were bruised, the trial court did not abuse its discretion under G.S. 15A-1226(b) in denying the motion; the trial court was permitted to exclude the testimony on grounds of undue delay, waste of time, or needless presentation of cumulative evidence under G.S. 8C-1-403, as defendant could have asked defendant's son before trial whether anyone else had seen the victim wreck on the bicycle and could have cross-examined the son about this, and the child's testimony was cumulative and would have only possibly served to corroborate defendant's testimony or facts brought to the jury's attention during the son's cross-examination. State v. Phillips, 171 N.C. App. 622, 615 S.E.2d 382, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1369 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, — N.C. —, 622 S.E.2d 628 (2005).

In a prosecution of defendant for first-degree statutory rape, the trial court did not abuse its discretion by refusing to reopen the trial to permit defendant to introduce additional evidence; because evidence about defendant's work schedule had already been admitted, defendant failed to show how he was prejudiced by the trial court's refusal to allow a witness to testify about driving defendant to and from work. State v. Hoover, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 303, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2467 (2005).

§ 15A-1227. Motion for dismissal.

CASE NOTES

III. Evidence on Motion.

A. In General.

B. Substantial Evidence.

III. EVIDENCE ON MOTION.

A. In General.

Suspicion Insufficient to Withstand Motion. —

While evidence presented by the State raised a strong suspicion of guilt it did not permit a reasonable inference that defendants were responsible for victim's death, but merely that they had the opportunity to commit the crime, and the trial court did not err in granting defendants' motion to dismiss. State v. Myers,

— N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 329, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2485 (2005).

B. Substantial Evidence.

Substantial Evidence Established. —

Motion to dismiss was properly denied where the evidence showed that defendant drove through an apartment complex in a borrowed car with victim's brother, exited the vehicle in a certain area and returned to the vehicle after gunshots, and the brother fabricated a story to police to avoid identification, there was sufficient evidence to support a finding of conspiracy to commit murder. State v. Brewton, 173 N.C. App. 323, 618 S.E.2d 850, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2027 (2005).

Trial court did not err in denying a juvenile's motion to dismiss a charge that he committed a violation of North Carolina's Ethnic Intimidation Statute, G.S. 14-401.14 at the close of all the evidence, as the State presented sufficient evidence that he: (1) sent an E-mail to the African-American victim, which contained racial slurs and was signed "KKK," and directly communicated an intent to harm her; and (2) testified that he sent the E-mail to the victim in protest of her alleged differing treatment against him as compared with others who were African-American. Thus, the State met its burden in showing that the E-mail was sent to the victim for racially motivated reasons. In re B.C.D., — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 617, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1073 (2006).

§ 15A-1230. Limitations on argument to the jury.

CASE NOTES

Trial Counsel Is Allowed Wide Latitude. — Defendant's Eighth Amendment rights were not violated when the trial court allowed the prosecutor to argue that an aggravating circumstance of two of defendant's murders, of an elderly husband and his blind, elderly wife, was the fact that the murders were especially heinous, atrocious, and cruel. Under G.S. 15A-1230(a), the prosecutor had a right to argue on the basis of his analysis of the evidence any conclusion or position as long as the record contained sufficient evidence from which the scenario was reasonably inferred. State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

Remarks Held Not to Necessitate Ex Mero Motu Correction. —

Prosecutor's closing argument regarding the credibility of the State's witnesses versus the defense witnesses was proper and did not require ex mero motu correction by the trial court. State v. Augustine, 359 N.C. 709, 616 S.E.2d 515, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 836 (2005).

An instruction by the trial court stating that the evidence tended to show the existence of a confession to the crime charged was not an impermissible comment invading the province of the jury and its fact-finding function; considering defendant's admissions which tended to show premeditation and deliberation — such as the sheer number of blows with the fire extinguisher, the time between each blow, and the dragging of one victim back into the apartment — the statement did support inclusion of the confession instruction, and the instruction given by the trial court left it to the jury to conclude whether the confession occurred and what weight to give it. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Defendant's unpreserved argument was that the prosecutor's closing statement to the jury indicated that the court had decided that the defendant acted with deliberation such that the court should have corrected the statement ex mero motu. However, the statement was not reversible error since (1) it did not directly and unambiguously tell the jury the court formed an opinion on the evidence; (2) because there was no objection, and therefore no overruling by the court of the defendant's objection, the idea was not solidified in the jurors' minds; (3) the statement did not travel outside the record as prohibited by G.S. 15A-1230(a); (4) so that it would not violate G.S. 15A-1222 and G.S. 15A-1232, the court instructed the jury that the court was impartial and that the jury would be mistaken to believe otherwise; and (5) the court instructed the jury it "may" find premeditation and deliberation, and instructed on what basis the jury could make such a finding. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Remarks made by a prosecutor during closing arguments of defendant's murder trial did not violate the standards of G.S. 15A-1230(a), as the prosecutor's remarks on defendant's alleged actions in the killing of his girlfriend were inferences that reasonably could be drawn from the evidence presented, and the prosecutor's expression of opinion on defendant's possible theory of the case was harmless error. State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 393, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 191 (2006).

Defendant Must Show Prejudice for New Trial. —

Even though the information shown on panels during the State's closing argument was outside of the record, the trial court did not abuse its discretion by denying defendant's motion for a mistrial because defendant failed to show how the error prejudiced the result of the trial; nor did the trial court abuse its discretion by denying defendant the lesser remedy of a curative instruction. State v. Rashidi, 172 N.C. App. 628, 617 S.E.2d 68, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1790 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 166, 622 S.E.2d 493 (2005).

Argument Held Improper. — Defendant, who alleged an insanity defense following shootings, was entitled to a new trial, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443, because the appellate court could not say beyond a reasonable doubt that the prosecutor's argument, which was improper and prejudicial because of misleading characterizations and improper inferences, did not contribute to defendant's conviction. State v. Millsaps, 169 N.C. App. 340, 610 S.E.2d 437, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 617 (2005).

Argument Held Not Improper. —

Prosecutor's recitation of only a portion of the especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel (HAC) aggravating circumstance pattern jury instruction during closing arguments did not constitute gross error but aided the jury in understanding what had been held to be the types of murders in which HAC could be found and thus, was not erroneous. State v. McNeill, 360 N.C. 231, 624 S.E.2d 329, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 1 (2006).

§ 15A-1231. Jury instructions.

CASE NOTES

Requests for special instructions, etc. —

When defendant orally requested an instruction that it was legal to possess a controlled substance pursuant to a prescription, his claim on appeal that the trial court did not give this instruction could not be considered because the instruction was not submitted to the trial court in writing, as required by G.S. 15A-1231(a), and the substance of the proposed instruction was not contained in the appellate record. State v. Sanders, 171 N.C. App. 46, 613 S.E.2d 708, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1158 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 170, 622 S.E.2d 492 (2005).

II. EXPRESSION OF OPINION.

G. Weight and Credibility of Testimony, etc.

Opinion as to Weight of Evidence Prohibited. —

An instruction by the trial court stating that the evidence tended to show the existence of a confession to the crime charged was not an impermissible comment invading the province of the jury and its fact-finding function; considering defendant's admissions which tended to show premeditation and deliberation — such as the sheer number of blows with the fire extinguisher, the time between each blow, and the dragging of one victim back into the apartment — the statement did support inclusion of the confession instruction, and the instruction given by the trial court left it to the jury to conclude whether the confession occurred and what weight to give it. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Defendant's unpreserved argument was that the prosecutor's closing statement to the jury indicated that the court had decided that the defendant acted with deliberation such that the court should have corrected the statement ex mero motu; however, the statement was not reversible error since (1) it did not directly and unambiguously tell the jury the court formed an opinion on the evidence; (2) because there was no objection, and therefore no overruling by the court of the defendant's objection, the idea was not solidified in the jurors' minds; (3) the statement did not travel outside the record as prohibited by G.S. 15A-1230(a); (4) so that it would not violate G.S. 15A-1222 and G.S. 15A-1232, the court instructed the jury that the court was impartial and that the jury would be mistaken to believe otherwise; and (5) the court instructed the jury it “may” find premeditation and deliberation, and instructed on what basis the jury could make such a finding. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

III. JURY INSTRUCTIONS.

F. Instructions as to Particular Offenses.

Driving While Intoxicated. — When a driving-while-impaired defendant requested that the trial court instruct the jury on the expiration date of the vials used to collect blood samples, the trial court properly refused to give the instruction. The requested instruction was defendant’s version of the evidence in the guise of a jury instruction; had the trial court given it, it would have violated its duty not to express an opinion on the evidence. State v. Turner, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 464, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 979 (2006).

G. Miscellaneous Instructions.

Instruction that Knife Was Deadly Weapon. — Instructing the jury that the knife allegedly used to commit the assault was a deadly weapon was not error where the evidence presented led to only one conclusion, that the knife was a deadly weapon. State v. Caudle, 172 N.C. App. 261, 616 S.E.2d 8, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1430 (2005).

§ 15A-1233. Review of testimony; use of evidence by the jury.

CASE NOTES

Exercise of Discretion by Trial Court. —

Defendant’s claim that the trial court’s refusal to permit the jury to review deputy’s testimony in attempted murder trial was arbitrary and not the result of a reasoned decision-making process was without merit; the record clearly showed that the trial court reasonably exercised its discretion under G.S. 15A-1233(a) in denying the jury’s request based on its concern that the jury might overemphasize the deputy’s testimony and not properly consider the totality of the evidence before them. State v. McVay, 174 N.C. App. 335, 620 S.E.2d 883, 2005

N.C. App. LEXIS 2402 (2005).

No Abuse of Discretion Found. —

In a drug case, a trial court did not err by responding to the jury’s question regarding the amount of cocaine in a cooler under G.S. 15A-1233(a) because the record showed that no drugs were found inside; moreover, defendant was not prejudiced because the evidence showed that defendant was acquitted of the charges relating to cocaine. State v. Cardenas, 169 N.C. App. 404, 610 S.E.2d 240, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 681 (2005).

§ 15A-1234. Additional instructions.

CASE NOTES

Clarification of “Deliberation” and “Cool State of Blood”. — Murder defendant was mentally retarded so he was not sentenced to death under G.S. 15A-2005(a)(1); but (1) experts testified he was competent under G.S. 15A-1001(a) to stand trial; and (2) evidence and his girlfriend’s opinion testimony under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 701, that he was “fine” and “not mentally retarded,” indicated he was able to form the requisite “deliberation” and “cool state of blood” (as defined State v. Ruof jury instructions and which were properly given to the jury in response to a deliberation question under G.S. 15A-1234(a)(1)) when he shot a coworker who teased him about being mentally retarded. State v. McClain, 169 N.C. App. 657, 610 S.E.2d 783, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 804 (2005).

§ 15A-1235. Length of deliberations; deadlocked jury.

CASE NOTES

I. General Consideration.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

The trial judge did not violate this section, etc. —

Trial court did not err by allowing defendant to be convicted with fewer than 12 jurors finding him guilty because the trial court's use of the term "consensus" in an instruction did not violate the verdict unanimity requirement, as the trial judge twice repeated that the jury had to unanimously agree on a verdict. State v.

Flemming, 171 N.C. App. 413, 615 S.E.2d 310, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005).

Giving of Supplemental Instruction Not Abuse of Discretion. — Trial court did not abuse its discretion by providing a supplemental instruction to the jury which did not threaten to require the jury to deliberate for an unreasonable length of time or for unreasonable intervals. State v. Hagans, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 776, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 719 (2006).

§ 15A-1236. Admonitions to jurors; regulation and separation of jurors.

CASE NOTES

No Prejudicial Error Where Defendant Failed to Object. —

Defendant failed to demonstrate prejudice where he failed to object, the trial court conducted an adequate inquiry and correctly concluded that none of the seated jurors who participated in deliberations were present in the jury room when a newspaper article was read and discussed by the prospective alternate jurors, the admonition specifically advised the prospective jurors that, if they were selected for the jury, they were not to read media reports about the case, and the record indicated that none of the deliberating jurors saw or read the article, State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

Oral Admonition Held Sufficient. — Oral giving of cautionary instructions to individual jurors and to the venire was sufficient to satisfy G.S. 15A-1236. State v. Scanlon, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 770, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 541 (2006).

Cited in State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

§ 15A-1237. Verdict.

CASE NOTES

When Verdict Should Be Received and Recorded. —

Where defendant claimed that the jury was fundamentally flawed because the foreperson lied to the trial court when the foreperson stated that the jury had not come to a verdict and sought to deliberate on the following day even though it appeared that the jury may have, indeed, come to a verdict, the argument failed, as the foreperson followed the instructions of the trial court and waited until all members of the jury were satisfied with the verdict before making the verdict final by marking the form in accordance with G.S. 15A-1237(a). State v. Lewis, 172 N.C. App. 97, 616 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1439 (2005).

Unanimous Verdict. —

Because of the trial court's failure to ensure that each juror had in mind the same instances of abuse when voting to convict defendant of multiple counts of first-degree sexual offense and indecent liberties with a minor, defendant's right to a unanimous jury verdict was jeopardized. State v. Bates, 172 N.C. App. 27, 616 S.E.2d 280, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1585 (2005).

There was no risk of a lack of unanimity where defendant was charged with and convicted of the same number of offenses, and the evidence supported that number of offenses, and using the same underlying act to support convictions for both first-degree sexual offense and indecent liberties did not violate defendant's constitutional protection against double jeopardy; where the instructions told jury that it must "agree unanimously" on particular sex offenses and limited consideration of first-degree sexual offenses to the approximate dates on which they were alleged to have occurred and to a specific act, and dates and acts corresponded with the evidence, the instructions were proper and there was no lack of unanimity. State v. Brewer, 171 N.C. App. 686, 615 S.E.2d 360, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1363 (2005).

Defendant's convictions on five counts of statutory rape and three counts of taking indecent liberties with a child had to be reversed, and he had to be retried on those charges, as the State's proof at trial of many more acts than were pled in those counts meant that the appellate court could not determine whether defendant was found guilty by the required unanimous jury on the counts pled or some other acts that were not pled; accordingly, defendant's right to conviction by a unanimous jury may have been compromised. State v. Lawrence, 170 N.C. App. 200, 612 S.E.2d 678, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1016 (2005).

Defendant's right to a unanimous verdict under N.C. Const. art. I, § 24, G.S. 15A-1201, and G.S. 15A-1237(b) was not violated by generic testimony, or evidence of more incidents than there were criminal charges. State v. Bullock, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 868, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1572 (2006).

Unanimous Verdict Found As To Some Charges But Not Others. — Defendant's right to a unanimous verdict was not violated where the instructions and verdicts contained specific references to the date, act, and location of the alleged acts of first-degree sexual offense. Defendant's right to a unanimous verdict was violated, however, with regard to the charges for felonious sexual contact because the verdict sheets and instructions as to eight of the ten charges were not specific enough to allow the court to determine which specific act each juror had in mind when voting on those counts, and as to the indecent liberties charges because the court was not able to determine whether each juror had in mind the same four incidents when voting to convict defendant on those charges.

State v. Massey, 174 N.C. App. 216, 621 S.E.2d 633, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2400 (2005).

Multiple Short-Form Indictments Did Not Create a Danger of Unanimous Verdicts. — Appellate court erred in reversing defendant's convictions of first-degree statutory rape, G.S. 14-27.2, and taking indecent liberties with a minor, G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), as defendant was properly charged by short-form indictments on all the charges as authorized by G.S. 15-144.2(a), because there was no danger of a nonunanimous verdict resulting from the multiple indictments in violation of N.C. Const. art. 1, § 24, and G.S. 15A-1237(b), as even if some jurors disagreed on the kinds of sexual misconduct committed, the jury as a whole would unanimously find that there occurred sexual conduct within the ambit of any immoral, improper, or indecent liberties as required by G.S. 14-202.1(a)(1), and because defendant was indicted on five counts of statutory rape, the victim testified to five specific incidents of statutory rape, and five verdicts of guilty were returned. State v. Lawrence, 360 N.C. 368, 627 S.E.2d 609, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 30 (2006).

Cited in State v. Herndon, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 170, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 961 (2006).

§ 15A-1240. Impeachment of the verdict.

CASE NOTES

Consultation of Dictionary Did Not Violate Right to Confront Witnesses. — Jury's consultation of dictionary definitions for "malice" did not violate defendant's right to confront the witnesses against him and the jurors' affidavits could not be used to impeach the verdict as the information considered by the jury did not discredit defendant's testimony or witnesses; it concerned legal terminology, not evidence developed at trial. State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Consultation of Dictionary. — Information contained in jurors' affidavits as to the reading of dictionary definitions of "malice" could not be used to impeach the verdict under G.S. 15A-1240 as under the caselaw, definitions in standard dictionaries were not extraneous information within the meaning of G.S. 8C-1-606(b). State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Testimony as to Juror Misconduct. — Defendant had no right to an evidentiary hearing on his post-murder conviction motion for appropriate relief under G.S. 15A-1414 and G.S. 15A-1420. The trial judge did not abuse his discretion in refusing a hearing because defendant failed to make an initial showing of juror misconduct, based on the fact that two jurors had prayed together outside the jury room, and a juror had no right to testify to show the effect of any statement, conduct, event, or condition upon the mind of a juror or concerning the mental processes by which the verdict was determined, G.S. 15A-1240(a), and could only testify to impeach the verdict when the testimony concerned matters not in evidence which came to the attention of one or more jurors under circumstances that violated the defendant's constitutional right to confront the witnesses against him, bribery, intimidation, or attempted bribery or intimidation of a juror, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1240(c). State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

§ 15A-1241. Record of proceedings.

CASE NOTES

Recordation Not Required. —

Defendant's right to due process and effective assistance of appellate counsel were not violated by trial counsel's failure to request that the trial court record jury selection, bench conferences, and the opening and closing arguments at trial, and such recordings are not required by statute. State v. Verrier, 173 N.C. App. 123, 617 S.E.2d 675, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1899 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Defendant knowingly, intelligently, and voluntarily waived her right to counsel, etc. —

Trial judge made the appropriate inquiry under G.S. 15A-1242 as to whether defendant's waiver of counsel was knowing, intelligent, and voluntary, because: (1) the trial judge informed defendant of the right of assistance of counsel, including the right to a court-appointed attorney if defendant was entitled to one; (2) the trial judge made sure that defendant understood that her probation could be revoked, that her sentences could be activated, and that she could serve 11-15 months in prison; and (3) cognizant of those facts, defendant waived her right to counsel. Because defendant's waiver of counsel was knowing, intelligent, and voluntary, the trial judge acted properly in revoking defendant's probation, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1344, for her probation violations and activating her prison sentence. State v. Whitfield, 170 N.C. App. 618, 613 S.E.2d 289, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1090 (2005).

Request to Proceed Pro Se Properly Granted. —

Trial court did not err in permitting defendant to waive his right to counsel and allowing him to proceed pro se where the record showed that the trial court fully complied with the requirements set forth in G.S. 15A-1242 before allowing defendant to waive his right to counsel. State v. Hoover, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 303, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2467 (2005).

SUBCHAPTER XIII. DISPOSITION OF DEFENDANTS.

ARTICLE 81B.

Structured Sentencing of Persons Convicted of Crimes.

Part 1. General Provisions.

§ 15A-1340.10. Applicability of structured sentencing.

Parole Eligibility Report. — Session Laws 2005-276, ss. 17.28(a)-(c), as amended by Session Laws 2006-66, s. 16.5, provides: "(a) The Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission shall, with the assistance of the North Carolina Sentencing and Policy Advisory Commission and the Department of Correction, analyze the amount of time each inmate who is eligible for parole on or before July 1, 2007, has served compared to the time served by offenders under Structured Sentencing for comparable crimes. The Commission shall determine if the person has served more time in custody than the person would have served if sentenced to the maximum sentence under the provisions of Article 81B of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes. The 'maximum sentence', for the purposes of this section, shall be calculated as set forth in subsection (b) of this section.

"(b) For the purposes of this section, the following rules apply for the calculation of the maximum sentence:

"(1) The offense upon which the person was convicted shall be classified as the same felony class as the offense would have been classified if committed after the effective date of Article 81B of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes.

"(2) The minimum sentence shall be the maximum number of months in the presumptive range of minimum durations in Prior Record Level VI of G.S. 15A-1340.17(c) for the felony class determined under subdivision (1) of this subsection. The maximum sentence shall be calculated using G.S. 15A-1340.17(d), (e), or (e1).

“(3) If a person is serving sentences for two or more offenses that are concurrent in any respect, then the offense with the greater classification shall be used to determine a single maximum sentence for the concurrent offenses. The fact that the person has been convicted of multiple offenses may be considered by the Commission in making its determinations under subsection (a) of this section.

“(c) The Commission shall report to the Joint Legislative Corrections, Crime Control, and Juvenile Justice Oversight Committee and to the Chairs of the Senate and House of Representatives Appropriations Committees, and the Chairs of the Senate and House of Representatives Appropriations Subcommittees on Justice and Public Safety by April 1, 2007. The report shall include the following: the class of the offense for which each parole-eligible inmate was convicted and whether an inmate had multiple criminal convictions. The Commission shall reinstate the parole review process for each offender who has served more time than that person would have under Structured Sentencing as provided by subsections (a) and (b) of this section.

“The Commission shall also report on the number of parole-eligible inmates reconsidered in compliance with this section and the number who were actually paroled.”

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 1.2, provides: “This act shall be known as ‘The Current Operations and Capital Improvements Appropriations Act of 2006.’”

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 28.3, provides: “Except for statutory changes or other provisions that clearly indicate an intention to have effects beyond the 2006-2007 fiscal year, the textual provisions of this act apply only to funds appropriated for, and activities occurring during, the 2006-2007 fiscal year.”

Session Laws 2006-66, s. 28.6 is a severability clause.

CASE NOTES

Plain Language Not Violated. — Trial court’s use of defendant’s prior driving while impaired convictions in determining defendant’s sentence as a Level II offender did not violate G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) as defendant’s prior convictions were not used as aggravating factors; instead, the trial court added points to defendant’s prior record pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.14, which in contrast to using the same prior convictions to establish a person’s status as an habitual felon, was not expressly prohibited. Further, the use of the same prior convictions introduced by the State as evidence of malice during trial to increase defendant’s prior record level at sentencing did not violate the plain language of G.S. 15A-1340.10. State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Cited in State v. Bryant, 359 N.C. 554, 614 S.E.2d 479, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 647 (2005).

§ 15A-1340.12. Purposes of sentencing.

CASE NOTES

Habitual Felon Sentence Proper. — Where defendant was sentenced within the presumptive range as a Level VI habitual felon, because he was given a very favorable plea bargain in which twenty-one felony offenses were consolidated for judgment with the original ten felony offenses such that defendant received no additional time for these twenty-one felonies, his sentence was upheld pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.12, and counsel was not ineffective for failing to object to the sentence as violative of the Eighth Amendment and on grounds that legislative policy considerations constitute ineffective assistance of counsel. State v. Cummings, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 183, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2618 (2005).

A factor that increases an offender’s culpability, etc. —

Trial court’s finding that defendant joined with one other person in committing the offense differed significantly from the aggravator of G.S. 15A-1340.16(d)(2), and thus was not a proper statutory aggravator; however, it was a proper nonstatutory aggravator since it increased defendant’s culpability, but, since the sentence exceeded the “statutory maximum” and the increased penalty and was supported only by judicial findings of fact, it violated Blakely. State v. Hurt, 359 N.C. 840, 616 S.E.2d 910, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 837 (2005).

Applied in State v. Norris, 360 N.C. 507, 630 S.E.2d 915, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 592 (2006).

Part 2. Felony Sentencing.

§ 15A-1340.13. Procedure and incidents of sentence of imprisonment for felonies.

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — Habitual felon statute under G.S. 15A-1340.13 does not violate the Eighth Amendment, as nothing in the Eighth Amendment prohibits the legislature from enhancing punishment for habitual offenders. State v. Quick, 170 N.C. App. 166, 611 S.E.2d 864, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 897 (2005).

State's burden of proof with respect to the existence and classification of defendant's alleged prior conviction was not satisfied, etc. —

Defendant's habitual offender sentence pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.13 was remanded for resentencing, where the State's presentation of a prior record level worksheet did not meet its burden of establishing prior convictions under G.S. 15A-1340.14(f), as defendant did not stipulate to the contents of the worksheet. State v. English, 171 N.C. App. 277, 614 S.E.2d 405, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1211 (2005).

Proof of Prior Offenses Insufficient. — Where defendant, in pleading nolo contendere, stipulated to three of defendant's eight prior convictions, but the State failed to prove any of the remaining convictions as required by G.S. 15A-1340.14(f) and G.S. 14-7.4, the trial court erred under G.S. 15A-1340.13(b) and G.S. 15A-1340.14(a) in sentencing defendant as a prior record level III offender based on prior convictions that were not proven at trial; the sentence, despite being agreed to by defendant, had to be authorized by G.S. 15A-1340.17. State v. Quick, 170 N.C. App. 166, 611 S.E.2d 864, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 897 (2005).

Proper Calculation of Defendant's Prior Record Level. — Appellate court erred in ordering a new sentencing hearing for defendant because the trial court properly calculated defendant's prior record level in sentencing defendant to a minimum term of imprisonment of 80 months to a maximum term of 105 months where, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.13(b) and G.S. 15A-1340.14(f), defendant stipulated to defendant's prior record level and the trial court used a reliable method to calculate defendant's prior record level; specifically, the trial court's methodology included relying on defense counsel's statements regarding defendant's prior record level, defense counsel's invitation to consult defendant's prior record level worksheet, and the trial court's knowledge of the plea agreement between defendant and the State. State v. Alexander, 359 N.C. 824, 616 S.E.2d 914, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 843 (2005).

Applied in State v. Norris, 360 N.C. 507, 630 S.E.2d 915, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 592 (2006).

Cited in State v. Allen, 359 N.C. 425, 615 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 695 (2005); State v. Murphy, 172 N.C. App. 734, 616 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1786 (2005); State v. King, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 719, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1307 (2006).

§ 15A-1340.14. Prior record level for felony sentencing.

CASE NOTES

Determination of Prior Record Level. — Trial court did not err in calculating defendant's prior record by including his driving while impaired convictions even though those convictions were also elements of his habitual impaired driving convictions; the trial court's calculation of defendant's prior record level did not represent a double-counting of convictions. State v. Hyden, — N.C. App. —, 625 S.E.2d 125, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 179 (2006).

In a prosecution for murder and related crimes, when a trial court found defendant was on probation when he committed the crime of discharging a firearm into occupied property and increased his prior record level points from eight to nine, and his prior record level from III to IV, under G.S. 15A-1340.14(b)(7) and (c)(4), the sentence enhancement that defendant committed the crime while on probation did not have to be alleged in the indictment, as sentencing factors did not have to be stated in an indictment. State v. Wissink, 172 N.C. App. 829, 617 S.E.2d 319, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1776 (2005).

In a prosecution for murder and related crimes, when a trial court found defendant was on probation when he committed the crime of discharging a firearm into occupied property and increased his prior record level points from eight to nine, and his prior record level from III to IV, under G.S. 15A-1340.14(b)(7) and (c)(4), it was error not to submit the issue of whether defendant was on probation when he committed the crime to a jury, as: (1) any fact, other than a prior conviction, that increased the penalty for a crime beyond the prescribed presumptive range had to be submitted to a jury and proved beyond a reasonable doubt; (2) defendant's probationary status did not have the procedural safeguards of having been previously submitted to a jury or proved beyond a reasonable doubt; and (3) defendant's acknowledgment, at sentencing, that he was on probation at the time of the crime was not a knowing and intelligent waiver of his right to a jury determination of this issue because, at the time of his sentencing, Blakely and Allen had not been decided, so he was unaware of his right to have a jury decide the question. State v. Wissink, 172 N.C. App. 829, 617 S.E.2d 319, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1776 (2005).

Trial court's use of defendant's prior driving while impaired convictions in determining defendant's sentence as a Level II offender did not violate G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) as defendant's prior convictions were not used as aggravating factors; instead, the trial court added points to defendant's prior record pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.14, which in contrast to using the same prior convictions to establish a person's status as an habitual felon, was not expressly prohibited. Further, the use of the same prior convictions introduced by the State as evidence of malice during trial to increase defendant's prior record level at sentencing did not violate the plain language of G.S. 15A-1340.01. State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Since G.S. 15A-1340.14(d) did not prohibit the use of multiple convictions obtained in different courts in the same week, defendant's assignment of error, that the trial court erred by including in its calculation of his prior record level two separate convictions received on the same day in the same county, was overruled. State v. Fuller, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 509, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1674 (2006).

Calculation Proper Even Though Not Found by Jury or Admitted by Defendant.

— Trial court was not precluded from assigning a point in the calculation of defendant's prior record level where all the elements of the present offense were included in a prior offense even though the same was neither found by the jury beyond a reasonable doubt nor admitted by defendant. State v. Poore, 172 N.C. App. 839, 616 S.E.2d 639, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1774 (2005).

Defendant's habitual offender sentence pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.13 was remanded for resentencing; the State's presentation of a prior record level worksheet did not meet its burden of establishing prior convictions under G.S. 15A-1340.14(f), as defendant did not stipulate to the contents of the worksheet. State v. En- glish, 171 N.C. App. 277, 614 S.E.2d 405, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1211 (2005).

Trial court erred in determining defendant's prior record level pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.14(e), as the State failed to show that defendant's prior conviction in New York was substantially similar to a class I misdemeanor in North Carolina. State v. Ayscue, 169 N.C. App. 548, 610 S.E.2d 389, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 677 (2005).

Enhanced sentence imposed on defendant's drug convictions had to be remanded for resentencing, because error based on insufficient evidence as a matter of law does not require an objection at the sentencing hearing to be preserved for appellate review, G.S. 15A-1446(d)(5), (18), and the trial court failed to satisfy its burden under G.S. 15A-1340.14(e) to show that defendant's Texas convictions were substantially similar to corresponding Class I North Carolina felony offenses. State v. Huu The Cao, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 301, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 185 (2006).

Trial court erred in sentencing defendant as a level IV offender on his conviction of second-degree murder, as the trial court erred in finding that a prior New York conviction of N.Y. Penal Law § 120.05 was substantially similar to North Carolina's offense of simple assault set forth in G.S. 14-33(a), as the North Carolina offense required serious injury to the victim and the New York offense did not; furthermore, under G.S. 14-2.5, an attempt to commit a misdemeanor or a felony is punishable under the next lower classification as the offense the offender attempted to commit, and defendant's prior New York conviction for attempted second-degree assault should have been treated as a class 3 misdemeanor, which would have not had any point value for prior record purposes. State v. Hanton, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 600, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 45 (2006).

Trial court did not err in sentencing defendant based on defendant's stipulation as to his prior criminal history, which was sufficient to prove that defendant had enough prior criminal history points to be sentenced within a certain sentencing range; even if it was conceded that only one of defendant's two prior convictions on the same date should have been counted in the prior criminal history, the sentencing points still would have allowed for sentencing in the same range, and thus any error in sentencing defendant was harmless. State v. Bethea, 173 N.C. App. 43, 617 S.E.2d 687, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1907 (2005).

Appellate court erred in ordering a new sentencing hearing for defendant because the trial court properly calculated defendant's prior record level in sentencing defendant to a minimum term of imprisonment of 80 months to a maximum term of 105 months where, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.13(b) and G.S. 15A-1340.14(f), defendant stipulated to defendant's prior record level and the trial court used a reliable method to calculate defendant's prior record level; specifically, the trial court's methodology included relying on defense counsel's statements regarding defendant's prior record level, defense counsel's invitation to consult defendant's prior record level worksheet, and the trial court's knowledge of the plea agreement between defendant and the State. State v. Alexander, 359 N.C. 824, 616 S.E.2d 914, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 843 (2005).

Proof of Criminal History. —

Where defendant, in pleading nolo contendere, stipulated to three of defendant's eight prior convictions, but the State failed to prove any of the remaining convictions as required by G.S. 15A-1340.14(f) and G.S. 14-7.4, the trial court erred under G.S. 15A-1340.13(b) and G.S. 15A-1340.14(a) in sentencing defendant as a prior record level III offender based on prior convictions that were not proven at trial; the sentence, despite being agreed to by defendant, had to be authorized by G.S. 15A-1340.17. State v. Quick, 170 N.C. App. 166, 611 S.E.2d 864, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 897 (2005).

Even though defendant did not disagree with statements made by the prosecutor or the trial court as to his prior convictions, defendant did not clearly stipulate to his prior convictions and the State provided no other proof of prior convictions; therefore, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.14(f), the State failed to meet its burden of proving defendant's prior record level, and defendant was entitled to a new sentencing hearing. State v. McIlwaine, 169 N.C. App. 397, 610 S.E.2d 399, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 607 (2005).

State met its burden of proving defendant's prior convictions by presenting a certified Division of Criminal Information printout and a certified Division of Motor Vehicle driving history to the court. State v. Jordan, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 229, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2481 (2005).

Sentence Did Not Constitute Cruel And Unusual Punishment. — Sentence consistent with G.S. 15A-1340.14 did not constitute cruel and unusual punishment under the Eighth Amendment; the State's use of defendant's prior misdemeanor convictions to enhance a sentence already enhanced under the Habitual Felon Act, G.S. 14-7.1 et seq., did not constitute cruel and unusual punishment. State v. Hall, 174 N.C. App. 353, 620 S.E.2d 723, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2397 (2005).

Stipulation. —

Based on defense counsel's clear stipulation that defendant was a Level IV felon with ten prior record points, defendant's prior record level was sufficiently proven. Hence, defendant's claim that the trial court committed plain error by sentencing defendant as a Class C, Level IV offender was overruled. State v. Renfro, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 221, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2483 (2005).

Trial court's findings regarding defendant's prior record points and prior record level were supported by the evidence under G.S. 15A-1340.14(f) as defense counsel stipulated to the convictions shown on a worksheet and found by the trial court to support a felony record level IV. State v. Cromartie, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 677, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 701 (2006).

Matter was remanded for resentencing as, inter alia: (1) the parties stipulated to several out-of-state convictions on the prior record level worksheet, the date of the convictions, and their classification; (2) based on the stipulation, the trial court found that defendant had six points for a prior record level of III; and (3) the question of whether a conviction under an out-of-state statute was substantially similar to an offense under North Carolina statutes was a question of law to be resolved by the trial court. State v. Palmateer, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 592, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1967 (2006).

§ 15A-1340.15. Multiple convictions.

CASE NOTES

Proper Assignment of Points. — Trial court did not err in assigning one point in defendant's prior record level calculation under G.S. 15A-1340.14(b)(5) for conviction of purchase or possession of beer or wine under G.S.

18B-302, as any person who violated any provision of the chapter at issue was guilty of a class one misdemeanor. State v. Frady, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 346, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 53 (2006).

§ 15A-1340.16. Aggravated and mitigated sentences.

CASE NOTES

Constitutionality. — Those parts of G.S. 15A-1340.16(a), (b), and (c) that allow a judge to find an aggravating factor be proved by a preponderance of the evidence are unconstitutional under U.S. Const. amend VI; those aggravators must be proved to a jury beyond a reasonable doubt. The court struck those provisions, but left G.S. 15A-1340.16(d), which was constitutional and stood on its own, intact. State v. Allen, 359 N.C. 425, 615 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 695 (2005).

Findings. —

Regarding two counts of robbery with a dangerous weapon, the trial court erred in finding an aggravating factor and sentencing a juvenile defendant within the aggravated range in violation of his Sixth Amendment right to a jury trial, where there was no evidence that the facts for the aggravating factor were presented to a jury, proven beyond a reasonable doubt, nor stipulated to by the juvenile; hence, the matter was remanded for resentencing. State v. Oglesby, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 152, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2624 (2005).

Sentence in the aggravated range violated defendant's Sixth Amendment right to a jury trial. The aggravating factors found by the trial court pursuant to G. S. 15A-1340.16 were not admitted by defendant, were not found by a jury, and did not constitute prior convictions. State v. Lacey, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 351, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 10 (2006).

Defendant was entitled to resentencing where the trial judge made findings of aggravating factors and imposed an aggravated range sentence from a minimum term of 120 months to maximum term of 153 months of imprisonment for armed robbery without defendant either stipulating to the findings or a jury finding defendant guilty of the aggravating factors beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Corey, 173 N.C. App. 444, 618 S.E.2d 784, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2011 (2005).

Trial court did not violate defendant's Sixth Amendment right to jury trial when it found that a statutory aggravating factor existed, but sentenced defendant within the presumptive range. State v. Norris, 360 N.C. 507, 630 S.E.2d 915, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 592 (2006).

Finding Not Found By Jury Violated Sixth Amendment. — Where the trial court, sentencing defendant for attempted voluntary manslaughter, enhanced the sentence, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.16, based on the aggravating factor found by the trial court that the victim suffered serious injury that was permanent and debilitating, this violated U.S. Const., Amend. VI because the fact was not found by a jury beyond the reasonable doubt. State v. Bullock, 171 N.C. App. 763, 615 S.E.2d 337, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1353 (2005).

Trial court was not required to resentence defendant, as it did not err in imposing an enhanced term on him following his conviction for second-degree murder; G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) proscribed the use of the same fact to enhance a sentence, which the trial court did not do, but did not prohibit use of the same source, such as the Florida fugitive warrant that the trial court relied on. State v. Beck, 359 N.C. 611, 614 S.E.2d 274, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 644 (2005).

Burden of Proof. —

Defendant's sentence for felony child abuse inflicting serious bodily injury was remanded for resentencing where the aggravating factor under G.S. 15A-1340.16 of the crime being heinous, atrocious, or cruel was established by a trial judge by the preponderance of the evidence; under U.S. Const. amend. VI, defendant had a right to have that aggravating factor determined by a jury beyond a reasonable doubt and not simply by a trial judge by the preponderance of the evidence. State v. Allen, 359 N.C. 425, 615 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 695 (2005).

Proof of Element of Offense Not to Be Used for Aggravating Factor. —

Trial court's use of defendant's prior driving while impaired convictions in determining defendant's sentence as a Level II offender did not violate G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) as defendant's prior convictions were not used as aggravating factors; instead, the trial court added points to defendant's prior record pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.14, which in contrast to using the same prior convictions to establish a person's status as an habitual felon, was not expressly prohibited. Further, the use of the same prior convictions introduced by the State as evidence of malice during trial to increase defendant's prior record level at sentencing did not violate the plain language of G.S. 15A-1340.10. State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Evidence of Good Character. —

Under G.S. 15A-1443(c), exclusion of the defendant's mother's testimony that she believed that he had remorse for the two murders that he committed and that he would adjust well to prison life was harmless error beyond a reasonable doubt because there were other similar opinions that were admitted and there was no foundation laid for the mother's opinions under G.S. 15A-1340.16(e)(12). State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Breach of Trust — Aggravating Factor.

While the Court of Appeals of North Carolina has recognized a position of trust aggravating factor in familial relationships when the child in question is a minor, there is no precedent for such a finding where the child in question is an adult; therefore, in a case involving assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill inflicting serious injury, the aggravating circumstance was improperly found, and, even if there was such a relationship, the facts showed that the crime was not committed by taking advantage of a relationship with the victim's mother. State v. Nicholson, 169 N.C. App. 390, 610 S.E.2d 433, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 601 (2005).

Proper Aggravation. —

Defendant has failed to show any abuse in the trial court's discretion to sentence defendant in the aggravating range under G.S. 15A-1340.16 after the jury found the aggravating factor that defendant took advantage of a position of trust or confidence to exist for each offense defendant committed towards his minor victim, the defendant's stepdaughter, beyond a reasonable doubt. Therefore, the sentence was proper notwithstanding the trial court also finding two mitigating factors to exist. State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 501, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 703 (2006).

Improper Aggravation. —

Trial court violated Blakely by imposing an aggravated sentence that exceeded the statutory maximum after making a unilateral finding that defendant was on pretrial release for another charge when he committed the instant offense. Since Blakely errors arising under North Carolina's Structured Sentencing Act were structural and, therefore, reversible per se, defendant's case had to be remanded to the trial court for resentencing. State v. Blackwell, 359 N.C. 814, 618 S.E.2d 213, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 846 (2005).

Failure to Submit Aggravator to Jury was Error. — Where a trial court failed to submit to a jury the factual issue of the sentencing aggravator that defendant took advantage of a position of trust and confidence to commit the crimes, the finding of that aggravating factor was error unless defendant admitted to it; since cases holding that an offender had the right to have a jury determine the existence of aggravating factors had not been decided at the time of defendant's sentencing hearing, he was unaware of this right, his stipulation to the factual basis for his plea was not a knowing and intelligent act done with sufficient awareness of the relevant circumstances and likely consequences, and he did not knowingly and effectively stipulate to the aggravating factor, or waive his right to a jury trial on the issue of the aggravating factor.

State v. Meynardie, 172 N.C. App. 127, 616 S.E.2d 21, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1576 (2005).

Defendant was entitled to a new sentencing hearing because the judge, not the jury, found as an aggravating factor that defendant took advantage of a position of trust or confidence. State v. Massey, 174 N.C. App. 216, 621 S.E.2d 633, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2400 (2005).

The sentence imposed for conviction of second-degree murder was error where the aggravated sentence imposed by the trial court pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) was based on factors neither pled in an indictment, found by a jury beyond a reasonable doubt, nor admitted by defendant. State v. Harris, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 588, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 57 (2006).

Right To Jury Trial Violated by Finding of Aggravating Factor. — Where, in sentencing defendant, the trial court found as an aggravating factor that defendant took advantage of a position of trust or confidence to commit the offense, this judicial finding under G.S. 15A-1340.16 violated defendant's Sixth Amendment right to be tried by a jury, as the jury did not find the aggravating factor beyond a reasonable doubt, an error that was reversible per se. State v. Lewis, 172 N.C. App. 97, 616 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1439 (2005).

Right to Jury Determination. — Trial court erred where, in sentencing defendant for two counts of assault with a deadly weapon inflicting serious injury, the trial court found as aggravating factors that defendant committed the offense while on pretrial release on another charge and that he joined with more than one other person in committing the offense, since these were not prior convictions, not admitted by defendant, and the facts for the aggravators were not presented to a jury and proved beyond a reasonable doubt; use of defendant's prior juvenile adjudication as an aggravator was also error since it was not a prior conviction, and not proven to a jury beyond a reasonable doubt. State v. Yarrell, 172 N.C. App. 135, 616 S.E.2d 258, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1428 (2005).

Resentencing was necessary where the trial court sentenced defendant as a habitual felon at the top of the aggravated range, to a term of 167 to 210 months, but the aggravating factors under G.S. 15A-1340.16(d) were not found beyond a reasonable doubt by the jury and were not admitted by defendant. State v. Phillips, 172 N.C. App. 143, 615 S.E.2d 880, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1426 (2005).

North Carolina Supreme Court has considered the application of Blakely to North Carolina's Structured Sentencing Act. G.S. 15A-1340 et seq., and held that U.S. Const. Amend. 6 required aggravating sentencing factors, like elements, to be found by a jury beyond a reasonable doubt; however, the trial court sentenced defendant, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1340.16, to the maximum aggravated range terms of imprisonment based on its finding of two aggravating factors without the jury's consideration, and therefore if the court had not already awarded defendant a new trial on separate grounds, he would have been entitled to a new sentencing hearing on this basis. State v. McCoy, 174 N.C. App. 105, 620 S.E.2d 863, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2289 (2005).

Blakely Issue Not Reached. — Defendant's claim of a Blakely v. Washington, 542 U.S. 296 (2004), violation was not reached as defendant was indicted on March 13, 1995, which was before the certification date of the State v. Allen, 615 S.E.2d 256 (2005), opinion, his appeal was not pending direct review, and his case was final; defendant did not appeal the trial court's acceptance of the plea agreement under which he entered his Alford pleas, the finding of aggravating and mitigating factors by the trial court, nor his sentence to 55 years of imprisonment and it was not until November 7, 2003, that defendant filed a petition for a writ of certiorari and was allowed a limited review of only those issues within his appeal of right pursuant to G.S. 15A-1444(a1) and (a2). State v. Pender, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2710 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Habitual Felons. —

Where defendant, in pleading nolo contendere, stipulated to three of defendant's eight prior convictions, but the State failed to prove any of the remaining convictions as required by G.S. 15A-1340.14(f) and G.S. 14-7.4, the trial court erred under G.S. 15A-1340.13(b) and G.S. 15A-1340.14(a) in sentencing defendant as a prior record level III offender based on prior convictions that were not proven at trial; the sentence, despite being agreed to by defendant, had to be authorized by G.S. 15A-1340.17. State v. Quick, 170 N.C. App. 166, 611 S.E.2d 864, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 897 (2005).

Findings as to Aggravating Factors. —

Trial court did not violate defendant's Sixth Amendment right to a jury trial by sentencing him, under G.S. 15A-1340.17(c), within the aggravated range because of aggravating factors that the court found, but which were not admitted by defendant or submitted to the jury because defendant's sentence fell within the presumptive range. State v. Garcia, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 292, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2493 (2005).

Aggravation Improper. — Trial court erred in sentencing defendant in the aggravated range because the issue was not submitted to the jury and there was no evidence that defendant admitted that the aggravating factor, that defendant committed the offense while on pretrial release of another charge, applied. State v. Caudle, 172 N.C. App. 261, 616 S.E.2d 8, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1430 (2005).

Sentence Held Proper. —

Sentence imposed on defendant of 84 months to 110 months imprisonment, where defendant had a prior record level of III, was not grossly disproportionate under the Eighth Amendment; defendant's sentence was as a Class C felony under G.S. 14-7.6 and his sentence was in the mitigated sentencing range of G.S. 15A-1340.17. State v. Flemming, 171 N.C. App. 413, 615 S.E.2d 310, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1260 (2005).

ARTICLE 82.

Probation.

§ 15A-1341. Probation generally.

(a) Use of Probation. — Unless specifically prohibited, a person who has been convicted of any criminal offense may be placed on probation as provided by this Article if the class of offense of which the person is convicted and the person's prior record or conviction level under Article 81B of this Chapter authorizes a community or intermediate punishment as a type of sentence disposition or if the person is convicted of impaired driving under G.S. 20-138.1.

(a1) Deferred Prosecution. — A person who has been charged with a Class H or I felony or a misdemeanor may be placed on probation as provided in this Article on motion of the defendant and the prosecutor if the court finds each of the following facts:

- (1) Prosecution has been deferred by the prosecutor pursuant to written agreement with the defendant, with the approval of the court, for the purpose of allowing the defendant to demonstrate his good conduct.
- (2) Each known victim of the crime has been notified of the motion for probation by subpoena or certified mail and has been given an opportunity to be heard.
- (3) The defendant has not been convicted of any felony or of any misdemeanor involving moral turpitude.
- (4) The defendant has not previously been placed on probation and so states under oath.

(5) The defendant is unlikely to commit another offense other than a Class 3 misdemeanor.

(a2) Deferred Prosecution for Purpose of Drug Treatment Court Program. — A defendant eligible for a Drug Treatment Court Program pursuant to Article 62 of Chapter 7A of the General Statutes may be placed on probation if the court finds that prosecution has been deferred by the prosecutor, with the approval of the court, pursuant to a written agreement with the defendant, for the purpose of allowing the defendant to participate in and successfully complete the Drug Treatment Court Program.

(b) Supervised and Unsupervised Probation. — The court may place a person on supervised or unsupervised probation. A person on unsupervised probation is subject to all incidents of probation except supervision by or assignment to a probation officer.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1995, c. 429, s. 1.

(d) Search of Sex Offender Registration Information Required When Placing a Defendant on Probation. — When the court places a defendant on probation, the probation officer assigned to the defendant shall conduct a search of the defendant's name or other identifying information against the registration information regarding sex offenders compiled by the Division of Criminal Statistics of the Department of Justice in accordance with Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. The probation officer may conduct the search using the Internet site maintained by the Division of Criminal Statistics. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1147, ss. 4A, 5; 1981, c. 377, ss. 2, 3; 1993, c. 538, s. 15; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(b); 1995, c. 429, s. 1; 1999-298, s. 1; 2006-247, s. 14.)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21, is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 14, effective August 16, 2006, added subsection (d).

CASE NOTES

Double Jeopardy Not Violated by Dismissal. — Before trial, defendant failed to comply with the conditions of a deferred prosecution agreement he entered under G.S. 15A-1341(a1); because defendant was neither tried on, nor pled guilty to, the original misdemeanor charges, jeopardy never attached so that his right to be free from double jeopardy under USCS Const. Amend. 5 was not violated by his subsequent trial and conviction for embezzlement by aiding and abetting. State v. Ross, 173 N.C. App. 569, 620 S.E.2d 33, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2084 (2005), aff'd, — N.C. —, 625 S.E.2d 779 (2006).

§ 15A-1343. Conditions of probation.

(a) In General. — The court may impose conditions of probation reasonably necessary to insure that the defendant will lead a law-abiding life or to assist him to do so.

(b) Regular Conditions. — As regular conditions of probation, a defendant must:

- (1) Commit no criminal offense in any jurisdiction.
- (2) Remain within the jurisdiction of the court unless granted written permission to leave by the court or his probation officer.
- (3) Report as directed by the court or his probation officer to the officer at reasonable times and places and in a reasonable manner, permit the officer to visit him at reasonable times, answer all reasonable inquiries by the officer and obtain prior approval from the officer for, and notify the officer of, any change in address or employment.

- (4) Satisfy child support and other family obligations as required by the court. If the court requires the payment of child support, the amount of the payments shall be determined as provided in G.S. 50-13.4(c).
- (5) Possess no firearm, explosive device or other deadly weapon listed in G.S. 14-269 without the written permission of the court.
- (6) Pay a supervision fee as specified in subsection (c1).
- (7) Remain gainfully and suitably employed or faithfully pursue a course of study or of vocational training that will equip him for suitable employment. A defendant pursuing a course of study or of vocational training shall abide by all of the rules of the institution providing the education or training, and the probation officer shall forward a copy of the probation judgment to that institution and request to be notified of any violations of institutional rules by the defendant.
- (8) Notify the probation officer if he fails to obtain or retain satisfactory employment.
- (9) Pay the costs of court, any fine ordered by the court, and make restitution or reparation as provided in subsection (d).
- (10) Pay the State of North Carolina for the costs of appointed counsel, public defender, or appellate defender to represent him in the case(s) for which he was placed on probation.
- (11) At a time to be designated by his probation officer, visit with his probation officer a facility maintained by the Division of Prisons.
- (12) Attend and complete an abuser treatment program if (i) the court finds the defendant is responsible for acts of domestic violence and (ii) there is a program, approved by the Domestic Violence Commission, reasonably available to the defendant, unless the court finds that such would not be in the best interests of justice.

A defendant shall not pay costs associated with a substance abuse monitoring program or any other special condition of probation in lieu of, or prior to, the payments required by this subsection.

In addition to these regular conditions of probation, a defendant required to serve an active term of imprisonment as a condition of special probation pursuant to G.S. 15A-1344(e) or G.S. 15A-1351(a) shall, as additional regular conditions of probation, obey the rules and regulations of the Department of Correction governing the conduct of inmates while imprisoned and report to a probation officer in the State of North Carolina within 72 hours of his discharge from the active term of imprisonment.

Regular conditions of probation apply to each defendant placed on supervised probation unless the presiding judge specifically exempts the defendant from one or more of the conditions in open court and in the judgment of the court. It is not necessary for the presiding judge to state each regular condition of probation in open court, but the conditions must be set forth in the judgment of the court.

Defendants placed on unsupervised probation are subject to the provisions of this subsection, except that defendants placed on unsupervised probation are not subject to the regular conditions contained in subdivisions (2), (3), (6), (8), and (11).

(b1) Special Conditions. — In addition to the regular conditions of probation specified in subsection (b), the court may, as a condition of probation, require that during the probation the defendant comply with one or more of the following special conditions:

- (1) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment and remain in a specified institution if required for that purpose.

- (2) Attend or reside in a facility providing rehabilitation, counseling, treatment, social skills, or employment training, instruction, recreation, or residence for persons on probation.
- (2a) Repealed by Session Laws 2002, ch. 126, s. 17.18, effective August 15, 2002.
- (2b) Participate in and successfully complete a Drug Treatment Court Program pursuant to Article 62 of Chapter 7A of the General Statutes.
- (3) Submit to imprisonment required for special probation under G.S. 15A-1351(a) or G.S. 15A-1344(e).
- (3a) Repealed by Session Laws 1997-57, s. 3.
- (3b) Submit to supervision by officers assigned to the Intensive Supervision Program established pursuant to G.S. 143B-262(c), and abide by the rules adopted for that Program. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, intensive supervision also requires multiple contacts by a probation officer per week, a specific period each day during which the offender must be at his or her residence, and that the offender remain gainfully and suitably employed or faithfully pursue a course of study or of vocational training that will equip the offender for suitable employment.
- (3c) Remain at his or her residence unless the court or the probation officer authorizes the offender to leave for the purpose of employment, counseling, a course of study, or vocational training. The offender shall be required to wear a device which permits the supervising agency to monitor the offender's compliance with the condition electronically and to pay a fee for the device as specified in subsection (c2) of this section.
- (4) Surrender his or her driver's license to the clerk of superior court, and not operate a motor vehicle for a period specified by the court.
- (5) Compensate the Department of Environment and Natural Resources or the North Carolina Wildlife Resources Commission, as the case may be, for the replacement costs of any marine and estuarine resources or any wildlife resources which were taken, injured, removed, harmfully altered, damaged or destroyed as a result of a criminal offense of which the defendant was convicted. If any investigation is required by officers or agents of the Department of Environment and Natural Resources or the Wildlife Resources Commission in determining the extent of the destruction of resources involved, the court may include compensation of the agency for investigative costs as a condition of probation. This subdivision does not apply in any case governed by G.S. 143-215.3(a)(7).
- (6) Perform community or reparation service and pay any fee required by law or ordered by the court for participation in the community or reparation service program.
- (7) Submit at reasonable times to warrantless searches by a probation officer of his or her person and of his or her vehicle and premises while the probationer is present, for purposes specified by the court and reasonably related to his or her probation supervision, but the probationer may not be required to submit to any other search that would otherwise be unlawful. Whenever the warrantless search consists of testing for the presence of illegal drugs, the probationer may also be required to reimburse the Department of Correction for the actual cost of drug screening and drug testing, if the results are positive.
- (8) Not use, possess, or control any illegal drug or controlled substance unless it has been prescribed for him or her by a licensed physician and is in the original container with the prescription number affixed on it; not knowingly associate with any known or previously convicted users, possessors or sellers of any such illegal drugs or controlled substances; and not knowingly be present at or frequent any place where such illegal drugs or controlled substances are sold, kept, or used.

- (8a) Purchase the least expensive annual statewide license or combination of licenses to hunt, trap, or fish listed in G.S. 113-270.2, 113-270.3, 113-270.5, 113-271, 113-272, and 113-272.2 that would be required to engage lawfully in the specific activity or activities in which the defendant was engaged and which constitute the basis of the offense or offenses of which he was convicted.
- (9) If the offense is one in which there is evidence of physical, mental or sexual abuse of a minor, the court should encourage the minor and the minor's parents or custodians to participate in rehabilitative treatment and may order the defendant to pay the cost of such treatment.
- (9a) Repealed by Session Laws 2004-186, s. 1.1, effective December 1, 2004, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date.
- (10) Satisfy any other conditions determined by the court to be reasonably related to his rehabilitation.
- (b2) Special Conditions of Probation for Sex Offenders and Persons Convicted of Offenses Involving Physical, Mental, or Sexual Abuse of a Minor. — As special conditions of probation, a defendant who has been convicted of an offense which is a reportable conviction as defined in G.S. 14-208.6(4), or which involves the physical, mental, or sexual abuse of a minor, must:
  - (1) Register as required by G.S. 14-208.7 if the offense is a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4).
  - (2) Participate in such evaluation and treatment as is necessary to complete a prescribed course of psychiatric, psychological, or other rehabilitative treatment as ordered by the court.
  - (3) Not communicate with, be in the presence of, or found in or on the premises of the victim of the offense.
  - (4) Not reside in a household with any minor child if the offense is one in which there is evidence of sexual abuse of a minor.
  - (5) Not reside in a household with any minor child if the offense is one in which there is evidence of physical or mental abuse of a minor, unless the court expressly finds that it is unlikely that the defendant's harmful or abusive conduct will recur and that it would be in the minor child's best interest to allow the probationer to reside in the same household with a minor child.
  - (6) Satisfy any other conditions determined by the court to be reasonably related to his rehabilitation.
  - (7) Submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, if the defendant is described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1).
  - (8) Submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, if the defendant is in the category described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(2), and the Department of Correction, based on the Department's risk assessment program, recommends that the defendant submit to the highest possible level of supervision and monitoring.

Defendants subject to the provisions of this subsection shall not be placed on unsupervised probation, except as provided in G.S. 14-208.42.

(b3) Screening and Assessing for Chemical Dependency. — A defendant ordered to submit to a period of residential treatment in the Drug Alcohol Recovery Treatment program (DART) operated by the Department of Correction must undergo a screening to determine chemical dependency. If the screening indicates the defendant is chemically dependent, the court shall order an assessment to determine the appropriate level of treatment. The assessment may be conducted either before or after the court imposes the condition, but participation in the program shall be based on the results of the assessment.

(c) Statement of Conditions. — A defendant released on supervised probation must be given a written statement explicitly setting forth the conditions on which he is being released. If any modification of the terms of that probation is subsequently made, he must be given a written statement setting forth the modifications.

(c1) Supervision Fee. — Any person placed on supervised probation pursuant to subsection (a) of this section shall pay a supervision fee of thirty dollars ($30.00) per month, unless exempted by the court. The court may exempt a person from paying the fee only for good cause and upon motion of the person placed on supervised probation. No person shall be required to pay more than one supervision fee per month. The court may require that the fee be paid in advance or in a lump sum or sums, and a probation officer may require payment by such methods if he is authorized by subsection (g) to determine the payment schedule. Supervision fees must be paid to the clerk of court for the county in which the judgment was entered or the deferred prosecution agreement was filed. Fees collected under this subsection shall be transmitted to the State for deposit into the State's General Fund.

(c2) Electronic Monitoring Device Fee. — Any person placed on house arrest with electronic monitoring under subsection (b1) of this section shall pay a fee of ninety dollars ($90.00) for the electronic monitoring device. The court may exempt a person from paying the fee only for good cause and upon motion of the person placed on house arrest with electronic monitoring. The court may require that the fee be paid in advance or in a lump sum or sums, and a probation officer may require payment by those methods if the officer is authorized by subsection (g) of this section to determine the payment schedule. The fee must be paid to the clerk of court for the county in which the judgment was entered or the deferred prosecution agreement was filed. Fees collected under this subsection shall be transmitted to the State for deposit into the State's General Fund.

(d) Restitution as a Condition of Probation. — As a condition of probation, a defendant may be required to make restitution or reparation to an aggrieved party or parties who shall be named by the court for the damage or loss caused by the defendant arising out of the offense or offenses committed by the defendant. When restitution or reparation is a condition imposed, the court shall take into consideration the factors set out in G.S. 15A-1340.35 and G.S. 15A-1340.36. As used herein, "reparation" shall include but not be limited to the performing of community services, volunteer work, or doing such other acts or things as shall aid the defendant in his rehabilitation. As used herein "aggrieved party" includes individuals, firms, corporations, associations, other organizations, and government agencies, whether federal, State or local, including the Crime Victims Compensation Fund established by G.S. 15B-23. A government agency may benefit by way of reparation even though the agency was not a party to the crime provided that when reparation is ordered, community service work shall be rendered only after approval has been granted by the owner or person in charge of the property or premises where the work will be done.

(e) Costs of Court and Appointed Counsel. — Unless the court finds there are extenuating circumstances, any person placed upon supervised or unsupervised probation under the terms set forth by the court shall, as a condition of probation, be required to pay all court costs and all fees and costs for appointed counsel, public defender, or counsel employed by or under contract with the Office of Indigent Defense Services in the case in which the person was convicted. The fees and costs for appointed counsel, public defender, or other counsel services shall be determined in accordance with rules adopted by the Office of Indigent Defense Services. The court shall determine the amount of those costs and fees to be repaid and the method of payment.

(f) Repealed by Session Laws 1983, c. 561, s. 5.

(g) Probation Officer May Determine Payment Schedules. — If a person placed on supervised probation is required as a condition of that probation to pay any moneys to the clerk of superior court, the court may delegate to a probation officer the responsibility to determine the payment schedule. The court may also authorize the probation officer to transfer the person to unsupervised probation after all the moneys are paid to the clerk. If the probation officer transfers a person to unsupervised probation, he must notify the clerk of that action. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1147, ss. 8-10; 1979, c. 662, s. 1; c. 801, s. 3; c. 830, s. 12; 1981, c. 530, ss. 1, 2; 1983, c. 135, s. 1; c. 561, ss. 1-6; c. 567, s. 2; c. 712, s. 1; 1983 (Reg. #### Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a), provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(l) provides: "Unless otherwise provided in the section, this section is effective when it becomes law and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole. However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 17, provides: "No later than January 1, 2007, the Department of Correction shall develop a graduated risk assessment program that identifies, assesses, and closely monitors a high-risk sex offender who, while not classified as a sexually violent predator, a recidivist, or convicted of an aggravated offense as those terms are defined in G.S. 14-208.6, may still require extraordinary supervision and may be placed on probation, parole, or post-release supervision only on the conditions provided in G.S. 15A-1343(b2) or G.S. 15A-1368.4(b1)."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(b), effective August 16, 2006, added new subdivisions (b2)(7) and (8); substituted "probation, except as provided in G.S. 14-208.42" for "probation" at the end of the undesignated paragraph of (b2). For applicability provision, see Editor's note.

CASE NOTES

I. General Consideration.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Acknowledgement of Condition of Probation Sufficient. — Defendant's executed acknowledgment of the monetary condition of probation was sufficient to prove notification of probation conditions. State v. Henderson, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 818, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1832 (2006).

§ 15A-1343.2. Special probation rules for persons sentenced under Article 81B.

(a) Applicability. — This section applies only to persons sentenced under Article 81B of this Chapter.

(b) Purposes of Probation for Community and Intermediate Punishments. — The Department of Correction shall develop a plan to handle offenders sentenced to community and intermediate punishments. The probation program designed to handle these offenders shall have the following principal purposes: to hold offenders accountable for making restitution, to ensure compliance with the court's judgment, to effectively rehabilitate offenders by directing them to specialized treatment or education programs, and to protect the public safety.

(c) Probation Caseload Goals. — It is the goal of the General Assembly that, subject to the availability of funds, caseloads for probation officers supervising persons sentenced to community punishment should not exceed an average of 90 offenders per officer, and caseloads for offenders sentenced to intermediate punishments should not exceed an average of 60 offenders per officer by July 1, 1998.

(d) Lengths of Probation Terms Under Structured Sentencing. — Unless the court makes specific findings that longer or shorter periods of probation are necessary, the length of the original period of probation for offenders sentenced under Article 81B shall be as follows:

- (1) For misdemeanants sentenced to community punishment, not less than six nor more than 18 months;
- (2) For misdemeanants sentenced to intermediate punishment, not less than 12 nor more than 24 months;
- (3) For felons sentenced to community punishment, not less than 12 nor more than 30 months; and
- (4) For felons sentenced to intermediate punishment, not less than 18 nor more than 36 months.

If the court finds at the time of sentencing that a longer period of probation is necessary, that period may not exceed a maximum of five years, as specified in G.S. 15A-1342 and G.S. 15A-1351.

Extension. — The court may with the consent of the offender extend the original period of the probation if necessary to complete a program of restitution or to complete medical or psychiatric treatment ordered as a condition of probation. This extension may be for no more than three years, and may only be ordered in the last six months of the original period of probation.

(e) Delegation to Probation Officer in Community Punishment. — Unless the presiding judge specifically finds in the judgment of the court that delegation is not appropriate, the Division of Community Corrections in the Department of Correction may require an offender sentenced to community punishment to:

- (1) Perform up to 20 hours of community service, and pay the fee prescribed by law for this supervision;
- (2) Report to the offender's probation officer on a frequency to be determined by the officer; or
- (3) Submit to substance abuse assessment, monitoring or treatment.

If the Division imposes any of the above requirements, then it may subsequently reduce or remove those same requirements.

If the probation officer exercises authority delegated by the court pursuant to this subsection, the offender may file a motion with the court to review the action taken by the probation officer. The offender shall be given notice of the right to seek such a court review. The Division may exercise any authority delegated to it under this subsection only if it first determines that the offender has failed to comply with one or more of the conditions of probation imposed by the court.

(f) Delegation to Probation Officer in Intermediate Punishments. — Unless the presiding judge specifically finds in the judgment of the court that delegation is not appropriate, the Division of Community Corrections in the Department of Correction may require an offender sentenced to intermediate punishment to:

- (1) Perform up to 50 hours of community service, and pay the fee prescribed by law for this supervision;
- (2) Submit to a curfew which requires the offender to remain in a specified place for a specified period each day and wear a device that permits the offender's compliance with the condition to be monitored electronically;
- (3) Submit to substance abuse assessment, monitoring or treatment; or
- (4) Participate in an educational or vocational skills development program.
- (5) Submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, if the defendant is described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(2).

If the Division imposes any of the above requirements, then it may subsequently reduce or remove those same requirements.

If the probation officer exercises authority delegated to him or her by the court pursuant to this subsection, the offender may file a motion with the court to review the action taken by the probation officer. The offender shall be given notice of the right to seek such a court review. The Division may exercise any authority delegated to it under this subsection only if it first determines that the offender has failed to comply with one or more of the conditions of probation imposed by the court.

(f1) Mandatory Condition of Satellite-Based Monitoring for Some Sex Offenders. — Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, the court shall impose satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes as a condition of probation on any offender who is described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1).

(g) Repealed by Session Laws 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 19, s. 3.

(h) Definitions. — For purposes of this section, the definitions in G.S. 15A-1340.11 apply. (1993, c. 538, s. 17.1; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 14, s. 22; c. 19, s. 3; c. 24, s. 14(b); 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 767, s. 8; 1997-57, s. 4; 2001-487, s. 47(b); 2006-247, ss. 15(c), 15(d).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a) provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(l) provides: "Unless otherwise provided in the section, this section is effective when it becomes law and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole.

However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(c), (d), effective August 16, 2006, added new subdivision (f)(5) and subsection (f1). For applicability provision, see Editor's note.

§ 15A-1344. Response to violations; alteration and revocation.

(a) Authority to Alter or Revoke. — Except as provided in subsection (b), probation may be reduced, terminated, continued, extended, modified, or revoked by any judge entitled to sit in the court which imposed probation and who is resident or presiding in the district court district as defined in G.S. 7A-133 or superior court district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1, as the case may be, where the sentence of probation was imposed, where the probationer violates probation, or where the probationer resides. Upon a finding that an offender sentenced to community punishment under Article 81B has violated one or more conditions of probation, the court's authority to modify the probation judgment includes the authority to require the offender to comply with conditions of probation that would otherwise make the sentence an intermediate punishment. The district attorney of the prosecutorial district as defined in G.S. 7A-60 in which probation was imposed must be given reasonable notice of any hearing to affect probation substantially.

(b) Limits on Jurisdiction to Alter or Revoke Unsupervised Probation. — If the sentencing judge has entered an order to limit jurisdiction to consider a sentence of unsupervised probation under G.S. 15A-1342(h), a sentence of unsupervised probation may be reduced, terminated, continued, extended, modified, or revoked only by the sentencing judge or, if the sentencing judge is no longer on the bench, by a presiding judge in the court where the defendant was sentenced.

(c) Procedure on Altering or Revoking Probation; Returning Probationer to District Where Sentenced. — When a judge reduces, terminates, extends, modifies, or revokes probation outside the county where the judgment was entered, the clerk must send a copy of the order and any other records to the court where probation was originally imposed. A court on its own motion may return the probationer to the district court district as defined in G.S. 7A-133 or superior court district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1, as the case may be, where probation was imposed or where the probationer resides for reduction, termination, continuation, extension, modification, or revocation of probation. In cases where the probation is revoked in a county other than the county of original conviction the clerk in that county must issue a commitment order and must file the order revoking probation and the commitment order, which will constitute sufficient permanent record of the proceeding in that court, and must send a certified copy of the order revoking probation, the commitment order, and all other records pertaining thereto to the county of original conviction to be filed with the original records. The clerk in the county other than the county of original conviction must issue the formal commitment to the North Carolina Department of Correction.

(d) Extension and Modification; Response to Violations. — At any time prior to the expiration or termination of the probation period, the court may after notice and hearing and for good cause shown extend the period of probation up to the maximum allowed under G.S. 15A-1342(a) and may modify the conditions of probation. The probation period shall be tolled if the probationer shall have pending against him criminal charges in any court of competent jurisdiction, which, upon conviction, could result in revocation proceedings against him for violation of the terms of this probation. The hearing may be held in the absence of the defendant, if he fails to appear for the hearing after a reasonable effort to notify him. If a convicted defendant violates a condition of probation at any time prior to the expiration or termination of the period of probation, the court, in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 15A-1345, may continue him on probation, with or without modifying the conditions, may place the defendant on special probation as provided in subsection (e), or, if continuation, modification, or special probation is not appropriate, may revoke the probation and activate the suspended sentence imposed at the time of initial sentencing, if any, or may order that charges as to which prosecution has been deferred be brought to trial; provided that probation may not be revoked solely for conviction of a Class 3 misdemeanor. The court, before activating a sentence to imprisonment established when the defendant was placed on probation, may reduce the sentence, but the reduction shall be consistent with subsection (d1) of this section. A sentence activated upon revocation of probation commences on the day probation is revoked and runs concurrently with any other period of probation, parole, or imprisonment to which the defendant is subject during that period unless the revoking judge specifies that it is to run consecutively with the other period.

(d1) Reduction of Initial Sentence. — If the court elects to reduce the sentence of imprisonment for a felony, it shall not deviate from the range of minimum durations established in Article 81B of this Chapter for the class of offense and prior record level used in determining the initial sentence. If the presumptive range is used for the initial suspended sentence, the reduced sentence shall be within the presumptive range. If the mitigated range is used for the initial suspended sentence, the reduced sentence shall be within the mitigated range. If the aggravated range is used for the initial suspended sentence, the reduced sentence shall be within the aggravated range. If the court elects to reduce the sentence for a misdemeanor, it shall not deviate from the range of durations established in Article 81B for the class of offense and prior conviction level used in determining the initial sentence.

(e) Special Probation in Response to Violation. — When a defendant has violated a condition of probation, the court may modify his probation to place him on special probation as provided in this subsection. In placing him on special probation, the court may continue or modify the conditions of his probation and in addition require that he submit to a period or periods of imprisonment, either continuous or noncontinuous, at whatever time or intervals within the period of probation the court determines. In addition to any other conditions of probation which the court may impose, the court shall impose, when imposing a period or periods of imprisonment as a condition of special probation, the condition that the defendant obey the Rules and Regulations of the Department of Correction governing conduct of inmates, and this condition shall apply to the defendant whether or not the court imposes it as a part of the written order. If imprisonment is for continuous periods, the confinement may be in either the custody of the Department of Correction or a local confinement facility. Noncontinuous periods of imprisonment under special probation may only be served in a designated local confinement or treatment facility. Except for probationary sentences for impaired driving under G.S. 20-138.1, the total of all periods of confinement imposed as an incident of special probation, but not including an activated suspended sentence, may not exceed one-fourth the maximum sentence of imprisonment imposed for the offense. For probationary sentences for impaired driving under G.S. 20-138.1, the total of all periods of confinement imposed as an incident of special probation, but not including an activated suspended sentence, shall not exceed one-fourth the maximum penalty allowed by law. No confinement other than an activated suspended sentence may be required beyond the period of probation or beyond two years of the time the special probation is imposed, whichever comes first.

(e1) Criminal Contempt in Response to Violation. — If a defendant willfully violates a condition of probation, the court may hold the defendant in criminal contempt as provided in Article 1 of Chapter 5A of the General Statutes. A finding of criminal contempt by the court shall not revoke the probation. If the offender serves a sentence for contempt in a local confinement facility, the Department of Correction shall pay for the confinement at the standard rate set by the General Assembly pursuant to G.S. 148-32.1(a) regardless of whether the offender would be eligible under the terms of that subsection.

(e2) Mandatory Satellite-Based Monitoring Required for Extension of Probation in Response to Violation by Certain Sex Offenders. — If a defendant who is in the category described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1) or G.S. 14-208.40(a)(2) violates probation and if the court extends the probation as a result of the violation, then the court shall order satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes as a condition of the extended probation.

(f) Revocation after Period of Probation. — The court may revoke probation after the expiration of the period of probation if:

- (1) Before the expiration of the period of probation the State has filed a written motion with the clerk indicating its intent to conduct a revocation hearing; and
- (2) The court finds that the State has made reasonable effort to notify the probationer and to conduct the hearing earlier. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1147, ss. 11, 11A, 13A; 1979, c. 749, ss. 1-3; 1981, c. 377, s. 7; 1983, c. 536; 1987, (Reg. Sess., 1988), c. 1037, ss. 67, 68; 1993, c. 538, s. 18; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 19, s. 2; c. 24, s. 14(b); 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 767, s. 9; c. 769, s. 21.7(a); 1998-212, s. 17.21(c); 2003-151, s. 1; 2006-247, s. 15(e).)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a) provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(l) provides: "Unless otherwise provided in the section, this section is effective when it becomes law and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole.

However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(e), effective August 16, 2006, added subsection (e2). For applicability provisions, see Editor's note.

CASE NOTES

Trial Court Lacked Jurisdiction to Revoke Probation. — Defendant's 60-month probation term began on the date it was imposed, ran concurrently with his active sentence on another offense under G.S. 15A-1346, and expired when its 60-month term elapsed without allegations of violation; a trial court therefore lacked jurisdiction under G.S. 15A-1344(f) to revoke the probation after the term expired because it could have brought defendant before it to revoke his probation when it modified the conditions of his probation without allegations of violation during the 60-month term. State v. Surratt, — N.C. App., 629 S.E.2d 341, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1025 (2006).

Judgment Revoking Probation Arrested. —

G.S. 15A-1344(f) requirement applied to G.S. 90-96, and except as provided in G.S. 15A-1344(f), a trial court lacked jurisdiction to revoke a defendant's probation after the expiration of the probationary term; a trial court's revocation of defendant's probation after his probation period expired, without the specific findings of G.S. 15A-1344(f), was error. State v. Burns, 171 N.C. App. 759, 615 S.E.2d 347, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1273 (2005).

Judgment revoking defendant's first probation was arrested because the revocation hearing was held 18 months after defendant's probationary period expired. State v. Henderson, — N.C. App., 632 S.E.2d 818, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1832 (2006).

Reasonable Effort to Notify Defendant of Probation Violation. — "Reasonable effort” has been defined to mean the diligent and timely implementation of a plan of action; in the context of G.S. 15A-1344(f) that would mean those actions a reasonable person would pursue in seeking to notify defendant of his probation violation and conduct a hearing on the matter. State v. Burns, 171 N.C. App. 759, 615 S.E.2d 347, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1273 (2005).

Revocation of Probation Improper When Decision Delegated to Victim. — Trial court’s judgment revoking defendant’s probation imposed upon his conviction for obtaining property by false pretenses was reversed because the trial court improperly abdicated its discretionary authority to determine whether probation should be revoked and, instead, delegated to the victim the authority of determining whether revocation was proper by stating that it would continue defendant on probation only if the victim agreed to that course of action. State v. Arnold, 169 N.C. App. 438, 610 S.E.2d 396, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 672 (2005).

Probation properly revoked. — Trial judge made the appropriate inquiry under G.S. 15A-1242 as to whether defendant’s waiver of counsel was knowing, intelligent, and voluntary, because: (1) the trial judge informed defendant of the right of assistance of counsel, including the right to a court-appointed attorney if defendant was entitled to one; (2) the trial judge made sure that defendant understood that her probation could be revoked, that her sentences could be activated, and that she could serve 11-15 months in prison; and (3) cognizant of those facts, defendant waived her right to counsel. Because defendant’s waiver of counsel was knowing, intelligent, and voluntary, the trial judge acted properly in revoking defendant’s probation, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1344, for her probation violations and activating her prison sentence. State v. Whitfield, 170 N.C. App. 618, 613 S.E.2d 289, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1090 (2005).

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in revoking defendant’s probation, even if there was error in basing the violation, in part, on defendant’s failure to meet her curfew, as there was substantial evidence supporting a finding that defendant tested positive for cocaine, failed to complete her community service, failed to notify her probation officer of her change of address, and was in arrears on her restitution payments. State v. Belcher, 173 N.C. App. 620, 619 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2112 (2005).

Failure to Make Findings Not Abuse of Discretion. — Trial court did not abuse its discretion in revoking defendant’s probation, even though it failed to enter findings regarding the sufficiency of the explanations defendant gave at her probation revocation hearing. State v. Belcher, 173 N.C. App. 620, 619 S.E.2d 567, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2112 (2005).

§ 15A-1345. Arrest and hearing on probation violation.

CASE NOTES

IV. Evidence.

IV. EVIDENCE.

Evidence Sufficient to Revoke Probation. — Completed form for judgment and commitment upon revocation, together with a probation violation report which alleged that defendant failed to report to defendant’s probation officer and which was incorporated by reference, contained sufficient findings to support revocation of defendant’s second probation. State v. Henderson, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 818, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1832 (2006).

§ 15A-1346. Commencement of probation; multiple sentence.

CASE NOTES

Probationary Term Runs Concurrently With Another Sentence. — Defendant’s 60-month probation term began on the date it was imposed, ran concurrently with his active sentence on another offense under G.S. 15A-1346, and expired when its 60-month term elapsed without allegations of violation; a trial court therefore lacked jurisdiction under G.S. 15A-1344(f) to revoke the probation after the term expired because it could have brought defendant before it to revoke his probation when it modified the conditions of his probation without allegations of violation during the 60-month term. State v. Surratt, — N.C. App. —,

§ 15A-1368.2. Post-release supervision eligibility and procedure.

(a) A prisoner to whom this Article applies shall be released from prison for post-release supervision on the date equivalent to his maximum imposed prison term less nine months, less any earned time awarded by the Department of Correction or the custodian of a local confinement facility under G.S. 15A-1340.13(d). If a prisoner has not been awarded any earned time, the prisoner shall be released for post-release supervision on the date equivalent to his maximum prison term less nine months.

(b) A prisoner shall not refuse post-release supervision.

(c) A supervisee's period of post-release supervision shall be for a period of nine months, unless the offense is an offense for which registration is required pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. For offenses subject to the registration requirement of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, the period of post-release supervision is five years. The conditions of post-release supervision are as authorized in G.S. 15A-1368.5.

(c1) Notwithstanding subsection (c) of this section, a person required to submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to G.S. 15A-1368.4(b1)(6) shall continue to participate in satellite-based monitoring beyond the period of post-release supervision until the Commission releases the person from that requirement pursuant to G.S. 14-208.43.

(d) A supervisee's period of post-release supervision may be reduced while the supervisee is under supervision by earned time awarded by the Department of Correction, pursuant to rules adopted in accordance with law. A supervisee is eligible to receive earned time credit toward the period of supervision for compliance with reintegrative conditions described in G.S. 15A-1368.5.

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 1997-237, s. 7.

(f) When a supervisee completes the period of post-release supervision, the sentence or sentences from which the supervisee was placed on post-release supervision are terminated. (1993, c. 538, s. 20.1; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(b); 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 767, s. 4; 1996, 2nd Ex. Sess., c. 18, s. 20.14(a); 1997-237, s. 7; 2006-247, s. 15(f).)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a) provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(l) provides: "Unless otherwise provided in the section, this section is effective when it becomes law and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole. However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 21 is a severability clause.

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 22, provides, in part: "Prosecutions for offenses committed before the effective date of this act are not abated or affected by this act, and the statutes that would be applicable but for this act remain applicable to those prosecutions."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(f), effective August 16, 2006, added subsection (c1). For applicability provisions, see Editor's note.

§ 15A-1368.4. Conditions of post-release supervision.

(a) In General. — Conditions of post-release supervision may be reintegrative in nature or designed to control the supervisee's behavior and to enforce compliance with law or judicial order. A supervisee may have his supervision period revoked for any violation of a controlling condition or for repeated violation of a reintegrative condition. Compliance with reintegrative conditions may entitle a supervisee to earned time credits as described in G.S. 15A-1368.2(d).

(b) Required Condition. — The Commission shall provide as an express condition of every release that the supervisee not commit another crime during the period for which the supervisee remains subject to revocation. A supervisee's failure to comply with this controlling condition is a supervision violation for which the supervisee may face revocation as provided in G.S. 15A-1368.3.

(b1) Additional Required Conditions for Sex Offenders and Persons Convicted of Offenses Involving Physical, Mental, or Sexual Abuse of a Minor. — In addition to the required condition set forth in subsection (b) of this section, for a supervisee who has been convicted of an offense which is a reportable conviction as defined in G.S. 14-208.6(4), or which involves the physical, mental, or sexual abuse of a minor, controlling conditions, violations of which may result in revocation of post-release supervision, are:

- (1) Register as required by G.S. 14-208.7 if the offense is a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4).
- (2) Participate in such evaluation and treatment as is necessary to complete a prescribed course of psychiatric, psychological, or other rehabilitative treatment as ordered by the Commission.
- (3) Not communicate with, be in the presence of, or found in or on the premises of the victim of the offense.
- (4) Not reside in a household with any minor child if the offense is one in which there is evidence of sexual abuse of a minor.
- (5) Not reside in a household with any minor child if the offense is one in which there is evidence of physical or mental abuse of a minor, unless a court of competent jurisdiction expressly finds that it is unlikely that the defendant's harmful or abusive conduct will recur and that it would be in the child's best interest to allow the supervisee to reside in the same household with a minor child.

- (6) Submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, if the offense is a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4) and the supervisee is in the category described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1).
- (7) Submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes, if the offense is a reportable conviction as defined by G.S. 14-208.6(4) and the supervisee is in the category described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(2).

(c) Discretionary Conditions. — The Commission, in consultation with the Division of Community Corrections, may impose conditions on a supervisee it believes reasonably necessary to ensure that the supervisee will lead a law-abiding life or to assist the supervisee to do so.

(d) Reintegrative Conditions. — Appropriate reintegrative conditions, for which a supervisee may receive earned time credits against the length of the supervision period, and repeated violation that may result in revocation of post-release supervision, are:

- (1) Work faithfully at suitable employment or faithfully pursue a course of study or vocational training that will equip the supervisee for suitable employment.
- (2) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment and remain in a specified institution if required for that purpose.
- (3) Attend or reside in a facility providing rehabilitation, instruction, recreation, or residence for persons on post-release supervision.
- (4) Support the supervisee's dependents and meet other family responsibilities.
- (5) In the case of a supervisee who attended a basic skills program during incarceration, continue attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.
- (6) Satisfy other conditions reasonably related to reintegration into society.

(e) Controlling Conditions. — Appropriate controlling conditions, violation of which may result in revocation of post-release supervision, are:

- (1) Not use, possess, or control any illegal drug or controlled substance unless it has been prescribed for the supervisee by a licensed physician and is in the original container with the prescription number affixed on it; not knowingly associate with any known or previously convicted users, possessors, or sellers of any such illegal drugs or controlled substances; and not knowingly be present at or frequent any place where such illegal drugs or controlled substances are sold, kept, or used.
- (2) Comply with a court order to pay the costs of reintegrative treatment for a minor and a minor's parents or custodians where the offense involved evidence of physical, mental, or sexual abuse of a minor.
- (3) Comply with a court order to pay court costs and costs for appointed counsel or public defender in the case for which the supervisee was convicted.
- (4) Not possess a firearm, destructive device, or other dangerous weapon unless granted written permission by the Commission or a post-release supervision officer.
- (5) Report to a post-release supervision officer at reasonable times and in a reasonable manner, as directed by the Commission or a post-release supervision officer.

- (6) Permit a post-release supervision officer to visit at reasonable times at the supervisee's home or elsewhere.
  - (7) Remain within the geographic limits fixed by the Commission unless granted written permission to leave by the Commission or the post-release supervision officer.
  - (8) Answer all reasonable inquiries by the post-release supervision officer and obtain prior approval from the post-release supervision officer for any change in address or employment.
  - (9) Promptly notify the post-release supervision officer of any change in address or employment.
  - (10) Submit at reasonable times to searches of the supervisee's person by a post-release supervision officer for purposes reasonably related to the post-release supervision. The Commission shall not require as a condition of post-release supervision that the supervisee submit to any other searches that would otherwise be unlawful. Whenever the search consists of testing for the presence of illegal drugs, the supervisee may also be required to reimburse the Department of Correction for the actual cost of drug testing and drug screening, if the results are positive.
  - (11) Make restitution or reparation to an aggrieved party as provided in G.S. 148-57.1.
  - (12) Comply with an order from a court of competent jurisdiction regarding the payment of an obligation of the supervisee in connection with any judgment rendered by the court.
  - (13) Remain in one or more specified places for a specified period or periods each day, and wear a device that permits the defendant's compliance with the condition to be monitored electronically.
  - (14) Submit to supervision by officers assigned to the Intensive Post-Release Supervision Program established pursuant to G.S. 143B-262(c), and abide by the rules adopted for that Program.
- (e1) Prohibited Conditions. — The Commission shall not impose community service as a condition of post-release supervision.
- (f) Required Supervision Fee. — The Commission shall require as a condition of post-release supervision that the supervisee pay a supervision fee of thirty dollars ($30.00) per month. The Commission may exempt a supervisee from this condition only if it finds that requiring payment of the fee is an undue economic burden. The fee shall be paid to the clerk of superior court of the county in which the supervisee was convicted. The clerk shall transmit any money collected pursuant to this subsection to the State to be deposited in the State's General Fund. In no event shall a supervisee be required to pay more than one supervision fee per month. (1993, c. 538, s. 20.1; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(b); 1996, 2nd Ex. Sess., c. 18, s. 20.14(b); 1997-57, s. 6; 1997-237, s. 6; 2001-487, s. 47(c); 2002-126, s. 29A.2(b); 2006-247, s. 15(g).)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 1(a) provides: "This act shall be known as 'An Act To Protect North Carolina's Children/Sex Offender Law Changes'."

Session Laws 2006-247, s. 15(l) provides: "Unless otherwise provided in the section, this section is effective when it becomes law and applies to offenses committed on or after that date. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole. However, the requirement to enroll in a satellite-based program is not mandatory until January 1, 2007, when the program is established."

ARTICLE 85.

§ 15A-1371. Parole eligibility, consideration, and refusal.

(a) Eligibility. — Unless his sentence includes a minimum sentence, a prisoner serving a term of imprisonment for a conviction of impaired driving under G.S. 20-138.1 other than one included in a sentence of special probation imposed under authority of this Subchapter is eligible for release on parole at any time. A prisoner whose sentence includes a minimum term of imprisonment imposed under authority of this Subchapter is eligible for release on parole only upon completion of the service of that minimum term or one fifth of the maximum penalty allowed by law for the offense for which the prisoner is sentenced, whichever is less, less any credit allowed under G.S. 15A-1355(c) and Article 19A of Chapter 15 of the General Statutes.

(a1) Repealed by Session Laws 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 21, s. 3.

(b)(1), (2) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 538, s. 22.

- (3) Whenever the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission will be considering for parole a prisoner serving a sentence of life imprisonment the Commission must notify, at least 30 days in advance of considering the parole, by first class mail at the last known address:
  - a. The prisoner;
  - b. The district attorney of the district where the prisoner was convicted;
  - c. The head of the law enforcement agency that arrested the prisoner and the sheriff of the county where the crime occurred;
  - d. Any of the victim's immediate family members who have requested in writing to be notified; and
  - e. Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 538, s. 22.
  - f. As many newspapers of general circulation and other media in the county where the defendant was convicted and if different, in the county where the prisoner was charged, as reasonable.

The Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission must consider any information provided by any such parties before consideration of parole. The Commission must also give the district attorney, the head of the law enforcement agency who has requested in writing to be notified, the victim, any member of the victim's immediate family who has requested to be notified, and as many newspapers of general circulation and other media in the county or counties designated in sub-subdivision f. of this section as reasonable, written notice of its decision within 10 days of that decision. The Parole Commission shall not, however, include the name of any victim in its notification to the newspapers and other media.

(c) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 538, s. 22.

(d) Criteria. — The Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission may refuse to release on parole a prisoner it is considering for parole if it believes:

- (1) There is a substantial risk that he will not conform to reasonable conditions of parole; or
  - (2) His release at that time would unduly depreciate the seriousness of his crime or promote disrespect for law; or
  - (3) His continued correctional treatment, medical care, or vocational or other training in the institution will substantially enhance his capacity to lead a law-abiding life if he is released at a later date; or
  - (4) There is a substantial risk that he would engage in further criminal conduct.
- (e) Refusal of Parole. — A prisoner who has been granted parole may elect to refuse parole and to serve the remainder of his term of imprisonment.
- (f) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 538, s. 22.

(g) Notwithstanding the provisions of subsection (a), a prisoner serving a sentence of not less than 30 days nor as great as 18 months for impaired driving may be released on parole when he completes service of one-third of his maximum sentence unless the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission finds in writing that:

- (1) There is a substantial risk that he will not conform to reasonable conditions of parole; or
- (2) His release at that time would unduly depreciate the seriousness of his crime or promote disrespect for law; or
- (3) His continued correctional treatment, medical care, or vocational or other training in the institution will substantially enhance his capacity to lead a law-abiding life if he is released at a later date; or
- (4) There is a substantial risk that he would engage in further criminal conduct.

If a prisoner is released on parole by operation of this subsection, the term of parole is the unserved portion of the sentence to imprisonment, and the conditions of parole, unless otherwise specified by the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission, are those authorized in G.S. 15A-1374(b)(4) through (10).

In order that the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission may have an adequate opportunity to make a determination whether parole under this section should be denied, no prisoner eligible for parole under this subsection shall be released from confinement prior to the fifth full working day after he shall have been placed in the custody of the Secretary of Correction or the custodian of a local confinement facility.

(h) Community Service Parole. — Notwithstanding the provisions of any other subsection herein, prisoners serving sentences for impaired driving shall be eligible for community service parole, in the discretion of the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission.

Community service parole is early parole for the purpose of participation in a program of community service under the supervision of a probation/parole officer. A parolee who is paroled under this subsection must perform as a condition of parole community service in an amount and over a period of time to be determined by the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission. However, the total amount of community service shall not exceed an amount equal to 32 hours for each month of active service remaining in his minimum sentence. The Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission may grant early parole under this section without requiring the performance of community service if it determines that such performance is inappropriate to a particular case.

The probation/parole officer and the community service coordinator shall develop a program of community service for the parolee. The community service coordinator shall report any willful failure to perform community service work to the probation/parole officer. Parole may be revoked for any parolee who willfully fails to perform community service work as directed by a community service coordinator. The provisions of G.S. 15A-1376 shall apply to this violation of a condition of parole.

Community service parole eligibility shall be available to a prisoner:

- (1) Who is serving an active sentence the term of which exceeds six months; and
- (2) Who, in the opinion of the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission, is unlikely to engage in further criminal conduct; and
- (3) Who agrees to complete service of his sentence as herein specified; and
- (4) Who has served one-half of his minimum sentence.

In computing the service requirements of subdivision (4) of this subsection, credit shall be given for good time and gain time credit earned pursuant to G.S. 148-13. Nothing herein is intended to create or shall be construed to create a right or entitlement to community service parole in any prisoner.

(i) A fee of two hundred dollars ($200.00) shall be paid by all persons who participate in the Community Service Parole Program. That fee must be paid to the clerk of court in the county in which the parolee is released. The fee must be paid in full within two weeks unless the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission, upon a showing of hardship by the person, allows the person additional time to pay the fee. The parolee may not be required to pay the fee before the person begins the community service unless the Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission specifically orders that the person do so. Fees collected under this subsection shall be deposited in the General Fund. The fee imposed under this subsection may be paid as prescribed by the supervising parole officer.

(j) The Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission may terminate a prisoner's community service parole before the expiration of the term of imprisonment where doing so will not endanger the public, unduly depreciate the seriousness of the crime, or promote disrespect for the law. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 1977, 2nd Sess., c. 1147, ss. 19A-22; 1979, c. 749, ss. 9, 10; 1979, 2nd Sess., c. 1316, s. 42; 1981, c. 63, s. 1; c. 179, s. 14; 1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1098, s. 1; 1985, c. 453, ss. 1, 2; 1985 (Reg. Sess., 1986), c. 960, s. 2; c. 1012, ss. 2, 5; 1987, c. 47; c. 783, s. 7; 1989, c. 1, ss. 3, 4; 1991, c. 217, s. 3; c. 288, s. 2; 1993, c. 538, s. 22; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 21, s. 3; c. 24, s. 14(b); c. 25, ss. 1, 2; 2002-126, s. 29A.1(a); 2006-264, s. 34.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-264, s. 34, effective August 27, 2006, in subdivision (b)(3)c, substituted “and the sheriff of the county where the crime occurred” for “if the head of the agency has requested in writing that he be notified.”

CASE NOTES

I. General Consideration.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Instruction on Parole Ineligibility in Capital Case. —

Where a state prisoner, who was convicted of first-degree murder, first-degree rape, kidnapping, armed robbery, and the burning of personal property, in violation of G.S. 14-17, 14-27.2(a)(2), 14-39, 14-87, and 14-66, argued that the sentencing court erred by failing to provide a parole ineligibility instruction, the prisoner, who was sentenced to death for the murder conviction, was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because the prisoner would have been eligible for parole under former G.S. 15A-1371(a1) if the jury had recommended life imprisonment; thus, because the prisoner was eligible for parole as a matter of law, the prisoner was not entitled to a parole ineligibility instruction. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

§ 15A-1374. Conditions of parole.

(a) In General. — The Post-Release Supervision and Parole Commission may in its discretion impose conditions of parole it believes reasonably necessary to insure that the parolee will lead a law-abiding life or to assist him to do so. The Commission must provide as an express condition of every parole that the parolee not commit another crime during the period for which the parole remains subject to revocation. When the Commission releases a person on parole, it must give him a written statement of the conditions on which he is being released.

(a1) Required Conditions for Certain Offenders. — A person serving a term of imprisonment for an impaired driving offense sentenced pursuant to G.S. 20-179 that:

(1) Has completed any recommended treatment or training program required by G.S. 20-179(p)(3); and

(2) Is not being paroled to a residential treatment program; shall, as a condition of parole, receive community service parole pursuant to G.S. 15A-1371(h), or be required to comply with subdivision (b)(8a) of this section.

(b) Appropriate Conditions. — As conditions of parole, the Commission may require that the parolee comply with one or more of the following conditions:

(1) Work faithfully at suitable employment or faithfully pursue a course of study or vocational training that will equip him for suitable employment.

(2) Undergo available medical or psychiatric treatment and remain in a specified institution if required for that purpose.

(3) Attend or reside in a facility providing rehabilitation, instruction, recreation, or residence for persons on parole.

(4) Support his dependents and meet other family responsibilities.

(5) Refrain from possessing a firearm, destructive device, or other dangerous weapon unless granted written permission by the Commission or the parole officer.

(6) Report to a parole officer at reasonable times and in a reasonable manner, as directed by the Commission or the parole officer.

(7) Permit the parole officer to visit him at reasonable times at his home or elsewhere.

(8) Remain within the geographic limits fixed by the Commission unless granted written permission to leave by the Commission or the parole officer.

(8a) Remain in one or more specified places for a specified period or periods each day and wear a device that permits the defendant's compliance with the condition to be monitored electronically.

(9) Answer all reasonable inquiries by the parole officer and obtain prior approval from the parole officer for any change in address or employment.

(10) Promptly notify the parole officer of any change in address or employment.

(11) Submit at reasonable times to searches of his person by a parole officer for purposes reasonably related to his parole supervision. The Commission may not require as a condition of parole that the parolee submit to any other searches that would otherwise be unlawful. Whenever the search consists of testing for the presence of illegal drugs, the parolee may also be required to reimburse the Department of Correction for the actual cost of drug testing and drug screening, if the results are positive.

(11a) Make restitution or reparation to an aggrieved party as provided in G.S. 148-57.1.

(11b) Comply with an order from a court of competent jurisdiction regarding the payment of an obligation of the parolee in connection with any judgment rendered by the court.

(11c) In the case of a parolee who was attending a basic skills program during incarceration, continue attending a basic skills program in pursuit of a General Education Development Degree or adult high school diploma.

(12) Satisfy other conditions reasonably related to his rehabilitation.

(b1) Mandatory Satellite-Based Monitoring Required as Condition of Parole for Certain Offenders. — If a parolee is in a category described by G.S. 14-208.40(a)(1) or G.S. 14-208.40(a)(2), the Commission must require as a condition of parole that the parolee submit to satellite-based monitoring pursuant to Part 5 of Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes.

(c) Supervision Fee. — The Commission must require as a condition of parole that the parolee pay a supervision fee of thirty dollars ($30.00) per month. The Commission may exempt a parolee from this condition of parole only if it finds that requiring him to pay the fee will constitute an undue economic burden. The fee must be paid to the clerk of superior court of the county in which the parolee was convicted. The clerk must transmit any money collected pursuant to this subsection to the State to be deposited in the general fund of the State. In no event shall a person released on parole be required to pay more than one supervision fee per month. This section also applies to any person sentenced to intermediate punishment on or after that date and to any person released from prison by parole or post-release supervision on or after that date. This section also applies to any person who completes his or her sentence on or after the effective date of this section who is not on post-release supervision or parole. ## SUBCHAPTER XIV. CORRECTION OF ERRORS AND APPEAL.

ARTICLE 88.

Post-Trial Motions and Appeal.

§ 15A-1401. Post-trial motions and appeal.

Relief from errors committed in criminal trials and proceedings and other post-trial relief may be sought by:

- (1) Motion for appropriate relief, as provided in Article 89.
- (1a) Motion for innocence claim inquiry as provided in Article 92 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes.
- (2) Appeal and trial de novo in misdemeanor cases, as provided in Article 90.
- (3) Appeal, as provided in Article 91. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 2006-184, s. 2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-184, s. 2, effective August 3, 2006, and applicable to claims of factual innocence filed on or before December 31, 2010, added subsection (1a).

ARTICLE 89.

Motion for Appropriate Relief and Other Post-Trial Relief.

§ 15A-1411. Motion for appropriate relief.

- (a) Relief from errors committed in the trial division, or other post-trial relief, may be sought by a motion for appropriate relief. Procedure for the making of the motion is as set out in G.S. 15A-1420.
- (b) A motion for appropriate relief, whether made before or after the entry of judgment, is a motion in the original cause and not a new proceeding.
- (c) The relief formerly available by motion in arrest of judgment, motion to set aside the verdict, motion for new trial, post-conviction proceedings, coram nobis and all other post-trial motions is available by motion for appropriate relief. The availability of relief by motion for appropriate relief is not a bar to relief by writ of habeas corpus.
- (d) A claim of factual innocence asserted through the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission does not constitute a motion for appropriate relief and does not impact rights or relief provided for in this Article. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 2006-184, s. 4.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-184, s. 4, effective August 3, 2006, and applicable to claims of factual innocence filed on or before December 31, 2010, added subsection (d).

CASE NOTES

State Court’s Misapplication of Federal Law Principle. — State death row prisoner was improperly denied a habeas corpus evidentiary hearing by a federal district court on the issue of whether a trial juror had lied about being closely related to a co-defendant who testified for the state; the doctrine of implied bias, a recognized federal law principle, was misapplied by a state post-conviction court that heard the prisoner’s motion for appropriate relief. Conaway v. Polk, 453 F.3d 567, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 17304 (4th Cir. 2006).

Entitlement to a New Trial. — Because the cumulative nature of the trial judge’s remarks to defense counsel regarding his speech pattern, along with a fine imposed for counsel’s use of the word “okay,” set a tone of fear in the trial and tainted the atmosphere of the same, prejudicing defendant’s rights, defendant was entitled to a new trial. State v.

Wright, 172 N.C. App. 464, 616 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1797 (2005).

Defendant’s conviction for possession of a firearm by a felon was vacated because the prior conviction upon which it was based was for a misdemeanor, not a felony. State v. Hagans, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 776, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 719 (2006).

Defendant Not Entitled to New Trial. — Defendant was not entitled to a new trial because the trial court allowed the state to reopen the case and suggested to the state that it needed to make a motion to reopen the case as the trial court merely settled a legal dispute outside of the presence of the jury; the judge did not depart from his neutral role as a judicial officer by discussing the law with the attorneys or by permitting the state to reopen its case. State v. Wise, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 732, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1293 (2006).

§ 15A-1414. Motion by defendant for appropriate relief made within 10 days after verdict.

CASE NOTES

Refusal to Set Aside Verdict Within Court's Discretion. —

After his murder conviction, defendant had no right to appropriate relief under G.S. 15A-1414 and G.S. 15A-1420, despite his claim that the trial judge committed reversible error by restoring peremptory challenges to both the State and to defendant after dismissing an entire group of prospective jurors for misconduct. Defendant filed a motion to strike the entire venire when it was learned that they had been discussing among themselves how they could become disqualified to serve, and pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(c), a defendant was not prejudiced by the granting of relief that he sought or by error that resulted from his own conduct. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

§ 15A-1415. Grounds for appropriate relief which may be asserted by defendant after verdict; limitation as to time.

CASE NOTES

Failure to Preserve Issue for Review. — Defendant, who argued that the indictments against him alleged insufficient time periods for the offenses with which he was charged, did not assert that the indictments failed to allege an essential element of each offense and he failed to either move for a bill of particulars or for appropriate relief. The reviewing court found that the indictments provided a person of ordinary intelligence a reasonable opportunity to know what the alleged conduct was prohibited, and defendant failed to preserve the issue for review. State v. Anderson, — N.C. App. —, 627 S.E.2d 501, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 703 (2006).

Applied in State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

Cited in State v. Brewington, 170 N.C. App. 264, 612 S.E.2d 648, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1011 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 67, 621 S.E.2d 881 (2005).

§ 15A-1417. Relief available.

(a) The following relief is available when the court grants a motion for appropriate relief:

- (1) New trial on all or any of the charges.
- (2) Dismissal of all or any of the charges.
- (3) The relief sought by the State pursuant to G.S. 15A-1416.
- (3a) For claims of factual innocence, referral to the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission established by Article 92 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes.
- (4) Any other appropriate relief.

(b) When relief is granted in the trial court and the offense is divided into degrees or necessarily includes lesser offenses, and the court is of the opinion that the evidence does not sustain the verdict but is sufficient to sustain a finding of guilty of a lesser degree or of a lesser offense necessarily included in the one charged, the court may, with consent of the State, accept a plea of guilty to the lesser degree or lesser offense.

(c) If resentencing is required, the trial division may enter an appropriate sentence. If a motion is granted in the appellate division and resentencing is required, the case must be remanded to the trial division for entry of a new sentence. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 2006-184, s. 3.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-184, s. 3, effective August 3, 2006, and applicable to claims of factual innocence filed on or before December 31, 2010, added subdivision (a)(3a).

§ 15A-1418. Motion for appropriate relief in the appellate division.

(a) When a case is in the appellate division for review, a motion for appropriate relief based upon grounds set out in G.S. 15A-1415 must be made in the appellate division. For the purpose of this section a case is in the appellate division when the jurisdiction of the trial court has been divested as provided in G.S. 15A-1448, or when a petition for a writ of certiorari has been granted. When a petition for a writ of certiorari has been filed but not granted, a copy or written statement of any motion made in the trial court, and of any disposition of the motion, must be filed in the appellate division.

(b) When a motion for appropriate relief is made in the appellate division, the appellate court must decide whether the motion may be determined on the basis of the materials before it, whether it is necessary to remand the case to the trial division for taking evidence or conducting other proceedings, or, for claims of factual innocence, whether to refer the case for further investigation to the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission established by Article 92 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes. If the appellate court does not remand the case for proceedings on the motion, it may determine the motion in conjunction with the appeal and enter its ruling on the motion with its determination of the case.

(c) The order of remand must provide that the time periods for perfecting or proceeding with the appeal are tolled, and direct that the order of the trial division with regard to the motion be transmitted to the appellate division so that it may proceed with the appeal or enter an appropriate order terminating it. (1977, c. 711, s. 1; 2006-184, s. 5.)

factual innocence, whether to refer the case for further investigation to the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission established by Article 92 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes” at the end.

CASE NOTES

Remand Required. —

An evidentiary hearing was necessary in response to defendant’s motion for appropriate relief to determine whether there was a reasonable possibility that a different result would have been reached at trial had certain testimony been different or nonexistent. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 307, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1071 (2006).

Defendant’s motion for appropriate relief was remanded to the trial court for an evidentiary hearing as the appellate court could not determine the veracity of a mother’s testimony, nor could it discern whether there was a reasonable possibility that a different result would have been reached at trial had the mother’s testimony been different or non-existent. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Motion Dismissed. — Motion for appropriate relief based on failure to register as a convicted sex offender was dismissed because the evidence was insufficient to enable the court to render a decision. State v. Verrier, 173 N.C. App. 123, 617 S.E.2d 675, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1899 (2005).

Defendant’s amended motion for appropriate relief did not amend the original motion for appropriate relief and alleged new grounds for relief based on ineffective assistance of counsel; the amended motion was untimely and was dismissed, without prejudice to defendant to file a new motion for appropriate relief in the trial court. State v. Brigman, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 498, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1298 (2006).

Failure to Submit Aggravating Circumstance to Jury. — Motion for appropriate relief based on the alleged erroneous aggravation of defendant's sentence was granted where the trial court unilaterally found an aggravating circumstance without submitting that issue to the jury. State v. Verrier, 173 N.C. App. 123, 617 S.E.2d 675, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1899 (2005).

Appellate Court Proper Venue. — Summary denial of defendant's motion for appropriate relief (MAR) was vacated as a timely-filed appeal was pending when the MAR was filed, so the trial court lacked jurisdiction to rule on the MAR; the proper venue for filing the MAR would have been in the appellate court. State v. Williams, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 216, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1219 (2006).

Applied in State v. Hadden, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 417, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 190 (2006).

Cited in State v. Howell, 169 N.C. App. 741, 611 S.E.2d 200, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 795 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 71, 622 S.E.2d 500 (2005).

§ 15A-1419. When motion for appropriate relief denied.

CASE NOTES

Ineffective assistance of counsel claims, etc. —

In a prosecution for murder and related crimes, defendant raised the issue of ineffective assistance of counsel, even though he acknowledged he could not, on direct appeal, prove this claim from a cold record, because he had to raise the claim on direct appeal, under G.S.15A-1419(a)(3), to preserve it for collateral review. State v. Wissink, 172 N.C. App. 829, 617 S.E.2d 319, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1776 (2005).

Applied in State v. McNeill, 360 N.C. 231, 624 S.E.2d 329, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 1 (2006); Blackwell v. Cavanaugh, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 28349 (W.D.N.C. Nov. 9, 2005).

Cited in Carpenter v. Harkleroad, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 38067 (W.D.N.C. Dec. 19, 2005); Worthey v. York, — F. Supp. 2d —, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 37263 (W.D.N.C. Sept. 13, 2005).

§ 15A-1420. Motion for appropriate relief; procedure.

(a) Form, Service, Filing.

(1) A motion for appropriate relief must:

a. Be made in writing unless it is made:

1. In open court;
2. Before the judge who presided at trial;
3. Before the end of the session if made in superior court; and
4. Within 10 days after entry of judgment;

b. State the grounds for the motion;

c. Set forth the relief sought; and ##### d. Be timely filed.

(2) A written motion for appropriate relief must be served in the manner provided in G.S. 15A-951(b). When the written motion is made more than 10 days after entry of judgment, service of the motion and a notice of hearing must be made not less than five working days prior to the date of the hearing. When a motion for appropriate relief is permitted to be made orally the court must determine whether the matter may be heard immediately or at a later time. If the opposing party, or his counsel if he is represented, is not present, the court must provide for the giving of adequate notice of the motion and the date of hearing to the opposing party, or his counsel if he is represented by counsel.

(3) A written motion for appropriate relief must be filed in the manner provided in G.S. 15A-951(c).

(4) An oral or written motion for appropriate relief may not be granted in district court without the signature of the district attorney, indicating that the State has had an opportunity to consent or object to the motion. However, the court may grant a motion for appropriate relief without the district attorney's signature 10 business days after the district attorney has been notified in open court of the motion, or served with the motion pursuant to G.S. 15A-951(c).

(b) Supporting Affidavits.

- (1) A motion for appropriate relief made after the entry of judgment must be supported by affidavit or other documentary evidence if based upon the existence or occurrence of facts which are not ascertainable from the records and any transcript of the case or which are not within the knowledge of the judge who hears the motion.
  - (2) The opposing party may file affidavits or other documentary evidence.
- (b1) Filing Motion With Clerk; Review of Motion by Judge.

- (1) The proceeding shall be commenced by filing with the clerk of superior court of the district wherein the defendant was indicted a motion, with service on the district attorney in noncapital cases, and service on both the district attorney and Attorney General in capital cases.
  - (2) The clerk, upon receipt of the motion, shall place the motion on the criminal docket. The clerk shall promptly bring the motion, or a copy of the motion, to the attention of the resident judge or any judge holding court in the county or district. In noncapital cases, the judge shall review the motion and enter an order whether the defendant should be allowed to proceed without the payment of costs, with respect to the appointment of counsel, and directing the State, if necessary, to file an answer. In capital cases, the judge shall review the motion and enter an order directing the State to file its answer within 60 days of the date of the order. If a hearing is necessary, the judge shall calendar the case for hearing without unnecessary delay.
- (c) Hearings, Showing of Prejudice; Findings.

- (1) Any party is entitled to a hearing on questions of law or fact arising from the motion and any supporting or opposing information presented unless the court determines that the motion is without merit. The court must determine, on the basis of these materials and the requirements of this subsection, whether an evidentiary hearing is required to resolve questions of fact. Upon the motion of either party, the judge may direct the attorneys for the parties to appear before him for a conference on any prehearing matter in the case.
- (2) An evidentiary hearing is not required when the motion is made in the trial court pursuant to G.S. 15A-1414, but the court may hold an evidentiary hearing if it is appropriate to resolve questions of fact.
- (3) The court must determine the motion without an evidentiary hearing when the motion and supporting and opposing information present only questions of law. The defendant has no right to be present at such a hearing where only questions of law are to be argued.
- (4) If the court cannot rule upon the motion without the hearing of evidence, it must conduct a hearing for the taking of evidence, and must make findings of fact. The defendant has a right to be present at the evidentiary hearing and to be represented by counsel. A waiver of the right to be present must be in writing.
- (5) If an evidentiary hearing is held, the moving party has the burden of proving by a preponderance of the evidence every fact essential to support the motion.
- (6) A defendant who seeks relief by motion for appropriate relief must show the existence of the asserted ground for relief. Relief must be denied unless prejudice appears, in accordance with G.S. 15A-1443.
- (7) The court must rule upon the motion and enter its order accordingly. When the motion is based upon an asserted violation of the rights of the defendant under the Constitution or laws or treaties of the United States, the court must make and enter conclusions of law and a statement of the reasons for its determination to the extent required, when taken with other records and transcripts in the case, to indicate whether the defendant has had a full and fair hearing on the merits of the grounds so asserted.

(d) Action on Court's Own Motion. — At any time that a defendant would be entitled to relief by motion for appropriate relief, the court may grant such relief upon its own motion. The court must cause appropriate notice to be given to the parties. (1965, c. 352, s. 1; 1973, c. 47, s. 2; 1977, c. 711, s. 1; 1995 (Reg. Sess., 1996), c. 719, ss. 3, 4; 2006-253, s. 30.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-253, s. 1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Motor Vehicle Driver Protection Act of 2006'."

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2006-253, s. 30, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, added subdivision (a)(4).

CASE NOTES

Motion Asserting Constitutional Violations. —

There was insufficient evidence to show the asserted ground for relief as defendant maintained in his motion for appropriate relief under G.S. 15A-1420. That two jurors had prayed together outside the jury room in his death penalty case was not shown to have been misconduct defendant did not present documentary evidence, as G.S. 15A-1420(b) required, that those jurors had discussed the case while they prayed, and their prayers did not constitute "deliberation" outside of the jury room, such that would have violated defendant's right to have a jury of 12 jurors under N.C. Const. art. I, § 24. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Defendant's Motion Under This Section Was Properly Denied. — After his murder conviction, defendant had no right to appropriate relief under G.S. 15A-1414 and G.S. 15A-1420, despite his claim that the trial judge committed reversible error by restoring peremptory challenges to both the State and to defendant after dismissing an entire group of prospective jurors for misconduct. Defendant filed a motion to strike the entire venire when it was learned that they had been discussing among themselves how they could become disqualified to serve, and pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(c), a defendant was not prejudiced by the granting of relief that he sought or by error that resulted from his own conduct. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Applied in Conaway v. Polk, 453 F.3d 567, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 17304 (4th Cir. 2006).

§ 15A-1422. Review upon appeal.

CASE NOTES

Decision With Widespread Effect and Constitutional Magnitude. — While G.S. 15A-1422(f) normally barred collateral review of a resentencing decision, the statute could not interfere with the court's power under N.C. Const. art. IV, § 12, cl. 1 to issue a decision where the lower appellate court's decision was of constitutional magnitude and widespread effect; since the lower appellate court's decision applied to hold unconstitutional provisions of a widely used statute that was used to aggravate sentences for crimes, discretionary review was granted. State v. Allen, 359 N.C. 425, 615 S.E.2d 256, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 695 (2005).

Appeal Following Remand. —

Since the case addressed immediately important aspects of Blakely's application to North Carolina sentencing law, the North Carolina Supreme Court's general supervisory authority permitted its review of the sentencing matter after a lower appellate court remanded the matter to the trial court. State v. Blackwell, 359 N.C. 814, 618 S.E.2d 213, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 846 (2005).

Supreme Court of North Carolina found that it could hear an appeal from a decision of the Court of Appeals of North Carolina that a defendant be resentenced because G.S. 7A-30(2) provided the state with an appeal of right as there was a dissent in the Court of Appeals; further, nothing in G.S. 15A-1422 prohibited the court from addressing the issues presented in defendant's brief to the Court of Appeals. State v. Norris, 360 N.C. 507, 630 S.E.2d 915, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 592 (2006).

State's Right to Appeal From Order Granting Appropriate Relief. — When, after defendant was convicted of possession of cocaine and having attained the status of being an habitual felon, the trial court, sua sponte, granted a motion for appropriate relief, vacating the habitual felon conviction, and reducing defendant's sentence, finding the sentence violated defendant's rights under the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments, the State's right to appeal, as it was not appealing a judgment entered on the jury's verdicts, was controlled by G.S. 15A-1422, and, under G.S. 15A-1422(b), it had to have a right to appeal the underlying judgment in an appeal regularly taken, but it did not have such a right because, while the trial court might have effectively dismissed defendant's habitual felon charge or imposed an unauthorized prison term, given his habitual felon status, it did not have a right to appeal the underlying judgment, as that judgment did not dismiss a charge against defendant or impose an unauthorized prison term. State v. Starkey, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 424, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 874 (2006).

Applied in State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

ARTICLE 90.

Appeals from Magistrates and District Court Judges.

§ 15A-1431. Appeals by defendants from magistrate and district court judge; trial de novo.

CASE NOTES

Defendant Entitled to Arraignment on Appeal for Trial De Novo In Superior Court. — By immediately proceeding to trial without defendant's consent on an appeal de novo from a district court, a superior court violated G.S.15A-943(b), which defendant adequately invoked; as the superior court was not the court of original jurisdiction, the prosecutor never submitted a bill of indictment for defendant nor was defendant indicted, so there was no 21-day period from which defendant needed to file a written request for. A trial de novo in the superior court was a new trial from the beginning to the end, disregarding completely the plea below, and, therefore, since defendant's plea from the district court was completely disregarded, defendant was entitled to an arraignment in superior court. State v. Vereen, —

N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 408, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 847 (2006).

Probation Did Not Start While Appeal Was Pending. — Despite a specific reference to probation in G.S. 15A-1451, and the absence of a corresponding reference to probation in G.S. 15A-1431, G.S. 15A-1431(e) provided that a defendant remained on pretrial release during an appeal from district court to superior court, so he or she was not also on probation; defendant's probation, imposed by a district court, did not start where defendant appealed to superior court, did not begin until he withdrew that appeal, and thus, a later violation report was timely filed. State v. Smith, 359 N.C. 618, 614 S.E.2d 279, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 635 (2005).

ARTICLE 91.

Appeal to Appellate Division.

§ 15A-1442. Grounds for correction of error by appellate division.

CASE NOTES

Prejudice from Delay in Preparation of Trial Transcript not Shown. — Defendant failed to show prejudice resulting from a six-year delay in the preparation of a trial transcript; a review of the record did not divulge any evidence to support defendant's allegation of experiencing "maximum anxiety," and defendant failed to provide any evidence that the delay prevented any possibility of meaningful appellate review. State v. Berryman, 360 N.C. 209, 624 S.E.2d 350, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 8 (2006).

§ 15A-1443. Existence and showing of prejudice.

CASE NOTES

- I. General Consideration.
- II. Prejudicial Error.
- III. Harmless Error.

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Prejudice Not Found. —

There was no error in the trial court's admission of testimony from the brother of defendant's sexual assault victim as to the victim's state of mind when she was talking to the police about the incident that resulted in the charges against defendant, as defendant failed to show that such testimony had any effect on the outcome of the trial or that there was a reasonable possibility that, without such admission, the outcome of the trial would have been different, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(a). State v. Dorton, 172 N.C. App. 759, 617 S.E.2d 97, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1794 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 69, 623 S.E.2d 775 (2005).

Defendant Was Not Prejudiced by Granting of Relief. — After his murder conviction, defendant had no right to appropriate relief under G.S. 15A-1414 and G.S. 15A-1420, despite his claim that the trial judge committed reversible error by restoring peremptory challenges to both the State and to defendant after dismissing an entire group of prospective jurors for misconduct. Defendant filed a motion to strike the entire venire when it was learned that they had been discussing among themselves how they could become disqualified to serve, and pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(c), a defendant was not prejudiced by the granting of relief that he sought or by error that resulted from his own conduct. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Applied in State v. Bellamy, 172 N.C. App. 649, 617 S.E.2d 81, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1793 (2005); State v. Scanlon, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 770, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 541 (2006); State v. Browning, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 299, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1079 (2006); State v. Watson, — N.C. App. —, 634 S.E.2d 231, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1923 (2006).

Cited in State v. Edwards, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 333, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2487 (2005); State v. Hocutt, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 832, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 966 (2006); State v. Laney, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 522, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1398 (2006); State v. Mewborn, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 224, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1411 (2006).

II. PREJUDICIAL ERROR.

Improper Impeachment of Testimony by Extrinsic Evidence. — Defendant was granted a new trial on his convictions involving the sexual abuse of his grandchildren; the trial court committed prejudicial error under G.S. 15A-1443(a) by allowing the State to impeach by extrinsic evidence testimony by defendant's son and two daughters that defendant had never sexually abused them, and the error was so highly prejudicial that it likely affected the verdict, and because the evidence of prior sexual misconduct was not admissible under a hearsay exception, G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Crim. P. 404(b). State v. Mitchell, 169 N.C. App. 417, 610 S.E.2d 260, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 682 (2005).

Incorrect Instruction. —

When, in instructing on the offense of keeping a dwelling for the sale of controlled substances, the trial court erroneously declined to include defendant's requested language that a possession of controlled substances occurred for a required duration of time, because defendant proffered evidence that he did not possess controlled substances for the required duration of time, the error was not prejudicial because defendant admitted that he controlled the dwelling in question and that he knew marijuana was sold from it; furthermore, the jury found defendant possessed diazepam, so the trial court's instruction was substantially correct in light of the evidence, and, in light of defendant's admissions, the trial court's error in failing to define "keeping" as possession "over a duration of time" was not prejudicial. State v. Sanders, 171 N.C. App. 46, 613 S.E.2d 708, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1158 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 170, 622 S.E.2d 492 (2005).

Erroneously Admitted Character Evidence. —

Although the admission of reputation testimony violated G.S. 8C-1, Rule 404(a), the error was not prejudicial because the evidence regarding one witness's possession of a crack pipe was cumulative and there was ample evidence to convict defendant without the evidence of his brother's reputation as a dealer of drugs. State v. McBride, 173 N.C. App. 101, 618 S.E.2d 754, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1897 (2005).

Error Held Prejudicial. —

Erroneous exclusion of testimony from a car dealership employee who saw defendant's victim breaking car windows at the dealership, which should have been admitted during defendant's murder trial as evidence of the victim's violent character, was prejudicial under G.S. 15A-1443(a) even though defendant testified to the same incident on direct and redirect examination. State v. Everett, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 703, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1302 (2006).

Prejudicial Error from Improper Argument by Prosecution. — Defendant, who alleged an insanity defense following shootings, was entitled to a new trial because the appellate court could not say beyond a reasonable doubt that the prosecutor's argument, which was improper and prejudicial, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1230, because of misleading characterizations and improper inferences did not contribute to defendant's conviction. State v. Millsaps, 169 N.C. App. 340, 610 S.E.2d 437, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 617 (2005).

Erroneous Admission of Evidence Improperly Seized During Warrantless Search. — First degree murder conviction was reversed because the trial court erroneously denied defendant's motion to suppress where the officer's warrantless entry into the victim's residence was impermissible under the exigent circumstances theory advanced by the state; defendant was entitled to a new trial because the state failed to produce overwhelming evidence to support defendant's conviction notwithstanding the evidence erroneously seized during the search. State v. McKinney, 174 N.C. App. 138, 619 S.E.2d 901, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2307 (2005).

Prejudicial Error Not Shown. —

In a case involving felony malicious conduct by a prisoner, evidence regarding the treatment required for spitting if it went into an open wound, eyes, or mouth, even if erroneously admitted, did not constitute a prejudicial error. State v. Crouse, 169 N.C. App. 382, 610 S.E.2d 454, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 691 (2005).

Even assuming that videotapes from a food store were not properly admitted into evidence, reversal was not required because defendant was not prejudiced by their admission given the admittance of defendant's statement in which defendant confessed to using the victim's credit card to purchase beer and cigarettes at the food store. State v. Brooks, — N.C. App. —, 631 S.E.2d 54, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1334 (2006).

Erroneous Admission of Response to Routine Booking Question Intended to Produce Incriminating Response. — Defendant's response to a routine booking question about his address violated Miranda, with respect to the maintaining a dwelling charge, because the officer who presented the question fully expected to produce an incriminating response. The error was not harmless because, without that evidence, it was apparent that the evidence was insufficient to support a conviction for maintaining a dwelling for the purpose of keeping or selling cocaine. State v. Boyd, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 796, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 854 (2006).

III. HARMLESS ERROR.

No Reasonable Possibility of Affecting Verdict. —

Appellate court erred in finding that defendant's right to confrontation pursuant to N.C. Const. art. I, § 23 was violated by allowing an officer to testify pursuant to G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 804(b)(5), that the deceased victim picked defendant from a lineup; although the hearsay statement was testimonial, and thus implicated the confrontation clause, the error was harmless pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b), as the outcome of the trial probably would have been the same if the lineup was excluded based on the victim's independent identification of defendant as the perpetrator. State v. Lewis, 360 N.C. 1, 619 S.E.2d 830, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

Although a trial court violated defendant's USCS Const. Amend. 6 confrontation rights by allowing a detective to testify that a deceased victim had identified defendant as her rapist, the error was harmless since another victim was able to identify defendant after her attack. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

In a rape and kidnapping case, evidence of a criminal citation issued to defendant for drugs a few days before an attack was not relevant because it did not matter whether defendant actually possessed drugs; the admission of the evidence was harmless because the state could have proven the attack at any rate due to the testimony of the victim. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

In a rape and kidnapping case, evidence that defendant possessed pornographic magazines was not relevant because it did not tend to make the existence of any fact that is of consequence more or less probable since they were not shown to the victim, and they were not used to show dominion and control over a motel room; however, the error was harmless since a different outcome in the case would not have resulted due to overwhelming evidence of guilt. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

Even though three of a prosecutor's questions specifically referred to defendant's invocation of his right to an attorney during questioning, no new trial was required under G.S. 15A-1443 because the court found the error harmless in light of the overwhelming evidence of guilt presented against defendant. State v. Rashidi, 172 N.C. App. 628, 617 S.E.2d 68, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1790 (2005), aff'd, 360 N.C. 166, 622 S.E.2d 493 (2005).

Appellate court erred in finding that defendant's right to confrontation pursuant to N.C. Const. art. I, § 23 was violated by allowing an officer to testify pursuant to G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 804(b)(5), that the deceased victim picked defendant from a lineup; although the hearsay statement was testimonial, and thus implicated the confrontation clause, the error was harmless pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b), as the outcome of the trial probably would have been the same if the lineup was excluded based on the victim's independent identification of defendant as the perpetrator. State v. Lewis, 360 N.C. 1, 619 S.E.2d 830, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1000 (2005).

In a rape and kidnapping case, evidence of a criminal citation issued to defendant for drugs a few days before an attack was not relevant because it did not matter whether defendant actually possessed drugs; the admission of the evidence was harmless because the state could have proven the attack at any rate due to the testimony of the victim. State v. Moore, 173 N.C. App. 494, 620 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2103 (2005).

Evidence that defendant, who shot a police officer with a shotgun, possessed a pistol was irrelevant because the pistol was not connected to the shooting in any way; the error was harmless under G.S. 15A-1443(a), however, because of the overwhelming evidence of defendant's guilt. State v. Grant, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 258, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1637 (2006).

Erroneous admission of hearsay, etc. —

Because there was no evidence that a conspiracy to rob a convenience store was in existence at the time statements in question were made, the trial court erred in admitting the hearsay statements as a statement by a co-conspirator under G.S. 8C-1, Rule 801(d); however, the error was harmless pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b) because the remaining evidence that defendant took part in the robbery was overwhelming. State v. Stephens, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 610, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 50 (2006).

Violation of Rights Held Harmless Error.

While the admission into evidence of an accomplice's written statement made during his interrogation violated defendant's Sixth Amendment right to confrontation, the error was not prejudicial under G.S. 15A-1443(b) where there was overwhelming evidence that defendant and his accomplices broke into a building in the early morning hours to steal a computer. State v. Garcia, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 292, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2493 (2005).

Admission of Improper Testimony Held Harmless Error. —

Although the trial court erred in admitting the hearsay statements of the witness, the error was harmless under G.S. 15A-1443(b) given the presence of overwhelming evidence of premeditation required for the conviction of first-degree murder; this evidence included the fact that defendant brought the murder weapon to the residence where the murder occurred, that defendant stabbed or lacerated the victim 51 times, and that the responding police officer saw that defendant's clothes were heavily blood stained. State v. Champion, 171 N.C. App. 716, 615 S.E.2d 366, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1364 (2005).

Instruction Not to Consider Evidence Held Sufficient. —

Although the prosecutor improperly commented on defendant's failure to produce records of his alleged dental visit during which he received an intoxicating substance, the error was harmless because the jury received a curative instruction and defendant made no showing that the jury failed to follow that instruction. State v. Highsmith, 173 N.C. App. 600, 619 S.E.2d 586, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2123 (2005).

Erroneous Jury Instruction Not Harmless Beyond a Reasonable Doubt. —

In a second degree rape charge under G.S. 14-27.3 where the victim alleged that she said no and that defendant engaged in sexual intercourse with her while she was asleep, and defendant alleged that the victim was awake and consented to intercourse, the State and defendant presented contradictory evidence on the elements of force and against the victim's will, but the trial court impermissibly instructed the jury that two elements — force and lack of consent — were established as a matter of law; the trial court's jury instruction created a reasonable likelihood that the jury did not deliberate upon the contradictory evidence, but rather understood the trial court's instruction to mean force and lack of consent had been established. Thus, there was a reasonable likelihood the jury concluded the victim was asleep by a standard less than beyond a reasonable doubt; therefore, pursuant to G.S. 15A-1443(b), the erroneous jury instruction was not harmless beyond a reasonable doubt, and defendant was entitled to a new trial. State v. Smith, 170 N.C. App. 461, 613 S.E.2d 304, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1075 (2005).

Admission of Hearsay Testimony Held Harmless Error. —

Although victim's hearsay statement identifying perpetrator was erroneously admitted, the error was harmless because there was sufficient undisputable evidence without the victim's hearsay statement identifying defendant as the perpetrator. State v. Lawson, 173 N.C. App. 270, 619 S.E.2d 410, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2036 (2005).

Overwhelming Evidence of Defendant's Guilt. —

Defendant's conviction for first-degree murder was upheld on appeal, despite that the trial court erred by admitting the statements of two unavailable robbery victims with regard to their statements to police after the crime, which identified and implicated defendant and three others, without affording defendant the right to confrontation, because the evidence of defendant's guilt was overwhelming, which rendered the trial court's error harmless. State v. Allen, 171 N.C. App. 71, 614 S.E.2d 361, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1186 (2005), cert. dismissed, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 875 (2005), cert. denied, appeal dismissed, 360 N.C. 66, 621 S.E.2d 878 (2005).

Error Held Harmless. —

Officer's testimony was not improper on the issue of constructive possession of drugs; even if the trial court erred in allowing the officer's testimony after a question by the state linking constructive possession with being "next to" the drugs, defendant had failed to show that had the alleged error not been committed, a different result would have been reached, as required by G.S. 15A-1443(a). State v. Hart, — N.C. App. —, 633 S.E.2d 102, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1675 (2006).

§ 15A-1444. When defendant may appeal; certiorari.

CASE NOTES

Writ of Certiorari Limited. —

Defendant's claim of a Blakely v. Washington, 542 U.S. 296 (2004), violation was not reached as defendant was indicted on March 13, 1995, which was before the certification date of the State v. Allen, 615 S.E.2d 256 (2005), opinion, his appeal was not pending direct review, and his case was final; defendant did not appeal the trial court's acceptance of the plea agreement under which he entered his Alford pleas, the finding of aggravating and mitigating factors by the trial court, nor his sentence to 55 years of imprisonment and it was not until November 7, 2003, that defendant filed a petition for a writ of certiorari and was allowed a limited review of only those issues within his appeal of right pursuant to G.S. 15A-1444(a1) and (a2). State v. Pender, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 664, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2710 (2005).

Since none of the circumstances set out in G.S. 15A-1444(e) applied to defendant's guilty plea, the court was without authority under N.C. R. App. P. 21 to issue a writ of certiorari. State v. Hadden, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 417, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 190 (2006).

Defendant's Plea Was Improperly Conditioned upon Appellate Review of Issues He Was Not Entitled to Have Reviewed. —

Since defendant made a procedural, constitutional argument about the determination of his sentence, he did not have a statutory right to appeal the issues of whether the trial court erred by determining, without a jury, that defendant had 10 prior record level points and whether the trial court erred by failing to consider mitigating factors at the sentencing hearing. State v. Hadden, — N.C. App. —, 624 S.E.2d 417, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 190 (2006).

Dismissal of Appeal. —

Where defendant entered a plea of nolo contendere under G.S. 15A-1444(a1), (a), (e), defendant was not entitled to appeal the habitual felon status determination, and the appeal of this issue was, therefore, dismissed; this matter did not deal with sentencing, and defendant did not file an unsuccessful motion to withdraw the no contest plea. State v. Quick, 170 N.C. App. 166, 611 S.E.2d 864, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 897 (2005).

Appeal dismissed because defendant was not entitled to appellate review, etc. —

Defendant had no statutory right to appeal because the sentence imposed by the trial court was in the presumptive range. State v. Hill, — N.C. App. —, 632 S.E.2d 777, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1636 (2006).

Post-Conviction Motion for DNA Testing. — Defendant's appeal of the trial court's denial of his motion for post-conviction DNA testing was dismissed because neither G.S. 15A-269 nor G.S. 15A-270 allows a defendant an appeal as of right from a grant or denial of a motion for post-conviction DNA. Review by writ of certiorari was also not available to defendant because his conviction for attempted rape had already been entered and there was no statutory reason allowing a writ of certiorari regarding motions for post-conviction DNA testing. State v. Brown, 170 N.C. App. 601, 613 S.E.2d 284, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1069 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 68, 621 S.E.2d 882 (2005).

Applied in State v. Hagans, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 776, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 719 (2006).

Cited in State v. Starkey, — N.C. App. —,

628 S.E.2d 424, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 874 (2006).

§ 15A-1445. Appeal by the State.

CASE NOTES

II. Appealable Orders and Judgments.

II. APPEALABLE ORDERS AND JUDGMENTS.

Appeal from Judgment “Regularly Taken.” — When, after defendant was convicted of possession of cocaine and having attained the status of being an habitual felon, the trial court, sua sponte, granted a motion for appropriate relief, vacating the habitual felon conviction, and reducing defendant’s sentence, finding the sentence violated defendant’s rights under the Eighth and Fourteenth Amendments, the State’s appeal from the trial court’s grant of appropriate relief was not from a judgment “regularly taken,” under G.S. 15A-1445, because, while the relief the trial court granted might have been considered to have effectively dismissed defendant’s charge of having attained the status of an habitual felon or imposed an unauthorized prison term in light of defendant’s habitual felon status, the State had to have the right to appeal from the underlying judgment convicting defendant and not the order granting appropriate relief, and that underlying judgment did not dismiss a charge against defendant or impose an unauthorized prison term, so the State had no right to appeal from that judgment. State v. Starkey, — N.C. App. —, 628 S.E.2d 424, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 874 (2006).

§ 15A-1446. Requisites for preserving the right to appellate review.

CASE NOTES

Construction with N.C.R.A.P., Rule 10. —

After considering defendant’s assignment of error regarding the trial court’s erroneous activation of his suspended sentences under G.S. 15A-1446(d)(18), where those sentences were unconstitutionally aggravated, because said sentences were imposed without his stipulation or by a submission to and finding by the jury beyond a reasonable doubt, said sentences were vacated and a new sentencing hearing was ordered, despite defendant’s failure to raise an objection at trial. State v. McMahan, — N.C. App. —, 621 S.E.2d 319, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2477 (2005).

Assignment of error dismissed for failure to make timely objection, etc. —

Defendant’s contention that the trial court erred in denying a motion for a mistrial based on an improper identification was not properly preserved for review because defense counsel failed to raise an objection when the victim testified about the photo line-up. State v. Summers, — N.C. App. —, 629 S.E.2d 902, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1188 (2006).

Certain Errors Subject to Appellate Review Even Though No Objection, Exception or Motion Made. —

Since no conclusion could be reached by reading the indictment other than that defendant was in custody at the time he allegedly committed malicious conduct by a prisoner, the trial court had jurisdiction over his case, as the State adequately alleged the offense such that defendant was notified of the offense against which he was called to defend. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

Sufficiency of the evidence may be raised on appeal, etc. —

Enhanced sentence imposed on defendant’s drug convictions had to be remanded for resentencing, because error based on insufficient evidence as a matter of law does not require an objection at the sentencing hearing to be preserved for appellate review, G.S. 15A-1446(d)(5), (18), and the trial court failed to satisfy its burden under G.S. 15A-1340.14(e) to show that defendant’s Texas convictions were substantially similar to corresponding Class I North Carolina felony offenses. State v. Huu The Cao, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 301, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 185 (2006).

Plain Error Rule May Allow Relief Without Objection. —

Appellate court applied a plain error review because defendant failed to preserve his assignment of error regarding the admission of letters into evidence for review; given the additional evidence against defendant, the admission of the letters did not have a probable impact on the jury's finding of defendant's guilt. State v. Curry, 171 N.C. App. 568, 615 S.E.2d 327, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1312 (2005).

Trial court erred in finding defendant to have the status of a habitual felon, as the trial court did not inform defendant of the nature of the charges and consequences of pleading guilty to such a status, as required by G.S. 15A-1022(a)(1)-(4); defendant could raise the failure to so inform him on appeal even though he did not object at trial and apparently pled guilty to habitual felon status. State v. Artis, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 204, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2610 (2005).

Applied in State v. Cummings, — N.C. App. —, 622 S.E.2d 183, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2618 (2005); State v. Bauberger, — N.C. App. —, 626 S.E.2d 700, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 523 (2006).

Cited in State v. Verrier, 173 N.C. App. 123, 617 S.E.2d 675, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1899 (2005).

§ 15A-1448. Procedures for taking appeal.

CASE NOTES

Loss of Jurisdiction to Rule on Motion for Appropriate Relief. — Summary denial of defendant's motion for appropriate relief (MAR) was vacated as a timely-filed appeal was pending when the MAR was filed, so the trial court lacked jurisdiction to rule on the MAR; the proper venue for filing the MAR would have been in the appellate court. State v. Williams, — N.C. App. —, 630 S.E.2d 216, 2006 N.C. App. LEXIS 1219 (2006).

§ 15A-1451. Stay of sentence; bail; no stay when State appeals.

CASE NOTES

Stay of Probationary Sentence. — Despite a specific reference to probation in G.S. 15A-1451, and the absence of a corresponding reference to probation in G.S. 15A-1431, G.S. 15A-1431(e) provided that a defendant remained on pretrial release during an appeal from district court to superior court, so he or she was not also on probation; defendant's probation, imposed by a district court, did not start where defendant appealed to superior court, did not begin until he withdrew that appeal, and thus, a later violation report was timely filed. State v. Smith, 359 N.C. 618, 614 S.E.2d 279, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 635 (2005).

North Carolina, asserting the complete innocence of any criminal responsibility for the felony for which the person was convicted and for any other reduced level of criminal responsibility relating to the crime, and for which there is some credible, verifiable evidence of innocence that has not previously been presented at trial or considered at a hearing granted through postconviction relief.

- (2) "Commission" means the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission established by this Article.
- (3) "Director" means the Director of the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission.

§ 15A-1466. Duties.

The Commission shall have the following duties and powers:

- (1) To establish the criteria and screening process to be used to determine which cases shall be accepted for review.
- (2) To conduct inquiries into claims of factual innocence, with priority to be given to those cases in which the convicted person is currently incarcerated solely for the crime for which he or she claims factual innocence.
- (3) To coordinate the investigation of cases accepted for review.
- (4) To maintain records for all case investigations.
- (5) To prepare written reports outlining Commission investigations and recommendations to the trial court at the completion of each inquiry.

- (6) To apply for and accept any funds that may become available for the Commission's work from government grants, private gifts, donations, or bequests from any source. (2006-184, s. 1.)

§ 15A-1467. Claims of innocence; waiver of convicted person's procedural safeguards and privileges; formal inquiry; notification of the crime victim.

(a) A claim of factual innocence may be referred to the Commission by any court, person, or agency. The Commission shall not consider a claim of factual innocence if the convicted person is deceased. The determination of whether to grant a formal inquiry regarding any other claim of factual innocence is in the discretion of the Commission. The Commission may informally screen and dismiss a case summarily at its discretion.

(b) No formal inquiry into a claim of innocence shall be made by the Commission unless the Director or the Director's designee first obtains a signed agreement from the convicted person in which the convicted person waives his or her procedural safeguards and privileges, agrees to cooperate with the Commission, and agrees to provide full disclosure regarding all inquiry requirements of the Commission. The waiver under this subsection does not apply to matters unrelated to a convicted person's claim of innocence. The convicted person shall have the right to advice of counsel prior to the execution of the agreement and, if a formal inquiry is granted, throughout the formal inquiry. If counsel represents the convicted person, then the convicted person's counsel must be present at the signing of the agreement. If counsel does not represent the convicted person, the Commission Chair shall determine the convicted person's indigency status and, if appropriate, enter an order for the appointment of counsel for the purpose of advising on the agreement.

(c) If a formal inquiry regarding a claim of factual innocence is granted, the Director shall use all due diligence to notify the victim in the case and explain the inquiry process. The Commission shall give the victim notice that the victim has the right to present his or her views and concerns throughout the Commission's investigation.

(d) The Commission may use any measure provided in Chapter 15A of the General Statutes and the Rules of Civil Procedure as set out in G.S. 1A-1 to obtain information necessary to its inquiry. The Commission may also do any of the following: issue process to compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence, administer oaths, petition the Superior Court of Wake County or of the original jurisdiction for enforcement of process or for other relief, and prescribe its own rules of procedure. All challenges with regard to the Commission's authority or the Commission's access to evidence shall be heard by the Commission Chair in the Chair's judicial capacity, including any in camera review required by G.S. 15A-908.

(e) While performing duties for the Commission, the Director or the Director's designee may serve subpoenas or other process issued by the Commission throughout the State in the same manner and with the same effect as an officer authorized to serve process of the General Court of Justice.

(f) All State discovery and disclosure statutes in effect at the time of formal inquiry shall be enforceable as if the convicted person were currently being tried for the charge for which the convicted person is claiming innocence.

(g) If, at any point during an inquiry, the convicted person refuses to comply with requests of the Commission or is otherwise deemed to be uncooperative by the Commission, the Commission shall discontinue the inquiry. (2006-184, s. 1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-184, s. 11 provides: "The initial members of the North Carolina Innocence Inquiry Commission shall be appointed not later than October 1, 2006. No claims of 'actual innocence' may be filed with the Commission until November 1, 2006. No claims of 'actual innocence' where the convicted person entered and was convicted on a plea of guilty may be filed with the Commission until November 1, 2008."

§ 15A-1468. Commission proceedings.

(a) At the completion of a formal inquiry, all relevant evidence shall be presented to the full Commission. As part of its proceedings, the Commission may conduct public hearings. The determination as to whether to conduct public hearings is solely in the discretion of the Commission. Any public hearing held in accordance with this section shall be subject to the Commission's rules of operation.

(b) The Director shall use all due diligence to notify the victim at least 30 days prior to any proceedings of the full Commission held in regard to the victim's case. The Commission shall notify the victim that the victim is permitted to attend proceedings otherwise closed to the public, subject to any limitations imposed by this Article. If the victim plans to attend proceedings otherwise closed to the public, the victim shall notify the Commission at least 10 days in advance of the proceedings of his or her intent to attend. If the Commission determines that the victim's presence may interfere with the investigation, the Commission may close any portion of the proceedings to the victim.

(c) After hearing the evidence, the full Commission shall vote to establish further case disposition as provided by this subsection. All eight voting members of the Commission shall participate in that vote.

Except in cases where the convicted person entered and was convicted on a plea of guilty, if five or more of the eight voting members of the Commission conclude there is sufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review, the case shall be referred to the senior resident superior court judge in the district of original jurisdiction by filing with the clerk of court the opinion of the Commission with supporting findings of fact, as well as the record in support of such opinion, with service on the district attorney in noncapital cases and service on both the district attorney and Attorney General in capital cases. In cases where the convicted person entered and was convicted on a plea of guilty, if all of the eight voting members of the Commission conclude there is sufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review, the case shall be referred to the senior resident superior court judge in the district of original jurisdiction.

If less than five of the eight voting members of the Commission, or in cases where the convicted person entered and was convicted on a guilty plea less than all of the eight voting members of the Commission, conclude there is sufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review, the Commission shall conclude there is insufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review. The Commission shall document that opinion, along with supporting findings of fact, and file those documents and supporting materials with the clerk of superior court in the district of original jurisdiction, with a copy to the district attorney and the senior resident superior court judge.

The Director of the Commission shall use all due diligence to notify immediately the victim of the Commission's conclusion in a case.

(d) Evidence of criminal acts, professional misconduct, or other wrongdoing disclosed through formal inquiry or Commission proceedings shall be referred to the appropriate authority. Evidence favorable to the convicted person disclosed through formal inquiry or Commission proceedings shall be disclosed to the convicted person and the convicted person's counsel, if the convicted person has counsel.

(e) All proceedings of the Commission shall be recorded and transcribed as part of the record. All Commission member votes shall be recorded in the record. All records and proceedings of the Commission are confidential and are exempt from public record and public meeting laws except that the supporting records for the Commission's conclusion that there is sufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review, including all files and materials considered by the Commission and a full transcript of the hearing before the Commission, shall become public at the time of referral to the superior court. Commission records for conclusions of insufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review shall remain confidential, except as provided in subsection (d) of this section. (2006-184, s. 1.)

§ 15A-1469. Postcommission three-judge panel.

(a) If the Commission concludes there is sufficient evidence of factual innocence to merit judicial review, the Chair of the Commission shall request the Chief Justice to appoint a three-judge panel, not to include any trial judge that has had substantial previous involvement in the case, and issue commissions to the members of the three-judge panel to convene a special session of the superior court of the original jurisdiction to hear evidence relevant to the Commission's recommendation. The senior judge of the panel shall preside.

(b) The senior resident superior court judge shall enter an order setting the case for hearing at the special session of superior court for which the three-judge panel is commissioned and shall require the State to file a response to the Commission's opinion within 60 days of the date of the order.

(c) The district attorney of the district of conviction, or the district attorney's designee, shall represent the State at the hearing before the three-judge panel.

(d) The three-judge panel shall conduct an evidentiary hearing. At the hearing, the court may compel the testimony of any witness, including the convicted person. The convicted person may not assert any privilege or prevent a witness from testifying. The convicted person has a right to be present at the evidentiary hearing and to be represented by counsel. A waiver of the right to be present shall be in writing.

(e) The senior resident superior court judge shall determine the convicted person's indigency status and, if appropriate, enter an order for the appointment of counsel. The court may also enter an order relieving an indigent convicted person of all or a portion of the costs of the proceedings.

(f) The clerk of court shall provide written notification to the victim 30 days prior to any case-related hearings.

(g) Upon the motion of either party, the senior judge of the panel may direct the attorneys for the parties to appear before him or her for a conference on any matter in the case.

(h) The three-judge panel shall rule as to whether the convicted person has proved by clear and convincing evidence that the convicted person is innocent of the charges. Such a determination shall require a unanimous vote. If the vote is unanimous, the panel shall enter dismissal of all or any of the charges. If the vote is not unanimous, the panel shall deny relief. (2006-184, s. 1.)

§ 15A-1470. No right to further review of decision by Commission or three-judge panel; convicted person retains right to other postconviction relief.

(a) Unless otherwise authorized by this Article, the decisions of the Commission and of the three-judge panel are final and are not subject to further review by appeal, certification, writ, motion, or otherwise.

(b) A claim of factual innocence asserted through the Innocence Inquiry Commission shall not adversely affect the convicted person's rights to other postconviction relief. (2006-184, s. 1.)

§§ 15A-1471 through 15A-1474: Reserved for future codification purposes.

§ 15A-1475. Reports.

The report may contain recommendations of any needed legislative changes related to the activities of the Commission. The report shall recommend the funding needed by the Commission, the district attorneys, and the State Bureau of Investigation in order to meet their responsibilities under S.L. 2006-184. Recommendations concerning the district attorneys or the State Bureau of Investigation shall only be made after consultations with the North Carolina Conference of District Attorneys and the Attorney General. (2006-184, s. 9.)

I. GENERAL CONSIDERATION.

Constitutionality of Instruction on Weighing of Factors. —

G.S. 15A-2000(c) does not violate a defendant's constitutional rights. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

No Right to Sit Jurors. — In his murder trial, defendant had no right to seek to sit two jurors during the guilt-innocence proceeding who were opposed to imposing the death penalty under any circumstances and to substitute two alternate jurors during the penalty proceeding who were "death-qualified." G.S. 15A-2000(a)(2) permitted alternate jurors to serve during the sentencing phase in extraordinary circumstances involving the death, incapacitation or disqualification of an empaneled juror, but did not provide for the exchange of jurors for the sentencing phase based upon their convictions concerning the death penalty, and the Supreme Court of North Carolina and the United States Supreme Court have held that the death qualification of a jury is not unconstitutional. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

In his murder trial, defendant had no right to seek to sit two jurors during the guilt-innocence proceeding who were opposed to imposing the death penalty under any circumstances and to substitute two alternate jurors during the penalty proceeding who were "death-qualified." Selecting a jury composed both of those opposed and unopposed to capital punishment for the purpose of determining guilt and then, at the sentencing phase, replacing those opposed by alternates who were unopposed to the death penalty, contravened G.S. 15A-2000(a)(2), which contemplated that the same jury that determined guilt also recommended the sentence. State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

Habeas Relief Was Denied Where Petitioner Did Not Prove His Counsel Was Ineffective. — Where a state prisoner, who was sentenced to death for committing first-degree murder, in violation of G.S. 14-17, argued that his attorneys were ineffective because they failed to adequately present mitigating evidence concerning his life history and his mental health, the prisoner was not entitled to federal habeas corpus relief because (1) the prisoner's sisters testified at sentencing about the prisoner's dysfunctional childhood; (2) the prisoner instructed the attorneys not to introduce further evidence of his background; and (3) a doctor testified at sentencing that the prisoner's mental disorders impaired his ability to control his behavior; furthermore, the prisoner could not demonstrate prejudice because the additional evidence identified by the prisoner was largely cumulative and the jury found that four severe aggravating circumstances under G.S. 15A-2000 outweighed any mitigating circumstances. Campbell v. Polk, 447 F.3d 270, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 11591 (4th Cir. 2006).

Cited in Buckner v. Polk, 453 F.3d 195, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 16062 (4th Cir. 2006);

II. REVIEW OF JUDGMENT AND SENTENCE.

Proportionality Review Required. —

Although the North Carolina Supreme Court compares a case at bar with the cases in which it has found the death penalty to be proportionate, it will not undertake to discuss or cite all of those cases each time it carries out that duty. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Death Penalty Was Appropriate. —

Conviction for double murder was proper and two consecutive death sentences were not disproportionate. Jury found three aggravators, prior violent felony, especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel, and that the crime involved crimes against other persons, under G.S. 15A-2000(e)(3), (9), (11), outweighed no statutory mitigators. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Death penalty was upheld in defendant's conviction of murder for the stabbing death of the owner of a store during a robbery where the jury found all four of the aggravating circumstances submitted, three of which related to defendant's having been previously convicted of a felony involving the use or threat of violence to the person, the jury did not find the two submitted statutory mitigating circumstances to exist, and the jury found 12 of the 19 non-statutory mitigating circumstances submitted; additionally, the case was not substantially similar to any of the cases in which the death sentence was found disproportionate. State v. al-Bayyinah, 359 N.C. 741, 616 S.E.2d 500, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 844 (2005).

Sentence Held Not Excessive or Disproportionate. —

Jury's finding of two distinct aggravating circumstances submitted was supported by the evidence, and nothing in the record suggested defendant's death sentence was imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice, or any other arbitrary factor; defendant killed the victim in the victim's home and defendant was convicted based on premeditation, deliberation, and under the felony murder rule. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

The North Carolina Supreme Court has never found a death sentence disproportionate in a double-murder case. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

III. AGGRAVATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

A. In General.

Double Jeopardy Considerations. — Imposition of death penalty in the defendant's second trial did not violate double jeopardy or Ring because the jury in the first trial had found at least one statutory aggravator and the jury in the second trial had also found at least one statutory aggravator. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Aggravating Factors Supported Death Sentence. — There was support in the record of defendant's rape and murder trial that supported the aggravating circumstances that the jury found, the sentence of death was not imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice, or any other arbitrary factor, and the death sentence was not excessive or disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering the crime and defendant, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(d)(2). The jury found two aggravating circumstances to each of the three murders; one murder was committed while he was engaged in committing a burglary pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), the murder was part of a course of conduct that included defendant's commission of other violent crimes against other persons, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(11), his murder of a married couple was committed while he was engaged in committing arson, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), and the murder of one of his elderly female victims was especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9). State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

State's Argument of Victim's Perceptions Properly Admitted. — Since arguments addressing the victim's perceptions as defendant shot him were relevant to the G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9) aggravator, the State's argument was proper and the trial court had no grounds to intervene ex mero motu. State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

Two Aggravating Circumstances Found by Jury. — Defendant's death sentence was proportionate, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(d)(2). The jury found two aggravating circumstances, that the murder was committed while defendant was committing a first-degree burglary, as contemplated by G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), and the murder was especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel under G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9). State v. Elliott, 360 N.C. 400, 628 S.E.2d 735, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 46 (2006).

B. Prior Convictions.

Acts Sufficient to Show Use or Threat of Violence. —

Trial court did not abuse its discretion in allowing testimony regarding the circumstances surrounding defendant's prior conviction of second-degree kidnapping; the trial court determined that evidence concerning the alleged domestic violence and rapes was necessary to show that the victim was terrorized by defendant and that her fear was well founded at the time of the actual kidnapping. State v. Campbell, 359 N.C. 644, 617 S.E.2d 1, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 842 (2005).

D. Felony Murder.

Two Aggravating Circumstances to Each of Three Murders. — G.S. 15A-2000(d)(2) there was support in the record of defendant's rape and murder trial that supported the aggravating circumstances that the jury found, the sentence of death was not imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice, or any other arbitrary factor, and the death sentence was not excessive or disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering the crime and defendant. The jury found two aggravating circumstances to each of the three murders; one murder was committed while he was engaged in committing a burglary pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), the murder was part of a course of conduct that included defendant's commission of other violent crimes against other persons, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(11), his murder of a married couple was committed while he was engaged in committing arson, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), and the murder of one of his elderly female victims was especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9). State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

E. Especially Heinous, Atrocious, or Cruel Act.

Factor Is Constitutional. —

Heinous, atrocious, or cruel aggravating circumstance under G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9) was argued to be unconstitutionally vague and overbroad, and that that vagueness could not be cured through appellate narrowing after Ring; although the issue was not raised in the lower court so as to be properly addressed on appeal, the highest court found the issue to be in the public interest, addressed the issue to further develop its jurisprudence under N.C. R. App. P. 2, and determined that the circumstance was constitutional under the Sixth Amendment because (1) the pattern jury instructions included language approved by the Court that narrowed the definition of the circumstance, and (2) the appellate review of the circumstance as submitted to the jury did not make the appellate court a “co-finder of fact” with the jury. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Evidence Held Sufficient. —

State presented sufficient evidence, including the multiplicity of gun shots inflicted in rapid succession, defendant’s disregard of the victim’s plea for life, the victim’s realization she was about to be killed, and defendant’s calmness and lack of regret, to support submission of the especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel aggravating circumstance to the jury. State v. McNeill, 360 N.C. 231, 624 S.E.2d 329, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 1 (2006).

Two Aggravating Circumstances to Each of Three Murders. — There was support in the record of defendant’s rape and murder trial that supported the aggravating circumstances that the jury found, the sentence of death was not imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice, or any other arbitrary factor, and the death sentence was not excessive or disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering the crime and defendant. The jury found two aggravating circumstances to each of the three murders; one murder was committed while he was engaged in committing a burglary pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), the murder was part of a course of conduct that included defendant’s commission of other violent crimes against other persons, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(11), his murder of a married couple was committed while he was engaged in committing arson, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), and the murder of one of his elderly female victims was especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9). State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

Felony Murder Supported By Aggravating Circumstances. — There was support in the record of defendant’s rape and murder trial that supported the aggravating circumstances that the jury found, the sentence of death was not imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice, or any other arbitrary factor, and the death sentence was not excessive or disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering the crime and defendant. The jury found two aggravating circumstances to each of the three murders; one murder was committed while he was engaged in committing a burglary pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), the murder was part of a course of conduct that included defendant’s commission of other violent crimes against other persons, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(11), his murder of a married couple was committed while he was engaged in committing arson, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), and the murder of one of his elderly female victims was especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9). State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

With regard to the use of the “especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel aggravating circumstance in the court did not err in overruling defendant’s objections to the use of that aggravating circumstance as set forth in G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9), even though he claimed that it was unconstitutionally vague and failed to narrow the class of persons eligible for the death penalty, the Supreme Court of North Carolina had already held that the subject aggravating circumstance was constitutional. State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

G. Course of Conduct.

Two Aggravating Circumstances to Each of Three Murders. — There was support in the record of defendant’s rape and murder trial that supported the aggravating circumstances that the jury found, the sentence of death was not imposed under the influence of passion, prejudice, or any other arbitrary factor, and the death sentence was not excessive or disproportionate to the penalty imposed in similar cases, considering the crime and defendant. The jury found two aggravating circumstances to each of the three murders; one murder was committed while he was engaged in committing a burglary pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), the murder was part of a course of conduct that included defendant’s commission of other violent crimes against other persons, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(11), his murder of a married couple was committed while he was engaged in committing arson, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(5), and the murder of one of his elderly female victims was especially heinous, atrocious, or cruel, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(e)(9). State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

IV. MITIGATING CIRCUMSTANCES.

A. In General.

Statutory Versus Nonstatutory Mitigating Circumstances. — If any error occurred in the re-instruction concerning mitigators, the error was to the defendant’s benefit because it implied all the listed circumstances had some mitigating value, rather than instructing the jury it should not find a nonstatutory mitigating circumstance unless it deemed that circumstance to exist and have mitigating value. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Right to Peremptory Instruction. —

It was not error for the trial court in the capital case to refuse to give preemptive instructions on a mitigating circumstance since defendant’s counsel failed to submit the instructions to the trial court in writing; and, even if the requested instructions had been submitted in writing the evidence supporting the G.S. 15A-2000(f)(2), (f)(6) mitigating circumstances was not uncontroverted. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

Refusal to Give Peremptory Instruction Not Error. — It was not error for the trial court in defendant's trial for multiple rapes and murders to refuse to give his requested peremptory instructions on the statutory mitigating circumstances that the murders were committed while defendant was under the influence of a mental or emotional disturbance, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(f)(2), and that the capacity of defendant to conform his conduct to the requirements of the law was impaired, pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(f)(6). If asked, a court had to give a peremptory instruction for any statutory or nonstatutory mitigating circumstance that uncontroverted and manifestly credible evidence supported, but the testimony of defendant's expert, who had no contact with him until after his arrest, was not manifestly credible, and the evidence supporting a possible submission of mitigating circumstances under G.S. 15A-2000(f)(1) and (2) was not uncontroverted. State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

B. No Significant Prior Criminal Activity.

Significant Criminal Activity Shown. —

Since no rational jury could find that defendant's criminal activity was insignificant where defendant had been convicted of "several" breaking and entering charges and had been charged with driving under the influence, the trial court did not err in deciding not to instruct pursuant to G.S. 15A-2000(f)(1). State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

State v. Rouse, 339 N.C. 59 is overruled to the extent it conflicts with other decisions by implying that if the evidence pertaining to defendant's criminal history is offered in a context other than for the purpose of determining whether a G.S. 15A-2000(f)(1) instruction should be given the defendant might not be entitled to the instruction, it is overruled. State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

Refusal to Submit Criminal History Not Error. — It was not error in defendant's rape and murder trial to refuse to submit his criminal history as a mitigating factor under G.S. 15A-2000(f)(1); his record before the murders showed many prior convictions. Thus, while it was error to consider his criminal history that amassed after the murders, the error was harmless in light of the other, substantial, competent evidence presented to the court and because the test was whether a rational juror would conclude that defendant had no significant history of prior criminal activity. State v. Forte, 360 N.C. 427, 629 S.E.2d 137, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 45 (2006).

D. Duress.

Issues of Provocation or Lack of Intent Not to be Relitigated at Sentencing Phase.

— Jury decided during the guilt-innocence proceeding that defendant was guilty of first-degree murder, rejecting his contention he acted under perceived provocation; the defendant was properly not allowed to put provocation back into issue during the sentencing phase. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

E. Impaired Capacity.

No Right to Peremptory Instruction. — G.S. 15A-2000(f)(6) mitigating circumstance was not uncontroverted for the purpose of giving a preemptive jury instruction because evidence that the defendant tried to make the murders look like a robbery-murder could cause a reasonable jury to conclude that he knew and appreciated the criminality of his actions. State v. Duke, 360 N.C. 110, 623 S.E.2d 11, 2005 N.C. LEXIS 1314 (2005).

F. Age of Defendant.

Age Properly Not Considered. —

Trial court did not err in failing to submit the age mitigator under G.S. 15A-2000(f)(7) in the death penalty case where evidence of defendant's emotional immaturity was counterbalanced by other factors such as defendant's chronological age, defendant's apparently normal intellectual and physical development, and defendant's lifetime experience. State v. Hurst, 360 N.C. 181, 624 S.E.2d 309, 2006 N.C. LEXIS 7 (2006).

§ 15A-2005. Mentally retarded defendants; death sentence prohibited.

CASE NOTES

Relationship Between Mental Retardation, Competency to Stand Trial, and Forming Requisite Intent to Kill. — Murder defendant was mentally retarded so he was not sentenced to death under G.S. 15A-2005(a)(1); but (1) experts testified he was competent under G.S. 15A-1001(a) to stand trial; and (2) evidence and his girlfriend's opinion testimony under G.S. 8C-1, N.C. R. Evid. 701, that he was "fine" and "not mentally retarded," indicated he was able to form the requisite "deliberation" and "cool state of blood" (as defined State v. Ruof) jury instructions and which were properly given to the jury in response to a deliberation question under G.S. 15A-1234(a)(1)) when he shot a coworker who teased him about being mentally retarded. State v. McClain, 169 N.C.

App. 657, 610 S.E.2d 783, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 804 (2005).

Federal Habeas Corpus Review. — State death row prisoner was properly denied an evidentiary hearing by a federal district court on the issue of whether he was mentally retarded and therefore precluded from being executed under state law; a federal appellate court deferred to a state post-conviction court's factual finding that the prisoner failed to show that he suffered from significantly sub-average general intellectual functioning, existing concurrently with significant limitations in adaptive functioning, both manifesting before the age of 18, as required by G.S. 15A-2005(a)(1)(a), (a)(1)(c). Conaway v. Polk, 453 F.3d 567, 2006 U.S. App. LEXIS 17304 (4th Cir. 2006).

Chapter 15B. Victims Compensation.

Article 1.

Crime Victims Compensation Act.

Sec.

15B-2. Definitions.

Sec.

15B-4. Award of compensation.

15B-11. Grounds for denial of claim or reduction of award.

ARTICLE 1.

Crime Victims Compensation Act.

§ 15B-2. Definitions.

As used in this Article, unless the context requires otherwise:

- (1) "Allowable expense" means reasonable charges incurred for reasonably needed products, services, and accommodations, including those for medical care, rehabilitation, medically-related property, and other remedial treatment and care.

Allowable expense includes a total charge not in excess of five thousand dollars ($5,000) for expenses related to funeral, cremation, and burial, including transportation of a body, but excluding expenses for flowers, gravestone, and other items not directly related to the funeral service.

Allowable expense for medical care, counseling, rehabilitation, medically-related property, and other remedial treatment and care of a victim shall be limited to sixty-six and two-thirds percent (66 2/3%) of the amount usually charged by the provider for the treatment or care. By accepting the compensation paid as allowable expense pursuant to this subdivision, the provider agrees that the compensation is payment in full for the treatment or care and shall not charge or otherwise hold a claimant financially responsible for the cost of services in addition to the amount of allowable expense.

- (2) "Claimant" means any of the following persons who claims an award of compensation under this Article:

- a. A victim;
- b. A dependent of a deceased victim;
- c. A third person who is not a collateral source and who provided benefit to the victim or his family other than in the course or scope of his employment, business, or profession;
- d. A person who is authorized to act on behalf of a victim, a dependent, or a third person described in subdivision c.

The claimant, however, may not be the offender or an accomplice of the offender who committed the criminally injurious conduct.

- (3) "Collateral source" means a source of benefits or advantages for economic loss otherwise compensable that the victim or claimant has received or that is readily available to the victim or the claimant from any of the following sources:

- a. The offender.
- b. The government of the United States or any of its agencies, a state or any of its political subdivisions, or an instrumentality of two or more states.
- c. Social Security, Medicare, or Medicaid.

- d. State-required, temporary, nonoccupational disability insurance.
  - e. Worker's compensation.
  - f. Wage continuation programs of any employer.
  - g. Proceeds of a contract of insurance payable to the victim for loss that the victim sustained because of the criminally injurious conduct.
  - h. A contract providing prepaid hospital and other health care services, or benefits for disability.
  - i. A contract of insurance that will pay for expenses directly related to a funeral, cremation, and burial, including transportation of a body.
- (4) "Commission" means the Crime Victims Compensation Commission established by G.S. 15B-3.
- (5) "Criminally injurious conduct" means conduct that by its nature poses a substantial threat of personal injury or death, and is punishable by fine or imprisonment or death, or would be so punishable but for the fact that the person engaging in the conduct lacked the capacity to commit the crime under the laws of this State. Criminally injurious conduct includes conduct that amounts to an offense involving impaired driving as defined in G.S. 20-4.01(24a), and conduct that amounts to a violation of G.S. 20-166 if the victim was a pedestrian or was operating a vehicle moved solely by human power or a mobility impairment device. For purposes of this Article, a mobility impairment device is a device that is designed for and intended to be used as a means of transportation for a person with a mobility impairment, is suitable for use both inside and outside a building, and whose maximum speed does not exceed 12 miles per hour when the device is being operated by a person with a mobility impairment. Criminally injurious conduct does not include conduct arising out of the ownership, maintenance, or use of a motor vehicle when the conduct is punishable only as a violation of other provisions of Chapter 20 of the General Statutes. Criminally injurious conduct shall also include an act of terrorism, as defined in 18 U.S.C. § 2331, that is committed outside of the United States against a citizen of this State.
- (6) "Dependent" means an individual wholly or substantially dependent upon the victim for care and support and includes a child of the victim born after his death.
- (7) "Dependent's economic loss" means loss after a victim's death of contributions of things of economic value to his dependents, not including services they would have received from the victim if he had not suffered the fatal injury, less expenses of the dependents avoided by reason of the victim's death.
- (8) "Dependent's replacement service loss" means loss reasonably incurred by dependents after a victim's death in obtaining ordinary and necessary services in lieu of those the victim would have performed for their benefit if he had not suffered the fatal injury, less expenses of the dependents avoided by reason of the victim's death and not subtracted in calculating dependent's economic loss.
- Dependent's replacement service loss will be limited to a 26-week period commencing from the date of the injury and compensation shall not exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) per week.
- (9) "Director" means the Director of the Commission appointed under G.S. 15B-3(g).
- (10) "Economic loss" means economic detriment consisting only of allowable expense, work loss, replacement services loss, and household support loss. If criminally injurious conduct causes death, economic loss includes a dependent's economic loss and a dependent's replacement service loss. Noneconomic detriment is not economic loss, but economic loss may be caused by pain and suffering or physical impairment.

- (10a) "Household support loss" means the loss of support that a victim would have received from the victim's spouse for the purpose of maintaining a home or residence for the victim and the victim's dependents. A victim may be compensated fifty dollars ($50.00) per week for each dependent child. Compensation for household support loss shall not exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00) per week and shall be limited to 26 weeks commencing from the date of the injury. A victim may receive only one compensation for household support loss. Household support loss is only available to an unemployed victim whose spouse is the offender who committed the criminally injurious conduct that is the basis of the victim's claim under this act.
- (11) "Noneconomic detriment" means pain, suffering, inconvenience, physical impairment, or other nonpecuniary damage.
- (12) "Replacement services loss" means expenses reasonably incurred in obtaining ordinary and necessary services in lieu of those the injured person would have performed, not for income but for the benefit of himself or his family, if he had not been injured.

Replacement service loss will be limited to a 26-week period commencing from the date of the injury, and compensation may not exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) per week.

- (12a) "Substantial evidence" means relevant evidence that a reasonable mind might accept as adequate to support a conclusion.
- (13) "Victim" means a person who suffers personal injury or death proximately caused by criminally injurious conduct.
- (14) "Work loss" means loss of income from work that the injured person would have performed if he had not been injured and expenses reasonably incurred by him to obtain services in lieu of those he would have performed for income, reduced by any income from substitute work actually performed by him, or by income he would have earned in available appropriate substitute work that he was capable of performing but unreasonably failed to undertake.

Compensation for work loss will be limited to 26 weeks commencing from the date of the injury, and compensation shall not exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00) per week. A claim for work loss will be paid only upon proof that the injured person was gainfully employed at the time of the criminally injurious conduct and, by physician's certificate, that the injured person was unable to work. (1983, c. 832, s. 1; 1987, c. 819, ss. 1-8; 1989, c. 322, s. 1; c. 679, s. 1; 1991, c. 301, s. 1; 1997-227, ss. 1, 2; 1998-212, s. 19.4(1); 2004-124, s. 18.1; 2004-159, s. 1; 2006-183, ss. 1, 2.)

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-183, ss. 1 and 2, effective July 1, 2006, and applicable to claims filed on or after that date, substituted "five thousand dollars ($5,000)" for "three thousand five hundred dollars ($3,500)" near the beginning of the second undesignated paragraph in subdivision (1);

in subdivision (3), substituted "the victim or the claimant" for "him" near the end of the introductory paragraph, substituted "the victim" for "he" in the middle of subdivision (3)(g), added subdivision (3)(i), and made related stylistic and punctuation changes.

§ 15B-4. Award of compensation.

(a) Subject to the limitations in G.S. 15B-22, compensation for criminally injurious conduct shall be awarded to a claimant if substantial evidence establishes that the requirements for an award have been met. Compensation shall only be paid for economic loss and not for noneconomic detriment. The Commission shall follow the rules of liability applicable to civil tort law in North Carolina.

(b) Compensation shall only be awarded for criminally injurious conduct that occurs or is attempted in this State except that criminally injurious conduct that occurs or is attempted against a resident of this State while in another state which does not have a victims compensation program of any type may be a basis of compensation. (1983, c. 832, s. 1; 1987, c. 819, s. 11; 1989, c. 322, s. 2; 1991, c. 301, s. 1; 2004-159, s. 1; 2006-183, s. 3.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-183, s. 3, effective July 1, 2006, and applicable to claims filed on or after that date, substituted “detriment” for “loss” at the end of the second sentence in subsection (a).

§ 15B-11. Grounds for denial of claim or reduction of award.

(a) An award of compensation shall be denied if:

- (1) The claimant fails to file an application for an award within two years after the date of the criminally injurious conduct that caused the injury or death for which the claimant seeks the award;
- (2) The economic loss is incurred after one year from the date of the criminally injurious conduct that caused the injury or death for which the victim seeks the award, except in the case where the victim for whom compensation is sought was 10 years old or younger at the time the injury occurred. In that case an award of compensation will be denied if the economic loss is incurred after two years from the date of the criminally injurious conduct that caused the injury or death for which the victim seeks the award;
- (3) The criminally injurious conduct was not reported to a law enforcement officer or agency within 72 hours of its occurrence, and there was no good cause for the delay;
- (4) The award would benefit the offender or the offender’s accomplice, unless a determination is made that the interests of justice require that an award be approved in a particular case;
- (5) The criminally injurious conduct occurred while the victim was confined in any State, county, or city prison, correctional, youth services, or juvenile facility, or local confinement facility, or half-way house, group home, or similar facility; or
- (6) The victim was participating in a felony at or about the time that the victim’s injury occurred.

(b) A claim may be denied or an award of compensation may be reduced if:

- (1) The victim was participating in a nontraffic misdemeanor at or about the time that the victim’s injury occurred; or
- (2) The claimant or a victim through whom the claimant claims engaged in contributory misconduct.

The Commission shall use its discretion in determining whether to deny a claim under this subsection. In exercising its discretion, the Commission may consider whether any proximate cause exists between the injury and the misdemeanor or contributory misconduct.

(c) A claim may be denied, an award of compensation may be reduced, and a claim that has already been decided may be reconsidered upon finding that the claimant or victim, without good cause, has not fully cooperated with appropriate law enforcement agencies or in the prosecution of criminal cases with regard to the criminally injurious conduct that is the basis for the award.

(c1) A claim may be denied upon a finding that the claimant has been convicted of any felony classified as a Class A, B1, B2, C, D, or E felony under the laws of the State of North Carolina and that such felony was committed within 3 years of the time the victim's injury occurred.

(d) After reaching a decision to approve an award of compensation, but before notifying the claimant, the Director shall require the claimant to submit current information as to collateral sources on forms prescribed by the Commission.

An award that has been approved shall nevertheless be denied or reduced to the extent that the economic loss upon which the claim is based is or will be recouped from a collateral source. If an award is reduced or a claim is denied because of the expected recoupment of all or part of the economic loss of the claimant from a collateral source, the amount of the award or the denial of the claim shall be conditioned upon the claimant's economic loss being recouped by the collateral source. If it is thereafter determined that the claimant will not receive all or part of the expected recoupment, the claim shall be reopened and an award shall be approved in an amount equal to the amount of expected recoupment that it is determined the claimant will not receive from the collateral source, subject to the limitations set forth in subsections (f) and (g).

(e) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-212, s. 19.4(m), effective December 1, 1998.

(f) Compensation for replacement services loss, dependent's economic loss, and dependent's replacement services loss may not exceed two hundred dollars ($200.00) per week. Compensation for work loss and household support loss may not exceed three hundred dollars ($300.00) per week.

(g) Compensation payable to a victim and to all other claimants sustaining economic loss because of injury to, or the death of, that victim may not exceed thirty thousand dollars ($30,000) in the aggregate in addition to allowable funeral, cremation, and burial expenses.

(h) The right to reconsider or reopen a claim does not affect the finality of its decision for the purpose of judicial review. (1983, c. 832, s. 1; 1987, c. 819, ss. 17-21; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 898, s. 1; c. 1066, s. 131; 1991, c. 301, s. 1; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 3, s. 1; 1997-227, s. 3; 1998-212, s. 19.4(m); 1999-269, s. 3; 2004-159, s. 1; 2006-183, ss. 4, 5.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-183, ss. 4 and 5, effective July 1, 2006, and applicable to claims filed on or after that date, in the middle of subsection (c), inserted "without good cause," and inserted "or in the prosecution of criminal cases"; and deleted the former last sentence of subsection (d) which read: "The existence of a collateral source that would pay expenses directly related to a funeral, cremation, and burial, including transportation of a body, shall not constitute grounds for the denial or reduction of an award of compensation."

CASE NOTES

Forest Ranger Was Not a Law Enforcement Officer. — Negligence complaints against the Division of Forest Resources, alleging negligence in failing to extinguish a forest fire which caused smoke and fog to obscure the vision of drivers on a highway, were not barred by the public duty doctrine, because the forest ranger alleged to have been negligent was not a law enforcement officer, as defined by the Tort Claims Act, and no allegations were made that the forest ranger failed to detect and prevent misconduct of others through improper inspections. Myers v. McGrady, 170 N.C. App. 501, 613 S.E.2d 334, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1087 (2005).

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, all of the provisions of Chapter 20 of the General Statutes relating to the use of highways of the State and the operation of vehicles thereon are applicable to all streets, alleys, driveways, and parking lots on academy property. Nothing in this section modifies any rights of ownership or control of academy property, now or hereafter vested in the State of North Carolina ex rel., Department of Justice.

(b) The Department of Justice may by ordinance prohibit, regulate, divert, control, and limit pedestrian or vehicular traffic and the parking of vehicles and other modes of conveyance on the campus. In fixing speed limits, the Department of Justice is not subject to G.S. 20-141(f) or (g), but may fix any speed limit reasonable and safe under the circumstances as conclusively determined by the Department of Justice. The Department of Justice may not regulate traffic on streets open to the public as of right, except as specifically provided in this section.

(c) The Department of Justice may by ordinance provide for the registration of vehicles maintained or operated on the campus by any student, faculty member, or employee of the academy and may fix fees for such registration. The ordinance may make it unlawful for any person to operate an unregistered vehicle on the campus when the vehicle is required by the ordinance to be registered.

(d) The Department of Justice may by ordinance set aside parking lots on the campus for use by students, faculty, and employees of the academy and members of the general public attending schools, conferences, or meetings at the academy, visiting or making use of any academy facilities, or attending to official business with the academy. (g) An ordinance adopted under this section may provide that a violation will subject the offender to a civil penalty. Penalties may be graduated according to the seriousness of the offense or the number of prior offenses committed by the person charged. The Department of Justice may establish procedure for the collection of these penalties and may enforce the penalties by civil action in the nature of debt. The Department of Justice may also provide for appropriate administrative sanctions if an offender does not pay a validly due penalty or has committed repeated offenses. Appropriate administrative sanctions include, but are not limited to, revocation of parking permits, termination of vehicle registration, and termination or suspension of enrollment in or employment by the academy.

(h) An ordinance adopted under this section may provide that any vehicle illegally parked may be removed to a storage area, in which case the person so removing the vehicle shall be deemed a legal possessor within the meaning of G.S. 44A-2(d).

(i) Evidence that a vehicle was found parked or unattended in violation of a council ordinance is prima facie evidence that the vehicle was parked by:

- (1) The person holding an academy parking permit for the vehicle;
- (2) If no academy parking permit has been issued for the vehicle, the person in whose name the vehicle is registered with the academy pursuant to subsection (c); or

The rule of evidence established by this subsection applies only in civil, criminal, or administrative actions or proceedings concerning violations of ordinances of the Department of Justice. G.S. 20-162.1 does not apply to such actions or proceedings.

(j) The Department of Justice shall cause to be posted appropriate notice to the public of applicable traffic and parking restrictions.

(a) Premises. — For purposes of this Chapter, a permittee shall be responsible for the entire premises for which the permit is issued. The permittee shall keep the premises clean, well-lighted and orderly.

(b) Employees. — For purposes of this Chapter, a permittee shall be responsible for the actions of all employees of the business for which the permit is issued. Each holder of a salesman's permit shall be responsible for all sales and deliveries made by his helpers.

(c) Certain Employees Prohibited. — A permittee shall not knowingly employ in the sale or distribution of alcoholic beverages any person who has been:

- (1) Convicted of a felony within three years;

For purposes of this subsection, “conviction” has the same meaning as in G.S. 18B-900(b). To avoid undue hardship, the Commission may, in its discretion, exempt persons on a case-by-case basis from this subsection.

(d) Financial Responsibility. — A permittee shall pay all judgments rendered against him under the provisions of Article 1A of this Chapter. When the Commission is informed, under the provisions of G.S. 18B-127 that there is an outstanding unsatisfied judgment against a permittee, the Commission shall suspend all of the permittee’s permits. Notice and hearing are not required for a suspension under this subsection, and the suspension shall become effective immediately upon the Commission’s receipt of the report. The suspension shall remain in effect until the permittee demonstrates that he has satisfied the judgment by payment in full. Nothing in this section relieves the permittee of the obligation to pay any applicable fees as a precondition of the reinstatement of his permit. ## § 18B-1005.1. Sexually explicit conduct on licensed premises.

CASE NOTES

In an overbreadth challenge based on the First Amendment, etc.

Law restricting certain erotic dancing in establishments that had state liquor licenses was unconstitutionally overbroad on its face because it was too burdensome on the expressive elements of erotic dancing since it prohibited erotic movements and gestures regardless of whether a dancer was nude, and it burdened a substantial amount of mainstream musical, theatrical, and dance activity. Giovani Carandola, Ltd. v. Fox, 396 F. Supp. 2d 630, 2005 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 25981 (M.D.N.C. 2005).

§ 18B-1006. Miscellaneous provisions on permits.

(a) School and College Campuses. — No permit for the sale of malt beverages, unfortified wine, or fortified wine shall be issued to a business on the campus or property of a public school or college, other than at a regional facility as defined by G.S. 160A-480.2 operated by a facility authority under Part 4 of Article 20 of Chapter 160A of the General Statutes except for a public school or college function, unless that business is a hotel or a nonprofit alumni organization with a mixed beverages permit or a special occasion permit. This subsection shall not apply on property owned by a local board of education which was leased for 99 years or more to a nonprofit auditorium authority created prior to 1991 whose governing board is appointed by a city board of aldermen, a county board of commissioners, or a local school board. This subsection shall also not apply to the constituent institutions of The University of North Carolina with respect to the sale of beer and wine at performing arts centers located on property owned or leased by the institutions if the seating capacity does not exceed 2,000 seats, or to any golf courses owned or leased by the institutions and open to the public for use.

(b) Lockers at Clubs. — A private club or congressionally-chartered veterans organization which has been issued a brown-bagging permit may, but is not required to, provide lockers for its members to store their alcoholic beverages. If lockers are provided, however, they shall not be shared but shall be for individual members. Each locker and each bottle of alcoholic beverages on the premises shall be labelled with the name of the member to whom it belongs. No more than eight liters each of malt beverages or unfortified wine may be stored by a member at one time. No more than eight liters of either fortified wine or spirituous liquor, or eight liters of the two combined, may be stored by a member at one time.

(c) Wine Sales. — Holders of retail or wholesale permits for the sale of unfortified or fortified wine may buy and sell only wines on the Commission's approved list. The Commission may authorize the importation and purchase of wines not on the approved list by permittees and others. An authorization shall state the kind and amount of wine that may be imported and purchased and the time within which the transaction shall be completed.

(d) Unlawful Possession or Consumption. — It shall be unlawful for a permittee to possess or consume, or allow any other person to possess or consume, on the licensed premises, any fortified wine or spirituous liquor, the possession or consumption of which is not authorized either by the permits issued to him for the premises or by any other provision of the ABC law.

(e) Facsimile Permit. — It shall be unlawful for any person to produce or possess any false or facsimile permit, or for a permittee to display any false or facsimile permit on his licensed premises.

(f) Failure to Surrender Permit. — It shall be unlawful for any person to refuse to surrender any permit to the Commission upon lawful demand of the Commission or its agents.

(g) Restrictions on Sales at Cooking Schools. — Retail sales of food or alcoholic beverages to be consumed on the premises of a cooking school are restricted to bona fide enrolled students of that school. Violation of this subsection is a ground for administrative action under G.S. 18B-104.

(h) Purchase Restrictions. — A retail permittee may purchase malt beverages, unfortified wine, or fortified wine only from a wholesaler who maintains a place of business in this State and has the proper permit.

(i) Tour Boats. — The Commission may issue permits to boats that conduct regularly scheduled tours upon the rivers or waterways of this State under the following conditions:

- (1) A boat shall serve meals on each tour and shall have a dining area with seating for at least 36 people;
- (2) A boat's gross receipts from food and non-alcoholic beverages shall be greater than its gross receipts from alcoholic beverages;
- (3) A boat may hold the permits listed in G.S. 18B-1001(1), (3), (5), (7), and (10), but no off-premises sales may be made pursuant to those permits;
- (4) A boat shall have a home port in an area where issuance of any of the permits listed in subdivision (3) is legal, and all passengers shall enter the boat at the home port or at other ports listed on a preannounced itinerary. The boat's permits are valid during tours that leave and return to the boat's home port, and apply regardless of whether the boat crosses into an area where sales are not legal, if the boat docks only at a port listed on the preannounced itinerary, except in an emergency; and
- (5) A boat conducting tours along the intracoastal waterway and navigable waterways that enters into the intracoastal waterway, pursuant to a preannounced itinerary that includes visits to two or more cities, may serve alcoholic beverages pursuant to ABC permits issued according to the jurisdiction of its home port in the following manner:
  - a. While on tour, alcoholic beverages may be served to passengers;
  - b. While docked in any other port alcoholic beverages may be served only to tour passengers;
  - c. During special city-sponsored events and festivals, in which case the boat may open its galley and bars at dockside to the general public and sell those alcoholic beverages that are lawful in the jurisdiction in which it is docked. Any sales in this manner shall be in accordance with the requirements of any ordinances of the jurisdiction in which the boat is docked.

- (6) Liquor purchased for resale in mixed beverages may be purchased only from the local board for the jurisdiction of the boat's home port.

(j) Recreation Districts. — Notwithstanding the provisions of Article 6 of this Chapter, the Commission may issue permits for the sale of malt beverages, unfortified wine, fortified wine, and mixed beverages to qualified businesses in a recreation district.

A "recreation district" is an area that meets any of the following requirements:

- (1) An area that is located in a county that has not approved the issuance of permits, has at least two cities that have approved the sale of malt beverages, wine, and the operation of an ABC store, and contains a facility of at least 450 acres where five or more public auto racing events are held each year.
- (2) An area that is located in a county that borders a county which has held elections pursuant to G.S. 18B-600(f) and borders on another state and which (i) contains a facility of at least 225 acres where four or more public auto racing events are held each year or (ii) contains a facility of at least 140 acres where 80 or more motor sports events are held each year.

- (4) Repealed by Session Laws 2004-203, s. 27, effective August 17, 2004.

(k) Residential Private Club and Sports Club Permits. — The Commission may issue the permits listed in G.S. 18B-1001, without approval at an election, to a residential private club or a sports club, except if the sale of mixed beverages is not lawful within a jurisdiction and that locality has voted against the sale of mixed beverages in a referendum conducted on or after September 1, 2001. If the issuance of permits is prohibited by the exception in the previous sentence, the Commission may renew existing permits and may continue to issue permits for a business location that had previously held permits under this subsection. No permit may be issued to any residential private club or sports club that practices discrimination on the basis of race, gender or ethnicity.

The mixed beverages purchase-transportation permit authorized by G.S. 18B-404(b) shall be issued by a local board operating a store located in the county.

That prize winner's identifying information shall be available for inspection by a law enforcement agency or by a person identified in a court order if inspection of the address by that person is directed by that court order.

(l) All prizes are subject to the State income tax. (2005-344, s. 1; 2005-276, s. 31.1(k); 2006-225, s. 4.)

Offenses Against Public Morals.

ARTICLE 1.

Abatement of Nuisances.

§ 19-1. What are nuisances under this Chapter.

CASE NOTES

Establishing a Nuisance. — Based upon reading G.S. 19-1(a) and G.S. 19-1.2(6) together, in order to establish a nuisance, a plaintiff must show that a defendant has leased or used the defendant's property for the purpose of the illegal possession and sale of drugs, and as a means of showing the defendant's purpose in leasing or operating the building, the plaintiff may present evidence that the sale of controlled substances has occurred regularly; the defendant will then be permitted to offer evidence of a lawful business purpose in order to negate the inference that drug transactions are the sole purpose of the leasing or use of the property. State ex rel. City of Salisbury v. Campbell, 169 N.C. App. 829, 610 S.E.2d 799, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 803 (2005).

No Breach of Peace. — In city's nuisance action seeking to establish that 24 police trips to the landlords' property over the course of several years constituted a breach of the peace pursuant G.S. 19-1(b) and G.S. 19-1.1(1), seven of those police visits related to domestic incidents and one visit involving a search warrant did not constitute breaches of the peace, because there was no evidence that these events involved any threats to other citizens or disturbed the public order. State ex rel. City of Salisbury v. Campbell, 169 N.C. App. 829, 610 S.E.2d 799, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 803 (2005).

Nuisance Not Established. — City of Salisbury failed to establish that the landlords' property was a nuisance under G.S. 19-1.2 and G.S. 19-1(a), because the property was not used for the purpose of the illegal possession and sale of drugs, as confirmed drug activity had occurred on the property only three times since 2000. State ex rel. City of Salisbury v. Campbell, 169 N.C. App. 829, 610 S.E.2d 799, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 803 (2005).

Three instances that could have constituted breaches of the peace — two assaults and one disturbance in which shots were fired — occurring over a two-and-a-half-year period, did not constitute a nuisance under G.S. 19-1(b), because the instances did not meet the standard of repeated acts. State ex rel. City of Salisbury v. Campbell, 169 N.C. App. 829, 610 S.E.2d 799, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 803 (2005).

Article 6.

Care of Animal Subjected to Illegal Treatment.

Sec.

19A-70. Care of animal subjected to illegal treatment.

ARTICLE 1.

Civil Remedy for Protection of Animals.

§ 19A-3. Preliminary injunction; care of animal pending hearing on the merits.

(a) Upon the filing of a verified complaint in the district court in the county in which cruelty to an animal has allegedly occurred, the judge may, as a matter of discretion, issue a preliminary injunction in accordance with the procedures set forth in G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65. Every such preliminary injunction, if the plaintiff so requests, may give the plaintiff the right to provide suitable care for the animal. If it appears on the face of the complaint that the condition giving rise to the cruel treatment of an animal requires the animal to be removed from its owner or other person who possesses it, then it shall be proper for the court in the preliminary injunction to allow the plaintiff to take possession of the animal as custodian.

(b) The plaintiff as custodian may employ a veterinarian to provide necessary medical care for the animal without any additional court order. Prior to taking such action, the plaintiff as custodian shall consult with, or attempt to consult with, the defendant in the action, but the plaintiff as custodian may authorize such care without the defendant's consent. Notwithstanding the provisions of this subsection, the plaintiff as custodian may not have an animal euthanized without written consent of the defendant or a court order that authorizes euthanasia upon the court's finding that the animal is suffering due to terminal illness or terminal injury.

(c) The plaintiff as custodian may place an animal with a foster care provider. The foster care provider shall return the animal to the plaintiff as custodian on demand. (1969, c. 831; 1971, c. 528, s. 10; 1979, c. 808, s. 3; 2003-208, s. 1; 2006-113, s. 1.1.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-113, s. 1.1, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to actions commenced on or after that date, added "care of animal pending hearing on the merits" in the section heading; designated the existing undesignated paragraph as subsection (a), and in subsection (a), substituted "plaintiff" for "complainant" in four places, and "animal as custodian" for "animal" at the end the of the last sentence; and added subsections (b) and (c).

§ 19A-4. Permanent injunction.

(a) In accordance with G.S. 1A-1, Rule 65, a district court judge in the county in which the original action was brought shall determine the merits of the action by trial without a jury, and upon hearing such evidence as may be presented, shall enter orders as the court deems appropriate, including a permanent injunction and dismissal of the action along with dissolution of any preliminary injunction that had been issued.

(b) If the plaintiff prevails, the court in its discretion may include the costs of food, water, shelter, and care, including medical care, provided to the animal, less any amounts deposited by the defendant under G.S. 19A-70, as part of the costs allowed to the plaintiff under G.S. 6-18. In addition, if the court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that even if a permanent injunction were issued there would exist a substantial risk that the animal would be subjected to further cruelty if returned to the possession of the defendant, the court may terminate the defendant's ownership and right of possession of the animal and transfer ownership and right of possession to the plaintiff or other appropriate successor owner. For good cause shown, the court may also enjoin the defendant from acquiring new animals for a specified period of time or limit the number of animals the defendant may own or possess during a specified period of time.

(c) If the final judgment entitles the defendant to regain possession of the animal, the custodian shall return the animal, including taking any necessary steps to retrieve the animal from a foster care provider.

(d) The court shall consider and may provide for custody and care of the animal until the time to appeal expires or all appeals have been exhausted. (1969, c. 831; 1971, c. 528, s. 10; 1979, c. 808, s. 4; 2003-208, s. 1; 2006-113, s. 1.2.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-113, s. 1.2, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to actions commenced on or after that date, designated the first sentence of the existing undesignated paragraph as subsection (a); designated the second sentence of the existing undesignated paragraph as subsection (b), and added the first and the third sentences; added subsections (c) and (d).

ARTICLE 5.

Spay/Neuter Program.

§ 19A-64. Distributions to counties and cities from Spay/Neuter Account.

(a) Reimbursable Costs. — Counties and cities eligible for distributions from the Spay/Neuter Account may receive reimbursement for the direct costs of a spay/neuter surgical procedure for a dog or cat owned by a low-income person meeting the Department's eligibility requirements for spay/neuter services. Reimbursable costs shall include anesthesia, medication, and veterinary services. Counties and cities shall not be reimbursed for the administrative costs of providing reduced-cost spay/neuter services or capital expenditures for facilities and equipment associated with the provision of such services.

(b) Application. — A county or city eligible for reimbursement of spaying and neutering costs from the Spay/Neuter Account shall apply to the Department of Health and Human Services by the last day of January, April, July, and October of each year to receive a distribution from the Account for that quarter. The application shall be submitted in the form required by the Department and shall include an itemized listing of the costs for which reimbursement is sought.

(c) Distribution. — The Department shall make payments from the Spay/Neuter Account to eligible counties and cities who have made timely application for reimbursement within 30 days of the closing date for receipt of applications for that quarter. In the event that total requests for reimbursement exceed the amounts available in the Spay/Neuter Account for distribution, the monies available will be distributed as follows:

- (1) Fifty percent (50%) of the monies available in the Spay/Neuter Account shall be reserved for reimbursement for eligible applicants within development tier one areas as defined in G.S. 143B-437.08. The remaining fifty percent (50%) of the funds shall be used to fund reimbursement requests from eligible applicants in development tier two and three areas as defined in G.S. 143B-437.08.
- (2) Among the eligible counties and cities in development tier one areas, reimbursement shall be made to each eligible county or city in proportion to the number of dogs and cats that have received rabies vaccinations during the preceding fiscal year in that county or city as compared to the number of dogs and cats that have received rabies vaccinations during the preceding fiscal year by all of the eligible applicants in development tier one areas.
- (3) Among the eligible counties and cities in development tier two and three areas, reimbursement shall be made to each eligible county or city in proportion to the number of dogs and cats that have received rabies vaccinations during the preceding fiscal year in that county or city as compared to the number of dogs and cats that have received rabies vaccinations during the preceding fiscal year by all of the eligible applicants in development tier two and three areas.
- (4) Should funds remain available from the fifty percent (50%) of the Spay/Neuter Account designated for development tier one areas after reimbursement of all claims by eligible applicants in those areas, the remaining funds shall be made available to reimburse eligible applicants in development tier two and three areas. (2000-163, s. 1; 2006-252, s. 2.11.)

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-252, s. 2.11, effective January 1, 2007, throughout subdivisions (c)(1) through (c)(4), substituted “development tier one areas” and “development tier two and three areas” for “enterprise tier one, two and three areas” and “enterprise tier four and five areas” respectively, and substituted “G.S. 143B-437.8” for “G.S. 105-129.3” twice in subdivision (c)(1).

ARTICLE 6.

Care of Animal Subjected to Illegal Treatment.

§ 19A-70. Care of animal subjected to illegal treatment.

(a) In every arrest under any provision of Article 47 of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes or under G.S. 67-4.3 or upon the commencement of an action under Article 1 of this Chapter by a county or municipality, by a county-approved animal cruelty investigator, by other county or municipal official, or by an organization operating a county or municipal shelter under contract, if an animal shelter takes custody of an animal, the operator of the shelter may file a petition with the court requesting that the defendant be ordered to deposit funds in an amount sufficient to secure payment of all the reasonable expenses expected to be incurred by the animal shelter in caring for and providing for the animal pending the disposition of the litigation. For purposes of this section, "reasonable expenses" includes the cost of providing food, water, shelter, and care, including medical care, for at least 30 days.

(b) Upon receipt of a petition, the court shall set a hearing on the petition to determine the need to care for and provide for the animal pending the disposition of the litigation. The hearing shall be conducted no less than 10 and no more than 15 business days after the petition is filed. The operator of the animal shelter shall mail written notice of the hearing and a copy of the petition to the defendant at the address contained in the criminal charges or the complaint or summons by which a civil action was initiated. If the defendant is in a local detention facility at the time the petition is filed, the operator of the animal shelter shall also provide notice to the custodian of the detention facility.

(c) The court shall set the amount of funds necessary for 30 days' care after taking into consideration all of the facts and circumstances of the case, including the need to care for and provide for the animal pending the disposition of the litigation, the recommendation of the operator of the animal shelter, the estimated cost of caring for and providing for the animal, and the defendant's ability to pay. If the court determines that the defendant is unable to deposit funds, the court may consider issuing an order under subsection (f) of this section.

Any order for funds to be deposited pursuant to this section shall state that if the operator of the animal shelter files an affidavit with the clerk of superior court, at least two business days prior to the expiration of a 30-day period, stating that, to the best of the affiant's knowledge, the case against the defendant has not yet been resolved, the order shall be automatically renewed every 30 days until the case is resolved.

(d) If the court orders that funds be deposited, the amount of funds necessary for 30 days shall be posted with the clerk of superior court. The defendant shall also deposit the same amount with the clerk of superior court every 30 days thereafter until the litigation is resolved, unless the defendant requests a hearing no less than five business days prior to the expiration of a 30-day period. If the defendant fails to deposit the funds within five business days of the initial hearing, or five business days of the expiration of a 30-day period, the animal is forfeited by operation of law. If funds have been deposited in accordance with this section, the operator of the animal shelter may draw from the funds the actual costs incurred in caring for the animal.

In the event of forfeiture, the animal shelter may determine whether the animal is suitable for adoption and whether adoption can be arranged for the animal. The animal may not be adopted by the defendant or by any person residing in the defendant's household. If the adopted animal is a dog used for fighting, the animal shelter shall notify any persons adopting the dog of the liability provisions for owners of dangerous dogs under Article 1A of Chapter 67 of the General Statutes. If no adoption can be arranged after the forfeiture, or the animal is unsuitable for adoption, the shelter shall humanely euthanize the animal.

CASE NOTES

Electric Scooter Fell Within Statutory Definition of Vehicle. —

Defendant's electric scooter, which was not self-balancing, with its two wheels in tandem, and which did not fall within the two statutory exceptions from a vehicle under G.S. 20-138.1(e) with regard to horses, bicycles, and lawnmowers or G.S. 20-4.01(49) as to transportation for a person with a mobility impairment, fell within the legislature's definition of vehicle in G.S. 20-4.01(49) and, because the evidence at trial showed that his breath alcohol concentration following arrest was 0.13, there was sufficient evidence to uphold defendant's conviction for impaired driving under G.S. 20-138.1. State v. Crow, — N.C. App. —, 623 S.E.2d 68, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2747 (2005).

For purposes of tort law and liability

insurance coverage, no ownership passes, etc. —

Since actual title had not passed, an insurer had to provide coverage to its insured while driving a non-owned vehicle, even though the insured was in the process of buying the vehicle, as North Carolina required actual title to pass for ownership under G.S. 20-4.01(26); the insurer was responsible to a passenger who was injured in a collision with a non-owned vehicle being driven by the insured. Hernandez v. Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co., 171 N.C. App. 510, 615 S.E.2d 425, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 1360 (2005), cert. denied, 360 N.C. 63, 621 S.E.2d 624 (2005).

ARTICLE 2.

Uniform Driver's License Act.

§ 20-7. Issuance and renewal of drivers licenses.

(a) License Required. — To drive a motor vehicle on a highway, a person must be licensed by the Division under this Article or Article 2C of this Chapter to drive the vehicle and must carry the license while driving the vehicle. The Division issues regular drivers licenses under this Article and issues commercial drivers licenses under Article 2C.

A license authorizes the holder of the license to drive any vehicle included in the class of the license and any vehicle included in a lesser class of license, except a vehicle for which an endorsement is required. To drive a vehicle for which an endorsement is required, a person must obtain both a license and an endorsement for the vehicle. A regular drivers license is considered a lesser class of license than its commercial counterpart.

The classes of regular drivers licenses and the motor vehicles that can be driven with each class of license are:

- (1) Class A. — A Class A license authorizes the holder to drive any of the following:
  - a. A Class A motor vehicle that is exempt under G.S. 20-37.16 from the commercial drivers license requirements.
  - b. A Class A motor vehicle that has a combined GVWR of less than 26,001 pounds and includes as part of the combination a towed unit that has a GVWR of at least 10,001 pounds.
- (2) Class B. — A Class B license authorizes the holder to drive any Class B motor vehicle that is exempt under G.S. 20-37.16 from the commercial drivers license requirements.
- (3) Class C. — A Class C license authorizes the holder to drive any of the following:
  - a. A Class C motor vehicle that is not a commercial motor vehicle.
  - b. When operated by a volunteer member of a fire department, a rescue squad, or an emergency medical service (EMS) in the performance of duty, a Class A or Class B fire-fighting, rescue, or EMS motor vehicle or a combination of these vehicles.

The Commissioner may assign a unique motor vehicle to a class that is different from the class in which it would otherwise belong.

A person holding a commercial drivers license issued by another jurisdiction must apply for a transfer and obtain a North Carolina issued commercial drivers license within 30 days of becoming a resident. Any other new resident of North Carolina who has a drivers license issued by another jurisdiction must obtain a license from the Division within 60 days after becoming a resident.

- (a1) Motorcycles and Mopeds. — To drive a motorcycle, a person shall have:
  - (1) A full provisional license with a motorcycle learner's permit;
  - (2) A regular drivers license with a motorcycle learner's permit; or
  - (3) Either:
    - a. A full provisional license; or
    - b. A regular drivers license, with a motorcycle endorsement.

Subsection (a2) of this section sets forth the requirements for a motorcycle learner's permit.

To obtain a motorcycle endorsement, a person shall demonstrate competence to drive a motorcycle by:

- (1) Passing a road test;
- (2) Passing a written or oral test concerning motorcycles; and
- (3) Paying the fee for a motorcycle endorsement.

Neither a drivers license nor a motorcycle endorsement is required to drive a moped.

(a2) Motorcycle Learner's Permit. — The following persons are eligible for a motorcycle learner's permit:

- (1) A person who is at least 16 years old but less than 18 years old and has a full provisional license issued by the Division.
- (2) A person who is at least 18 years old and has a license issued by the Division.

To obtain a motorcycle learner's permit, an applicant shall pass a vision test, a road sign test, and a written test specified by the Division. A motorcycle learner's permit expires 18 months after it is issued. The holder of a motorcycle learner's permit may not drive a motorcycle with a passenger. The fee for a motorcycle learner's permit is the amount set in G.S. 20-7(1) for a learner's permit.

- (b) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 368, s. 1, c. 533, s. 12.

(b1) Application. — To obtain an identification card, learners permit, or drivers license from the Division, a person shall complete an application form provided by the Division, present at least two forms of identification approved by the Commissioner, be a resident of this State, and, except for an identification card, demonstrate his or her physical and mental ability to drive safely a motor vehicle included in the class of license for which the person has applied. At least one of the forms of identification shall indicate the applicant's residence address. The Division may copy the identification presented or hold it for a brief period of time to verify its authenticity. To obtain an endorsement, a person shall demonstrate his or her physical and mental ability to drive safely the type of motor vehicle for which the endorsement is required.

The application form shall request all of the following information, and it shall contain the disclosures concerning the request for an applicant's social security number required by section 7 of the federal Privacy Act of 1974, Pub. L. No. 93-579:

The Division shall not issue an identification card, learners permit, or drivers license to an applicant who fails to provide the applicant's valid social security number.

(b2) Disclosure of Social Security Number. — The social security number of an applicant is not a public record. The Division may not disclose an applicant's social security number except as allowed under federal law. A violation of the disclosure restrictions is punishable as provided in 42 U.S.C. § 408, and amendments to that law.

In accordance with 42 U.S.C. 405 and 42 U.S.C. 666, and amendments thereto, the Division may disclose a social security number obtained under subsection (b1) of this section only as follows:

- (1) For the purpose of administering the drivers license laws.
- (2) To the Department of Health and Human Services, Child Support Enforcement Program for the purpose of establishing paternity or child support or enforcing a child support order.
- (3) To the Department of Revenue for the purpose of verifying taxpayer identity.

(b3) The Division shall adopt rules implementing the provisions of subsection (b1) of this section with respect to proof of residency in this State. Those rules shall ensure that applicants submit verified or verifiable residency and address information that can be reasonably considered to be valid and that is provided on any of the following:

- (1) A document issued by an agency of the United States or by the government of another nation.
- (2) A document issued by another state.

- (8) A matricula consular or substantially similar document issued by the Mexican Consulate for North Carolina.
- (9) A document similar to that described in subsection (8) of this section, issued by the consulate or embassy of another country. This subdivision only applies if the Division has consulted with the United State Department of State and is satisfied with the reliability of such document.

(b5) The Division rules adopted pursuant to subsection (b3) of this section shall also provide that if an applicant cannot produce any documentation specified in subsection (b3) or (b4) of this section, the applicant, or in the case of a minor applicant a parent or legal guardian of the applicant, may complete an affidavit, on a form provided by the Division and sworn to before an official of the Division, indicating the applicant's current residence address. The affidavit shall contain the provisions of G.S. 20-15(a) and G.S. 20-17(a)(5) and shall indicate the civil and criminal penalties for completing a false affidavit.

(c) Tests. — To demonstrate physical and mental ability, a person must pass an examination. The examination may include road tests, vision tests, oral tests, and, in the case of literate applicants, written tests, as the Division may require. The tests must ensure that an applicant recognizes the handicapped international symbol of access, as defined in G.S. 20-37.5. The Division may not require a person who applies to renew a license that has not expired to take a written test or a road test unless one or more of the following applies:

- (1) The person has been convicted of a traffic violation since the person's license was last issued.
- (2) The applicant suffers from a mental or physical condition that impairs the person's ability to drive a motor vehicle.

The Division may not require a person who is at least 60 years old to parallel park a motor vehicle as part of a road test.

(c1) Insurance. — The Division may not issue a drivers license to a person until the person has furnished proof of financial responsibility. Proof of financial responsibility shall be in one of the following forms:

- (1) A written certificate or electronically-transmitted facsimile thereof from any insurance carrier duly authorized to do business in this State certifying that there is in effect a nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability policy for the benefit of the person required to furnish proof of financial responsibility. The certificate or facsimile shall state the effective date and expiration date of the nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability policy and shall state the date that the certificate or facsimile is issued. The certificate or facsimile shall remain effective proof of financial responsibility for a period of 30 consecutive days following the date the certificate or facsimile is issued but shall not in and of itself constitute a binder or policy of insurance.
- (2) A binder for or policy of nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability insurance under which the applicant is insured, provided that the binder or policy states the effective date and expiration date of the nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle liability policy.

The preceding provisions of this subsection do not apply to applicants who do not own currently registered motor vehicles and who do not operate nonfleet private passenger motor vehicles that are owned by other persons and that are not insured under commercial motor vehicle liability insurance policies. In such cases, the applicant shall sign a written certificate to that effect. Such certificate shall be furnished by the Division and may be incorporated into the license application form. Any material misrepresentation made by such person on such certificate shall be grounds for suspension of that person's license for a period of 90 days.

For the purpose of this subsection, the term "nonfleet private passenger motor vehicle" has the definition ascribed to it in Article 40 of General Statute Chapter 58.

The Commissioner may require that certificates required by this subsection be on a form approved by the Commissioner.

The requirement of furnishing proof of financial responsibility does not apply to a person who applies for a renewal of his or her drivers license.

Nothing in this subsection precludes any person from showing proof of financial responsibility in any other manner authorized by Articles 9A and 13 of this Chapter.

(d) Repealed by Session Laws 1993, c. 368, s. 1.

(e) Restrictions. — The Division may impose any restriction it finds advisable on a drivers license. It is unlawful for the holder of a restricted license to operate a motor vehicle without complying with the restriction and is the equivalent of operating a motor vehicle without a license. If any applicant shall suffer from any physical defect or disease which affects his or her operation of a motor vehicle, the Division may require to be filed with it a certificate of such applicant's condition signed by some medical authority of the applicant's community designated by the Division. This certificate shall in all cases be treated as confidential. Nothing in this subsection shall be construed to prevent the Division from refusing to issue a license, either restricted or unrestricted, to any person deemed to be incapable of safely operating a motor vehicle. This subsection does not prohibit deaf persons from operating motor vehicles who in every other way meet the requirements of this section.

(f) Duration and Renewal of Licenses. — Drivers licenses shall be issued and renewed pursuant to the provisions of this subsection.

- (1) Duration of license for persons under age 18. — A full provisional license issued to a person under the age of 18 shall expire on the person's twenty-first birthday.
- (2) Duration of license for persons at least 18 years of age or older. — A drivers license issued to a person at least 18 years old but less than 54 years old expires eight years after the date of issuance. A drivers license issued to a person at least 54 years old expires five years after the date of issuance.
- (3) Duration of license. — A drivers license that was issued by the Division and is renewed by the Division expires at the end of the period provided by this subsection after the expiration date of the license that is renewed unless the Division determines that a license of shorter duration should be issued when the applicant holds a visa of limited duration from the United States Department of Homeland Security, but in no event shall the license expire later than the applicant's lawful presence in the United States. A person may apply to the Division to renew a license during the 180-day period before the license expires. The Division may not accept an application for renewal made before the 180-day period begins.
- (4) Renewal by mail. — The Division may renew by mail a drivers license issued by the Division to a person who meets any of the following descriptions:

- a. Is serving on active duty in the armed forces of the United States and is stationed outside this State.
- b. Is a resident of this State and has been residing outside the State for at least 30 continuous days.

When renewing a license by mail, the Division may waive the examination that would otherwise be required for the renewal and may impose any conditions it finds advisable. A license renewed by mail is a temporary license that expires 60 days after the person to whom it is issued returns to this State.

- (5) (Effective July 1, 2008) License to be sent by mail. — The Division shall issue to the applicant a temporary driving certificate valid for 20 days, unless the applicant is applying for renewal by mail under subdivision (4) of this subsection. The temporary driving certificate shall be valid for driving purposes only and shall not be valid for identification purposes. The Division shall produce the applicant’s drivers license at a central location and send it to the applicant by first-class mail at the residence address provided by the applicant.

The fee shall be paid to the Division prior to the issuance to such person of a new drivers license or the restoration of the drivers license. The restoration fee shall be paid to the Division in addition to any and all fees which may be provided by law. This restoration fee shall not be required from any licensee whose license was revoked or voluntarily surrendered for medical or health reasons whether or not a medical evaluation was conducted pursuant to this Chapter. The fifty-dollar ($50.00) fee, and the first fifty dollars ($50.00) of the seventy-five-dollar ($75.00) fee, shall be deposited in the Highway Fund. The remaining twenty-five dollars ($25.00) of the seventy-five-dollar ($75.00) fee shall be deposited in the General Fund of the State. The Office of State Budget and Management shall certify to the Department of Transportation and the General Assembly when the cumulative total amount of fees deposited in the General Fund under this subsection exceeds ten million dollars ($10,000,000), and shall annually report to the General Assembly the amount of fees deposited in the General Fund under this subsection.

It is the intent of the General Assembly to annually appropriate the funds deposited in the General Fund under this subsection to the Board of Governors of The University of North Carolina to be used for the Center for Alcohol Studies Endowment at The University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, but not to exceed this cumulative total of ten million dollars ($10,000,000).

(l) Learner's Permit. — A person who is at least 18 years old may obtain a learner's permit. A learner's permit authorizes the permit holder to drive a specified type or class of motor vehicle while in possession of the permit. A learner's permit is valid for a period of 18 months after it is issued. The fee for a learner's permit is fifteen dollars ($15.00). A learner's permit may be renewed, or a second learner's permit may be issued, for an additional period of 18 months. The permit holder must, while operating a motor vehicle over the highways, be accompanied by a person who is licensed to operate the motor vehicle being driven and is seated beside the permit holder.

(l-1) Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 726, s. 5.

(m) Instruction Permit. — The Division upon receiving proper application may in its discretion issue a restricted instruction permit effective for a school year or a lesser period to any of the following applicants:

- (1) An applicant who is less than 18 years old and is enrolled in a drivers education program that is approved by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction and is offered at a public high school, a nonpublic secondary school, or a licensed drivers training school.
- (2) An applicant for certification under G.S. 20-218 as a school bus driver. A restricted instruction permit authorizes the holder of the permit to drive a specified type or class of motor vehicle when in possession of the permit, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Division. The restrictions the Division may impose on a permit include restrictions to designated areas and highways and restrictions prohibiting operation except when an approved instructor is occupying a seat beside the permittee. A restricted instruction permit is not required to have a distinguishing number or a picture of the person to whom the permit is issued.

(n) Format. — A drivers license issued by the Division must be tamperproof and must contain all of the following information:

- (1) An identification of this State as the issuer of the license.
- (2) The license holder's full name.
- (3) The license holder's residence address.
- (4) A color photograph of the license holder, taken by the Division.
- (5) A physical description of the license holder, including sex, height, eye color, and hair color.
- (6) The license holder's date of birth.
- (7) An identifying number for the license holder assigned by the Division. The identifying number may not be the license holder's social security number.
- (8) Each class of motor vehicle the license holder is authorized to drive and any endorsements or restrictions that apply.
- (9) The license holder's signature.
- (10) The date the license was issued and the date the license expires.

The Commissioner may waive the requirement of a color photograph on a license if the license holder proves to the satisfaction of the Commissioner that taking the photograph would violate the license holder's religious convictions. In taking photographs of license holders, the Division must distinguish between license holders who are less than 21 years old and license holders who are at least 21 years old by using different color backgrounds or borders for each group. The Division shall determine the different colors to be used.

At the request of an applicant for a drivers license, a license issued to the applicant must contain the applicant's race.

(o) Repealed by Session Laws 1991, c. 726, s. 5.

(p) The Division must give the clerk of superior court in each county at least 50 copies of the driver license handbook free of charge. The clerk must give a copy to a person who requests it.

(q) Military Designation. — The Division shall develop a military designation for drivers licenses that may, upon request, be granted to North Carolina residents on active duty and to their spouses and dependent children. A drivers license with a military designation on it may be renewed by mail no more than two times during the license holder’s lifetime. A license renewed by mail under this subsection is a permanent license and does not expire when the license holder returns to the State. A drivers license with a military designation on it issued to a person on active duty may be renewed up to one year prior to its expiration upon presentation of military or Department of Defense credentials.

(r) Waiver of Vision Test. — The following license holders shall be exempt from any required eye exam when renewing a drivers license by mail under either subsection (f) of this section or subsection (q) of this section if, at the time of renewal, the license holder is serving in a combat zone or a qualified hazardous duty zone:

- (1) A member of the armed forces of the United States.

(2) A member of the national guard or of a reserve component of the armed forces of the United States.

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-257, s. 1, effective January 1, 2007, rewrote subsection (f); and s. 2 added subdivision (f)(5) effective July 1, 2008.

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 35.2, effective August 27, 2006, in subsection (b1), deleted the former second to last paragraph relating to applicants who do not have social security numbers, and in the last paragraph, deleted “either” following “to provide” and “or the applicant’s valid Taxpayer Identification Number” from the end; rewrote subsection (f); and added subsection (s).

§ 20-9. What persons shall not be licensed.

(a) To obtain a regular drivers license, a person must have reached the minimum age set in the following table for the class of license sought:

Class of Regular License	Minimum Age
Class A	18

Class of Regular License	Minimum Age
Class B	18
Class C	16

G.S. 20-37.13 sets the age qualifications for a commercial drivers license.

(b) The Division shall not issue a driver's license to any person whose license has been suspended or revoked during the period for which the license was suspended or revoked.

(b1) The Division shall not issue a drivers license to any person whose permit or license has been suspended or revoked under G.S. 20-13.2(c1) during the suspension or revocation period, unless the Division has restored the person's permit or license under G.S. 20-13.2(c1).

(c) The Division shall not issue a driver's license to any person who is an habitual drunkard or is an habitual user of narcotic drugs or barbiturates, whether or not such use be in accordance with the prescription of a physician.

(d) No driver's license shall be issued to any applicant who has been previously adjudged insane or an idiot, imbecile, or feebleminded, and who has not at the time of such application been restored to competency by judicial decree or released from a hospital for the insane or feebleminded upon a certificate of the superintendent that such person is competent, nor then unless the Division is satisfied that such person is competent to operate a motor vehicle with safety to persons and property.

(e) The Division shall not issue a driver's license to any person when in the opinion of the Division such person is afflicted with or suffering from such physical or mental disability or disease as will serve to prevent such person from exercising reasonable and ordinary control over a motor vehicle while operating the same upon the highways, nor shall a license be issued to any person who is unable to understand highway warnings or direction signs.

(f) The Division shall not issue a driver's license to any person whose license or driving privilege is in a state of cancellation, suspension or revocation in any jurisdiction, if the acts or things upon which the cancellation, suspension or revocation in such other jurisdiction was based would constitute lawful grounds for cancellation, suspension or revocation in this State had those acts or things been done or committed in this State; provided, however, any such cancellation shall not prohibit issuance for a period in excess of 18 months.

(g) The Division may issue a driver's license to any applicant covered by subsection (e) of this section under the following conditions:

- (1) The Division may issue a license to any person who is afflicted with or suffering from a physical or mental disability set out in subsection (e) of this section who is otherwise qualified to obtain a license, provided such person submits to the Division a certificate in the form prescribed in subdivision (2). Until a license issued under this subdivision expires or is revoked, the license continues in force as long as the licensee presents to the Division a certificate in the form prescribed in subdivision (2) of this subsection at the intervals determined by the Division to be in the best interests of public safety.
- (2) The Division shall not issue a license pursuant to this section unless the applicant has submitted to a physical examination by a physician or surgeon duly licensed to practice medicine in this State or in any other state of the United States and unless such examining physician or surgeon has completed and signed the certificate required by subdivision (1). Such certificate shall be devised by the Commissioner with the advice of qualified experts in the field of diagnosing and treating physical and mental disorders as he may select to assist him and shall be designed to elicit the maximum medical information necessary to aid in determining whether or not it would be a hazard to public safety to permit the applicant to operate a motor vehicle, including, if such is the fact, the examining physician's statement that the applicant is under medication and treatment and that such person's physical or mental disability is controlled. The certificate shall contain a waiver of privilege and the recommendation of the examining physician to the Commissioner as to whether a license should be issued to the applicant.

- (3) The Commissioner is not bound by the recommendation of the examining physician but shall give fair consideration to such recommendation in exercising his discretion in acting upon the application, the criterion being whether or not, upon all the evidence, it appears that it is safe to permit the applicant to operate a motor vehicle. The burden of proof of such fact is upon the applicant. In deciding whether to issue or deny a license, the Commissioner may be guided by opinion of experts in the field of diagnosing and treating the specific physical or mental disorder suffered by an applicant and such experts may be compensated for their services on an equitable basis. The Commissioner may also take into consideration any other factors which bear on the issue of public safety.
- (4) Whenever a license is denied by the Commissioner, such denial may be reviewed by a reviewing board upon written request of the applicant filed with the Division within 10 days after receipt of such denial. The reviewing board shall consist of the Commissioner or his authorized representative and four persons designated by the chairman of the Commission for Health Services. The persons designated by the chairman of the Commission for Health Services shall be either members of the Commission for Health Services or physicians duly licensed to practice medicine in this State. The members so designated by the chairman of the Commission for Health Services shall receive the same per diem and expenses as provided by law for members of the Commission for Health Services, which per diem and expenses shall be charged to the same appropriation as per diems and expenses for members of the Commission for Health Services. The Commissioner or his authorized representative, plus any two of the members designated by the chairman of the Commission for Health Services, constitute a quorum. The procedure for hearings authorized by this section shall be as follows:
  - a. Applicants shall be afforded an opportunity for hearing, after reasonable notice of not less than 10 days, before the review board established by subdivision (4). The notice shall be in writing and shall be delivered to the applicant in person or sent by certified mail, with return receipt requested. The notice shall state the time, place, and subject of the hearing.
  - b. The review board may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of such books, records and papers as it desires at a hearing authorized by the section. Upon request of an applicant, a subpoena to compel the attendance of any witness or a subpoena duces tecum to compel the production of any books, records, or papers shall be issued by the board. Subpoenas shall be directed to the sheriff of the county where the witness resides or is found and shall be served and returned in the same manner as a subpoena in a criminal case. Fees of the sheriff and witnesses shall be the same as that allowed in the district court in cases before that court and shall be paid in the same manner as other expenses of the Division of Motor Vehicles are paid. In any case of disobedience or neglect of any subpoena served on any person, or the refusal of any witness to testify to any matters regarding which he may be lawfully interrogated, the district court or superior court where such disobedience, neglect or refusal occurs, or any judge thereof, on application by the board, shall compel obedience or punish as for contempt.

- c. A hearing may be continued upon motion of the applicant for good cause shown with approval of the board or upon order of the board.
  - d. The board shall pass upon the admissibility of evidence at a hearing but the applicant affected may at the time object to the board's ruling, and, if evidence offered by an applicant is rejected the party may proffer the evidence, and such proffer shall be made a part of the record. The board shall not be bound by common law or statutory rules of evidence which prevail in courts of law or equity and may admit and give probative value to evidence which possesses probative value commonly accepted by reasonably prudent men in the conduct of their affairs. They may exclude incompetent, immaterial, irrelevant and unduly repetitious evidence. Uncontested facts may be stipulated by agreement between an applicant and the board and evidence relating thereto may be excluded. All evidence, including records and documents in the possession of the Division of Motor Vehicles or the board, of which the board desires to avail itself shall be made a part of the record. Documentary evidence may be received in the form of copies or excerpts, or by incorporation by reference. The board shall prepare an official record, which shall include testimony and exhibits. A record of the testimony and other evidence submitted shall be taken, but it shall not be necessary to transcribe shorthand notes or electronic recordings unless requested for purposes of court review.
  - e. Every decision and order adverse to an applicant shall be in writing or stated in the record and shall be accompanied by findings of fact and conclusions of law. The findings of fact shall consist of a concise statement of the board's conclusions on each contested issue of fact. Counsel for applicant, or applicant, if he has no counsel, shall be notified of the board's decision in person or by registered mail with return receipt requested. A copy of the board's decision with accompanying findings and conclusions shall be delivered or mailed upon request to applicant's attorney of record or to applicant, if he has no attorney.
  - f. Actions of the reviewing board are subject to judicial review as provided under Chapter 150B of the General Statutes.
  - g. Repealed by Session Laws 1977, c. 840.
  - h. All records and evidence collected and compiled by the Division and the reviewing board shall not be considered public records within the meaning of Chapter [section] 132-1, and following, of the General Statutes of North Carolina and may be made available to the public only upon an order of a court of competent jurisdiction. All information furnished by or on behalf of an applicant under this section shall be without prejudice and shall be for the use of the Division, the reviewing board or the court in administering this section and shall not be used in any manner as evidence, or for any other purposes in any trial, civil or criminal.
- (h) The Division shall not issue a drivers license to an applicant who currently holds a license to drive issued by another state unless the applicant surrenders the license.

(i) The Division shall not issue a drivers license to an applicant who has resided in this State for less than 12 months until the Division has searched the National Sex Offender Public Registry to determine if the person is currently registered as a sex offender in another state.

- (1) If the Division finds that the person is currently registered as a sex offender in another state, the Division shall not issue a drivers license to the person until the person submits proof of registration pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes issued by the sheriff of the county where the person resides.
- (2) If the person does not appear on the National Sex Offender Public Registry, the Division shall issue a drivers license but shall require the person to sign an affidavit acknowledging that the person has been notified that if the person is a sex offender, then the person is required to register pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes.
- (3) If the Division is unable to access all states' information contained in the National Sex Offender Public Registry, but the person is otherwise qualified to obtain a drivers license, then the Division shall issue the drivers license but shall first require the person to sign an affidavit stating that: (i) the person does not appear on the National Sex Offender Public Registry and (ii) acknowledging that the person has been notified that if the person is a sex offender, then the person is required to register pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. The Division shall search the National Sex Offender Public Registry for the person within a reasonable time after access to the Registry is restored. If the person does appear in the National Sex Offender Public Registry, the person is in violation of G.S. 20-30, and the Division shall immediately revoke the drivers license and shall promptly notify the sheriff of the county where the person resides of the offense.
- (4) Any person denied a license or whose license has been revoked by the Division pursuant to this subsection shall have a right to file a petition within 30 days thereafter for a hearing in the matter in the superior court of the county wherein such person shall reside, or to the resident judge of the district or judge holding the court of that district, or special or emergency judge holding a court in such district, and such court or judge is hereby vested with jurisdiction, and it shall be its or his duty to set the matter for hearing upon 30 days' written notice to the Division, and thereupon to take testimony and examine into the facts of the case and to determine whether the petitioner is entitled to a license under the provisions of this subsection and whether the petitioner is in violation of G.S. 20-30. ## § 20-11. Issuance of limited learner's permit and provisional drivers license to person who is less than 18 years old.

(a) Process. — Safe driving requires instruction in driving and experience. To ensure that a person who is less than 18 years old has both instruction and experience before obtaining a drivers license, driving privileges are granted first on a limited basis and are then expanded in accordance with the following process:

- (1) Level 1. — Driving with a limited learner's permit.
- (2) Level 2. — Driving with a limited provisional license.
- (3) Level 3. — Driving with a full provisional license.

A permit or license issued under this section must have a color background or border that indicates the level of driving privileges granted by the permit or license.

(b) Level 1. — A person who is at least 15 years old but less than 18 years old may obtain a limited learner's permit if the person meets all of the following requirements:

- (1) Passes a course of driver education prescribed in G.S. 20-88.1 or a course of driver instruction at a licensed commercial driver training school.
- (2) Passes a written test administered by the Division.
- (3) Has a driving eligibility certificate or a high school diploma or its equivalent.

(c) Level 1 Restrictions. — A limited learner's permit authorizes the permit holder to drive a specified type or class of motor vehicle only under the following conditions:

- (1) The permit holder must be in possession of the permit.
- (2) A supervising driver must be seated beside the permit holder in the front seat of the vehicle when it is in motion. No person other than the supervising driver can be in the front seat.
- (3) For the first six months after issuance, the permit holder may drive only between the hours of 5:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m.
- (4) After the first six months after issuance, the permit holder may drive at any time.
- (5) Every person occupying the vehicle being driven by the permit holder must have a safety belt properly fastened about his or her body, or be restrained by a child passenger restraint system as provided in G.S. 20-137.1(a), when the vehicle is in motion.
- (6) The permit holder shall not use a mobile telephone or other additional technology associated with a mobile telephone while operating the motor vehicle on a public street or highway or public vehicular area.

(d) Level 2. — A person who is at least 16 years old but less than 18 years old may obtain a limited provisional license if the person meets all of the following requirements:

- (1) Has held a limited learner's permit issued by the Division for at least 12 months.
  - (2) Has not been convicted of a motor vehicle moving violation or seat belt infraction or a violation of G.S. 20-137.3 during the preceding six months.
  - (3) Passes a road test administered by the Division.
  - (4) Has a driving eligibility certificate or a high school diploma or its equivalent.
- (e) Level 2 Restrictions. — A limited provisional license authorizes the license holder to drive a specified type or class of motor vehicle only under the following conditions:
- (1) The license holder shall be in possession of the license.
  - (2) The license holder may drive without supervision in any of the following circumstances:
    - a. From 5:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m.
    - b. When driving to or from work.
    - c. When driving to or from an activity of a volunteer fire department, volunteer rescue squad, or volunteer emergency medical service, if the driver is a member of the organization.
  - (3) The license holder may drive with supervision at any time. When the license holder is driving with supervision, the supervising driver shall be seated beside the license holder in the front seat of the vehicle when it is in motion. The supervising driver need not be the only other occupant of the front seat, but shall be the person seated next to the license holder.
  - (4) When the license holder is driving the vehicle and is not accompanied by the supervising driver, there may be no more than one passenger under 21 years of age in the vehicle. This limit does not apply to passengers who are members of the license holder's immediate family or whose primary residence is the same household as the license holder. However, if a family member or member of the same household as the license holder who is younger than 21 years of age is a passenger in the vehicle, no other passengers under 21 years of age, who are not members of the license holder's immediate family or members of the license holder's household, may be in the vehicle.
  - (5) Every person occupying the vehicle being driven by the license holder shall have a safety belt properly fastened about his or her body, or be restrained by a child passenger restraint system as provided in G.S. 20-137.1(a), when the vehicle is in motion.
  - (6) The license holder shall not use a mobile telephone or other additional technology associated with a mobile telephone while operating the vehicle on a public street or highway or public vehicular area.
- (f) Level 3. — A person who is at least 16 years old but less than 18 years old may obtain a full provisional license if the person meets all of the following requirements:

  - (3) Has a driving eligibility certificate or a high school diploma or its equivalent.
- A person who meets these requirements may obtain a full provisional license by mail.
- (g) Level 3 Restrictions. — The restrictions on Level 1 and Level 2 drivers concerning time of driving, supervision, and passenger limitations do not apply to a full provisional license. However, the prohibition against operating a motor vehicle while using a mobile telephone under G.S. 20-137.3(b) shall apply to a full provisional license.

(h) Exception for Persons 16 to 18 Who Have an Unrestricted Out-of-State License. — A person who is at least 16 years old but less than 18 years old, who was a resident of another state and has an unrestricted drivers license issued by that state, and who becomes a resident of this State may obtain one of the following upon the submission of a driving eligibility certificate or a high school diploma or its equivalent:

- (1) A temporary permit, if the person has not completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction but is currently enrolled in a drivers education program that meets these requirements. A temporary permit is valid for the period specified in the permit and authorizes the holder of the permit to drive a specified type or class of motor vehicle when in possession of the permit, subject to any restrictions imposed by the Division concerning time of driving, supervision, and passenger limitations. The period must end within 10 days after the expected completion date of the drivers education program in which the applicant is enrolled.
- (2) A full provisional license, if the person has completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, has held the license issued by the other state for at least 12 months, and has not been convicted during the preceding six months of a motor vehicle moving violation, a seat belt infraction, or an offense committed in another jurisdiction that would be a motor vehicle moving violation or seat belt infraction if committed in this State.
- (2a) A full provisional license, if the person has completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, has held both a learner's permit and a restricted license from another state for at least six months each, the Commissioner finds that the requirements for the learner's permit and restricted license are comparable to the requirements for a learner's permit and restricted license in this State, and the person has not been convicted during the preceding six months of a motor vehicle moving violation, a seat belt infraction, or an offense committed in another jurisdiction that would be a moving violation or a seat belt infraction if committed in this State.
- (3) A limited provisional license, if the person has completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction but either did not hold the license issued by the other state for at least 12 months or was convicted during the preceding six months of a motor vehicle moving violation, a seat belt infraction, or an offense committed in another jurisdiction that would be a motor vehicle moving violation or seat belt infraction if committed in this State.

(h1) Exception for Persons 16 to 18 Who Have an Out-of-State Restricted License. — A person who is at least 16 years old but less than 18 years old, who was a resident of another state and has a restricted drivers license issued by that state, and who becomes a resident of this State may obtain one of the following:

- (1) A limited provisional license, if the person has completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, held the restricted license issued by the other state for at least 12 months, and whose parent or guardian certifies that the person has not been convicted during the preceding six months of a motor vehicle moving violation, a seat belt infraction, or an offense committed in another jurisdiction that would be a motor vehicle moving violation or seat belt infraction if committed in this State.

- (2) A limited learners permit, if the person has completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction but either did not hold the restricted license issued by the other state for at least 12 months or was convicted during the preceding six months of a motor vehicle moving violation, a seat belt infraction, or an offense committed in another jurisdiction that would be a motor vehicle moving violation or seat belt infraction if committed in this State. A person who qualifies for a limited learners permit under this subdivision and whose parent or guardian certifies that the person has not been convicted of a moving violation in the preceding six months shall be deemed to have held a limited learners permit in this State for each month the person held a restricted license in another state.

(h2) Exception for Persons Age 15 Who Have an Out-of-State Unrestricted or Restricted License. — A person who is age 15, who was a resident of another state, has an unrestricted or restricted drivers license issued by that state, and who becomes a resident of this State may obtain a limited learners permit if the person has completed a drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. A person who qualifies for a limited learners permit under this subsection and whose parent or guardian certifies that the person has not been convicted of a moving violation in the preceding six months shall be deemed to have held a limited learners permit in this State for each month the person held an unrestricted or restricted license in another state.

(h3) Exception for Persons Less Than Age 18 Who Have a Federally Issued Unrestricted or Restricted License. — A person who is less than age 18, who has an unrestricted or restricted drivers license issued by the federal government, and who becomes a resident of this State may obtain a limited provisional license or a provisional license if the person has completed a drivers education program substantially equivalent to the drivers education program that meets the requirements of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. A person who qualifies for a limited provisional license or a provisional license under this subsection and whose parent or guardian certifies that the person has not been convicted of a moving violation in the preceding six months shall be deemed to have held a limited provisional license or a provisional license in this State for each month the person held an unrestricted or restricted license issued by the federal government.

(i) Application. — An application for a permit or license authorized by this section must be signed by both the applicant and another person. That person must be:

- (1) The applicant's parent or guardian;
- (2) A person approved by the applicant's parent or guardian; or
- (3) A person approved by the Division.

(j) Duration and Fee. — A limited learner's permit expires on the eighteenth birthday of the permit holder. A limited provisional license expires on the eighteenth birthday of the license holder. A limited learner's permit or limited provisional license issued under this section that expires on a weekend or State holiday shall remain valid through the fifth regular State business day following the date of expiration. A full provisional license expires on the date set under G.S. 20-7(f). The fee for a limited learner's permit or a limited provisional license is fifteen dollars ($15.00). The fee for a full provisional license is the amount set under G.S. 20-7(i).

(l) Violations. — It is unlawful for the holder of a limited learner's permit, a temporary permit, or a limited provisional license to drive a motor vehicle in violation of the restrictions that apply to the permit or license. Failure to comply with a restriction concerning the time of driving or the presence of a supervising driver in the vehicle constitutes operating a motor vehicle without a license. Failure to comply with the restriction regarding the use of a mobile telephone while operating a motor vehicle is an infraction punishable by a fine of twenty-five dollars ($25.00). Failure to comply with any other restriction, including seating and passenger limitations, is an infraction punishable by a monetary penalty as provided in G.S. 20-176. Failure to comply with the provisions of subsections (e) and (g) of this section shall not constitute negligence per se or contributory negligence by the driver or passenger in any action for the recovery of damages arising out of the operation, ownership or maintenance of a motor vehicle. Any evidence of failure to comply with the provisions of subdivisions (1), (2), (3), (4), and (5) of subsection (e) of this section shall not be admissible in any criminal or civil trial, action, or proceeding except in an action based on a violation of this section. No drivers license points or insurance surcharge shall be assessed for failure to comply with seating and occupancy limitations in subsection (e) of this section. No drivers license points or insurance surcharge shall be assessed for failure to comply with subsection (e) or (g) of this section regarding the use of a mobile telephone while operating a motor vehicle.

(m) Insurance Status. — The holder of a limited learner's permit is not considered a licensed driver for the purpose of determining the inexperienced operator premium surcharge under automobile insurance policies.

§ 20-16.2. Implied consent to chemical analysis; mandatory revocation of license in event of refusal; right of driver to request analysis.

(a) Basis for Officer to Require Chemical Analysis; Notification of Rights. —

Any person who drives a vehicle on a highway or public vehicular area thereby gives consent to a chemical analysis if charged with an implied-consent offense. Any law enforcement officer who has reasonable grounds to believe that the person charged has committed the implied-consent offense may obtain a chemical analysis of the person.

Before any type of chemical analysis is administered the person charged shall be taken before a chemical analyst authorized to administer a test of a person's breath or a law enforcement officer who is authorized to administer chemical analysis of the breath, who shall inform the person orally and also give the person a notice in writing that:

- (1) You have been charged with an implied-consent offense. Under the implied-consent law, you can refuse any test, but your drivers license will be revoked for one year and could be revoked for a longer period of time under certain circumstances, and an officer can compel you to be tested under other laws.
- (2) Repealed by Session Laws 2006-253, s. 15, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date.
- (3) The test results, or the fact of your refusal, will be admissible in evidence at trial.
- (4) Your driving privilege will be revoked immediately for at least 30 days if you refuse any test or the test result is 0.08 or more, 0.04 or more if you were driving a commercial vehicle, or 0.01 or more if you are under the age of 21.
- (5) After you are released, you may seek your own test in addition to this test.
- (6) You may call an attorney for advice and select a witness to view the testing procedures remaining after the witness arrives, but the testing may not be delayed for these purposes longer than 30 minutes from the time you are notified of these rights. You must take the test at the end of 30 minutes even if you have not contacted an attorney or your witness has not arrived.

(a1) Meaning of Terms. — Under this section, an “implied-consent offense” is an offense involving impaired driving or an alcohol-related offense made subject to the procedures of this section. A person is “charged” with an offense if the person is arrested for it or if criminal process for the offense has been issued.

(b) Unconscious Person May Be Tested. — If a law enforcement officer has reasonable grounds to believe that a person has committed an implied-consent offense, and the person is unconscious or otherwise in a condition that makes the person incapable of refusal, the law enforcement officer may direct the taking of a blood sample or may direct the administration of any other chemical analysis that may be effectively performed. In this instance the notification of rights set out in subsection (a) and the request required by subsection (c) are not necessary.

(c) Request to Submit to Chemical Analysis. — A law enforcement officer or chemical analyst shall designate the type of test or tests to be given and may request the person charged to submit to the type of chemical analysis designated. If the person charged willfully refuses to submit to that chemical analysis, none may be given under the provisions of this section, but the refusal does not preclude testing under other applicable procedures of law.

(c1) Procedure for Reporting Results and Refusal to Division. — Whenever a person refuses to submit to a chemical analysis, a person has an alcohol concentration of 0.16 or more, or a person's drivers license has an alcohol concentration restriction and the results of the chemical analysis establish a violation of the restriction, the law enforcement officer and the chemical analyst shall without unnecessary delay go before an official authorized to administer oaths and execute an affidavit(s) stating that:

- (1) The person was charged with an implied-consent offense or had an alcohol concentration restriction on the drivers license;
- (2) A law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person had committed an implied-consent offense or violated the alcohol concentration restriction on the drivers license;
- (3) Whether the implied-consent offense charged involved death or critical injury to another person, if the person willfully refused to submit to chemical analysis;
- (4) The person was notified of the rights in subsection (a); and
- (5) The results of any tests given or that the person willfully refused to submit to a chemical analysis.

If the person's drivers license has an alcohol concentration restriction, pursuant to G.S. 20-19(c3), and an officer has reasonable grounds to believe the person has violated a provision of that restriction other than violation of the alcohol concentration level, the officer and chemical analyst shall complete the applicable sections of the affidavit and indicate the restriction which was violated. The officer shall immediately mail the affidavit(s) to the Division. If the officer is also the chemical analyst who has notified the person of the rights under subsection (a), the officer may perform alone the duties of this subsection.

(d) Consequences of Refusal; Right to Hearing before Division; Issues. — Upon receipt of a properly executed affidavit required by subsection (c1), the Division shall expeditiously notify the person charged that the person's license to drive is revoked for 12 months, effective on the tenth calendar day after the mailing of the revocation order unless, before the effective date of the order, the person requests in writing a hearing before the Division. Except for the time referred to in G.S. 20-16.5, if the person shows to the satisfaction of the Division that his or her license was surrendered to the court, and remained in the court's possession, then the Division shall credit the amount of time for which the license was in the possession of the court against the 12-month revocation period required by this subsection. If the person properly requests a hearing, the person retains his or her license, unless it is revoked under some other provision of law, until the hearing is held, the person withdraws the request, or the person fails to appear at a scheduled hearing. The hearing officer may subpoena any witnesses or documents that the hearing officer deems necessary. The person may request the hearing officer to subpoena the charging officer, the chemical analyst, or both to appear at the hearing if the person makes the request in writing at least three days before the hearing. The person may subpoena any other witness whom the person deems necessary, and the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, Rule 45, apply to the issuance and service of all subpoenas issued under the authority of this section. The hearing officer is authorized to administer oaths to witnesses appearing at the hearing. The hearing shall be conducted in the county where the charge was brought, and shall be limited to consideration of whether:

- (1) The person was charged with an implied-consent offense or the driver had an alcohol concentration restriction on the drivers license pursuant to G.S. 20-19;
- (2) A law enforcement officer had reasonable grounds to believe that the person had committed an implied-consent offense or violated the alcohol concentration restriction on the drivers license;
- (3) The implied-consent offense charged involved death or critical injury to another person, if this allegation is in the affidavit;
- (4) The person was notified of the person's rights as required by subsection (a); and
- (5) The person willfully refused to submit to a chemical analysis.

If the Division finds that the conditions specified in this subsection are met, it shall order the revocation sustained. If the Division finds that any of the conditions (1), (2), (4), or (5) is not met, it shall rescind the revocation. If it finds that condition (3) is alleged in the affidavit but is not met, it shall order the revocation sustained if that is the only condition that is not met; in this instance subsection (d1) does not apply to that revocation. If the revocation is sustained, the person shall surrender his or her license immediately upon notification by the Division.

(d1) Consequences of Refusal in Case Involving Death or Critical Injury. — If the refusal occurred in a case involving death or critical injury to another person, no limited driving privilege may be issued. The 12-month revocation begins only after all other periods of revocation have terminated unless the person's license is revoked under G.S. 20-28, 20-28.1, 20-19(d), or 20-19(e). If the revocation is based on those sections, the revocation under this subsection begins at the time and in the manner specified in subsection (d) for revocations under this section. However, the person's eligibility for a hearing to determine if the revocation under those sections should be rescinded is postponed for one year from the date on which the person would otherwise have been eligible for the hearing. If the person's driver's license is again revoked while the 12-month revocation under this subsection is in effect, that revocation, whether imposed by a court or by the Division, may only take effect after the period of revocation under this subsection has terminated.

(e) Right to Hearing in Superior Court. — If the revocation for a willful refusal is sustained after the hearing, the person whose license has been revoked has the right to file a petition in the superior court for a hearing on the record. The superior court review shall be limited to whether there is sufficient evidence in the record to support the Commissioner's findings of fact and whether the conclusions of law are supported by the findings of fact and whether the Commissioner committed an error of law in revoking the license.

(e1) Limited Driving Privilege after Six Months in Certain Instances. — A person whose driver's license has been revoked under this section may apply for and a judge authorized to do so by this subsection may issue a limited driving privilege if:

- (1) At the time of the refusal the person held either a valid drivers license or a license that had been expired for less than one year;
- (2) At the time of the refusal, the person had not within the preceding seven years been convicted of an offense involving impaired driving;
- (3) At the time of the refusal, the person had not in the preceding seven years willfully refused to submit to a chemical analysis under this section;
- (4) The implied consent offense charged did not involve death or critical injury to another person;
- (5) The underlying charge for which the defendant was requested to submit to a chemical analysis has been finally disposed of:
  - a. Other than by conviction; or
  - b. By a conviction of impaired driving under G.S. 20-138.1, at a punishment level authorizing issuance of a limited driving privilege under G.S. 20-179.3(b), and the defendant has complied with at least one of the mandatory conditions of probation listed for the punishment level under which the defendant was sentenced;
- (6) Subsequent to the refusal the person has had no unresolved pending charges for or additional convictions of an offense involving impaired driving;
- (7) The person's license has been revoked for at least six months for the refusal; and
- (8) The person has obtained a substance abuse assessment from a mental health facility and successfully completed any recommended training or treatment program.

Except as modified in this subsection, the provisions of G.S. 20-179.3 relating to the procedure for application and conduct of the hearing and the restrictions required or authorized to be included in the limited driving privilege apply to applications under this subsection. If the case was finally disposed of in the district court, the hearing shall be conducted in the district court district as defined in G.S. 7A-133 in which the refusal occurred by a district court judge. If the case was finally disposed of in the superior court, the hearing shall be conducted in the superior court district or set of districts as defined in G.S. 7A-41.1 in which the refusal occurred by a superior court judge. A limited driving privilege issued under this section authorizes a person to drive if the person's license is revoked solely under this section or solely under this section and G.S. 20-17(2). If the person's license is revoked for any other reason, the limited driving privilege is invalid.

(f) Notice to Other States as to Nonresidents. — When it has been finally determined under the procedures of this section that a nonresident's privilege to drive a motor vehicle in this State has been revoked, the Division shall give information in writing of the action taken to the motor vehicle administrator of the state of the person's residence and of any state in which the person has a license.

(g) Repealed by Session Laws 1973, c. 914.

(h) Repealed by Session Laws 1979, c. 423, s. 2.

(i) Right to Chemical Analysis before Arrest or Charge. — A person stopped or questioned by a law enforcement officer who is investigating whether the person may have committed an implied consent offense may request the administration of a chemical analysis before any arrest or other charge is made for the offense. Upon this request, the officer shall afford the person the opportunity to have a chemical analysis of his or her breath, if available, in accordance with the procedures required by G.S. 20-139.1(b). The request constitutes the person's consent to be transported by the law enforcement officer to the place where the chemical analysis is to be administered. Before the chemical analysis is made, the person shall confirm the request in writing and shall be notified:

- (1) That the test results will be admissible in evidence and may be used against you in any implied consent offense that may arise;
- (2) Your driving privilege will be revoked immediately for at least 30 days if the test result is 0.08 or more, 0.04 or more if you were driving a commercial vehicle, or 0.01 or more if you are under the age of 21.
- (3) That if you fail to comply fully with the test procedures, the officer may charge you with any offense for which the officer has probable cause, and if you are charged with an implied consent offense, your refusal to submit to the testing required as a result of that charge would result in revocation of your driving privilege. The results of the chemical analysis are admissible in evidence in any proceeding in which they are relevant. § 20-16.3. Alcohol screening tests required of certain drivers; approval of test devices and manner of use by Department of Health and Human Services; use of test results or refusal.

(a) When Alcohol Screening Test May Be Required; Not an Arrest. — A law-enforcement officer may require the driver of a vehicle to submit to an alcohol screening test within a relevant time after the driving if the officer has:

- (1) Reasonable grounds to believe that the driver has consumed alcohol and has:
  - a. Committed a moving traffic violation; or
  - b. Been involved in an accident or collision; or
- (2) An articulable and reasonable suspicion that the driver has committed an implied-consent offense under G.S. 20-16.2, and the driver has been lawfully stopped for a driver's license check or otherwise lawfully stopped or lawfully encountered by the officer in the course of the performance of the officer's duties.

Requiring a driver to submit to an alcohol screening test in accordance with this section does not in itself constitute an arrest.

(b) Approval of Screening Devices and Manner of Use. — The Department of Health and Human Services is directed to examine and approve devices suitable for use by law-enforcement officers in making on-the-scene tests of drivers for alcohol concentration. For each alcohol screening device or class of devices approved, the Department must adopt regulations governing the manner of use of the device. For any alcohol screening device that tests the breath of a driver, the Department is directed to specify in its regulations the shortest feasible minimum waiting period that does not produce an unacceptably high number of false positive test results.

(c) Tests Must Be Made with Approved Devices and in Approved Manner. — No screening test for alcohol concentration is a valid one under this section unless the device used is one approved by the Department and the screening test is conducted in accordance with the applicable regulations of the Department as to the manner of its use.

(d) Use of Screening Test Results or Refusal by Officer. — The fact that a driver showed a positive or negative result on an alcohol screening test, but not the actual alcohol concentration result, or a driver's refusal to submit may be used by a law-enforcement officer, is admissible in a court, or may also be used by an administrative agency in determining if there are reasonable grounds for believing:

- (1) That the driver has committed an implied-consent offense under G.S. 20-16.2; and
- (2) That the driver had consumed alcohol and that the driver had in his or her body previously consumed alcohol, but not to prove a particular alcohol concentration. Negative results on the alcohol screening test may be used in factually appropriate cases by the officer, a court, or an administrative agency in determining whether a person's alleged impairment is caused by an impairing substance other than alcohol. ## § 20-16.3A. Checking stations and roadblocks.

(a) A law-enforcement agency may conduct checking stations to determine compliance with the provisions of this Chapter. If the agency is conducting a checking station for the purposes of determining compliance with this Chapter, it must:

- (1) Repealed by Session Laws 2006-253, s. 4, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date.
- (2) Designate in advance the pattern both for stopping vehicles and for requesting drivers that are stopped to produce drivers license, registration, or insurance information.
- (2a) Operate under a written policy that provides guidelines for the pattern, which need not be in writing. The policy may be either the agency's own policy, or if the agency does not have a written policy, it may be the policy of another law enforcement agency, and may include contingency provisions for altering either pattern if actual traffic conditions are different from those anticipated, but no individual officer may be given discretion as to which vehicle is stopped or, of the vehicles stopped, which driver is requested to produce drivers license, registration, or insurance information. If officers of a law enforcement agency are operating under another agency's policy, it must be stated in writing.
- (3) Advise the public that an authorized checking station is being operated by having, at a minimum, one law enforcement vehicle with its blue light in operation during the conducting of the checking station.

(b) An officer who determines there is a reasonable suspicion that an occupant has violated a provision of this Chapter, or any other provision of law, may detain the driver to further investigate in accordance with law. The operator of any vehicle stopped at a checking station established under this subsection may be requested to submit to an alcohol screening test under G.S. 20-16.3 if during the course of the stop the officer determines the driver had previously consumed alcohol or has an open container of alcoholic beverage in the vehicle. The officer so requesting shall consider the results of any alcohol screening test or the driver's refusal in determining if there is reasonable suspicion to investigate further.

(c) Law enforcement agencies may conduct any type of checking station or roadblock as long as it is established and operated in accordance with the provisions of the United States Constitution and the Constitution of North Carolina.

(d) The placement of checkpoints should be random or statistically indicated, and agencies shall avoid placing checkpoints repeatedly in the same location or proximity. This subsection shall not be grounds for a motion to suppress or a defense to any offense arising out of the operation of a checking station. (1983, c. 435, s. 22; 2006-253, s. 4.)

CASE NOTES

II. Impaired Driving.

II. IMPAIRED DRIVING.

Revocation of a driver's license is mandatory, etc. —

Under G.S. 20-17(a)(2), defendant's driver's license was subject to mandatory revocation for one year because she was convicted under G.S. 20-138.1 for driving with an alcohol concentration of 0.16. State v. Benbow, 169 N.C. App. 613, 610 S.E.2d 297, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 687 (2005).

§ 20-17.2: Repealed by Session Laws 2006-253, s. 25, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date.

§ 20-17.8. Restoration of a license after certain driving while impaired convictions; ignition interlock.

(a) Scope. — This section applies to a person whose license was revoked as a result of a conviction of driving while impaired, G.S. 20-138.1, and:

- (1) The person had an alcohol concentration of 0.16 or more; or
- (2) The person has been convicted of another offense involving impaired driving, which offense occurred within seven years immediately preceding the date of the offense for which the person's license has been revoked.

(b) Ignition Interlock Required. — Except as provided in subsection (l) of this section, when the Division restores the license of a person who is subject to this section, in addition to any other restriction or condition, it shall require the person to agree to and shall indicate on the person's drivers license the following restrictions for the period designated in subsection (c):

- (1) A restriction that the person may operate only a vehicle that is equipped with a functioning ignition interlock system of a type approved by the Commissioner. The Commissioner shall not unreasonably withhold approval of an ignition interlock system and shall consult with the Division of Purchase and Contract in the Department of Administration to ensure that potential vendors are not discriminated against.
- (2) A requirement that the person personally activate the ignition interlock system before driving the motor vehicle.
- (3) An alcohol concentration restriction as follows:
  - a. If the ignition interlock system is required pursuant only to subdivision (a)(1) of this section, a requirement that the person not drive with an alcohol concentration of 0.04 or greater;
  - b. If the ignition interlock system is required pursuant to subdivision (a)(2) of this section, a requirement that the person not drive with an alcohol concentration of greater than 0.00; or
  - c. If the ignition interlock system is required pursuant to subdivision (a)(1) of this section, and the person has also been convicted, based on the same set of circumstances, of: (i) driving while impaired in a commercial vehicle, G.S. 20-138.2, (ii) driving while less than 21 years old after consuming alcohol or drugs, G.S. 20-138.3, (iii) felony death by vehicle, G.S. 20-141.4(a1), or (iv) manslaughter or negligent homicide resulting from the operation of a motor vehicle when the offense involved impaired driving, a requirement that the person not drive with an alcohol concentration of greater than 0.00.

(c) Length of Requirement. — The requirements of subsection (b) shall remain in effect for:

- (1) One year from the date of restoration if the original revocation period was one year;
- (2) Three years from the date of restoration if the original revocation period was four years; or
- (3) Seven years from the date of restoration if the original revocation was a permanent revocation.

(c1) Vehicles Subject to Requirement. — A person subject to this section shall have all registered vehicles owned by that person equipped with a functioning ignition interlock system of a type approved by the Commissioner, unless the Division determines that one or more specific registered vehicles owned by that person are relied upon by another member of that person's family for transportation and that the vehicle is not in the possession of the person subject to this section.

(d) Effect of Limited Driving Privileges. — If the person was eligible for and received a limited driving privilege under G.S. 20-179.3, with the ignition interlock requirement contained in G.S. 20-179.3(g5), the period of time for which that limited driving privilege was held shall be applied towards the requirements of subsection (c).

(e) Notice of Requirement. — When a court reports to the Division a conviction of a person who is subject to this section, the Division must send the person written notice of the requirements of this section and of the consequences of failing to comply with these requirements. The notification must include a statement that the person may contact the Division for information on obtaining and having installed an ignition interlock system of a type approved by the Commissioner.

(f) Effect of Violation of Restriction. — A person subject to this section who violates any of the restrictions of this section commits the offense of driving while license revoked under G.S. 20-28(a) and is subject to punishment and license revocation as provided in that section. If a law enforcement officer has reasonable grounds to believe that a person subject to this section has consumed alcohol while driving or has driven while he has remaining in his body any alcohol previously consumed, the suspected offense of driving while license is revoked is an alcohol-related offense subject to the implied-consent provisions of G.S. 20-16.2. If a person subject to this section is charged with driving while license revoked by violating a condition of subsection (b) of this section, and a judicial official determines that there is probable cause for the charge, the person's license is suspended pending the resolution of the case, and the judicial official must require the person to surrender the license. The judicial official must also notify the person that he is not entitled to drive until his case is resolved. An alcohol concentration report from the ignition interlock system shall not be admissible as evidence of driving while license revoked, nor shall it be admissible in an administrative revocation proceeding as provided in subsection (g) of this section, unless the person operated a vehicle when the ignition interlock system indicated an alcohol concentration in violation of the restriction placed upon the person by subdivision (b)(3) of this section. If a person subject to this section is charged with driving while license revoked by violating the requirements of subsection (c1) of this section, and no other violation of this section is alleged, the court may make a determination at the hearing of the case that the vehicle, on which the ignition interlock system was not installed, was relied upon by another member of that person's family for transportation and that the vehicle was not in the possession of the person subject to this section, and therefore the vehicle was not required to be equipped with a functioning ignition interlock system. If the court determines that the vehicle was not required to be equipped with a functioning ignition interlock system and the person subject to this section has committed no other violation of this section, the court shall find the person not guilty of driving while license revoked.

(g) Effect of Violation of Restriction When Driving While License Revoked Not Charged. — A person subject to this section who violates any of the restrictions of this section, but is not charged or convicted of driving while license revoked pursuant to G.S. 20-28(a), shall have the person's license revoked by the Division for a period of one year.

(h) Beginning of Revocation Period. — If the original period of revocation was imposed pursuant to G.S. 20-19(d) or (e), any remaining period of the original revocation, prior to its reduction, shall be reinstated and the revocation required by subsection (f) or (g) of this section begins after all other periods of revocation have terminated.

(i) Notification of Revocation. — If the person's license has not already been surrendered to the court, the Division must expeditiously notify the person that the person's license to drive is revoked pursuant to subsection (f) or (g) of this section effective on the tenth calendar day after the mailing of the revocation order.

(j) Right to Hearing Before Division; Issues. — If the person's license is revoked pursuant to subsection (g) of this section, before the effective date of the order issued under subsection (i) of this section, the person may request in writing a hearing before the Division. Except for the time referred to in G.S. 20-16.5, if the person shows to the satisfaction of the Division that the person's license was surrendered to the court and remained in the court's possession, then the Division shall credit the amount of time for which the license was in the possession of the court against the revocation period required by subsection (g) of this section. If the person properly requests a hearing, the person retains the person's license, unless it is revoked under some other provision of law, until the hearing is held, the person withdraws the request, or the person fails to appear at a scheduled hearing. The hearing officer may subpoena any witnesses or documents that the hearing officer deems necessary. The person may request the hearing officer to subpoena the charging officer, the chemical analyst, or both to appear at the hearing if the person makes the request in writing at least three days before the hearing. The person may subpoena any other witness whom the person deems necessary, and the provisions of G.S. 1A-1, Rule 45, apply to the issuance and service of all subpoenas issued under the authority of this section. The hearing officer is authorized to administer oaths to witnesses appearing at the hearing. The hearing must be conducted in the county where the charge was brought, and must be limited to consideration of whether:

- (1) The drivers license of the person had an ignition interlock requirement; and
- (2) The person:
  - a. Was driving a vehicle that was not equipped with a functioning ignition interlock system; or
  - b. Did not personally activate the ignition interlock system before driving the vehicle; or
  - c. Drove the vehicle in violation of an applicable alcohol concentration restriction prescribed by subdivision (b)(3) of this section.

If the Division finds that the conditions specified in this subsection are met, it must order the revocation sustained. If the Division finds that the condition of subdivision (1) is not met, or that none of the conditions of subdivision (2) are met, it must rescind the revocation. If the revocation is sustained, the person must surrender the person's license immediately upon notification by the Division. If the revocation is sustained, the person may appeal the decision of the Division pursuant to G.S. 20-25.

(k) Restoration After Violation. — When the Division restores the license of a person whose license was revoked pursuant to subsection (f) or (g) of this section and the revocation occurred prior to completion of time period required by subsection (c) of this section, in addition to any other restriction or condition, it shall require the person to comply with the conditions of subsection (b) of this section until the person has complied with those conditions for the cumulative period of time as set forth in subsection (c) of this section. The period of time for which the person successfully complied with subsection (b) of this section prior to revocation pursuant to subsection (f) or (g) of this section shall be applied towards the requirements of subsection (c) of this section.

(l) Medical Exception to Requirement. — A person subject to this section who has a medically diagnosed physical condition that makes the person incapable of personally activating an ignition interlock system may request an exception to the requirements of this section from the Division. The Division shall not issue an exception to this section unless the person has submitted to a physical examination by two or more physicians or surgeons duly licensed to practice medicine in this State or in any other state of the United States and unless such examining physicians or surgeons have completed and signed a certificate in the form prescribed by the Division. Such certificate shall be devised by the Commissioner with the advice of those qualified experts in the field of diagnosing and treating physical disorders that the Commissioner may select and shall be designed to elicit the maximum medical information necessary to aid in determining whether or not the person is capable of personally activating an ignition interlock system. The certificate shall contain a waiver of privilege and the recommendation of the examining physician to the Commissioner as to whether the person is capable of personally activating an ignition interlock system.

The Commissioner is not bound by the recommendations of the examining physicians but shall give fair consideration to such recommendations in acting upon the request for medical exception, the criterion being whether or not, upon all the evidence, it appears that the person is in fact incapable of personally activating an ignition interlock system. The burden of proof of such fact is upon the person seeking the exception.

Whenever an exception is denied by the Commissioner, such denial may be reviewed by a reviewing board upon written request of the person seeking the exception filed with the Division within 10 days after receipt of such denial. The composition, procedures, and review of the reviewing board shall be as provided in G.S. 20-9(g)(4). (1999-406, s. 3; 2000-155, ss. 1-3; 2001-487, s. 8; 2006-253, ss. 22.3, 22.4.)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-253, s. 1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Motor Vehicle Driver Protection Act of 2006.'"

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws 2006-253, ss. 22.3 and 22.4, effective December

1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, inserted "Except as provided in subsection (l) of this section" at the beginning of subsection (b); and added subsection (l).

No Exceptions to Ignition Interlock Device. — G.S. 20-17.8 does not provide any exceptions to the mandatory ignition interlock device. State v. Benbow, 169 N.C. App. 613, 610 S.E.2d 297, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 687 (2005).

Review Process. — There is no review process under G.S. 20-17.8 which would allow a defendant to present her arguments to the Division of Motor Vehicles (DMV); G.S. 20-17.8(j) governs appeals of a DMV decision in cases where a person has violated the requirements of G.S. 20-17.8, but it does not govern instances where a person seeks an exemption from the requirement. *State v. No Right to Appeal Mandatory Revocation. — There is no right to appeal to a court where the cancellation of the license is mandatory, and the provisions of G.S. 20-17.8 are mandatory; thus, the district court could not review, under G.S. 20-25, a decision by the Division of Motor Vehicles that decided not to reinstate, without a requisite ignition interlock device, the license of a driver whose license had been suspended for violating G.S. 20-17.8. *State v. ## § 20-25. Right of appeal to court.

CASE NOTES

But Mandatory Revocations Under G.S. 20-17 Are Not Reviewable, etc. —

There is no right to appeal to a court where the cancellation of the license is mandatory, and the provisions of G.S. 20-17.8 are mandatory; thus, the district court could not review, under G.S. 20-25, a decision by the Division of Motor Vehicles that decided not to reinstate, without a requisite ignition interlock device, the license of a driver whose license had been suspended for violating G.S. 20-17.8. State v. Benbow, 169 N.C. App. 613, 610 S.E.2d 297, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 687 (2005).

§ 20-28. Unlawful to drive while license revoked, after notification, or while disqualified.

(a) Driving While License Revoked. — Except as provided in subsection (a1) of this section, any person whose drivers license has been revoked who drives any motor vehicle upon the highways of the State while the license is revoked is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor. Upon conviction, the person's license shall be revoked for an additional period of one year for the first offense, two years for the second offense, and permanently for a third or subsequent offense.

The restoree of a revoked drivers license who operates a motor vehicle upon the highways of the State without maintaining financial responsibility as provided by law shall be punished as for driving without a license.

(a1) Driving Without Reclaiming License. — A person convicted under subsection (a) shall be punished as if the person had been convicted of driving without a license under G.S. 20-35 if the person demonstrates to the court that either subdivisions (1) and (2), or subdivision (3) of this subsection is true:

- (1) At the time of the offense, the person's license was revoked solely under G.S. 20-16.5; and
- (2)a. The offense occurred more than 45 days after the effective date of a revocation order issued under G.S. 20-16.5(f) and the period of revocation was 45 days as provided under subdivision (3) of that subsection; or
- b. The offense occurred more than 30 days after the effective date of the revocation order issued under any other provision of G.S. 20-16.5; or

- (3) At the time of the offense the person had met the requirements of G.S. 50-13.12, or G.S. 110-142.2 and was eligible for reinstatement of the person's drivers license privilege as provided therein.

In addition, a person punished under this subsection shall be treated for drivers license and insurance rating purposes as if the person had been convicted of driving without a license under G.S. 20-35, and the conviction report sent to the Division must indicate that the person is to be so treated.

(a2) Driving After Notification or Failure to Appear. — A person shall be guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor if:

- (1) The person drives upon a highway while that person's license is revoked for an impaired drivers license revocation after the Division has sent notification in accordance with G.S. 20-48; or
- (2) The person fails to appear for two years from the date of the charge after being charged with an implied-consent offense.

Upon conviction, the person's drivers license shall be revoked for an additional period of one year for the first offense, two years for the second offense, and permanently for a third or subsequent offense. The restorer of a revoked drivers license who operates a motor vehicle upon the highways of the State without maintaining financial responsibility as provided by law shall be punished as for driving without a license.

(b) Repealed by Session Laws 1993 (Reg. Sess., 1994), c. 761, s. 3.

(c) When Person May Apply for License. — A person whose license has been revoked may apply for a license as follows:

- (1) If revoked under subsection (a) of this section for one year, the person may apply for a license after 90 days.
- (2) If punished under subsection (a1) of this section and the original revocation was pursuant to G.S. 20-16.5, in order to obtain reinstatement of a drivers license, the person must obtain a substance abuse assessment and show proof of financial responsibility to the Division. If the assessment recommends education or treatment, the person must complete the education or treatment within the time limits specified by the Division.
- (3) If revoked under subsection (a2) of this section for one year, the person may apply for a license after one year.
- (4) If revoked under this section for two years, the person may apply for a license after one year.
- (5) If revoked under this section permanently, the person may apply for a license after three years.

(c1) Upon the filing of an application the Division may, with or without a hearing, issue a new license upon satisfactory proof that the former licensee has not been convicted of a moving violation under this Chapter or the laws of another state, a violation of any provision of the alcoholic beverage laws of this State or another state, or a violation of any provisions of the drug laws of this State or another state when any of these violations occurred during the revocation period.

(c2) The Division may impose any restrictions or conditions on the new license that the Division considers appropriate for the balance of the revocation period. When the revocation period is permanent, the restrictions and conditions imposed by the Division may not exceed three years.

(c3) A person whose license is revoked for violation of subsection (a) of this section where the person's license was originally revoked for an impaired driving revocation, or a person whose license is revoked for a violation of subsection (a2) of this section, may only have the license conditionally restored by the Division pursuant to the provisions of subsection (c4) of this section.

(c4) For a conditional restoration under subsection (c3) of this section, the Division shall require at a minimum that the driver obtain a substance abuse assessment prior to issuance of a license and show proof of financial responsibility. If the substance abuse assessment recommends education or treatment, the person must complete the education or treatment within the time limits specified. If the assessment determines that the person abuses alcohol, the Division shall require the person to install and use an ignition interlock system on any vehicles that are to be driven by that person for the period of time set forth in G.S. 20-17.8(c).

(c5) For licenses conditionally restored pursuant to subsections (c3) and (c4) of this section, the Division shall cancel the license and impose the remaining revocation period if any of the following occur:

- (1) The person violates any condition of the restoration.
- (2) The person is convicted of any moving offense in this or another state.
- (3) The person is convicted for a violation of the alcoholic beverage or controlled substance laws of this or any other state.

(d) Driving While Disqualified. — A person who was convicted of a violation that disqualified the person and required the person's drivers license to be revoked who drives a motor vehicle during the revocation period is punishable as provided in the other subsections of this section. A person who has been disqualified who drives a commercial motor vehicle during the disqualification period is guilty of a Class 1 misdemeanor and is disqualified for an additional period as follows:

- (1) For a first offense of driving while disqualified, a person is disqualified for a period equal to the period for which the person was disqualified when the offense occurred.
- (2) For a second offense of driving while disqualified, a person is disqualified for a period equal to two times the period for which the person was disqualified when the offense occurred.
- (3) For a third offense of driving while disqualified, a person is disqualified for life.

The Division may reduce a disqualification for life under this subsection to 10 years in accordance with the guidelines adopted under G.S. 20-17.4(b). A person who drives a commercial motor vehicle while the person is disqualified and the person's drivers license is revoked is punishable for both driving while the person's license was revoked and driving while disqualified. ## CASE NOTES

I. In General.

I. IN GENERAL.

Actual or Constructive Knowledge Required for Conviction. —

Trial court erred in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charge against him of driving while license revoked, as the state did not present sufficient evidence that defendant knew his license was revoked, in part because the state was unable to show that defendant had been notified of the alleged revocation. State v. Cruz, 173 N.C. App. 689, 620 S.E.2d 251, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2288 (2005).

§ 20-28.2. Forfeiture of motor vehicle for impaired driving after impaired driving license revocation.

(a) Meaning of “Impaired Driving License Revocation”. — The revocation of a person’s drivers license is an impaired driving license revocation if the revocation is pursuant to:

- (1) G.S. 20-13.2, 20-16(a)(8b), 20-16.2, 20-16.5, 20-17(a)(2), 20-17(a)(12), 20-17.2, or 20-138.5; or
- (2) G.S. 20-16(a)(7), 20-17(a)(1), 20-17(a)(3), 20-17(a)(9), or 20-17(a)(11), if the offense involves impaired driving; or
- (3) The laws of another state and the offense for which the person’s license is revoked prohibits substantially similar conduct which if committed in this State would result in a revocation listed in subdivisions (1) or (2).

(a1) Definitions. — As used in this section and in G.S. 20-28.3, 20-28.4, 20-28.5, 20-28.7, 20-28.8, and 20-28.9, the following terms mean:

- (1) Acknowledgment. — A written document acknowledging that:

- a. The motor vehicle was operated by a person charged with an offense involving impaired driving, and:
  1. That person’s drivers license was revoked as a result of a prior impaired drivers license revocation; or
  2. That person did not have a valid drivers license, and did not have liability insurance.
- b. If the motor vehicle is again operated by this particular person, and the person is charged with an offense involving impaired driving, then the vehicle is subject to impoundment and forfeiture if (i) the offense occurs while that person’s drivers license is revoked, or (ii) the offense occurs while the person has no valid drivers license, and has no liability insurance; and
- c. A lack of knowledge or consent to the operation will not be a defense in the future, unless the motor vehicle owner has taken all reasonable precautions to prevent the use of the motor vehicle by this particular person and immediately reports, upon discovery, any unauthorized use to the appropriate law enforcement agency.

- (1a) Fair Market Value. — The value of the seized motor vehicle, as determined in accordance with the schedule of values adopted by the Commissioner pursuant to G.S. 105-187.3.

- (2) Innocent Owner. — A motor vehicle owner:

- a. Who did not know and had no reason to know that (i) the defendant’s drivers license was revoked, or (ii) that the defendant did not have a valid drivers license, and that the defendant had no liability insurance; or
- b. Who knew that (i) the defendant’s drivers license was revoked, or (ii) that the defendant had no valid drivers license, and that the defendant had no liability insurance, but the defendant drove the vehicle without the person’s expressed or implied permission, and the owner files a police report for unauthorized use of the motor vehicle and agrees to prosecute the unauthorized operator of the motor vehicle; or
- c. Whose vehicle was reported stolen; or
- d. Repealed by Session Laws 1999-406, s. 17.
- e. Who is in the business of renting vehicles, and the vehicle was driven by a person who is not listed as an authorized driver on the rental contract; or
- f. Who is in the business of leasing motor vehicles, who holds legal title to the motor vehicle as a lessor at the time of seizure and who has no actual knowledge of the revocation of the lessee's drivers license at the time the lease is entered.

- (2a) Insurance Company. — Any insurance company that has coverage on or is otherwise liable for repairs or damages to the motor vehicle at the time of the seizure.
- (2b) Insurance Proceeds. — Proceeds paid under an insurance policy for damage to a seized motor vehicle less any payments actually paid to valid lienholders and for towing and storage costs incurred for the motor vehicle after the time the motor vehicle became subject to seizure.
- (3) Lienholder. — A person who holds a perfected security interest in a motor vehicle at the time of seizure.
- (3a) Motor Vehicle Owner. — A person in whose name a registration card or certificate of title for a motor vehicle is issued at the time of seizure.
- (4) Order of Forfeiture. — An order by the court which terminates the rights and ownership interest of a motor vehicle owner in a motor vehicle and any insurance proceeds or proceeds of sale in accordance with G.S. 20-28.2.
- (5) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-182, s. 2.
- (6) Registered Owner. — A person in whose name a registration card for a motor vehicle is issued at the time of seizure.
- (7) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-182, s. 2.

(b) When Motor Vehicle Becomes Property Subject to Order of Forfeiture; Impaired Driving and Prior Revocation. — A judge may determine whether the vehicle driven by an impaired driver at the time of the offense becomes subject to an order of forfeiture. The determination may be made at any of the following times:

- (1) A hearing for the underlying offense involving impaired driving.
- (2) A separate hearing after conviction of the defendant.
- (3) A forfeiture hearing held at least 60 days after the defendant failed to appear at the scheduled trial for the underlying offense, and the defendant's order of arrest for failing to appear has not been set aside.

The vehicle shall become subject to an order of forfeiture if the greater weight of the evidence shows that the underlying offense involved impaired driving, and that the defendant's license was revoked pursuant to an impaired driving license revocation as defined in subsection (a) of this section.

(b1) When a Motor Vehicle Becomes Property Subject to Order of Forfeiture; No License and No Insurance. — A judge may determine whether the vehicle driven by an impaired driver at the time of the offense becomes subject to an order of forfeiture. The determination may be made at any of the following times:

- (1) A hearing for the underlying offense involving impaired driving.
- (2) A separate hearing after conviction of the defendant.
- (3) A forfeiture hearing held at least 60 days after the defendant failed to appear at the scheduled trial for the underlying offense, and the defendant's order of arrest for failing to appear has not been set aside.

The vehicle shall become subject to an order of forfeiture if the greater weight of the evidence shows that the underlying offense involved impaired driving, and: (i) the defendant was driving without a valid drivers license, and (ii) the defendant was not covered by an automobile liability policy.

(c) Duty of Prosecutor to Notify Possible Innocent Parties. — In any case in which a prosecutor determines that a motor vehicle driven by a defendant may be subject to forfeiture under this section and the motor vehicle has not been permanently released to a nondefendant vehicle owner pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3(e1), a defendant owner pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3(e2), or a lienholder, pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3(e3), the prosecutor shall notify the defendant, each motor vehicle owner, and each lienholder that the motor vehicle may be subject to forfeiture and that the defendant, motor vehicle owner, or the lienholder may intervene to protect that person's interest. The notice may be served by any means reasonably likely to provide actual notice, and shall be served at least 10 days before the hearing at which an order of forfeiture may be entered.

(c1) Motor Vehicles Involved in Accidents. — If a motor vehicle subject to forfeiture was damaged while the defendant operator was committing the underlying offense involving impaired driving, or was damaged incident to the seizure of the motor vehicle, the Division shall determine the name of any insurance companies that are the insurers of record with the Division for the motor vehicle at the time of the seizure or that may otherwise be liable for repair to the motor vehicle. In any case where a seized motor vehicle was involved in an accident, the Division shall notify the insurance companies that the claim for insurance proceeds for damage to the seized motor vehicle shall be paid to the clerk of superior court of the county where the motor vehicle driver was charged to be held and disbursed pursuant to further orders of the court. Any insurance company that receives written or other actual notice of seizure pursuant to this section shall not be relieved of any legal obligation under any contract of insurance unless the claim for property damage to the seized motor vehicle minus the policy owner's deductible is paid directly to the clerk of court. The insurance company paying insurance proceeds to the clerk of court pursuant to this section shall be immune from suit by the motor vehicle owner for any damages alleged to have occurred as a result of the motor vehicle seizure. The proceeds shall be held by the clerk. The clerk shall disburse the insurance proceeds pursuant to further orders of the court.

(d) Forfeiture Hearing. — Unless a motor vehicle that has been seized pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3 has been permanently released to an innocent owner pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3(e1), a defendant owner pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3(e2), or to a lienholder pursuant to G.S. 20-28.3(e3), the court shall conduct a hearing on the forfeiture of the motor vehicle. The hearing may be held at the sentencing hearing on the underlying offense involving impaired driving, at a separate hearing after conviction of the defendant, or at a separate forfeiture hearing held not less than 60 days after the defendant failed to appear at the scheduled trial for the underlying offense and the defendant's order of arrest for failing to appear has not been set aside. If at the forfeiture hearing, the judge determines that the motor vehicle is subject to forfeiture pursuant to this section and proper notice of the hearing has been given, the judge shall order the motor vehicle forfeited. If at the sentencing hearing or at a forfeiture hearing, the judge determines that the motor vehicle is subject to forfeiture pursuant to this section and proper notice of the hearing has been given, the judge shall order the motor vehicle forfeited unless another motor vehicle owner establishes, by the greater weight of the evidence, that such motor vehicle owner is an innocent owner as defined in this section, in which case the trial judge shall order the motor vehicle released to the innocent owner pursuant to the provisions of subsection (e) of this section. In any case where the motor vehicle is ordered forfeited, the judge shall:

- (1)a. Authorize the sale of the motor vehicle at public sale or allow the county board of education to retain the motor vehicle for its own use pursuant to G.S. 20-28.5; or
- b. Order the motor vehicle released to a lienholder pursuant to the provisions of subsection (f) of this section; and
- (2)a. Order any proceeds of sale or insurance proceeds held by the clerk of court to be disbursed to the county board of education; and
- b. Order any outstanding insurance claims be assigned to the county board of education in the event the motor vehicle has been damaged in an accident incident to the seizure of the motor vehicle.

If the judge determines that the motor vehicle is subject to forfeiture pursuant to this section, but that notice as required by subsection (c) has not been given, the judge shall continue the forfeiture proceeding until adequate notice has been given. In no circumstance shall the sentencing of the defendant be delayed as a result of the failure of the prosecutor to give adequate notice.

(e) Release of Vehicle to Innocent Motor Vehicle Owner. — At a forfeiture hearing, if a nondefendant motor vehicle owner establishes by the greater weight of the evidence that: (i) the motor vehicle was being driven by a person who was not the only motor vehicle owner or had no ownership interest in the motor vehicle at the time of the underlying offense and (ii) the petitioner is an “innocent owner”, as defined by this section, a judge shall order the motor vehicle released to that owner, conditioned upon payment of all towing and storage charges incurred as a result of the seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle.

Release to an innocent owner shall only be ordered upon satisfactory proof of:

- (1) The identity of the person as a motor vehicle owner;
- (2) The existence of financial responsibility to the extent required by Article 13 of this Chapter or by the laws of the state in which the vehicle is registered; and
- (3) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-182, s. 2, effective December 1, 1998.
- (4) The execution of an acknowledgment as defined in subdivision (a1)(1) of this section.

If the nondefendant owner is a lessor, the release shall also be conditioned upon the lessor agreeing not to sell, give, or otherwise transfer possession of the forfeited motor vehicle to the defendant or any person acting on the defendant's behalf. A lessor who refuses to sell, give, or transfer possession of a seized motor vehicle to the defendant or any person acting on the behalf of the defendant shall not be liable for damages arising out of the refusal.

No motor vehicle subject to forfeiture under this section shall be released to a nondefendant motor vehicle owner if the records of the Division indicate the motor vehicle owner had previously signed an acknowledgment, as required by this section, and the same person was operating the motor vehicle while that person's license was revoked unless the innocent owner shows by the greater weight of the evidence that the motor vehicle owner has taken all reasonable precautions to prevent the use of the motor vehicle by this particular person and immediately reports, upon discovery, any unauthorized use to the appropriate law enforcement agency. A determination by the court at the forfeiture hearing held pursuant to subsection (d) of this section that the petitioner is not an innocent owner is a final judgment and is immediately appealable to the Court of Appeals.

(f) Release to Lienholder. — At a forfeiture hearing, the trial judge shall order a forfeited motor vehicle released to the lienholder upon payment of all towing and storage charges incurred as a result of the seizure of the motor vehicle if the judge determines, by the greater weight of the evidence, that:

- (1) The lienholder's interest has been perfected and appears on the title to the forfeited vehicle;
- (2) The lienholder agrees not to sell, give, or otherwise transfer possession of the forfeited motor vehicle to the defendant or to the motor vehicle owner who owned the motor vehicle immediately prior to forfeiture, or any person acting on the defendant's or motor vehicle owner's behalf;
- (3) The forfeited motor vehicle had not previously been released to the lienholder;
- (4) The owner is in default under the terms of the security instrument evidencing the interest of the lienholder and as a consequence of the default the lienholder is entitled to possession of the motor vehicle; and

- (5) The lienholder agrees to sell the motor vehicle in accordance with the terms of its agreement and pursuant to the provisions of Part 6 of Article 9 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes. Upon the sale of the motor vehicle, the lienholder will pay to the clerk of court of the county in which the vehicle was forfeited all proceeds from the sale, less the amount of the lien in favor of the lienholder, and any towing and storage costs paid by the lienholder.

A lienholder who refuses to sell, give, or transfer possession of a forfeited motor vehicle to the defendant, the vehicle owner who owned the motor vehicle immediately prior to forfeiture, or any person acting on the behalf of the defendant or motor vehicle owner shall not be liable for damages arising out of such refusal. The defendant, the motor vehicle owner who owned the motor vehicle immediately prior to forfeiture, and any person acting on the defendant's or motor vehicle owner's behalf are prohibited from purchasing the motor vehicle at any sale conducted by the lienholder.

(g) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-182, s. 2, effective December 1, 1998.

(h) Any order issued pursuant to this section authorizing the release of a seized vehicle shall require the payment of all towing and storage charges incurred as a result of the seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle. This requirement shall not be waived. (1983, c. 435, s. 21; 1983 (Reg. Sess., 1984), c. 1101, s. 19; 1989 (Reg. Sess., 1990), c. 1024, s. 6; 1997-379, s. 1.1; 1997-456, s. 30; 1998-182, s. 2; 1999-406, ss. 11, 12, 17; 2000-169, s. 28; 2001-362, s. 7; 2006-253, s. 31.)

Editor's Note. —

Session Laws 2006-253, s. 1, provides: "This act shall be known as 'The Motor Vehicle Driver Protection Act of 2006.'"

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2006-253, s. 31, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, rewrote subdivisions (a1)(1) and (2), and subsections (b) and (b1).

§ 20-28.3. Seizure, impoundment, forfeiture of motor vehicles for offenses involving impaired driving while license revoked or without license and insurance.

(a) Motor Vehicles Subject to Seizure. — A motor vehicle that is driven by a person who is charged with an offense involving impaired driving is subject to seizure if:

- (1) At the time of the violation, the drivers license of the person driving the motor vehicle was revoked as a result of a prior impaired driving license revocation as defined in G.S. 20-28.2(a); or
- (2) At the time of the violation:
  - a. The person was driving without a valid drivers license, and
  - b. The driver was not covered by an automobile liability policy.

For the purposes of this subsection, a person who has a complete defense, pursuant to G.S. 20-35, to a charge of driving without a drivers license, shall be considered to have had a valid drivers license at the time of the violation.

(b) Duty of Officer. — If the charging officer has probable cause to believe that a motor vehicle driven by the defendant may be subject to forfeiture under this section, the officer shall seize the motor vehicle and have it impounded. If the officer determines prior to seizure that the motor vehicle had been reported stolen, the officer shall not seize the motor vehicle pursuant to this section. If the officer determines prior to seizure that the motor vehicle was a rental vehicle driven by a person not listed as an authorized driver on the rental contract, the officer shall not seize the motor vehicle pursuant to this section, but shall make a reasonable effort to notify the owner of the rental vehicle that the vehicle was stopped and that the driver of the vehicle was not listed as an authorized driver on the rental contract. Probable cause may be based on the officer's personal knowledge, reliable information conveyed by another officer, records of the Division, or other reliable source. The seizing officer shall notify the executive agency designated under subsection (b1) of this section as soon as practical but no later than 24 hours after seizure of the motor vehicle of the seizure in accordance with procedures established by the executive agency designated under subsection (b1) of this section.

(b1) Written Notification of Impoundment. — Within 48 hours of receipt within regular business hours of the notice of seizure, an executive agency designated by the Governor shall issue written notification of impoundment to the Division, to any lienholder of record and to any motor vehicle owner who was not operating the motor vehicle at the time of the offense. A notice of seizure received outside regular business hours shall be considered to have been received at the start of the next business day. The notification of impoundment shall be sent by first-class mail to the most recent address contained in the Division's records. If the motor vehicle is registered in another state, notice shall be sent to the address shown on the records of the state where the motor vehicle is registered. This written notification shall provide notice that the motor vehicle has been seized, state the reason for the seizure and the procedure for requesting release of the motor vehicle. Additionally, if the motor vehicle was damaged while the defendant operator was committing an offense involving impaired driving or incident to the seizure, the agency shall issue written notification of the seizure to the owner's insurance company of record and to any other insurance companies that may be insuring other motor vehicles involved in the accident. The Division shall prohibit title to a seized motor vehicle from being transferred by a motor vehicle owner unless authorized by court order.

(b2) Additional Notification to Lienholders. — In addition to providing written notification pursuant to subsection (b1) of this section, within eight hours of receipt within regular business hours of the notice of seizure, the executive agency designated under subsection (b1) of this section shall notify by facsimile any lienholder of record that has provided the executive agency with a designated facsimile number for notification of impoundment. The facsimile notification of impoundment shall state that the vehicle has been seized, state the reason for the seizure, and notify the lienholder of the additional written notification that will be provided pursuant to subsection (b1) of this section. The executive agency shall establish procedures to allow a lienholder to provide one designated facsimile number for notification of impoundment for any vehicle for which the lienholder is a lienholder of record and shall maintain a centralized database of the provided facsimile numbers. The lienholder must provide a facsimile number at which the executive agency may give notification of impoundment at anytime.

(c) Review by Magistrate. — Upon determining that there is probable cause for seizing a motor vehicle, the seizing officer shall present to a magistrate within the county where the driver was charged an affidavit of impoundment setting forth the basis upon which the motor vehicle has been or will be seized for forfeiture. The magistrate shall review the affidavit of impoundment and if the magistrate determines the requirements of this section have been met, shall order the motor vehicle held. The magistrate may request additional information and may hear from the defendant if the defendant is present. If the magistrate determines the requirements of this section have not been met, the magistrate shall order the motor vehicle released to a motor vehicle owner upon payment of towing and storage fees. If the motor vehicle has not yet been seized, and the magistrate determines that seizure is appropriate, the magistrate shall issue an order of seizure of the motor vehicle. The magistrate shall provide a copy of the order of seizure to the clerk of court. The clerk shall provide copies of the order of seizure to the district attorney and the attorney for the county board of education.

(c1) Effecting an Order of Seizure. — An order of seizure shall be valid anywhere in the State. Any officer with territorial jurisdiction and who has subject matter jurisdiction for violations of this Chapter may use such force as may be reasonable to seize the motor vehicle and to enter upon the property of the defendant to accomplish the seizure. An officer who has probable cause to believe the motor vehicle is concealed or stored on private property of a person other than the defendant may obtain a search warrant to enter upon that property for the purpose of seizing the motor vehicle.

(d) Custody of Motor Vehicle. — Unless the motor vehicle is towed pursuant to a statewide or regional contract, or a contract with the county board of education, the seized motor vehicle shall be towed by a commercial towing company designated by the law enforcement agency that seized the motor vehicle. Seized motor vehicles not towed pursuant to a statewide or regional contract or a contract with a county board of education shall be retrieved from the commercial towing company within a reasonable time, not to exceed 10 days, by the county board of education or their agent who must pay towing and storage fees to the commercial towing company when the motor vehicle is retrieved. If either a statewide or regional contractor, or the county board of education, chooses to contract for local towing services, all towing companies on the towing list for each law enforcement agency with jurisdiction within the county shall be given written notice and an opportunity to submit proposals prior to a contract for local towing services being awarded. The seized motor vehicle is under the constructive possession of the county board of education for the county in which the operator of the vehicle is charged at the time the vehicle is delivered to a location designated by the county board of education or delivered to its agent pending release or sale, or in the event a statewide or regional contract is in place, under the constructive possession of the Department of Public Instruction, on behalf of the State at the time the vehicle is delivered to a location designated by the Department of Public Instruction or delivered to its agent pending release or sale. Absent a statewide or regional contract that provides otherwise, each county board of education may elect to have seized motor vehicles stored on property owned or leased by the county board of education and charge a reasonable fee for storage, not to exceed ten dollars ($10.00) per day. In the alternative, the county board of education may contract with a commercial towing and storage facility or other private entity for the towing, storage, and disposal of seized motor vehicles, and a storage fee of not more than ten dollars ($10.00) per day may be charged. Except for gross negligence or intentional misconduct, the county board of education, or any of its employees, shall not be liable to the owner or lienholder for damage to or loss of the motor vehicle or its contents, or to the owner of personal property in a seized vehicle, during the time the motor vehicle is being towed or stored pursuant to this subsection.

(e) Release of Motor Vehicle Pending Trial. — A motor vehicle owner, other than the driver at the time of the underlying offense resulting in the seizure, may apply to the clerk of superior court in the county where the charges are pending for pretrial release of the motor vehicle.

The clerk shall release the motor vehicle to a nondefendant motor vehicle owner conditioned upon payment of all towing and storage charges incurred as a result of seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle under the following conditions:

- (1) The motor vehicle has been seized for not less than 24 hours;
- (2) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-182, s. 3, effective December 1, 1998.
- (3) A bond in an amount equal to the fair market value of the motor vehicle as defined by G.S. 20-28.2 has been executed and is secured by

- a cash deposit in the full amount of the bond, by a recordable deed of trust to real property in the full amount of the bond, by a bail bond under G.S. 58-71-1(2), or by at least one solvent surety, payable to the county school fund and conditioned on return of the motor vehicle, in substantially the same condition as it was at the time of seizure and without any new or additional liens or encumbrances, on the day of any hearing scheduled and noticed by the district attorney under G.S. 20-28.2(c), unless the motor vehicle has been permanently released;
- (4) Execution of an acknowledgment as described in G.S. 20-28.2(a1);
  - (5) A check of the records of the Division indicates that the requesting motor vehicle owner has not previously executed an acknowledgment naming the operator of the seized motor vehicle; and
  - (6) A bond posted to secure the release of this motor vehicle under this subsection has not been previously ordered forfeited under G.S. 20-28.5.

In the event a nondefendant motor vehicle owner who obtains temporary possession of a seized motor vehicle pursuant to this subsection does not return the motor vehicle on the day of the forfeiture hearing as noticed by the district attorney under G.S. 20-28.3(c) or otherwise violates a condition of pretrial release of the seized motor vehicle as set forth in this subsection, the bond posted shall be ordered forfeited and an order of seizure shall be issued by the court. Additionally, a nondefendant motor vehicle owner or lienholder who willfully violates any condition of pretrial release may be held in civil or criminal contempt.

(e1) Pretrial Release of Motor Vehicle to Innocent Owner. — A nondefendant motor vehicle owner may file a petition with the clerk of court seeking a pretrial determination that the petitioner is an innocent owner. The clerk shall consider the petition and make a determination as soon as may be feasible. At any proceeding conducted pursuant to this subsection, the clerk is not required to determine the issue of forfeiture, only the issue of whether the petitioner is an innocent owner. If the clerk determines that the petitioner is an innocent owner, the clerk shall release the motor vehicle to the petitioner subject to the same conditions as if the petitioner were an innocent owner under G.S. 20-28.2(e). The clerk shall send a copy of the order authorizing or denying release of the vehicle to the district attorney and the attorney for the county board of education. An order issued under this subsection finding that the petitioner failed to establish that the petitioner is an innocent owner may be reconsidered by the court as part of the forfeiture hearing conducted pursuant to G.S. 20-28.2(d).

(e2) Pretrial Release of Motor Vehicle to Defendant Owner. — A defendant motor vehicle owner may file a petition with the clerk of court seeking a pretrial determination that the defendant's license was not revoked pursuant to an impaired driving license revocation as defined in G.S. 20-28.2(a). The clerk shall schedule a hearing before a judge of the division in which the underlying criminal charge is pending for a hearing to be held within 10 business days or as soon thereafter as may be feasible. Notice of the hearing shall be given to the defendant, the district attorney, and the attorney for the county board of education. The clerk shall forward a copy of the petition to the district attorney for the district attorney's review. If, based on available information, the district attorney determines that the defendant's motor vehicle is not subject to forfeiture, the district attorney may note the State's consent to the release of the motor vehicle on the petition and return the petition to the clerk of court who shall enter an order releasing the motor vehicle to the defendant upon payment of all towing and storage charges incurred as a result of the seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle, subject to the satisfactory proof of the identity of the defendant as a motor vehicle owner and the existence of financial responsibility to the extent required by Article 13 of this Chapter, and no hearing shall be held. The clerk shall send a copy of the order of release to the attorney for the county board of education. At any pretrial hearing conducted pursuant to this subsection, the court is not required to determine the issue of the underlying offense of impaired driving only the existence of a prior drivers license revocation as an impaired driving license revocation. Accordingly, the State shall not be required to prove the underlying offense of impaired driving. An order issued under this subsection finding that the defendant failed to establish that the defendant's license was not revoked pursuant to an impaired driving license revocation as defined in G.S. 20-28.2(a) may be reconsidered by the court as part of the forfeiture hearing conducted pursuant to G.S. 20-28.2(d).

(e3) Pretrial Release of Motor Vehicle to Lienholder. —

- (1) A lienholder may file a petition with the clerk of court requesting the court to order pretrial release of a seized motor vehicle. The lienholder shall serve a copy of the petition on all interested parties which shall include the registered owner, the titled owner, the district attorney, and the county board of education attorney. Upon 10 days' prior notice of the date, time, and location of the hearing sent by the lienholder to all interested parties, a judge, after a hearing, shall order a seized motor vehicle released to the lienholder conditioned upon payment of all towing and storage costs incurred as a result of the seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle if the judge determines, by the greater weight of the evidence, that:
  - a. Default on the obligation secured by the motor vehicle has occurred;
  - b. As a consequence of default, the lienholder is entitled to possession of the motor vehicle;
  - c. The lienholder agrees to sell the motor vehicle in accordance with the terms of its agreement and pursuant to the provisions of Part 6 of Article 9 of Chapter 25 of the General Statutes. Upon sale of the motor vehicle, the lienholder will pay to the clerk of court of the county in which the driver was charged all proceeds from the sale, less the amount of the lien in favor of the lienholder, and any towing and storage costs paid by the lienholder;
  - d. The lienholder agrees not to sell, give, or otherwise transfer possession of the seized motor vehicle while the motor vehicle is subject to forfeiture, or the forfeited motor vehicle after the forfeiture hearing, to the defendant or the motor vehicle owner; and
  - e. The seized motor vehicle while the motor vehicle is subject to forfeiture, or the forfeited motor vehicle after the forfeiture hearing, had not previously been released to the lienholder as a result of a prior seizure involving the same defendant or motor vehicle owner.
- (2) The clerk of superior court may order a seized vehicle released to the lienholder conditioned upon payment of all towing and storage costs incurred as a result of the seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle at any time when all interested parties have, in writing, waived any rights that they may have to notice and a hearing, and the lienholder has agreed to the provision of subdivision (1)(d) above. A lienholder who refuses to sell, give, or transfer possession of a seized motor vehicle while the motor vehicle is subject to forfeiture, or a forfeited motor vehicle after the forfeiture hearing, to:
  - a. The defendant;
  - b. The motor vehicle owner who owned the motor vehicle immediately prior to seizure pending the forfeiture hearing, or to forfeiture after the forfeiture hearing; or

c. Any person acting on the behalf of the defendant or the motor vehicle owner, shall not be liable for damages arising out of such refusal. However, any subsequent violation of the conditions of release by the lienholder shall be punishable by civil or criminal contempt.

(f), (g) Repealed by Session Laws 1998-182, s. 3, effective December 1, 1998.

(h) Insurance Proceeds. — In the event a motor vehicle is damaged incident to the conduct of the defendant which gave rise to the defendant's arrest and seizure of the motor vehicle pursuant to this section, the county board of education, or its authorized designee, is authorized to negotiate the county board of education's interest with the insurance company and to compromise and accept settlement of any claim for damages. Property insurance proceeds accruing to the defendant, or other owner of the seized motor vehicle, shall be paid by the responsible insurance company directly to the clerk of superior court in the county where the motor vehicle driver was charged. If the motor vehicle is declared a total loss by the insurance company liable for the damages to the motor vehicle, the clerk of superior court, upon application of the county board of education, shall enter an order that the motor vehicle be released to the insurance company upon payment into the court of all insurance proceeds for damage to the motor vehicle after payment of towing and storage costs and all valid liens. The clerk of superior court shall provide the Division with a certified copy of the order entered pursuant to this subsection, and the Division shall transfer title to the insurance company or to such other person or entity as may be designated by the insurance company. Insurance proceeds paid to the clerk of court pursuant to this subsection shall be subject to forfeiture pursuant to G.S. 20-28.5 and shall be disbursed pursuant to further orders of the court. An affected motor vehicle owner or lienholder who objects to any agreed upon settlement under this subsection may file an independent claim with the insurance company for any additional monies believed owed. Notwithstanding any other provisions in this Chapter, nothing in this section or G.S. 20-28.2 shall require an insurance company to make payments in excess of those required pursuant to its policy of insurance on the seized motor vehicle.

(i) Expedited Sale of Seized Motor Vehicles in Certain Cases. — In order to avoid additional liability for towing and storage costs pending resolution of the criminal proceedings of the defendant, the county board of education may, after expiration of 90 days from the date of seizure, sell any motor vehicle having a fair market value of one thousand five hundred dollars ($1,500) or less. The county board of education may also sell a motor vehicle, regardless of the fair market value, any time the outstanding towing and storage costs exceed eighty-five percent (85%) of the fair market value of the vehicle, or with the consent of all the motor vehicle owners. Any sale conducted pursuant to this subsection shall be conducted in accordance with the provisions of G.S. 20-28.5(a), and the proceeds of the sale, after the payment of outstanding towing and storage costs or reimbursement of towing and storage costs paid by a person other than the defendant, shall be deposited with the clerk of superior court. If an order of forfeiture is entered by the court, the court shall order the proceeds held by the clerk to be disbursed as provided in G.S. 20-28.5(b). If the court determines that the motor vehicle is not subject to forfeiture, the court shall order the proceeds held by the clerk to be disbursed first to pay the sale, towing, and storage costs, second to pay outstanding liens on the motor vehicle, and the balance to be paid to the motor vehicle owners.

(j) Retrieval of Certain Personal Property. — At reasonable times, the entity charged with storing the motor vehicle may permit owners of personal property not affixed to the motor vehicle to retrieve those items from the motor vehicle, provided satisfactory proof of ownership of the motor vehicle or the items of personal property is presented to the storing entity.

(k) County Board of Education Right to Appear and Participate in Proceedings. — The attorney for the county board of education shall be given notice of all proceedings regarding offenses involving impaired driving related to a motor vehicle subject to forfeiture. However, the notice requirement under this subsection does not apply to proceedings conducted under G.S. 20-28.3(e1). The attorney for the county board of education shall also have the right to appear and to be heard on all issues relating to the seizure, possession, release, forfeiture, sale, and other matters related to the seized vehicle under this section. With the prior consent of the county board of education, the district attorney may delegate to the attorney for the county board of education any or all of the duties of the district attorney under this section. Clerks of superior court, law enforcement agencies, and all other agencies with information relevant to the seizure, impoundment, release, or forfeiture of motor vehicles are authorized and directed to provide county boards of education with access to that information and to do so by electronic means when existing technology makes this type of transmission possible.

(l) Payment of Fees Upon Conviction. — If the driver of a motor vehicle seized pursuant to this section is convicted of an offense involving impaired driving, the defendant shall be ordered to pay as restitution to the county board of education, the motor vehicle owner, or the lienholder the cost paid or owing for the towing, storage, and sale of the motor vehicle to the extent the costs were not covered by the proceeds from the forfeiture and sale of the motor vehicle. In addition, a civil judgment for the costs under this section in favor of the party to whom the restitution is owed shall be docketed by the clerk of superior court. If the defendant is sentenced to an active term of imprisonment, the civil judgment shall become effective and be docketed when the defendant's conviction becomes final. If the defendant is placed on probation, the civil judgment in the amount found by a judge during the probation revocation or termination hearing to be due shall become effective and be docketed by the clerk when the defendant's probation is revoked or terminated.

(m) Trial Priority. — District court trials of impaired driving offenses involving forfeitures of motor vehicles pursuant to G.S. 20-28.2 shall be scheduled on the arresting officer's next court date or within 30 days of the offense, whichever comes first.

Once scheduled, the case shall not be continued unless all of the following conditions are met:

- (1) A written motion for continuance is filed with notice given to the opposing party prior to the motion being heard.
- (2) The judge makes a finding of a "compelling reason" for the continuance.
- (3) The motion and finding are attached to the court case record.

Upon a determination of guilt, the issue of vehicle forfeiture shall be heard by the judge immediately, or as soon thereafter as feasible, and the judge shall issue the appropriate orders pursuant to G.S. 20-28.2(d).

Should a defendant appeal the conviction to superior court, any party who has not previously been heard on a petition for pretrial release under subsection (e1) or (e3) of this section or any party whose motor vehicle has not been the subject of a forfeiture hearing held pursuant to G.S. 20-28.2(d) may be heard on a petition for pretrial release pursuant to subsection (e1) or (e3) of this section. The provisions of subsection (e) of this section shall also apply to seized motor vehicles pending trial in superior court. Where a motor vehicle was released pursuant to subsection (e) of this section pending trial in district court, the release of the motor vehicle continues, and the terms and conditions of the original bond remain the same as those required for the initial release of the motor vehicle under subsection (e) of this section, pending the resolution of the underlying offense involving impaired driving in superior court.

(n) Any order issued pursuant to this section authorizing the release of a seized vehicle shall require the payment of all towing and storage charges incurred as a result of the seizure and impoundment of the motor vehicle. This requirement shall not be waived. (1997-379, s. 1.2; 1997-456, s. 31; 1998-182, s. 3; 1998-217, s. 62(a)-(c); 2000-169, s. 29; 2001-362, ss. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6; 2001-487, s. 9; 2006-253, s. 32.)

§ 20-37.7. Special identification card.

(a) Eligibility. — A person who is a resident of this State is eligible for a special identification card.

(b) Application. — To obtain a special identification card from the Division, a person must complete the application form used to obtain a drivers license.

(b1) Search National Sex Offender Public Registry. — The Division shall not issue a special identification card to an applicant who has resided in this State for less than 12 months until the Division has searched the National Sex Offender Public Registry to determine if the person is currently registered as a sex offender in another state.

- (1) If the Division finds that the person is currently registered as a sex offender in another state, the Division shall not issue a special identification card to the person until the person submits proof of registration pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes issued by the sheriff of the county where the person resides.
- (2) If the person does not appear on the National Sex Offender Public Registry, the Division shall issue a special identification card but shall require the person to sign an affidavit acknowledging that the person has been notified that if the person is a sex offender, then the person is required to register pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes.
- (3) If the Division is unable to access all states' information contained in the National Sex Offender Public Registry, but the person is otherwise qualified to obtain a special identification card, then the Division shall issue the card but shall first require the person to sign an affidavit stating that: (i) the person does not appear on the National Sex Offender Public Registry and (ii) acknowledging that the person has been notified that if the person is a sex offender, then the person is required to register pursuant to Article 27A of Chapter 14 of the General Statutes. The Division shall search the National Sex Offender Public Registry for the person within a reasonable time after access to the Registry is restored. If the person does appear in the National Sex Offender Public Registry, the person is in violation of G.S. 20-37.8, and the Division shall promptly notify the sheriff of the county where the person resides of the offense.

- (4) Any person denied a special identification card by the Division pursuant to this subsection shall have a right to file a petition within 30 days thereafter for a hearing in the matter in the superior court of the county wherein such person shall reside, or to the resident judge of the district or judge holding the court of that district, or special or emergency judge holding a court in such district, and such court or judge is hereby vested with jurisdiction, and it shall be its or his duty to set the matter for hearing upon 30 days' written notice to the Division, and thereupon to take testimony and examine into the facts of the case and to determine whether the petitioner is entitled to a special identification card under the provisions of this subsection and whether the petitioner is in violation of G.S. 20-37.8.

(c) Format. — A special identification card shall be similar in size, shape, and design to a drivers license, but shall clearly state that it does not entitle the person to whom it is issued to operate a motor vehicle. A special identification card issued to an applicant must have the same background color that a drivers license issued to the applicant would have.

(d) Expiration and Fee. — A special identification card issued to a person for the first time under this section expires when a drivers license issued on the same day to that person would expire. A special identification card renewed under this section expires when a drivers license renewed by the card holder on the same day would expire.

The fee for a special identification card is the same as the fee set in G.S. 20-14 for a duplicate license. The fee does not apply to a special identification card issued to a resident of this State who is legally blind, is at least 70 years old, or is homeless. To obtain a special identification card without paying a fee, a homeless person must present a letter to the Division from the director of a facility that provides care or shelter to homeless persons verifying that the person is homeless.

(f) Records. — The Division shall maintain a record of all recipients of a special identification card.

(g) No State Liability. — The fact of issuance of a special identification card pursuant to this section shall not place upon the State of North Carolina or any agency thereof any liability for the misuse thereof and the acceptance thereof as valid identification is a matter left entirely to the discretion of any person to whom such card is presented.

(h) Advertising. — The Division may utilize the various communications media throughout the State to inform North Carolina residents of the provisions of this section. (1973, c. 438, s. 1; 1975, c. 716, s. 5; 1979, c. 469, c. 667, s. 30; 1981, c. 673, ss. 1, 2; c. 690, s. 12; 1981 (Reg. Sess., 1982), c. 1257, s. 3; 1983, c. 443, s. 2; 1983 (Reg. ## § 20-38.2. Investigation.

A law enforcement officer who is investigating an implied-consent offense or a vehicle crash that occurred in the officer's territorial jurisdiction is authorized to investigate and seek evidence of the driver's impairment anywhere in-state or out-of-state, and to make arrests at any place within the State. (2006-253, s. 5.)

§ 20-38.3. Police processing duties.

Upon the arrest of a person, with or without a warrant, but not necessarily in the order listed, a law enforcement officer:

- (1) Shall inform the person arrested of the charges or a cause for the arrest.
- (2) May take the person arrested to any place within the State for one or more chemical analyses at the request of any law enforcement officer and for any evaluation by a law enforcement officer, medical professional, or other person to determine the extent or cause of the person's impairment.
- (3) May take the person arrested to some other place within the State for the purpose of having the person identified, to complete a crash report, or for any other lawful purpose.

- (5) Shall take the person arrested before a judicial official for an initial appearance after completion of all investigatory procedures, crash reports, chemical analyses, and other procedures provided for in this section. (2006-253, s. 5.)

§ 20-38.4. Initial appearance.

(a) Appearance Before a Magistrate. — Except as modified in this Article, a magistrate shall follow the procedures set forth in Article 24 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes.

- (1) A magistrate may hold an initial appearance at any place within the county and shall, to the extent practicable, be available at locations other than the courthouse when it will expedite the initial appearance.
- (2) In determining whether there is probable cause to believe a person is impaired, the magistrate may review all alcohol screening tests, chemical analyses, receive testimony from any law enforcement officer concerning impairment and the circumstances of the arrest, and observe the person arrested.
- (3) If there is a finding of probable cause, the magistrate shall consider whether the person is impaired to the extent that the provisions of G.S. 15A-534.2 should be imposed.
- (4) The magistrate shall also:
  - a. Inform the person in writing of the established procedure to have others appear at the jail to observe his condition or to administer an additional chemical analysis if the person is unable to make bond; and
  - b. Require the person who is unable to make bond to list all persons he wishes to contact and telephone numbers on a form that sets forth the procedure for contacting the persons listed. A copy of this form shall be filed with the case file.

(b) The Administrative Office of the Courts shall adopt forms to implement this Article. (2006-253, s. 5.)

§ 20-38.5. Facilities.

The initial signs shall be provided by the Department of Transportation, without costs. The signs shall thereafter be maintained by the county for all county buildings and the county courthouse.

(c) If the instrument for performing a chemical analysis of the breath is located in a State or municipal building, then the head of the highway patrol for the county, the chief of police for the city or that person's designee shall be substituted for the sheriff when determining signs and access to the chemical analysis room. The signs shall be maintained by the owner of the building. When a breath testing instrument is in a motor vehicle or at a temporary location, the Department of Health and Human Services shall alone perform the functions listed in subdivisions (a)(1) and (a)(2) of this section. (2006-253, s. 5.)

§ 20-38.6. Motions and district court procedure.

(a) The defendant may move to suppress evidence or dismiss charges only prior to trial, except the defendant may move to dismiss the charges for insufficient evidence at the close of the State's evidence and at the close of all of the evidence without prior notice. If, during the course of the trial, the defendant discovers facts not previously known, a motion to suppress or dismiss may be made during the trial.

(b) Upon a motion to suppress or dismiss the charges, other than at the close of the State's evidence or at the close of all the evidence, the State shall be granted reasonable time to procure witnesses or evidence and to conduct research required to defend against the motion.

(c) The judge shall summarily grant the motion to suppress evidence if the State stipulates that the evidence sought to be suppressed will not be offered in evidence in any criminal action or proceeding against the defendant.

(d) The judge may summarily deny the motion to suppress evidence if the defendant failed to make the motion pretrial when all material facts were known to the defendant.

(e) If the motion is not determined summarily, the judge shall make the determination after a hearing and finding of facts. Testimony at the hearing shall be under oath.

(f) The judge shall set forth in writing the findings of fact and conclusions of law and preliminarily indicate whether the motion should be granted or denied. If the judge preliminarily indicates the motion should be granted, the judge shall not enter a final judgment on the motion until after the State has appealed to superior court or has indicated it does not intend to appeal. (2006-253, s. 5.)

§ 20-38.7. Appeal to superior court.

(a) The State may appeal to superior court any district court preliminary determination granting a motion to suppress or dismiss. If there is a dispute about the findings of fact, the superior court shall not be bound by the findings of the district court but shall determine the matter de novo. Any further appeal shall be governed by Article 90 of Chapter 15A of the General Statutes.

(b) The defendant may not appeal a denial of a pretrial motion to suppress or to dismiss but may appeal upon conviction as provided by law.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of G.S. 15A-1431, for any implied-consent offense that is first tried in district court and that is appealed to superior court by the defendant for a trial de novo as a result of a conviction, the sentence imposed by the district court is vacated upon giving notice of appeal. The case shall only be remanded back to district court with the consent of the prosecutor and the superior court. When an appeal is withdrawn or a case is remanded back to district court, the district court shall hold a new sentencing hearing and shall consider any new convictions and, if the defendant has any pending charges of offenses involving impaired driving, shall delay sentencing in the remanded case until all cases are resolved. (2006-253, s. 5.)

(b) The Division may give notice to the owner, licensee or lessee of its authority to take possession of any certificate of title, registration card, permit, license, or registration plate issued by it and require that person to surrender it to the Commissioner or his officers or agents. Any person who fails to surrender the certificate of title, registration card, permit, license, or registration plate or any duplicate thereof, upon personal service of notice or within 10 days after receipt of notice by mail as provided in G.S. 20-48, shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(c) Any sworn law enforcement officer with jurisdiction, including a member of the State Highway Patrol, is authorized to seize the certificate of title, registration card, permit, license, or registration plate, if the officer has electronic or other notification from the Division that the item has been revoked or cancelled, or otherwise has probable cause to believe that the item has been revoked or cancelled under any law or statute, including G.S. 20-309(e). If a criminal proceeding relating to a certificate of title, registration card, permit, or license is pending, the law enforcement officer in possession of that item shall retain the item pending the entry of a final judgment by a court with jurisdiction. If there is no criminal proceeding pending, the law enforcement officer shall deliver the item to the Division.

(d) Any law enforcement officer who seizes a registration plate pursuant to this section shall report the seizure to the Division within 48 hours of the seizure and shall return the registration plate, but not a fictitious registration plate, to the Division within 10 business days of the seizure. (1937, c. 407, s. 10; 1975, c. 716, s. 5; 1981, c. 938, s. 2; 1993, c. 539, s. 329; 1994, Ex. Sess., c. 24, s. 14(c); 2005-357, s. 1; 2006-105, ss. 2.1, 2.2; 2006-264, s. 98.1.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-105, s. 4, is a severability clause.

Effect of Amendments. —

Session Laws 2006-105, ss. 2.1 and 2.2, effective July 13, 2006, substituted “a certificate of title, registration card, permit, or license” for “the item” in the second sentence of subsection (c); and substituted “seizure and shall return the registration plate, but not a fictitious registration plate, to the Division within 10 business days of the seizure” for “seizure” in subsection (d).

Session Laws 2006-264, s. 98.1, effective August 27, 2006, substituted “jurisdiction, including a member of the State Highway Patrol” for “jurisdiction” in the first sentence of subsection (c).

§ 20-48. Giving of notice.

(a) Whenever the Division is authorized or required to give any notice under this Chapter or other law regulating the operation of vehicles, unless a different method of giving such notice is otherwise expressly prescribed, such notice shall be given either by personal delivery thereof to the person to be so notified or by deposit in the United States mail of such notice in an envelope with postage prepaid, addressed to such person at his address as shown by the records of the Division. The giving of notice by mail is complete upon the expiration of four days after such deposit of such notice. Proof of the giving of notice in either such manner may be made by a notation in the records of the Division that the notice was sent to a particular address and the purpose of the notice. A certified copy of the Division's records may be sent by the Police Information Network, facsimile, or other electronic means. A copy of the Division's records sent under the authority of this section is admissible as evidence in any court or administrative agency and is sufficient evidence to discharge the burden of the person presenting the record that notice was sent to the person named in the record, at the address indicated in the record, and for the purpose indicated in the record. There is no requirement that the actual notice or letter be produced.

(b) Notwithstanding any other provision of this Chapter at any time notice is now required by registered mail with return receipt requested, certified mail with return receipt requested may be used in lieu thereof and shall constitute valid notice to the same extent and degree as notice by registered mail with return receipt requested.

(c) The Commissioner shall appoint such agents of the Division as may be needed to serve revocation notices required by this Chapter. The fee for service of a notice shall be fifty dollars ($50.00). (1937, c. 407, s. 13; 1955, c. 1187, s. 21; 1971, c. 1231, s. 1; 1975, c. 326, s. 3; c. 716, s. 5; 1983, c. 761, s. 148; 1985, c. 479, s. 171; 2006-253, s. 21.)

Editor's Note. — Session Laws 2006-253, s. 1, provides: “This act shall be known as ‘The Motor Vehicle Driver Protection Act of 2006.’”

Effect of Amendments. — Session Laws

2006-253, s. 21, effective December 1, 2006, and applicable to offenses committed on or after that date, rewrote subsection (a).

CASE NOTES

Knowledge of Revocation. — Trial court erred in denying defendant's motion to dismiss the charge against him of driving while license revoked, as the state did not present sufficient evidence that defendant knew his license was revoked, in part because the state was unable to show that defendant had been notified of the alleged revocation. State v. Cruz, 173 N.C. App. 689, 620 S.E.2d 251, 2005 N.C. App. LEXIS 2288 (2005).

CASE NOTES

Failure to Comply. — Notwithstanding the full payment and discharge of the claim, the creditor failed for months and months to comply with G.S. 20-58.4, which required a secured creditor to release its lien on the title to a motor vehicle or a mobile home within 30 days of the full payment or within 10 days after receipt of written demand from the debtors or the attorney for the debtors following a final payment. A violation of this lien-release statute could also constitute a violation of the North Carolina Retail Installment Sales Act and furthermore an Unfair and Deceptive Trade Practice in Violation N.C. Gen. Stat. ch. 75; these statutes applied to bankruptcy debtors. The creditor was subject to statutory damages, legal fees, and expenses for its failure to comply with the North Carolina lien release statute. In re Sipe, — Bankr. —, 2001 Bankr. LEXIS 2199 (Bankr. W.D.N.C. July 18, 2001).

§ 20-63. Registration plates furnished by Division; requirements; replacement of regular plates with First in Flight plates; surrender and reissuance; displaying; preservation and cleaning; alteration or concealment of numbers; commission contracts for issuance.

(a) The Division upon registering a vehicle shall issue to the owner one registration plate for a motorcycle, trailer or semitrailer and for every other motor vehicle. Registration plates issued by the Division under this Article shall be and remain the property of the State, and it shall be lawful for the Commissioner or his duly authorized agents to summarily take possession of any plate or plates which he has reason to believe is being illegally used, and to keep in his possession such plate or plates pending investigation and legal disposition of the same. Whenever the Commissioner finds that any registration plate issued for any vehicle pursuant to the provisions of this Article has become illegible or is in such a condition that the numbers thereon may not be readily distinguished, he may require that such registration plate, and its companion when there are two registration plates, be surrendered to the Division. When said registration plate or plates are so surrendered to the Division, a new registration plate or plates shall be issued in lieu thereof without charge. The owner of any vehicle who receives notice to surrender illegible plate or plates on which the numbers are not readily distinguishable and who willfully refuses to surrender said plates to the Division shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(b) Every license plate shall have displayed upon it the registration number assigned to the vehicle for which it is issued, the name of the State of North Carolina, which may be abbreviated, and the year number for which it is issued or the date of expiration. A plate issued for a commercial vehicle, as defined in G.S. 20-4.2(1), and weighing 26,001 pounds or more, must bear the word "commercial," unless the plate is a special registration plate authorized in G.S. 20-79.4 or the commercial vehicle is a trailer or is licensed for 6,000 pounds or less. The plate issued for vehicles licensed for 7,000 pounds through 26,000 pounds must bear the word "weighted".

Except as otherwise provided in this subsection, a registration plate issued by the Division for a private passenger vehicle or for a private hauler vehicle licensed for 6,000 pounds or less shall be a "First in Flight" plate. A "First in Flight" plate shall have the words "First in Flight" printed at the top of the plate above all other letters and numerals. The background of the plate shall depict the Wright Brothers biplane flying over Kitty Hawk Beach, with the plane flying slightly upward and to the right. The following special registration plates do not have to be a "First in Flight" plate. (c) Such registration plate and the required numerals thereon, except the year number for which issued, shall be of sufficient size to be plainly readable from a distance of 100 feet during daylight.

(d) Registration plates issued for a motor vehicle other than a motorcycle, trailer, or semitrailer shall be attached thereto, one in the front and the other in the rear: Provided, that when only one registration plate is issued for a motor vehicle other than a truck-tractor, said registration plate shall be attached to the rear of the motor vehicle. The registration plate issued for a truck-tractor shall be attached to the front thereof. Provided further, that when only one registration plate is issued for a motor vehicle and this motor vehicle is transporting a substance that may adhere to the plate so as to cover or discolor the plate or if the motor vehicle has a mechanical loading device that may damage the plate, the registration plate may be attached to the front of the motor vehicle.

Any motor vehicle of the age of 35 years or more from the date of manufacture may bear the license plates of the year of manufacture instead of the current registration plates, if the current registration plates are maintained within the vehicle and produced upon the request of any person.

The Division shall provide registered owners of motorcycles and motorcycle trailers with suitably reduced size registration plates.

(e) Preservation and Cleaning of Registration Plates. — It shall be the duty of each and every registered owner of a motor vehicle to keep the registration plates assigned to such motor vehicle reasonably clean and free from dust and dirt, and such registered owner, or any person in his employ, or who operates such motor vehicle by his authority, shall, upon the request of any proper officer, immediately clean such registration plates so that the numbers thereon may be readily distinguished, and any person who shall neglect or refuse to so clean a registration plate, after having been requested to do so, shall be guilty of a Class 3 misdemeanor.

(f) Operating with False Numbers. — Any person who shall willfully operate a motor vehicle with a registration plate which has been repainted or altered or forged shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor.

(g) Alteration, Disguise, or Concealment of Numbers. — Any operator of a motor vehicle who shall willfully mutilate, bend, twist, cover or cause to be covered or partially covered by any bumper, light, spare tire, tire rack, strap, or other device, or who shall paint, enamel, emboss, stamp, print, perforate, or alter or add to or cut off any part or portion of a registration plate or the figures or letters thereon, or who shall place or deposit or cause to be placed or deposited any oil, grease, or other substance upon such registration plates for the purpose of making dust adhere thereto, or who shall deface, disfigure, change, or attempt to change any letter or figure thereon, or who shall display a number plate in other than a horizontal upright position, shall be guilty of a Class 2 misdemeanor. Any operator of a motor vehicle who shall willfully cover or cause to be covered any part or portion of a registration plate or the figures or letters thereon by any device designed or intended to prevent or interfere with the taking of a clear photograph of a registration plate by a traffic control system using cameras commits an infraction and shall be fined under G.S. 14-3.1. Any operator of a motor vehicle who shall otherwise intentionally cover any number or registration renewal sticker on a registration plate with any material that makes the number or registration renewal sticker illegible commits an infraction and shall be fined under G.S. 14-3.1. Nothing in this subsection shall prohibit the use of transparent covers that are not designed or intended to prevent or interfere with the taking of a clear photograph of a registration plate by a traffic control system using cameras.

(h) Commission Contracts for Issuance of Plates and Certificates. — All registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title issued by the Division, outside of those issued from the Raleigh offices of the Division and those issued and handled through the United States mail, shall be issued insofar as practicable and possible through commission contracts entered into by the Division for the issuance of the plates and certificates in localities throughout North Carolina with persons, firms, corporations or governmental subdivisions of the State of North Carolina. The Division shall make a reasonable effort in every locality, except as noted above, to enter into a commission contract for the issuance of the plates and certificates and a record of these efforts shall be maintained in the Division. In the event the Division is unsuccessful in making commission contracts, it shall issue the plates and certificates through the regular employees of the Division. Whenever registration plates, registration certificates, and certificates of title are issued by the Division through commission contract arrangements, the Division shall provide proper supervision of the distribution. Nothing contained in this subsection will allow or permit the operation of fewer outlets in any county in this State than are now being operated.

Commission contracts entered into by the Division under this subsection shall provide for the payment of compensation on a per transaction basis. The collection of the highway use tax shall be considered a separate transaction for which one dollar and twenty-seven cents ($1.27) compensation shall be paid. The performance at the same time of one or more of the remaining transactions listed in this subsection shall be considered a single transaction for which one dollar and forty-three cents ($1.43) compensation shall be paid.

A transaction is any of the following activities:

- (2) Issuance of a handicapped placard or handicapped identification card.
